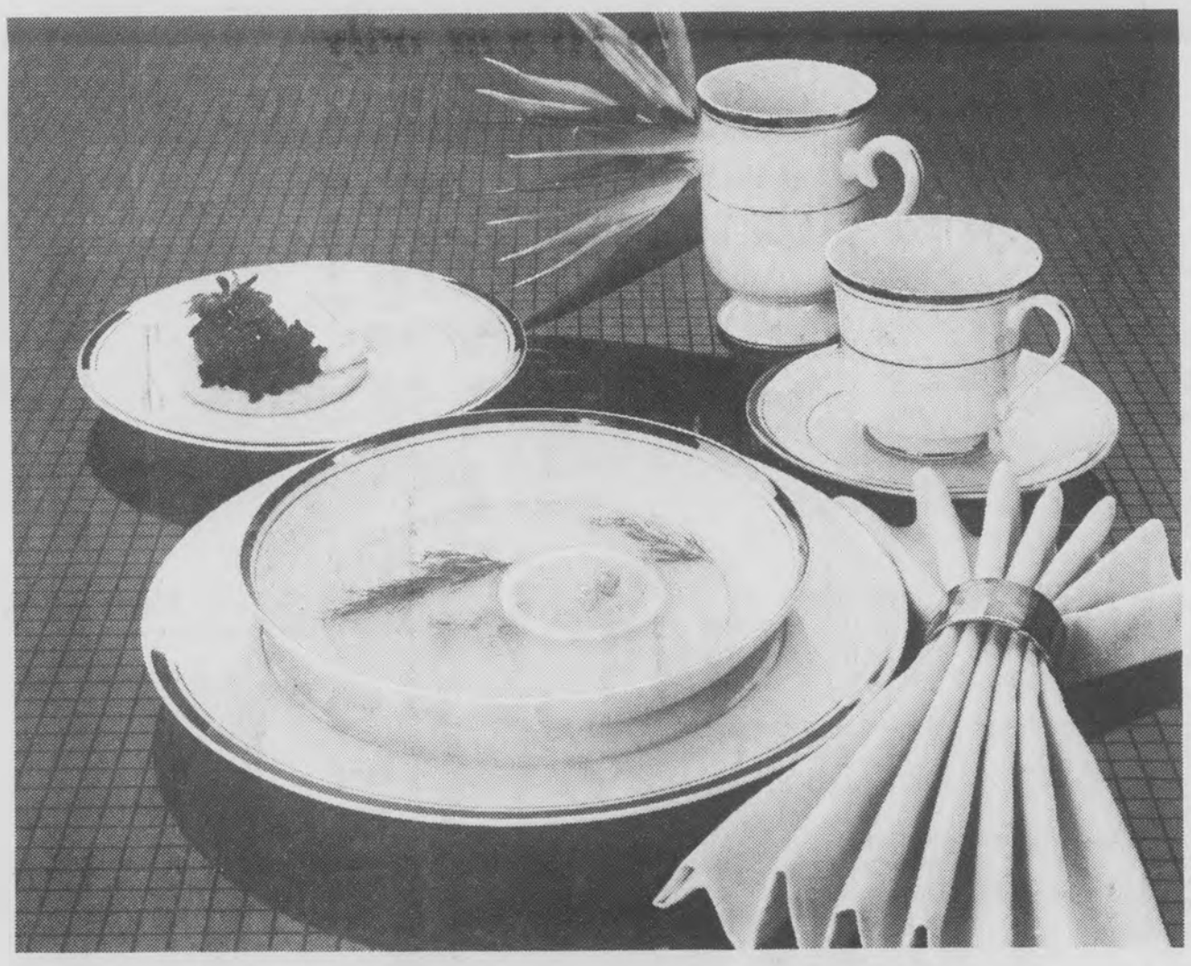
One family sets the most beautiful table in Alabama. Free.



The 1st Southern family. Because now you can get fine porcelain china free, or at a substantial discount, when you make a qualifying deposit to a new or existing 1st Southern account. You can take home a 53-piece place setting valued at over $150, or a 20-piece place setting, or any of three completer sets absolutely free. In fact, 1st Southern will pay you – because in addition to free china, we'll continue paying you yields on Certificates of Deposit that are higher than U.S. Treasury obligations of comparable term. For a look at the classic, gold-bordered Daphne collection and the sophisticated platinum-edged Newport collection – and for information about qualifying deposits – visit us and join our 1st Southern family. We may be Alabama's biggest savings and loan. But no matter how big we grow, we'll always treat you like family.

For beautiful china, free, join our 1st Southern Family

Lifetime hunting license can save you money

Looking for a bargain?

The Department of Conservation offers a rebate on the current resident hunting and fishing license to anyone purchasing a resident Lifetime Hunting or Fishing License before May 1.

The resident Lifetime License prices are $100 for Fishing, $200 for Hunting, or $300 for a combination Hunting and Fishing License. Those who have bought a current, 1983-84, annual hunting or fishing license will be given a rebate for the applicable license if they purchase a resident lifetime license before May 1.

To get the rebate, if you purchase a lifetime license before May 1, simply send a copy of your annual license along with your application and a check or money order for the full fee of the proper license you desire, to the Game and Fish Dvision. Officials after processing the application and accompanying fee, will verify the annual license and send you a rebate for the annual fee.

The Lifetime Licenses are issued and controlled by Game and Fish Division officials directly from the division's offices in Montgomery. The plastic, credit-type, cards are embossed with the license holder's name, date of birth and the license number.

Application forms can be obtained from local conservation enforcement officers, probate offices, license agents or by contacting the Game and Fish Division, Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, 64 North Union Street, Montgomery, AL 36130, or calling 261-3469 or 261-3466.

Dreamgirls need sponsors

The Thompson High School Band Boosters will sponsor their annual Dreamgirl Pageant, March 30-31.

The masters of ceremonies for the event will be Jim Harrell of the Junior Miss Beauty Pageant, and James Spann of Channel 13.

Anyone interested in sponsoring a girl for this event should contact Barbara Moore at 663-4871 for details.

Pelham goes for delinquent insurance fees

The City of Pelham will go after insurance companies which are delinquent in paying their license fees.

On the recommendation of mayor Burk Dunaway and with the blessings of the Alabama League of Municipalities, the city will hire a firm (as yet unnamed) to collect the unpaid fees.

The cost of the collection will be 50 percent of whatever money the collection agency can recover for city coffers, a 50-50 split.

The council approved the mayor's request at its meeting last week, on the basis that 50 percent of something is better than nothing.

In other action, the council approved a franchise change from Cablevison Inc., to Masada Communications Inc. Terry W. Johnson explained that the company is simply being reorganized and that he will remain as its president.

Janet Reid was approved to fill the slot left on the Pelham Park and Recreation Board by new council member Beverly Hall.

A beer license transfer for a new ECOL convenience store/gas station on State 119 was approved with only Councilman K.O. Maynard opposing.

The license had already been granted to the company for one location, but the transfer became necessary when it was decided to construct on the opposite side of the road.

Council members took a long, unexplained look at an off premises wine license for the same location before approving it. No cause for the several minute delay was given, but finally councilwoman Hall moved to approve the request.

The request was granted with only councilman Maynard opposed.

Dunaway confirmed that that State Alcohol and Beverage Board has approved a alcohol license for Brian's Quick Stop, over the city's objections.

"They appealed it and won," he said.

International reception

University of Montevallo President Jim Vickery recently held a reception at Flowerhill for the 51 international students from 14 countries attending UM. Among those attending were (from left) Dr. Gertrude McGuire, assistant to the president for faculty and staff relations and professor of business; international students Jacquie Wee and Seng Kam of Malaysia, Heloiza Golbspan of Brazil, and Marianela Villarreal of Panama; and Dr. Bill Word, dean of the College of Business.

Farmers warned about EDB

Shelby County farmers are being warned not to use the pesticide ethylene dibromide -- EDB -- as either a soil fumigant, fumigant on stored grain, or as a spot fumigant on grain milling machinery.

The warning comes directly from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) which first banned the substance as a soil fumigant last September, and which issued an emergency suspension order for its use on stored grain and grain milling machinery on February 3 of this year.

Farmers should be aware of the magnitude of this ban, according to EPA officials. That is, ethylene dibromide cannot be used in any form which will affect the food chain for both humans and animals.

All farmers are advised to check containers and carefully read all labels because EDB comes under a variety of trade names.

If labels are missing and there is any doubt about the contents, then do not use it, the EPA stresses.

According to the EPA, some of the trade names containing ethylene dibromide:

Pioneer Brand Grain Fumigant, Douglas Tetrafume Weevil Killer and Grain Conditioner, Douglas Tetrakill Weevil Killer and Grain Conditioner, Coop New Activated Weevil Killer Fumigant;

Scouts wear the green

The wearing of the green is affiliated with both St. Patrick and Girl Scouts.

On St. Patrick's Day, (Sat., Mar. 17) Coosa Valley Area Girl Scouts will hold a morning parade in downtown Columbiana. The march will be less than one mile in length.

Any interested persons in the area are invited to join the festivities. Please contact Sandra Binkard, P.O. Box 117, Shelby, AL 35143. Phone 669-7201 for more information.

The deadline for registration is Mar. 1.

Girl Scouts go to UM

Members of the Cahaba Council of Girl Scouts will have the opportunity to become scholars at the University of Montevallo, Saturday, Feb. 25.

For a fee, the girls will be able to attend workshops dealing with television, sign language, micro computers, chemistry, main frame computers, and history.

The deadline for registration is Monday, Feb. 20 unless the quota of available openings is reached before that time. All registrations must be made through the Cahaba Council.

Call 323-4541 for information.

CANCER Answerline

American Cancer Society

A regular feature prepared by the American Cancer Society to help save your life from cancer.

Question: What are the symptoms of thyroid cancer?

ANSWERline: A lump or a mass in the neck is usually discovered first. Any noticeable lump should be examined by one's doctor, particularly if it begins to increase in size. In most cases there are no other signs or symptoms of thyroid cancer. However, if a malignancy has been present for some time, there may be a history of persistent hoarseness or difficulty in swallowing. In the case of such symptoms one should see a doctor at once. Five-year survival rates are excellent for the localized stage of thyroid cancer – 99 percent for men and 97 percent for women. After the cancer has spread, the five-year survival rate drops to about 85 percent for both sexes. Almost 50 percent of thyroid cancers are diagnosed at the early localized stage.

Question: What is an ovarian cyst? Is it cancerous or does it lead to cancer?

ANSWERline: A cyst is an abnormal sac-like development within the human body that may be filled with fluid, gas, or semi-solid substances. Ovarian cysts are usually benign but could indicate malignancy. Generally there is no early manifestation of ovarian cancer, which is a major reason for the relatively poor treatment results with this cancer. Abdominal swelling, pain, or mass are usually associated with advanced cancer. Similar gastrointestinal complaints such as dyspepsia, discomfort, indigestion, feeling of fullness after a light meal are sometimes confused with early warnings of ovarian cancer. It would be prudent, therefore, to check for ovarian cancer in women over 40 if these symptoms can't otherwise be diagnosed.

Question: Why is the early diagnosis of cancer so important?

ANSWERline: If treated early, cancer is among the most curable of the major diseases. A cancer limited to one area can usually be removed by surgery or destroyed by radiation before it has spread to other areas of the body through the blood or lymph systems. Treatment results vary dramatically for early and advanced cancer. For example, if cancer of the uterus is diagnosed while still localized–before it has spread to other parts of the body–there is an 86 percent five-year survival rate. But if the disease has invaded other parts of the body, the rate drops to 50 percent when only nearby tissues are involved, and to only 22 percent when the disease has spread to more distant parts of the body.

Question: I have developed pinkish and scaly spots under my arm and have been told by a friend it looks like Bowen's disease. Is this cancer?

ANSWERline: You have described some of the symptoms of Bowen's disease, which is a pre-cancerous condition. Be sure to contact your doctor for diagnosis and treatment. John T. Bowen, an American dermatologist (1857-1941), first described the disease.

UM events on tap

The man Newsweek magazine recently called a "pianists' pianist" will perform at the University of Montevallo on March 1.

The concert, by Lee Luvisi, will begin at 8 p.m. in Palmer Hall auditorium. General admission is $4. UM students, faculty and staff will be admitted free. The concert is sponsored by UM's Concert and Lecture Committee.

Born in 1937 in Louisville, Ky., Luvisi was a student of Rudolf Serkin and Mieczyslaw Horszowski at Philadelphia's Curtis Institute of Music, where he later joined the faculty.

In 1963, Luvisi assumed the position of artist in residence at the University of Louisville School of Music, where he is also head of the piano department.

He has performed with virtually every important orchestra in North America and the capitals of Europe.

In recent seasons, he has appeared nationwide in piano quartet programs.

He is a frequent guest artist with the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center, New York's Mostly Mozart Festival and Chamber Music at the "Y."

Scholarship offered

Pelham's Wal-Mart Store will award a $1,000 scholarship to a high school senior.

The Wal-Mart Foundation scholarship will be based on the student's scholastic and academic achievements, extra curricular and work activities, as well as financial need.

Any student interested in applying for the scholarship should check with their school counselor for application information, said Pelham store manager David Gullian.

Hayman set for Pops

Richard Hayman, principal Pops conductor for the Alabama Symphony, will return to Birmingham February 24-25 to team up the the symphony and the Alabama Jubilee Barbershop Chorus for two spectacular concerts.

Civic Center Concert Hall at 8 p.m. on both dates. Tickets can be purchased by calling 326-0100.

MHS lunchroom scores 100

MHS crackerjack team

Montevallo High School's crackerjack lunchroom staff are proud of the perfect scores from the health department and the fine lunches they turn out. Showing off the fried chicken served Wednesday are: Barbara Perry, Elizabeth Fletcher, Sue Melsoni, Sally Kornegay, and Johnnie Wallace.(photo by Bert Seaman)

It's rare for a lunchroom to receive a perfect score from the health department.

But the lunchroom staff at Montevallo High School scored a perfect 100 -- not once, but four times in the past six months. On the other two inspections the grade was 98.

County lunchroom supervisor Patricia Bulger pointed out that the high grades are even more exceptional considering the age of the building.

Some of the things inspectors check on their monthly visits, Bulger reported, are: food handling, condition of equipment and whether it's operating properly, sanitizing procedures, food storage, water temperature, temperature of coolers and general cleanliness.

Lunchroom manager Sue Melsoni, who has held the position two years, says the number of students served daily at MHS, ranges from 350-380.

Her staff consists of: Barbara Perry, Elizabeth Fletcher, Johnnie Wallace, and Sally Kornegay.

Learn to fly planes

Courses in Instrumental Pilot Ground School and Private Pilot Gound School will be offered at Samford University this spring, beginning Feb. 27.

The non-credit community courses are open to anyone through the Samford After Sundown program.

Classes for both courses will meet on Monday and Thursday evenings, 7-10 p.m. for six weeks. Instructor for both courses is H. Evan Zeiger, Certified Flight Instructor.

Registration is under way now. Other information: 870-2739.

ATO names leaders

The Alpha Tau Omega Social Fraternity has elected Robert J. Hedge of Ider as president of its Eta Omega chapter at the University of Montevallo.

In addition, the Eta Omega chapter of ATO nominated Michael R. Tamucci, Jr. of Mountain Brook as its 1984 candidate for the national Thomas Arkle Clark award.

During 1982, 24 million people traveled through Alabama from other states.

According to the state Bureau of Publicity and Information, travel activity produced an estimated $2.7 billion for the Alabama economy in 1982, up almost 10 percent from the year before.

Sewage spills in Pelham creek

by David F. Moore

Toilets at Pelham Fire Station No. 2 are flushing directly into Bishop Creek. Likewise, drains in the station's firetruck bays also empty straight into the nearby creek.

As such, the situation is in violation of state and federal water quality laws, according to Alabama Department of Environmental Management (ADEM) engineer Jim Moore.

ADEM biologist Larry Eldridge said he has conducted tests on the discharge from fire station drain pipes that empty directly into the creek. Results of a biochemical test of oxygen demand showed the discharge to be "typical of fresh, domestic sewerage," Eldridge told the Reporter.

Another test showed that some chemicals were coming through the drains which are possibly affecting oxygen content in the creek. Eldridge said that without knowing exactly what the chemicals are, he couldn't fully assess any harm they may be doing.

From the fire station at US 31, Bishop Creek runs south past Green Park trailer park, behind Valley Elementary and South Gate trailer park, through Chandalar, Cahaba Valley and Oak Mountain Estate subdivisions, and behind Belle-Vista trailer park.

Although one city well is located further downstream, it is at least a mile from the creek. Eldridge said that the possibility of health hazards to those drinking city water is "very, very minute."

He said the chances were remote, but possible, that discharge from the fire station could have come from a disease carrier.

State and county health authorities, as well as city officials are expected to make further studies on the problem.

One question they'll be trying to answer is that of the existence -- or not -- of a septic tank. When contacted, neither County Health Department environmentalist George Holcombe, nor Mayor Burk Dunaway knew for certain if the station was hooked to a septic tank.

Dunaway said that when the station was being built three years ago, the plans were to tie into the private package treatment plant owned by Green Park. At the last minute, the trailer park changed owners, however, and Dunaway said the plan fell through.

Without sewerage available, Dunaway said sub-contractors for builders Roy Martin and Spud Bishop hooked lines from the fire station into whatever system had been used at a city trailer on the Green Park entrance road.

"There might not have even been a tank there," Dunaway said. "That's been a long time back."

The city engineer at that time was the late Joe Portman.

"I didn't know (there was still a problem) until you called me," Dunaway said. "I knew about it a couple years ago. There was a problem then (with surface leakage of the station's sewage). They went up there and did some work. I assumed it was fixed."

"If there's a problem there, we'll fix it," Dunaway said.

"The last time I'd been out there, they had a backhoe and I thought they'd corrected it," Holcombe said. "It's supposed to be fixed."

"They have a system that not functioning properly," Holcombe said Tuesday morning after a follow up check on the site. He said he would meet Wednesday morning with a sewer engineer about the situation, and would work with the city in any way possible.

Eldridge said he first checked on an anonymous complaint of discharge problems at the fire station on February 16, 1982.

"I was assured the first time there was no problem, by George Holcombe and the mayor," Eldridge said from the Birmingham branch of the ADEM. He said he was told the discharge was going through field lines at the time.

He answered another complaint about the problem on September 30, 1982. He said he returned later, on October 10, conducted the Commission nixes zone changes

by John Hood

The Shelby County Planning Commission sent a strong message to developers in Beat 12 when it rejected a rezoning request Monday night.

About 30 residents of Indian Wood Forest subdivision applauded after the commission voted unanimously to keep the neighborhood on top of New Hope Mountain zoned R-1 (single-family dwellings on one-acre lots).

Developer Ron Rockhill of Aftco Properties wanted the commission to change 10 acres of undeveloped land from R-1 to R-3, which would allow single-family homes on 15,000 square-foot lots.

"Over the past two years people have been using the land for a dump and cutting down trees," Rockhill said. He said because the land was surrounded by homes he was restricted in his development plans.

Rockhill's proposal to develop the land into 20 separate lots drew quick criticism from residents in the audience.

"In October, my house was appraised at $27,000 less because of existing (smaller houses)," said resident Linda Gilberson. "Smaller lots, smaller houses."

Rockhill said some existing lots were already in violation of the zoning ordinances, but commission chairman Al Knight noted those homes were built before zoning was approved in the north Shelby beat.

The land Rockhill wanted to develop would have contained lots about half the size of those in the rest of the subdivision. Resident Kathy Pitts asked him if the homes would be the same value as those built on larger pieces of land.

Rockhill said they would be the same because "you can do a lot with 15,000 square feet."

Rockhill fielded questions on problems with drainage and sewage treatment. But the residents showed their main objection to the proposal by urging the commission not to tamper with the present zoning.

I pushed hard for zoning, but I don't know if I would do it again," Gilberson said. "Where is it going to stop? I want R-1."

Resident Jim Miller said he voted for R-1 and he would "like the commission to stay within those guidelines."

Knight commented on the case in a carefully worded statement before the commission voted down the request.

Noting that he also lived in Beat 12, Knight said he was aware of the importance of home investments, and he agreed with the residents that the "idea of R-1 is to restrict development of smaller houses."

"The commission should stand firm on R-1 in this area," Knight said. "It is not appropriate for us to be changing (zoning) spot by spot."

In other business:

•The commission took care of another application for development by approving Roy Martin's plan to build eight more houses in Sunny Meadow. The land was omitted from the original development because of flooding problems, but Martin submitted a proposal to reroute a creek and build up elevations to solve the water problems.

•The commission approved plans for the completion of Meadowbrook Road. The road will provide the subdivision off of Valleydale Road, an access to US 280.

County voters flunk taxes for school aid

by Bert Seaman

While students were exchanging Valentines last Tuesday, 3,937 Shelby County voters were saying 'no' to a tax increase for school improvements.

The referendum to increase property taxes by three mills failed by 736 votes.

Voters in school districts in the north end of Shelby County and in Alabaster were the only ones to approve the additional tax. School districts where the vote passed were: Thompson, Helena, Pelham/Valley, Inverness, and Riverchase.

Although the result of the election was disappointing to Superintendent of Education Ellie Glasscox, he said the 7,138 voters that turned out were more than he expected. According to the board of registrars' office, the voter's list for the county contains between 32,000-33,000 names.

The tax increase proposed by Governor George Wallace for schools in the state may have been responsible for some of the negative votes, Glasscox said. The governor's proposal was made shortly before the local referendum came to a vote.

Because of the negative vote, school system officials won't be able to borrow the money to pay for $9.7 million worth of 'urgent' building needs.

"We'll keep on doing the best we can with what we've got," Glasscox said.

After assessing the reasons why the tax failed to pass, the superintendent said it might be put to a vote again sometime in the future.

"The needs don't go away just because the people have voted against paying for them," Glasscox observed.

Susan Coyne, chairman of the tax referendum committee for the County Parent-Teacher Organization, said, "We owe it to our kids to give them the best facilities possible."

It was her feeling that the tax was turned down, "because people have lost confidence in the board."

When the school system received one half of a cent from the county sales tax that was passed several years ago, some of the schools were promised things that were never delivered, Coyne explained.

She also thought the governor used poor judgement in talking about a state tax for education just before the local vote. Voters living on the east side of the county registered a firm 'no' to the extra tax.

The eastern vote, broken down by general school districts, went as followed:

•Vincent -- 181 for, 435 against.
•Shelby -- 43 for, 174 against.
•Columbiana -- 190 for, 344 against.
•Wilsonville -- 79 for, 217 against.
•Chelsea, 144 for, 383 against.

There was only a 77 vote difference in the Montevallo school district, with 423 people in favor and 500 saying no. In Calera, 143 were for the tax, 246 opposed.

The north Shelby County vote, broken down by general school districts, went as follows;

•Helena -- 164 for, 141 against.

Even in the Thompson School district -- which would have gotten a new high school had the tax passed -- there was only a 153 vote difference. There were 847 votes for, 694 against -- a result that apparently surprised school officials.

Clowning at Valley school

by Fred Guarino

Helena City Council members heard the first reading of a possible new dog control ordinance, last Monday night.

In addition, the council approved a contract for the appraisal of four roads and granted a cable televison license transfer.

Mayor Charles Penhale introduced an ordinance, read by City Clerk Francis Parish, which would prohibit the free running of dogs (not on a leash) in any city park.

"People pull up with their dogs and let them out and kids are scared to death," he said.

If it passes, the law would make it a misdemeanor for dog owners to allow their animals to run free in either Joe Tucker or Penhale Park. It would also authorize the city to fine or jail violators, and impound unaccompanied dogs in a city park.

Fines would range from not ess than one dollar to not more an $200. Any jail sentence ould not be for more than six onths.

The proposed ordinance also ovides the city with the authori- to charge dog owners for each y their animal is impounded. o, unclaimed dogs caught in a y park may be destroyed after eriod of time to be set by the y council.

Councilman Ron Erwin voiced only objection to the propos- ordinance. He asked that the running of dogs be simply ricted to certain areas within a k.

I'd take a dog to the park to im run," he said.

Students upset by vote

One group of students expressing their disappointment on the outcome of the tax vote were eighth graders at Thompson Middle School.

"The high school is in terrible shape," Reggie Green told the Reporter. "There won't be enough room for us when we get over there either."

Donna Nolen said she hoped that the high school can at least be air conditioned and the bathrooms improved.

"I'm looking forward to being in high school -- but not to the one we've got now," Green remarked.

Columbiana council seeks ballfield funds

by Bert Seaman

With spring in the air, boys are counting the days until ball practice begins. The problem in Columbiana is that girls are now counting those days, too --- and there aren't enough ball fields to go around.

Charles Jones from the Dixie Youth program questioned the council last Thursday about practice fields which he had heard would be built at the middle school.

He was told that federal grant money that would have funded the project had never come through. Mayor Buck Falkner assured Jones the council would come up with a solution, however.

When the grant application was submitted to develop two new fields at the middle school, it was estimated the cost would be somewhere between $6,000 - $8,000.

Jones said he thought the fields could be built for $5,000.

As it stands, Jones reported, both the boys' and girls' programs want to use the practice field across the street from the Girl Scout Hut.

"We'd be glad to move over to the middle school," Jones said, "if the fields were built."

The mayor pointed out that when the county park is developed in the Columbiana area, there will be fields there for the community to use. But he admitted that it would be a year or two before that facility is built.

In order to see what can be done about fields for this season, the council stayed after the meeting adjourned to talk about possible sources of funding.

Richard Murphy, district manager for Tac-Can cable television, had less success in getting the council's cooperation.

Earlier, the council had agreed to amend the contract they had with Murphy. The new agreement increased the price of a basic package (channels 2-13) from $8.25 to $12.95 for all subscribers except those over the age of 65.

The increased price was for channels 2-20.

But it was Murphy's understanding the senior citizens would have to show 'need' in order to get the $8.25 rate. That ordinance, however, was apparently written to include all senior citizens.

Murphy wanted the council to change the ordinance to the way he intended it. However, the council stood firm in insisting everyone over 65 be given the cheaper price without regard to their economic status.

Murphy said that so far, only four people have asked for the lower rate. "I'm not required to advertise it," he said.

In other business:

•A hearing on revenue sharing was announced for March 5, 10 a.m.

•Beverly Brackett from the Humane Society asked for funds during the next fiscal year in the amount of $2,800. The money, she said, would go towards initiating a countywide animal control program.

All municipalities are being asked to cooperate, she said.

Calera wreck

Truck driver Thomas Baker (l) stands by, while friends retrieve his belongings from the cab of the truck which overturned on State 31 Friday after hitting a car. Baker escaped without injury.

Crash injures woman

Calera rescue workers cut the roof off Eunice Williams' car to get her and a passenger out after the '78 Chrysler was hit by a tractor trailer Friday.

Williams was reportedly making a left turn off US 31 just south of Calera when the accident occurred at 12:05 p.m.

The 49-year old Columbiana woman was taken to Shelby Medical Center where her condition Monday was listed as stable and improving.

Neither her passenger nor the truck driver required hospitalization.

According to State Trooper Gary Champion both vehicles were headed north.

Thomas Baker, 24, of Montgomery was driving the loaded tractor trailer rig owned by Coosada Trucking.

He reportedly did not know Williams was turning and started to pass.

The rig overturned blocking both lanes. Traffic was directed around the wreck on the shoulder of the road by Shelby County Sheriff's deputies.

Stolen loot recovered in Sylacauga shop

Property stolen from the home of Harpersville Mayor J.W. Donahoo was recovered from a pawn shop last week. Law officers said they expect to arrest a suspect this week.

Sheriff's detective Richard Fox said $11,000 worth of jewelry was recovered from Sylacauga Pawn Shop after the owner contacted law officers.

Donahoo's home was broken into Feb. 1, and the jewelry, a pistol and a shotgun was taken, Fox said. The guns are still missing.

Fox said a warrant has been signed for a suspect charging him with buying and receiving stolen property.

County revenue to stay the same after tax vote; land exchange okayed

by Fred Guarino

Because an additional school tax for Shelby County was defeated February 14, county property tax millage will not change for 1984-85.

In addition, a land exchange between the county and Gulf States Paper Company has now gone through.

Both matters were discussed Monday during a continuation of last week's regular county commission meeting.

Without the proposed three mill addition to the school tax, property taxes will remain at the current 23½ mill level.

A breakdown of county property, or ad valorem taxes is as follows: 5 mills, general taxes; 2½ mills, special road and bridge taxes; 4 mills, hospital tax, and 12 mills divided among five separate taxes all dedicated to the schools.

The state levies 6½ mills, and various cities and fire districts have varying additional millages.

Homestead and other exemptions sometimes apply, and the assessed value of property is determined by applying one of a number of formulas.

A week ago Monday was the official deadline for raising county property taxes. Last week's consideration of the tax structure was carried over to this week so the outcome of the school tax vote would be known.

The only other official action Monday was giving tentative approval of expenses for tax assessor personnel to attend a winter training seminar.

The action was approved on a tentative basis because Tax Assessor Bobbie Reynolds did not include a budget statement with her request.

A budget statement is required by the county commission in order for department heads to prove that an item is in their budget.

The March 7-9 seminar is to be attended by Reynolds, Estelle Sumners, Mary Ann Thompson, Jewell Waldrop, Jim Sumners, Steve Hager, and Richard Lawrence.

Commissioner John Ames requested that a memo be sent reminding all department heads of the need for budget statements.

The county will now turn over to that corporation 64 acres off the end of McDow Road for the 41 acres owned by Gulf States near the county vocational school.

Ames told the Reporter that the request has already been approved by the Shelby County Planning Commission, and that it is included in that body's master plan.
the Meadow Brook subdivision, he said.

Girl attacked at SCHS

Four teenagers are charged with attempted rape after a girl was assaulted at Shelby County High School on Valentine Day.

County Sheriff Buddy Glasgow said the incident occurred during school, about 2 p.m. by the football stadium.

The sheriff withheld the names of the four juveniles.

Glasgow said four students were arrested and will be tried in juvenile court.

UM student jailed for robbery

There wasn't enough money in a convenience store cash register to satisfy a would be robber -- so he handed it back and left.

But police still charged the 18 year old suspect with robbery in the 1st degree.

Jonathan Clark Retzlaff, a University of Montevallo student, allegedly walked into the U Tote M on State 119 S. at 3:55 a.m. last Tuesday and demanded the money in the cash register.

Alabaster investigator Sgt. Larry Rollan, said the robbery suspect had a large, pointed stick in his possession when he entered the store.

Rollan reported that Alabaster police officer Sgt. Frank Page picked Retzlaff up a short time later walking along State 119.

The suspect was arrested and taken to the Shelby County jail where he still remains under a $15,000 bond.

State to give UM more money

George Wallace has called for a 21 percent increase in funding for the University of Montevallo for fiscal year 1984-85.

UM officials had, however, requested a 32 percent increase over this year's funding.

"I am pleased to report to you that we have been well treated in round one of the annual appropriations fight at the State Capitol," said Dr. Joe Brindley, UM director of public affairs.

The governor recommended to the state legislature last week that Montevallo receive $7,753,573 for the upcoming fiscal year, a 17 percent increase over 1983-84's appropriation, plus a one-time appropriation of $244,755.

The recommendation from Wallace was termed by Brindley, "the most favorable...from a governor since I've been at Montevallo.

"But remember, I'm talking about round one. There are several more rounds to be fought before the match is over," Brindley added, referring to potential actions of the state legislature.

Candidate visits Montevallo

Republican Senatorial candidate Albert Lee Smith will be in Montevallo on Thursday, Feb. 23.

The Republican student organization at UM will be hosts for the meeting, scheduled for the top floor of the student union building at 7 p.m.

Smith is seeking the Republican nomination to run for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Howell Heflin.

The public is encouraged to attend.

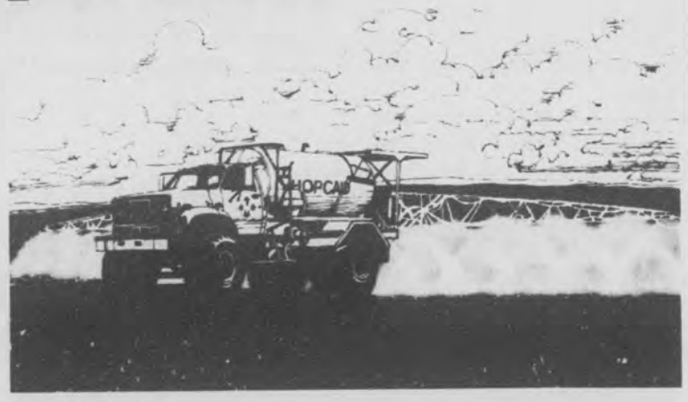
Hopcaid Liquid Fertilizers give you more income per acre!



Here's how . . .
1. One-trip weed and feed application of Hopcaid Liquid Fertilizer and herbicide reduces fuel, labor and equipment costs by about $20.00 per acre. But University research shows yield increases equal to another $20.00 as a result of reduced soil compaction and improved herbicide uptake.
2. It's impossible to make the same amount of nutrients available to each plant in the row when you spread dry fertilizer. Some plants get much too much and some get much too little. Compared to the near-perfect and uniform application of Hopcaid Solutions, you'll lose about 6½ bushels per acre when you spread dry blends.
3. Dry fertilizers contain only dry orthophosphates as their source of P_2O_5. University research shows a yield advantage of 9.6% when liquid polyphosphates are used as the P_2O_5 source. Most Hopcaid Liquid Fertilizers are formulated with only liquid polyphosphates as the P_2O_5 source.
Put a pencil to it. Hopcaid Fertilizer Solutions add up to more income per acre. Call us. We'll be ready when you are.

Pelham answers requests for stop sign in Chandawood

by Fred Guarino

Residents of Pelham's Chandawood Drive will receive some relief from traffic problems as the result of last Monday night's city council meeting.

Charlie Rogers, Steve Staggs and Jerry Eck appeared and asked the council to install at least one stop sign on the road.

Rogers, who served as the spokesman for the group, said that he was "concerned about the safety of children."

He pointed out that at least 16 children live in homes along the .9-mile long road, and that only one speed limit sign is posted there.

"I spoke to several patrolmen and they agree that people don't drive posted speed limits and there is no incentive for them to slow down without a stop sign," Rogers said.

"Our situation is the same as that of Chandalar Lane," Staggs said. "It (Chandawood Drive) is a major thoroughfare."

He pointed out that stop signs have eased traffic problems on Chandalar Lane.

Councilman K.O. Maynard moved that at least one stop sign be erected at a three-way intersection on the road and that two speed limit signs also be added.

Councilwoman Beverly Hall suggested that police chief D.O. Watson be allowed to place the stop sign wherever he saw fit. That would resolve the situation so that it would not have to come back before the council, she said.

Maynard said he had no problem with Hall's suggestion and moved that at least one stop sign and two speed limit signs be placed on the street. The motion passed without objection.

In other action:

•The council approved the placing of six new street lights on Pelham roads. Single lights will be placed on Wood Dale, Brookfield, Vance Street and Wilson Street, while two lights will be placed on highway 52.

Mayor Burk Dunaway said he hoped to receive recommendations for other street light locations from Alabama Power Company before the next council meeting.

•Upon a motion from Hall, Martha Murphy was approved as a new member of the Pelham Library Board.

Murphy will fill James Hallmark's vacant seat on the board and her term will not expire until 1986.

Alabaster man jailed for forgery

An Alabaster man allegedly trying to buy drugs with altered prescriptions was arrested by law officers Thursday in Vincent.

Alvin Swift, 32, Alabaster, was arrested at Clinic Pharmacy in Vincent and charged with second degree forgery.

Pharmacist Harold Argo said a man came in Wednesday and presented two prescriptions for drugs that contained synthetic codeine, a painkiller.

Suspecting that the prescriptions were altered, Argo said he gave the man a few pills and told him to come back the next day for the rest of the order.

Argo alerted Vincent Police Chief George Humphries and the man was arrested the next day when he arrived at the drugstore.

The suspect has not been released on bond.

Other activity on the sheriff's blotter for the week ending Monday, included:

•Burglaries: Five were reported, including antique furniture taken from a home on Valleydale Rd. A tape player, batteries and two gas tanks were reported stolen from a pontoon boat on Beeswax Creek. Household goods were taken from a mobile home in Montevallo, and a woman reported her purse taken from her car at Inverness Apts.

•DUI: Three arrests were made; one was also charged with driving with a suspended license.

Demos hold banquet

The Shelby County Democratic Executive Committee is hosting an appreciation night for the state representatives from the county.

The banquet is open to the public, according to SCDEC chairman Jim King, and area residents are invited to meet and hear their representatives speak.

"We have a full program," King said, adding that delegates to the national convention in San Francisco are also expected to be introduced.

The banquet is at 7 p.m., Friday, Feb. 24, at the University of Montevallo's Anna Irvin Dining Hall.

Tickets will be available at the door, according to King. For more information, call King: 663-1004.

Calera gives yard to school after deed omission discovered

Although the Board of Education won't be getting any additional revenue from property tax, the board did get a piece of property Monday.

The land -- measuring 75 x 100 feet -- is the front yard of Calera High School. Prior to Monday it had never been officially deeded to the school.

Superintendent of Education Ellie Glasscox and Deputy Superintendent Vern Davis were on hand at Monday's council meeting to express their appreciation for the action.

Mayor Carl Prichard said that the discovery that the land still belonged to the city was made during an updating of city records.

Since the education superintendent was present, Prichard mentioned the graduation exit exams 11th graders were required to take for the first time this year.

Glasscox said scores would not be revealed so the public wouldn't compare schools, but he told the council, "Calera didn't take a back seat to anybody."

The mayor announced that final paperwork had been completed with the contractor who will build the new sewerage treatment plant in Calera.

He said the first step in the $2.5 million project would be the building of an access road to the plant. Work is scheduled to begin March 5.

In other business, the council voted to enter into an agreement with the League of Municipalities which would allow the state organization to collect delinquent insurance license fees due the city.

The city will not be required to pay any money for the service, but will receive 50% of the fees collected.

tests, and "found out in truth it was going in the creek."

A spokesman for ADEM in Montgomery said that office thought the problem had long been corrected.

Moore said that ADEM usually turns over local cases such as this to county health departments. "If the county health department can't do something, we normally take measures to get it corrected," Moore said.

Clark honored for library effort

The Alabaster City Council honored a citizen for making the city's library a reality.

Phil Clark, director of Shelby County Libraries, was presented with a certificate of appreciation by Mayor H.A. 'Doc' Rubin and the rest of the council at their meeting Monday night.

"Clark helped us get a grant for $300,000," Rubin said, and got our matching funds down to $25,000. Now, that's some horn-swoggling."

The city normally would have paid $75,000 in funds, but Clark arranged for the city to use some of its own services in building the library.

Clark is moving to Montgomery where he will become a state library consultant for the Alabama State Library Service.

In other business, the council reappointed Aaron Sherer to the city planning commission and Robert S. Moore and Thomas Cairns to the Board of Adjustments.

The council also approved the purchase of new uniforms for the street department.

Shelby accident hurts boy

A Columbiana youth was seriously injured when the motorcycle he was riding slid off a rainy road and hit a tree Sunday afternoon.

Ricky Crowder, age 10, was in serious but stable condition at University Hospital with a fractured skull, hospital spokesman John Wright said Monday.

Rescue workers at the scene said Crowder lost control of the four-wheeled motorcycle as he came around a curve on Old Shelby Cemetery Rd. The machine flipped over and hit a tree.

State troopers called for a life-saver helicopter to transport the victim, but the rainy weather had grounded it. Crowder was taken to Birmingham by conventional carrier.

The council also approved a contract agreement with Alabama Valuation Service for the appraisal of three roads in Liberty Heights and Scurlock Road. The appraisal is to be conducted within 14 days so that the city can begin work on street paving projects.

TAX TIME

The closer it gets, the better we look.

Anytime is a good time to open an Individual Retirement Account. And with tax time just around the corner, you still have plenty of time to consider the tax advantages of a Jefferson Federal IRA. Plenty of time to choose which of two accounts is right for you. Both are easy to open, and if you make the maximum deposit by April 16th, you can take the full deduction on your 1983 income tax return. Even better, if you make your 1984 contribution at the same time, your account can start earning high interest, tax-deferred for the rest of the year.

Check the charts for maximum contributions and the two types of tax-saving IRAs offered by Jefferson Federal. Then start saving for a comfortable retirement the easy way. And remember, the sooner you start, the greater the benefits. Stop by any one of our offices, and we'll help you make a timely decision. Because we want you to keep more of what you make, and make more of what you have. What could be better than that?

Maximum Deposit per year:
Single $2,000; One-paycheck couple $2,250;
Working couple $4,000.

Floating Rate IRA*
Compounded monthly
$50 minimum deposit

Vote carries message

Many theories are going the rounds as to why the vote for the school tax failed last week.

It was a historic vote. No one remembers Shelby County voters ever turning down a referendum for the schools.

But this time, voters might have been trying to tell the school board something. We think the message behind the vote is:

'If we were happier with the education the children are getting, and if we knew more about the true needs of the schools, some of us might have voted the other way.'

We think the close vote is a plea to the school board and the superintendent to restore the esteem that surrounded education when people thought of it as nearly sacred.

It is ironic that the vote came when the Shelby County schools are showing evidence of improvement, such as in the statewide testing scores.

The pro-education forces could have made a better case for the issue, and could have worked harder to get it passed.

But fears among many about the cost of the new tax -- coupled with disenchantment about the mission of education -- were enough to defeat it.

Many of the older people in the county are worrying, rightly, about expenses in the future. But these are the same people who have always been generous in voting for education in the past.

If they can be reached, and convinced, that the board of education is serious, and will really use the money for the good of the children, then we think a future vote will have a different outcome.

Correct toilet problem -- fast

That Bishop Creek is far short of drinking quality probably comes as no shock to most people.

But to know that the City of Pelham is apparently flushing toilets directly into the creek is -- to say the least -- disgusting.

True, a state biologist figures that the discharge poses only a minute chance of some kind of nasty contamination or harm. But viewed from the standpoint of the city flushing toilets into one end of the creek, and pumping a well near the other...

Maybe no one's being directly harmed by this. Maybe it's just one of those problems that got buried in the unnatural channels of bureaucratic shuffling. Maybe a lot of things.

But now that the problem has been pointed out, there should be no maybes involved in seeing that it is corrected. Quickly.

Reader issues tax challenge

Letter to the Editor:

It was with much displeasure that I received the news that the tax referendum on Feb. 14 had failed, and indeed that all of Shelby County had failed.

Alabama has long held dearly to the position at or near the bottom of almost all scales by which enlightened people might measure their struggle for a successful and prosperous existence. We seem to treat our hold on last place as if we were using an inverted scale. The fact that we are at the bottom is a result of a certain 'loser mentality' that is painfully evident throughout the state.

It is this mentality that has been so well demonstrated by the voters of Shelby County. So many claim that taxes are not the answer when in reality they did not even know the question.

My displeasure with those who voted against the tax, however, is insignificant when compared to the feelings that I have for the parents who did not even bother to vote.

But, my intent here is not just to complain. I have a plan by which those who sincerely want to improve their local school system may, in fact, do so. It is a very simple plan. Even though there will be no new tax, there is no reason at all why we should not individually make a contribution to our schools.

Yes, I am asking you to tax yourself and yourself alone. This morning my wife and I gave $25 to the principal of our son's school. We asked him to spend the money on either the kindergarten classes or the first grade classes. This money will not be used just for our child, but for many other children.

I am issuing a challenge to all Shelby County residents: If at least ten of you send me a letter stating that you have given $25 to your child's principal, then I will give another $25 to my child's principal.

I certainly hope that the 280 people here in Montevallo who voted for the tax will back up their vote with a check to one or more of Montevallo's fine principals. If 280 people give $25, our schools would be suddenly blessed with $7,000 -- a somewhat significant amount.

Again, my challenge is not just for Montevallo, but for the entire county. Of course, you do not have to write to me, you could just give for the pleasure of it.

Please tell a friend and thank you.

Sincerely,

Ed superintendent offers regrets

To the Patrons of Montevallo High School:

It has been brought to my attention that Ricky Dobson, an outstanding athlete at Montevallo High, was recently chosen as the recipient of an athletic scholarship to Mississippi Southern. Such an honor was well deserved and is reflective of, not only a fine young man, but a concerned and cooperative family, and a community and school encouraging high ideals for its students. I regret that I had not been informed and consequently, could not share the excitement of the contract signing with Ricky and his parents as I was able to do so with Luvell Bivins of Thompson High.

Vote called 'tragedy'

Letter to the Editor:

A great tragedy has occurred in our county and our children will continue to suffer for it.

My fellow citizens are willing to gripe and complain about the terribly inadequate school facilities in many areas of our county. They are willing to see our children attend classes in trailers and buildings that should have been condemned years ago.

However, they seem to be unwilling to pay the ridiculously low price of a nickel a day to help alleviate the problem. Our currently elected school officials are greatly concerned, but they cannot spend money they do not have to correct problems that existed long before they were elected.

Don't blame these officials for our problems. We should all hang our heads in shame until we gain the courage necessary to pass the revenue increases so desperately needed by our school system.

Firemen commended

Letter to the Editor:

Many times we forget the many important serices rendered to us and our communities by others.

It has been a long time since I witnessed a fire destroying a home from close up. I had this opportunity on Christmas Eve around eleven p.m.

No one enjoys watching a home being destroyed by fire. My purpose here is to commend the volunteer fire fighters of the city of Montevallo for the very fine job which they did while braving a five degree temperature as they fought this fire.

For those of us who were there, it should cause us to rest a little easier knowing that they are here to help us.

Things you wouldn't know if you didn't go to the grocery store: She bought four bananas, standing over the fruit counter a long time trying to find four that weren't bruised. And she found them. But she wouldn't know for certain until the next day or the day after.

She made her way to the pay line and got in front, by a whisker, of a lady who had a wagon crammed full and a small boy perched on top of a sack of dog food.

She handed the bananas to the sales lady and snatched 'em back and looked at 'em a long minute. She took the tiny tags off and handed 'em back to the girl.

"At this price," she moaned, "I don't want to pay for the tags too."

* * * *

He picked up a yellow delicious apple and looked at it, hunting a bruise. But he didn't find one. He took the apple to the scales, hanging above the grapes and tangerines, and weighed it.

A lady passed. She was hunting nutmeg, she said, but hadn't even come close. She looked at his apple.

"What did it weigh?"

"Eight ounces on the dot."

Another lady, probably her shopping buddy, called and said she had found the nutmeg.

"I'll be back in a minute," she called back.

She looked at him and at the apple. It was so yellow and shined. "That'll be thirty-five cents and tax," she laughed.

He watched her leave. She was fat and forty and waddled a little when she walked.

He went back to the bin and put his apple on top of two others. If he owed 'em anything for looking, he'd pay on his next trip.

Fred's Corner

by Fred Guarino

Hello and welcome once again to Fred's Corner.

Members of the Shelby County Chapter of the Humane Society are now making city council meeting rounds to sell what I think is a good idea.

They want a countywide and municipality sponsored animal control program.

The program would involve the hiring of a fulltime animal control expert to oversee the capture of stray cats and dogs, as well as the granting of power to the humane society to cite animal control violators.

It would also require participating cities to purchase stray animal traps to be used by the humane society in this effort.

All fines would go to the city in which violators were cited to help them maintain a good control of stray cats and dogs in their area.

If you have ever been bitten by a stray dog or if you have ever had a child suffer from such a bite, it should be obvious what benefits a countywide control program could have.

Too, if you've ever had your garbage ripped apart and scattered through the yard, or had a favorite pet killed by stray dogs, you know what a relief to such problems this program could be.

There are benefits from a humanitarian point of view, as well. Such a program would cut down on the number of animals dying on the roads and highways of Shelby County because they had no owners to keep them from harm's way.

Such animals would also be spared the life of hunger and disease which goes hand in hand with being a stray cat or dog.

That's not all. A countywide animal control program could also help prevent the unnecessary births of hundreds of unwanted animals.

What the humane society would like is for enough city contributions to provide a fulltime control program, and for the purchase of traps by the various cities to be used in the capture of strays.

I think such a program has merit and should be instituted. It could help make Shelby County a better place to live for animals and humans alike.

Alabama Scene

Either Gov. George Wallace didn't do his homework, or he is playing games with the Legislature.

Wallace had proposed a tax of four-tenths of one percent on all wholesale transactions in Alabama as a way of providing new revenue for the hard-pressed State General Fund. The bill didn't fly. In fact, it was rudely shot down before it reached the end of the runway.

The proposition created a tempest among both wholesalers and retailers, so much so in fact that one of the governor's own floor leaders, Rep. Roy Johnson of Tuscaloosa, made the motion to kill the bill. It never had a chance.

How the governor and his lieutenants could have so badly miscalculated on this measure is a mystery. Some of Wallace's critics are convinced he knew all along that the proposition would be rejected, and once it was, he could dump the hot potato in the lap of the legislators. This is precisely what he has done.

Once the measure was dead and buried, Wallace had a new General Fund budget sent to the House which calls for an across-the-board cut of three percent for all GF agencies. Also cut from the new budget is the proposed eight percent pay boost for state employees.

If this were a tennis game, which it isn't, Wallace has said to the lawmakers: "The ball is in your court..."

More than anything else, this development so early in the regular session suggests that this may be one of the stormiest sessions in years. It will be no place for the faint hearted.

Twenty years ago this fall, five Republicans were elected to the U.S. House of Representatives from Alabama. Time has taken its toll. Glenn Andrews of Anniston was defeated in 1966 after but one term; Jim Martin of Gadsden vacated his office in the same year to run for governor (Lurleen Wallace destroyed him); John Buchanan was ousted in 1980. Only Jack Edwards of Mobile and Bill Dickinson of Montgomery survive. And Edwards will retire at the end of his present term.

Rep. Dickinson has no intention of retiring, and is even now preparing for a bid for reelection. The prospect of being the only Republican in the Alabama House delegation doesn't bother him, although he is confident he will not be alone next January. Former State Sen. Sonny Callahan of Mobile, a Democrat - turned - Republican, is a pre-campaign favorite to win the seat Edwards is vacating. The polls presently suggest that.

Dickinson, who came within an eyelash of losing his seat in 1982 to Wallace faithful Billy Joe Camp, feels more secure this year. Camp ran on Wallace's coattails in '82; Dickinson will be running on Ronald Reagan's coattails this year.

"It's more fun swimming with the tide than against it," Dickinson said.

Reporter letter policy

The Shelby County Reporter is glad to consider for possible publication reader opinions on issues of local interest. Such opinions should be expressed in the form of a 'Letter to the editor.' Such letters should be limited to 250 words, typed or neatly printed, and include both your signature and address. For our own information, your phone number is useful. Students win prizes for writing

Six students in Shelby County won prizes in a writing contest sponsored by the Alabama Penman.

Winners will compete next on a regional level and then in a statewide championship. State winners will be published in Alabama Penman's state literary magazine.

Dr. Norman McMillan, chairman of the English department at the University of Montevallo, selected the winning pieces from those submitted by each of the public schools.

Dr. Lusia McPherson and Evan Majors coordinated the contest for the board of education.

The students received certificates from county school superintendant Ellie Glasscox and cash prizes from Shelby County Reporter publisher Marcia M. Sears at a ceremony Monday.

In the poetry division, Thompson seventh grader Andy Shelton won first place, and second place went to Jeffrey Vick, an eighth-grader at Calera Middle.

Sherry Weathers, a senior at Thompson, took first place in short story competition, and second place went to Chelsea junior Michell Whitfield.

In the essay contest, senior Gordon Kenney of Thompson won first prize, and Augie Champion, a seventh-grader at Vincent, came in second.

Writing winners

Winners of county-wide writing contest are (from l.) Angie Champion, Michell Whitfield, Sherry Weathers, Gordon Kenney, Andy Shelton and Jeffrey Vick.

UM focuses on women in March

"Women: Their Impact on the Arts" will be the focus of Women's Week at the University of Montevallo, March 5-9.

Among the activities slated are:

•A keynote address by music professor Johnetta Randolph Haley at the Women's Week Convocation, Tuesday, March 6.

The Southern Illinois University professor will speak at 10 a.m. in LeBaron Recital Hall.

Featured speaker for the luncheon event will be Pamela Middaugh, owner of a local pottery store, who has experience in the fields of theatre and television.

•A panel discussion on "Women Making Their Mark on the Arts," also on Tuesday March 6, at 1:30 p.m. in the Comer Hall Auditorium.

The moderator for the discussion will be Joan Cowan, associate professor of music at UM.

Panelists will include Dr. Robert Cowan, associate professor of music; Marianne Zeanah, assistant professor of dance; Dr. Frank McCoy, chairman of the art department; and Cathy Rye, manager of the State of Alabama Ballet.

A campus-wide reception will follow at 3:30 p.m. at the home of UM President Jim Vickrey.

•On Thursday, March 8, Selma author Kathryn Windham will present a new one-act play on the life of Julia Tutwiler, the first president of what is now the University of Montevallo.

"My Name is Julia," will be presented at 7:30 p.m. in the Comer Hall auditorium.

•Also on Thursday at 10 a.m., UM associate professor of home economics Dr. Phyllis Sprueill will present "Dress for Success."

A tea will be held immediately after the presentation.

•The UM Lyric Theatre will perform "The Threepenny Opera" March 5-6 at 8 p.m. in LeBaron Recital Hall. Shari Boruvka-Roth, assistant professor of music will direct.

For reservations and luncheon fees write Bev Warren, Station 180, University of Montevallo, Montevallo, AL 35115 or call 665-2521, ext. 405.

Eat chicken to help MES

Montevallo Elementary School will host an art show and chicken finger supper next Friday, March 2.

Exhibits of children's art will displayed throughout the school from 4:30 until 7 p.m. The cafeteria will be open to serve the public at that time.

Tickets will be available at the door. For more information: 665-1551.

McCrimon takes top track honors

At 5'5" and 132 pounds, Vincent High School senior Wanda McCrimon is not exactly an imposing, Amazon-type athletic figure.

But the pretty, 17 year-old Yellow Jacket track star stands head and shoulders -- at least in ability -- above all indoor female track competitors in the State of Alabama.

At the 1984 state indoor track championship held earlier this month in Montgomery, she was named Most Outstanding Female Athlete of all school classes (1A-4A).

The speedy McCrimon took the honor by winning the high jump, long jump and the 60-yard low hurdles. To earn it, she had to beat out a Mountain Brook girl who won two events and set a new state record.

"I was shocked!" McCrimon recalled of her triumphant moment. "We (our team) were going to leave and were getting our stuff together when they called my name. We had already picked up our first place team trophy."

She called the state award the biggest honor of her life. The words "shocked and happy" kept popping up when she tried to express her feelings.

McCrimon's surprise can be better understood when one realizes that she runs for a school with no track facilities. A potholed bus parking lot has served as her training ground for the past four years.

McCrimon began running at the age of 13 when some of her junior high track friends encouraged her to try out for the team.

To go along with small size, McCrimon has a quiet voice and a quality of modesty about her when she talks about her track successes.

"I tried it and I liked it," she remembered of her first running efforts in the ninth grade. "I don't have much natural ability. It's just something I want to do."

McCrimon first showed her ability in the ninth grade when she placed second in a high jump event.

Troy State University is now interested in her running and leaping power. In addition to that, McCrimon is also an accomplished volleyball player and is considering trying out for the teams at UAB, University of Montevallo and Jacksonville State.

That should come as no surpise to anyone because McCrimon lists all county and all area

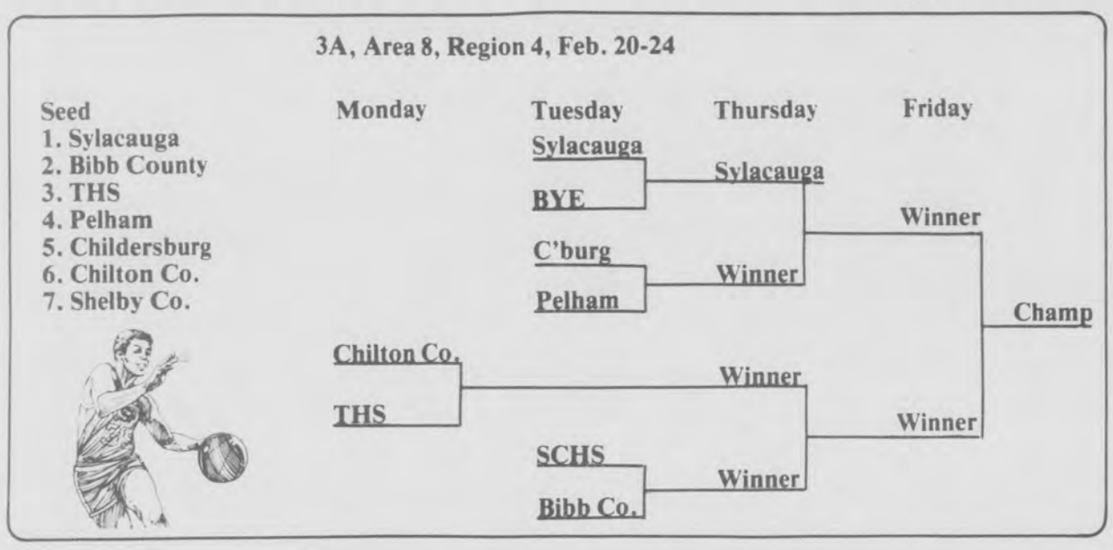
Area 8, 3A crown up for grabs this weekend



Pelham High School won the Shelby County basketball championship this year.

Last Tuesday night, it began a quest for higher honors -- the Area 8 Region 4 basketball title and a chance at state level competiton.

For the Panthers to reach that goal, they will have to overcome such schools as Sylacauga, Bibb County, Thompson, Childersburg, Chilton County and Shelby County by Friday, February 24.

The week's tourney action in Childersburg closes out Friday night with the area championship game. (See related box for pre-tourney line ups.)

Pelham coach Tony Taylor, who did not return several calls by the Reporter, was unavailable for pre-tourney comments on his team.

The Warriors -- 22-6 on the season after beating Stanhope-Elmore (see related story) and Vincent -- earlier this year whipped second seeded Bibb County, 65-54.

Against Bibb County, Thompson standouts Chris Thomas and Tony Hale scored 16 points each, while lone senior Luvell Bivins scored 14 points.

"I think our chances are as good as anybody's," THS coach Thomas Johnson said of the tournament possibilities. "We beat everyone in the area and we were the only team to beat Sylacauga."

Thompson's only area losses have come against Pelham and Sylacauga.

Thompson, seeded third in the area, took on Chilton County Monday night after sports deadlines.

Pelham is seeded fourth. The tournament favorite and number one seed is Sylacauga.

Shelby County, seeded last in the area at 11-12, took on Bibb County Tuesday night.

Coach Don Piazza was not optimistic about his

Vincent is top seed in 2A, Area 7 tourney

Vincent High School is favored to win the 2A Area 7 basketball tournament in Montevallo this Friday night. Going into the tourney, the Yellow Jackets were 19-7 on the year.

The tournament began Tuesday, and while Vincent may be the number one seeded squad, six other teams will have a say about the eventual outcome. B.B. Comer, Holy Family, Montevallo, Chelsea, Winterboro and Jemison would all like to see the Yellow Jackets lose their sting.

Vincent coach Richard Crumpton cautiously refuses to take anything for granted.

"I'm not going to sit here and tell you something like a fool... Montevallo, Holy Family and B.B. Comer all have a legitimate chance at winning," he said late last week.

"The best record is not always indicative of the best team," he added. "Rarely has the tournament favorite ever won."

"To win (the tournament) you have to hit a shot at the buzzer or make the last shot of the game, have an official blow a call in your favor in a critical situation, and you have to win a game when you didn't play well," he said.

Cross county rivals Montevallo and Chelsea are also setting their sights for this year's area crown.

The Montevallo Bulldogs have only managed an 11-10 record, but even with that they were the only area team to defeat Vincent in the regular season. That victory came in a 41-40 contest played on the Bulldog's home court.

Bulldog coach Kurt Pnazek knows his team will have the home court advantage again.

"I feel like our chances are as good as anybody else's," he told the Reporter. "Vincent has a better record but they won a lot of games against

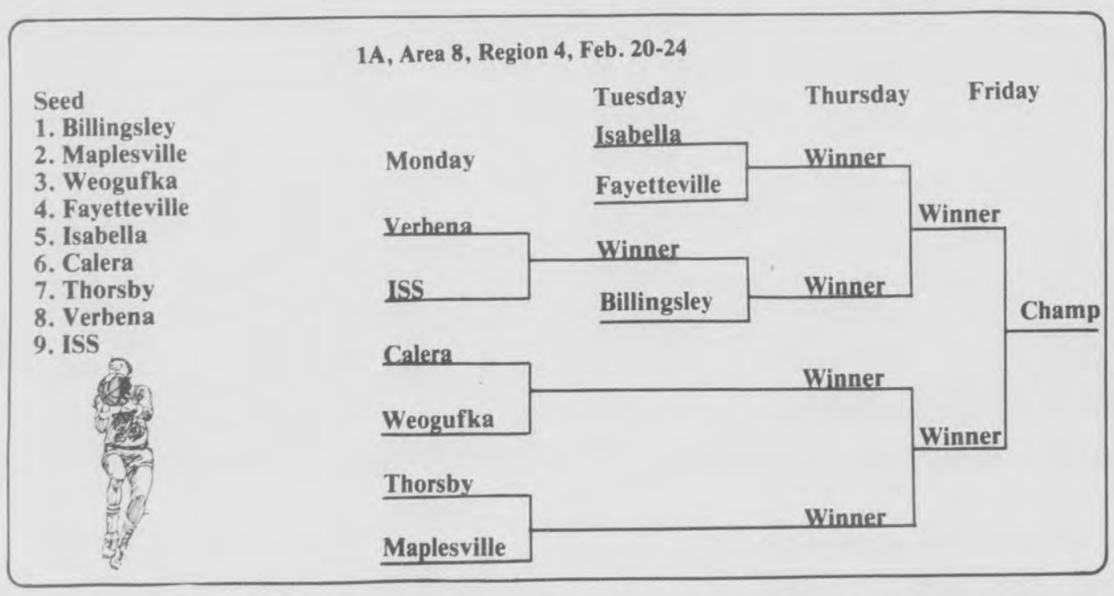
Calera, ISS are long-shot for 1A, Area glory



Both Indian Springs High School and Calera High School could have one last shot this week to gain basketball glory.

The two schools were expected to tip-off the 1A Area 8 tournament in Billingsley, last Monday night.

It is no secret that host team Billingsley is the tournament favorite. But that issue won't be decided for sure until this Friday.

The sixth seed Eagles (8-10) took on third seed Weogukfa on Monday, while ninth seed, Indian Springs (2-16) challenged eighth seed Verbena.

The Eagles lost a recent a game to 2A Montevallo 63-51. But perhaps Calera took some inspiration into the playoff from Chris Haynes' 18 point performance against the 'Dogs and Greg Haynes' 14 rebounds.

Indian Springs might have gone into tournament action with something of a renewed spirit. Greg Van Horn's squad won its second game of the season recently by defeating Moody 53-42.

In that contest, Indian Springs' Mark Sable played a nearly perfect game and scored 21 points. He hit 90 percent (nine of ten shots from the field) and went 100 percent (three for three) at the free throw line.

Also showing well for ISS was Stewart Hall who pulled down nine rebounds and scored 12 points.

Calera coach Mark Lovett told the Reporter that for his team to win the area, it would have to play extremely well and defeat two of the best 1A school in the state -- Billingsley and Maplesville.

But, as ISS's Van Horn said of his team's chances, "In the game of basketball, anything can happen..."

For a listing of tournament seeds and the 1A Area 8 tournament bracket, see related box.

SA Raiders, CVA Rebels post outstanding records

Basketball, 1983-84, is over for private school arch rivals Shelby Academy and Coosa Valley Academy... but this past season won't be forgotten by either.

Both schools posted outstanding records and both represented Shelby County in the Alabama Private School Association state championship playoffs.

Shelby Academy earned its fourth straight trip to the state tournament at Huntingdon College by winning the District 7 crown. The Raiders finished the year at 19-7.

In addition to getting a shot at the state title, the SA Raiders saw their junior star Dennis Attaway named District 7's Most Valuable Player. They also saw senior Vince Pickett named to the second team All District squad.

Coosa Valley finished third in District 7 competition with a 17-6 record. That was good enough to give that school a wildcard playoff berth.

The Rebels' placed both senior Van Huffaker and junior John Beavers on the first team All District squad while senior Larry Hill earned second team District honors.

Although both schools lost out in the opening round of state competition, both showed outstanding ability.

The Raiders fell 63-41 to West End Christian of Tuscaloosa. But considering their opponent was the only team to beat title favorite Tuscaloosa in over 100 games, there was no reason for shame.

Even against tough West End, Pickett scored a respectable 13 points while Jim Lee pulled down seven rebounds.

CVA lost its opening game to Morgan Academy 67-66. But again there was no reason for shame. Morgan only managed to beat the Rebels with the help of a last second bucket.

Proof of the Rebels good showing was the fact that Morgan Academy gave up 20 points to Beavers, 16 points to Huffaker and 12 points to Hill.

Maybe the sweetest thing about this past season for Shelby Academy, however, was the fact that it proved a total surprise.

"We never had any thoughts of winning the district or going to the state," said coach Dewayne Kervin. "We didn't think we could exceed the .500 mark!"

The fact that CVA made the playoffs despite having only a little depth and little experience, probably made its playoff shot even sweeter.

Another bright spot for Shelby and Coosa Valley players is that they earned the respect of their coaches.

"They worked harder than any team I've ever had, played better than any team I've ever had and, were the most unselfish of any team I've ever had," SA coach Kervin said.

"They came a long way in two years. They worked hard to get where they were. Their goal was to go to the state and they reached that goal," CVA coach Breland also said of his Rebels.

Both coaches went so far as to rank their teams among the top ten private high schools in the state.

The Raiders will lose three seniors from this season's team but only two of them, Vince Pickett and Jim Lee, were starters.

Third senior, Doug Barrett, never started a game.

The Rebels will lose four seniors to graduation but again, only two starters will be gone next season. John Limbaugh only started at times, Huffaker started fulltime, Hill started fulltime and Mike Goodwin never started.

All in all, Breland considered the Rebels of 1983-84 the best ever. Kervin said his Raiders gave their school its best mark in five years.

Yellow Jacket awed by state track recognition volleyball recognition along with her many track awards.

"I was captain of my volleyball team for two years," McCrimon smiled. "But it wouldn't hurt" to get a track scholarship. It all depends on what they give me. If they give me a scholarship I'll run."

McCrimon said her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis McCrimon, have never watched her run in four years of track. But she said they're proud of her and usually buy her something when she surprises them with her awards.

McCrimon is still somewhat awed over the fact she won the top state female track award and that at least one college is interested in her.

"I didn't think this much would be involved," she said. "I just thought I'd go out and run in the meets."

McCrimon admitted she dosen't let track take too big of a chunk out of her life. She said she never runs on weekend or holidays. "I want to sometimes, but I just can't push myself to do it."

She said track really takes very liitle from her high school life. She can still go to dances and other activities. "We miss a basketball game or a football game sometimes but our sport is a sport too, and they miss us."

The Vincent girl gives a lot of credit to her coaches for her success.

"They don't push, but they pump you up and tell you what you should be doing," she said of Jim and Debbie Barnes. "They're real interested in you, how you feel, even if you have a problem not involved with track. They're always there."

But even good, compassionate coaches can't make McCrimon do anything she doesn't want to do. She recalled that her most embarrassing moment in sports was a prime example of her admitted stubborness:

"We were in the sectionals trying to qualify for the state. I fell in the hurdles. I had cleared it, but my trail leg hit it. I got so disgusted I just quit and didn't run in any events."

Her coaches were mad because they wanted her to continue, she said, but they didn't show it.

She hurt her little finger and scratched her leg, but it was her pride that she said hurt the most.

"I would have qualified automatically, even if I had knocked all the hurdles down," she said.

Now that the days of falling are behind her and she is the top high school indoor track star in Alabama, would McCrimon do it all over again?

"Maybe...." she smiled. "Probably -- if I knew the outcome."

Warriors win

The Stanhope-Elmore Mustangs stampeded into Alabaster last Thursday night to take on the Thompson Warriors.

But when the dust had settled, it was evident that the Warriors easily tamed their opposition. Even with heavy use of reserve forces, Thompson blasted the visitors 69-38.

The 31 point spread should have come as no surprise to the Mustangs. The only previous meeting between the two squads this season saw Thompson roar to a 101-69 victory.

The Mustangs controlled the opening tip and scored the first bucket of the game. And, for a few moments they went toe to toe with Thompson, knotting the score at 4-4.

Thompson rallied, however, to take a commanding 20-11 first period lead.

One minute into the second period, the Warriors led 26-13 and coach Thomas Johnson threw his full force of reserves into the contest. From there Thompson went on to take a 33-20 half-time lead.

But coach Johnson was not satisfied with the 13 point edge.

"Our second bunch has got a problem," he said. "We're going for the win. If we get this thing to about a 25 or 30 point lead we'll play them again."

With the starting five back on the floor, Thompson wasted little time in blasting to the 69-38 victory.

The Warriors' dominance was evidenced by the performances of starters Chris Thomas and Tony Hale. Although the two did not play the whole game, they scored 22 and 20 points respectively.

The best performance by a Mustang was Reginald Duncan's 13 points.

The win pushed Thomspon's season record to 21-6.

UM goes for it

The UM Falcons, 17-10 on the year and 4-6 in Southern States Conference play, will open the SSC championship tournament this Thursday night.

The Falcons will take on the University of Alabama at Huntsville at 6 p.m on the campus of Auburn University - Montgomery.

Falcons and UAH have met twice in regular season play with UM winning the first meeting 77-61 and losing the second encounter 68-64.

Other first round action pits AUM against Alabama Christian at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The winner of the UM-UAH game will play Birmingham - Southern, Friday, while the winner of the AUM-Alabama Christian game will play Athens State.

The championship contest will be played Saturday night at 7:30 p.m.

The winner of the SSC tournament will play Birmingham - Southern in a best two-out- of-three series for the District 27 championship and a trip to the national tournament.

The UM Lady Golden Falcons will play UAH this Saturday night in Huntsville for the District 27 championship and the right to advance to the Area 5 tournament.

The Lady Golden Falcons have defeated UAH 82-72 and lost to that same school 86-51 in regular season play.

In women's action, UM is 13-12 on the season and 5-1 in district play.

How seedings are decided

Seeding in area basketball tournaments is not depended upon area records alone.

The seeding is based upon a school's over-all record against teams in its own classification and above.

That mean's a 3A school's seeding would be based upon its record against other 3A and 4A schools.

'Jackets, 'Dogs, Hornets eye title

non-area opponents. Our area record is 11-2."

Chelsea may be the longest shot to win the title. The Hornets are only 5-17 this season and coach Mike Sims said prior to the tournament, "We will have to play our best, especially against Montevallo."

But Sims is not willing to paint his team out of the area championship picture, "If I didn't think we could win, I wouldn't stay in the business," he said.

team's chances.

"It will be awfully hard for us. Our only hope is quickness, no turnovers and hitting free throws."

Vincent recently routed Briarwood 81-46 in a pre-tournament contest. On that occasion, Bruce Hamilton scored 22 points for the Yellow Jackets and he pulled down 12 rebounds.

On the other hand, Montevallo recently lost to county champion and 3A power Pelham 58-45. But, Taylor Blackwell and Keith Moore scored 12 and 11 points respectively for the Bulldogs.

Chelsea also lost a recent game 61-58 to Winterboro. But that game saw Hornet basketball star Steve Shelton score 21 points.

Last Tuesday night Comer, Jemison, Holy Family, Winterboro, Montevallo and Chelsea were all expected to see first round action.

Vincent is not slated to play until Thursday.

For a list of area seedings and the 2A, Area 7 tournament bracket, see related box.

Softball schedules sought

Attention all softball teams in the Pelham area.

The city's park and recreation board is now taking written schedule applications for the spring and summer use of its ball park complex.

Adult, church and civic team representatives are urged to turn in to city hall their first, second and third choices for playing times.

For more information, call Roy Jowers at 663-7442.

Hayes plays ball in Sweden

James Earl Hayes is back in Montevallo after several weeks of playing basketball for a professional team in Katrineholm, Sweden.

He will complete his studies at Auburn University next term, and expects to graduate then.

Hayes said he enjoyed his experiences in Sweden so much, he hopes to go back in the fall when the new basketball season begins over there.

Stallions offer ticket special

The Birmingham Stallions are offering a new family ticket plan this season,

According to team president Jerry Sklar, children 14 years of age and under will be admitted this season for half price.

"This plan," he said, "is an economical form of entertainment. We want Stallions football to become an annual tradition for families around Alabama."

For more information on the family ticket plan, call 251-8735.

Tickets are now on sale for the Stallions' season opener Sunday, February 26 against the New Jersey Generals at Legion Field.

Business news notes

Strickland named to Shelby board

Shelby Bank elected Jim Strickland of Columbiana to its board of directors at an annual stockholders' meeting last week.

"Jim represents two vital Shelby County business communities, Columbiana and Pelham, and he will add great depth to our efforts," said bank president K.R. Kirkland.

Strickland is president of the Columbiana Chamber of Commerce and chief officer of Strickland's Department Stores.

Realty offers relocation help

First Realty Company has started a relocation service to help newcomers find homes.

The service hooks up home buyers with agents who can find the right home and neighborhood for the family, according to Judy Morris, vice president of relocation services for First Realty.

Morris said First Realty asks newcomers what their special needs are, such as schools, churches, and types of neighborhood.

Clients who request the service receive it free, Morris said.

First Realty has seven offices throughout Shelby and Jefferson Counties.

'Mama' Sallie Burge gets a happy birthday kiss from her preacher's wife, Frances Adkins. 'Mama' turned 99 February 21, but celebrated the grand event last Sunday. (photo by Bert Seaman)

'Mama' goes to church to celebrate 99 years

Grover Cleveland was president and people were riding in horse-drawn buggies when Sallie Burge was born.

Now men can fly faster than the speed of sound. But despite all the changes she has seen in her lifetime, the 99 year old Montevallo woman still views life the same way she always has.

Family, church, and being neighborly have always been important to Sallie Burge -- known as 'Mama' Burge to most of the community.

Although she hasn't been able to attend the Montevallo United Methodist Church regularly since a fall a year ago, she was there Sunday -- sitting in the pew she has occupied 61 years.

Born in Pine Hill on February 21, 1885, Sarah Stokes joined the Methodist Church there when she was eight.

After her marriage to Agee Burge in 1904, she moved to Grove Hill.

The couple farmed for a living, but part of their income went to help the less fortunate. 'Mama' Burge looked after the sick and delivered babies.

When there was a death in the community, and the family was poor, she saw to it there was a shroud on the body, and she lined the caskets her husband would make.

Still ready and willing to do whatever she can, 'Mama' Burge now pitches in to help fold the church paper edited by her daughter Maggie Lou Kelly.

Even though she isn't able to be at church very often, 'Mama' Burge still goes to the monthly meetings of the women's Charity Circle.

Besides her daughter, 'Mama' Burge's family includes two grandsons, Pat and Agee Kelly, and three grandchildren, Karen, Jim, and Patrick.

Preachers plan

Ray Smith, Gene Grater, Stan Reaves, and Larry Adcock make plans for the interdenominational revival planned for their churches on March 5-9. The religious leaders say they see no reason for denomination to be a barrier to Christian worship. (photo by Bert Seaman)

Week long revival set

Five churches in the northern part of Shelby County will meet together for a week long interdenominational revival next month.

Pastors will bring their congregations and choirs to the Helena Cumberland Presbyterian Church where the services will be held each evening from March 5-9.

Besides receiving spiritual enrichment from the services, the congregation will also be giving an offering to help a minister's wife suffering from a serious illness. (Anyone unable to attend the services, but who would like to make a contribution, may send it to: Judy Grater Love Fund, POB 39, Pelham, AL 35124.)

The churches taking part in the revival and the speaker each evening are as follows:

•March 5 -- Ron Cox, First Assembly of God, Alabaster

•March 6 -- Ray Smith, Helena Pentecostal Worship Center

•March 7 -- Eugene Grater, Hickory Hills Worship Center, Alabaster

•March 8 -- Larry Adcock, Camp Branch United Methodist Church, Saginaw

•March 9 -- Truett Murphey, Living Word Church, Pelham.

DID YOU KNOW?

Alabama Power started researching alternative energy sources in the mid-1940's.

Because of today's energy shortage, many companies are researching alternative energy sources. The initial United States experiment in underground coal gasification was first suggested and carried out by Alabama Power more than 30 years ago. And today, we participate in many forms of energy research, like our solar-powered office in Montevallo, all aimed at developing economical sources of energy.

'Mama' goes to church to celebrate 99 years

Grover Cleveland was president and people were riding in horse-drawn buggies when Sallie Burge was born.

Now men can fly faster than the speed of sound. But despite all the changes she has seen in her lifetime, the 99 year old Montevallo woman still views life the same way she always has.

Family, church, and being neighborly have always been important to Sallie Burge -- known as 'Mama' Burge to most of the community.

Although she hasn't been able to attend the Montevallo United Methodist Church regularly since a fall a year ago, she was there Sunday -- sitting in the pew she has occupied 61 years.

Born in Pine Hill on February 21, 1885, Sarah Stokes joined the Methodist Church there when she was eight.

After her marriage to Agee Burge in 1904, she moved to Grove Hill.

The couple farmed for a living, but part of their income went to help the less fortunate. 'Mama' Burge looked after the sick and delivered babies.

When there was a death in the community, and the family was poor, she saw to it there was a shroud on the body, and she lined the caskets her husband would make.

Still ready and willing to do whatever she can, 'Mama' Burge now pitches in to help fold the church paper edited by her daughter Maggie Lou Kelly.

Even though she isn't able to be at church very often, 'Mama' Burge still goes to the monthly meetings of the women's Charity Circle.

Besides her daughter, 'Mama' Burge's family includes two grandsons, Pat and Agee Kelly, and three grandchildren, Karen, Jim, and Patrick.

Ray Smith, Gene Grater, Stan Reaves, and Larry Adcock make plans for the interdenominational revival planned for their churches on March 5-9. The religious leaders say they see no reason for denomination to be a barrier to Christian worship. (photo by Bert Seaman)

Week long revival set

Five churches in the northern part of Shelby County will meet together for a week long interdenominational revival next month.

Pastors will bring their congregations and choirs to the Helena Cumberland Presbyterian Church where the services will be held each evening from March 5-9.

Besides receiving spiritual enrichment from the services, the congregation will also be giving an offering to help a minister's wife suffering from a serious illness. (Anyone unable to attend the services, but who would like to make a contribution, may send it to: Judy Grater Love Fund, POB 39, Pelham, AL 35124.)

The churches taking part in the revival and the speaker each evening are as follows:

•March 5 -- Ron Cox, First Assembly of God, Alabaster

•March 6 -- Ray Smith, Helena Pentecostal Worship Center

•March 7 -- Eugene Grater, Hickory Hills Worship Center, Alabaster

•March 8 -- Larry Adcock, Camp Branch United Methodist Church, Saginaw

•March 9 -- Truett Murphey, Living Word Church, Pelham.

DID YOU KNOW?

Alabama Power started researching alternative energy sources in the mid-1940's.

Because of today's energy shortage, many companies are researching alternative energy sources. The initial United States experiment in underground coal gasification was first suggested and carried out by Alabama Power more than 30 years ago. And today, we participate in many forms of energy research, like our solar-powered office in Montevallo, all aimed at developing economical sources of energy.

STATE OF ALABAMA
PROCLAMATION
BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at the Third Special Session of 1983 ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama on a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, set out here as Act No. 83-791, and further ordered in Act No. 83-791 that said election on said amendment to be held at the first statewide primary, general or special election after the expiration of three (3) months from the final adjournement of the Third Special Session of the Legislature in 1983; and

WHEREAS, the date of the first statewide primary, general or special election held after the expiration of three (3) months from the final adjournment of the Third Special Session of the Legislature in 1983 will be and occur on March 13, 1984; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with this proposed amendment, is required by law and by the provisions of the Act submitting the amendment to be given by a Proclamation of the Governor, to be published in every county in the State of Alabama for four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for the election, in a newspaper published in each such county;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, George C. Wallace, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 13th day of March, 1984, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form provided by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of 1901 of the State of Alabama:

Proposed Amendment

"(A) As used in this Amendment, the following terms shall be given the following respective meanings:

"Costs of County Facilities" means the costs of acquiring, providing, constructing and equipping new County Facilities, renovating, reconstructing, improving, enlarging or equipping any existing County Facilities or any combination thereof.

"County" means Randolph County, Alabama.

"County Facilities" means (a) any land, building, equipment and any other facility or facilities necessary or useful in the housing, confinement, detention, feeding, treatment, rehabilitation or training of persons held in lawful custody, and (b) any land, building, equipment or other facility useful as a county courthouse building.

"County Facilities Building Fund" means the County Facilities Building Fund to be established by the County pursuant to the provisions hereof for the purpose of receiving certain tax receipts required by the provisions hereof to be paid therein.

"Existing Ad Valorem Tax" means the two and one-half mill road, bridge and public building ad valorem tax authorized to be levied by the County pursuant to Section 215 of the Constitution.

"Related Securities" means any bonds or warrants, including refunding bonds or warrants, issued for purposes for which Securities may be issued hereunder after the effective date of this Amendment under the provisions of any other amendment to the Constitution or statute, provdied that the governing body of the County in the proceedings authorizing the issuance of such bonds or warrants hs pledged for the payment of such bonds or warrants those moneys required by the provisions hereof to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

"Securities" means any bonds or warrants, including refunding bonds or warrants, issued by the County under the provisions of this Amendment.

"Special Ad Valorem Tax" means the special county hospital ad valorem tax authorized to be levied by the County pursuant to Amendment No. 72 to the Constitution.

"Special Taxes" means the Special Ad Valorem Tax and the Existing Ad Valorem Tax.

(B) The County is hereby authorized and directed (subject to prior pledges and agreements, if any) to pay, out of taxes collected each year, beginning with taxes collected with respect to the tax year that began October 1, 1982, one-half of the tax receipts derived from the levy of the Special Ad Valorem Tax into the County Facilities Building Fund. The County shall discontinue paying such tax receipts into the County Facilities Building Fund when all of the Securities issued hereunder and any Related Securities issued by the County have been paid in full, or when the County shall have expended the sum of $1,500,000 out of the County Facilities Building Fund to pay Costs of County Facilities, whichever shall last occur.

(C) The County is hereby authorized and directed (subject to prior pledges and agreements, if any) to pay, out of taxes collected each year, beginning with taxes collected with respect to the tax year that began October 1, 1982, four-tenths of the tax receipts derived by the County from the levy of the Existing Ad Valorem Tax into the County Facilities Building Fund. The County shall discontinue paying such tax receipts into the County Facilities Building Fund when all of the Securities issued hereunder and any Related Securities issued by the County have been paid in full, or when the County shall have expended the sum of $1,500,000 out of the County Facilities Building Fund to pay Costs of County Facilities, whichever shall last occur.

(D) The County is hereby authorized and directed to establish the County Facilities Building Fund for the purpose of receiving the moneys required to be paid therein by the provisions hereof and any other tax receipts or other moneys of the County that the County may determine to pay therein. Funds on deposit in the County Facilities Building Fund shall be used to pay Costs of County Facilities, up to an amount not exceeding $1,500,000 and to pay principal of and interest and premium, if any, on (1) Securities issued hereunder to finance Costs of County Facilities and (2) Related Securities issued to finance Costs of County Facilities.

(E) The County is hereby authorized to sell and issue from time to time its Securities, not exceeding $1,500,000 in aggregate principal amount, for the purpose of financing Costs of County Facilities and to pledge for payment of the Securities the portions of the Special Taxes required to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

For the purpose of refunding any Securities, including refunding Securities issued under the provisions of this Amendment, whether the refunding shall occur before, at or after the maturity of the Securities refunded and for the purpose of paying all premiums and expenses of the refunding (including, without limitation, attorneys' fees, costs of printing the refunding Securities, fiscal agents' fees, and accountants' fees), the County is hereby authorized to sell and issue from time to time refunding Securities in an aggregate principal amount not exceeding the sum of (a) the outstanding principal amount of the Securities to be refunded, (b) the interest (accrued or to accrue) to the respective maturities of the Securities to be refunded, or if the Securities to be refunded are to be called for redemption, either on the earliest date on which under their terms they may be redeemed or some later date or dates, the interest (accrued or to accrue) on the Securities to be refunded to the date or dates on which they are to be called for redemption, (c) the amount of any redemption premium required, by the terms of the Securities, to be paid as a condition to their redemption prior to their respective maturities, and (d) the amount of any expenses (actual or estimated) of such refunding.

The Securities issued hereunder may but need not be general obligations of the County, but shall be secured by the portions of the Special Taxes pledged for their payment in the proceedings of the County whereunder the Securities are authorized to be issued and required to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

All Securities issued under this Amendment may be in such form and denominations and of such tenor and maturities, may bear interest at such rate or rates, payable at such time or times, not exceeding thirty (30) years from their date, may be sold at public or private sale and may contain such provisions not inconsistent with this Amendment as shall be provided in the proceedings of the governing body of the County whereunder such Securities are authorized to be issued. The power to pay, as required herein, the portions of the Special Ad Valorem Tax and the Existing Ad Valorem Tax into the County Facilities Building Fund and the power to issue the Securities shal be in addition to all other powers which the County may have under this Constitution and the laws of Alabama. The indebtedness evidenced by the Securities issued under this Amendment shall be in addition to all other indebtedness authorized to be incurred by the County and shall not be charged against the limitation on the indebtedness of the County provided for in Section 224 of the Constitution.

(F) The County is hereby authorized to pledge for payment of principal of and interst (and premium, if any) on Related Securities the portions of the Special Taxes required to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

(G) It is the intention hereof that the governing body of the County shall pay one-half of the revenues from the Special Ad Valorem Tax and four-tenths of the revenues from the Existing Ad Valorem Tax (subject only to prior pledges of and agreements pertaining to either thereof) as shall, together with any other moneys paid into the County Facilities Building Fund, be sufficient to provide funds to make available County Facilities for the County, either directly through payment of Costs of County Facilities or through payment of the principal of and interest (and premium, if any) on the Securities authorized to be issued hereunder and on any Related Securities that may be issued by the County for the purpose of paying Costs of COunty Facilities, all to the end that adequate County Facilities will be available in the County. Proceeds of the Special Taxes paid into the County Facilities Building Fund that are not needed within 12 months of the date of such payment to pay principal of and interest on Securities issued hereunder or on Related Securities or to refund Securities shall be used to pay costs of constructing and maintaining the County Facilities herein provided for, or to purchase and retire Securities or Related Securities or to call Securities or Related Securities for redemption prior to the maturity thereof.

(H) The provisions of this Amendment shall be self-executing, and authorization from or any other action by the Legislature shall not be a prerequisite to the issuance of the Securities hereunder or to the use of the proceeds of the Special Taxes as provided herein; provided, however, that the provisions of this Amendment shall not become operative unless approved by a majority of the qualified electors of the County who vote thereon at a referendum election held for such purpose upon the call of the County Commission, and provided further, that if this amendment is approved by the qualified electors of the County who vote thereon upon its submission, such election shall constitute a referendum held for such purpose and no further election need to be called.

(I) It is hereby specifically declared that this Amendment is not being proposed pursuant to the provisions of that certain amendment to the Constitution (known as Amendment No. 425) that was proposed by Act No. 82-330 adopted at the 1982 Regular Session of the Legislature of Alabama, and provisions of the said Amendment 425 are hereby declared to be inapplicable to this Amendment.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election to be held on Tuesday the 13th day of March, 1984, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of 1901 of the State of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 13th day of March, 1984, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county, and in a county where no newspaper is published, a copy of the notice shall be posted at each courthouse and in three other places in the county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed by the Secretary of State at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, this the 10th day of February, 1984.

Ordinance No. 84-B

An Ordinance Amending Sections 1 & 2 of Ordinance No. 75-F of The City of Montevallo Levying a Privilege or License Tax against persons, firms or corporations engaged in the business of selling tangible personal property at retail or conducting places of amusement in the City of Montevallo or within its police jurisdiction.

Be it ordained by the Mayor and City Council of The City of Montevallo in the State of Alabama as follows:

.1. Section 1 of Ordinance No. 75-F of the City of Montevallo which was adopted by the City Council and approved by the Mayor of the said City of December 8, 1975 is hereby amended so that the said Section 1 shall read in its entirety as follows:

Section 1. For the privilege of engaging or continuing within the city in the business activities hereinafter referred to there is hereby levied, in addition to all other taxes of every kind now imposed by law, and shall be collected as herein provided, a privilege or license tax against the person on account of the business activities and in the amounts to be determined by the application of rates against gross proceeds of sales, or gross receipts, as the case may be, as follows:

(a) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling at retail any tangible personal property whatsoever, including merchandise and commodities of every kind and character (not including, however, bonds or other evidence of debt or stocks, nor sale or sales of material and supplies to any person for use in fulfuling a contract for painting, repair, or reconditioning of vessels, barges, ships and other watercraft of over fifty tons burden), an amount to two percent (2%) of the gross proceeds of sales of the business except where a different amount is expressly provided herein; provided, that any person engaging or continuing in business as a retailer and wholesaler or jobber shall pay the tax measured by the gross proceeds of retail sales of such business at the rates specified, when his books are kept so as to show separately the gross proceeds of sales of each business, and when his books are not so kept he shall pay as a retailer the tax measure by the gross sales of the business.

(b) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of conducting or operating places of amusement or entertainment, billiard and pool rooms, bowling alleys, amusement devices, musical devices, theaters, opera houses, moving picture shows, vaudevilles, amusement parks, athletic contests, including wrestling matches, prize fights, boxing and wrestling exhibitions, football and baseball games (including athletic contests conducted by or under the auspices of any educational institution within the City, or any athletic association thereof, or other association whether such institution or association be a denominational, state, county or municipal institution or association or a state, county or city school, or other institution, association or school), skating rinks, race tracks, golf courses, or any other place at which an exhibition, display, amusement or entertainment is offered to the public, or place or places where an admission fee is charged, including public bathing places, public dance halls of every kind and description within the city, an amount equal to two percent (2%) of the gross receipt of any business.

(c) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling at retail machines used in mining, quarrying, compounding, processing and manufacturing of tangible personal property, an amount equal to one percent (1%) of the gross proceeds of the sales of such machines; provided, that the term "machine" as herein used, shall include machinery which is used for mining, quarrying, compounding, processing or manufacturing tangible personal property, and the parts of such machines, attachments, and replacements therefor which are made or manufactured for use on or in the operation of such machines and which are necessary to the operation of such machines and are customarily so used.

(d) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling at retail any machine, machinery, or equipment which is used in planting, cultivating, and harvesting farm products, or that which is used in connection with the production of agricultural products or products, livestock, or poultry on farms, and the parts of such machines, machinery, or equipment, attachments and replacements therefor which are made or manufactured for use on or in the operation of such machine, machinery, or equipment, and which are necessary to and customarily used in the operation of such machine, machinery, or equipment, an amount equal to one percent (1%) of the gross proceeds of the sale therof. The one percent (1%) rate herein prescribed with respect to parts, attachments, and replacements shall not apply to any automotive vehicle or trailer designed primarily for public highway use, except farm trailers used primarily in the production and harvesting of agricultural commodities. Where any used machine, machinery, or equipment, which is used in planting, cultivating, and harvesting farm products, or used in connection with the production of agricultural produce or products, livestock, and poultry on farms is taken in trade or in a series of trades as a credit or part payment on a sale of a new or used machine, machinery, or equipment, the tax levied herein shall be paid on the net difference, that is the price of the new or used machine, machinery, or equipment sold, less the credit for the used machine, machinery, or equipment taken in trade.

(e) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling at retail any automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer, or house trailer, an amount equal to one-half of one percent (½) of the gross proceeds of sales of the said automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer or house trailer; provided, that when any used automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer, or house trailer is taken in trade, or in a series of trades as a credit or part payment on the sale of a new or used vehicle, the tax levied herein shall be paid on the net difference, that is, the price of the new or used vehicle sold less the credit for the used vehicle taken in trade; and provided, further, that when a taxpayer subject to the tax provided for in this subsection (e) withdraws from his stock in trade any automotive vehicle or truck trailer, semi-trailer or house trailer for use by such taxpayer or by an employee or agent of such taxpayer in the operation of such business, the tax of such taxpayer hereunder shall be measured with respect to the item so withdrawn by him by the sum of 83 for each year or part therof during which such automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer or house trailer so withdrawn shall remain the property of such taxpayer, each such year or part thereof shall begin with the day of the anniversary date, as the case may be, of such withdrawal and shall run for the twelve succeeding months or part thereof during which such automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer or house trailer so withdrawn shall remain the property of such taxpayer.

(f) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling through coin-operated dispensing machines, food and food products for human consumption, not including beverages other than coffee, milk, milk products and substitutes therefor, there is hereby levied a tax equal to two percent (2%) of the cost of such food, food products and beverages sold through such machines, which cost for the purpose of this subsection shall be the gross proceeds of sales of such business.

11. Section 2 of Ordinance No. 75-F of the City of Montevallo which was adopted by the City Council and approved by the Mayor of the said City on December 8, 1975 is hereby amended so that the said Section 2 shall read in its entirety as follows:

Section 2. Levy of the Tax in Police Jurisdiction. Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged in the doing of any act, or who shall do any act, or continuing in the doing of any act, or engaged in the operation of any business, or who shall engage in the operation of any business, within the police jurisdiction of the City but beyond the corporate limits of said City for which or upon which a privilege or license tax is in this ordinance levied or required within the corporate limits of the City there is hereby levied, in addition to all other taxes of every kind now imposed by law or by municipal ordinance, to be collected as herein provided for the privilege or license taxes herein levied with the corporate limits of the City a privilege or license tax equal to one-half of that provided, levied or required in this ordinance for the doing of such act, or the engaging or continuing therein, or the engaging or continuing in the operation of such business within the corporate limits of the City. Provided further, that except for the amount of the privilege or license tax herein levied within the police jurisdiction of said City but without the corporate limits thereof, all the provisions of this ordinance extend and apply to all the area within the police jurisdiction of the City.

111. This ordinance shall recome effective on the 1 day of April 1984.

LEGAL NOTICE

The Planning Commission of the City of Pelham will hold a public hearing on March 14, 1984, at 7:00 p.m. at City Hall to consider an amendment to the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Pelham. The amendment would change Article XVI, Section 2, Paragraph 2.B to read as follow:

B. In the B-2 and B-3 General Business Districts and the M-1 and M-2 Industrial Districts signs shall not exceed two square feet of surface area for each lineal foot of lot adjoining a public street or roadway or 120 square feet of surface area, whichever is less. On lots zoned Business or Industrial and abutting an Interstate Highway the following rules shall a apply.

a) One identification sign and one price or product sign are permitted for any business located at the intersection of an Interstate Highway with a State, County Road or City Street.

b) The minimum height of the identificaiton and/or price or product sign shall be fifty (50) feet from the ground level to the base of sign and shall not exceed one hundred (100) feet from the ground level to the base of said sign.

The maximum size of the identification sign shall be two hundred and thirty (230) square feet of the copy area. The maximum size of the price or product sign shall be six hundred (600) square feet.

c) No identification of price sign shall be permitted further than one hundred fifty (150) feet from the right-of-way line of any Interstate Highway or more than five hundred fifty (550) feet from the right-of-way line of the secondary State of County Road or City Street. Any such signs shall be constructed on the premises of an individual business. No off-premises sign shall be permitted pursuant to the provisions of this code.

d) The aforesaid identification and price or product signs shall be constructed in strict accordance with the minimum specification as follows:

PSF design wind load: 39# PSF and certified by a licensed engineer, furnishing calculations on how the wind load was determined.

e) In addition, one identification sign will be permitted on the premises for any business, that is totally occupied by one business not to exceed one hundred twenty (120) square feet and is to be mounted perpendicular with the secondary street.

Said sign shall not exceed a height of twenty (20) feet from the ground level to base of sign, nor less than fifteen (15) feet from the ground level to base of sign. Such sign shall not be constructed less than ten (10) feet from the right-of-way line of an Interstate Highway right-of-way line and ten (10) feet from the right-of-way line of the secondary street.

Artist captures feel of the South

by John Hood

Artist Donny Finley likes to paint about what he knows best. What he captures in watercolors is the calmness of the southern countryside and the quiet dignity of people who have spent their lives in rural areas.

Finley paints in a studio at his home in northern Shelby County. There he turns out watercolors that are regularly sold in galleries in New Orleans and Jackson, Mississippi. His paintings are in collections all over the world and in many museums.

To stand out from the thousands of other artists painting rural scenes, Finley has to display more than good technique.

"I paint something when I have a gut feeling about it, or when I have a good knowledge of a subject," Finley says, as he sketches a wooden chair lit by the afternoon sun. "I'm at the point now where I can tell when something will work and when it will not."

Finley starts his paintings with a sketch done from a photograph he has taken of something that interests him. He doesn't like to work outside that much because of the frequent interruptions of wind and rain, and because he "tends to rush the painting."

Finley transfers the pencil sketch to tracing paper and then to a board. At that point, he begins to apply the watercolors. He likes watercolor because it dries quickly and he doesn't have to worry about stretching canvas.

Finley started drawing while he was growing up in Millerville, a small town in Clay County. The rural scenes that he saw everyday and the people he knew were his subjects; he didn't have to make up his pictures. When he started winning awards in national competitions, judges started noticing how familiar Finley was with his subjects.

"I was being more intimate with things and people that I saw," he says.

In many of his paintings, his 84-year grandmother appears, standing in an orchard, or sitting by a window.

In "Might Rain" she stands in front of a line of billowing laundry, her hands on her hips and her eyes surveying the sky, daring it to rain. It was this watercolor that gave Finley his first big break.

At the time - 1975 - Finley had graduated from Jacksonville State University and was beginning to make the rounds of art shows and craft fairs. Just married, he was worried that the small sales would not support him and his wife.

After being in Dothan for a week, he had made a grand total of $150 showing his work at a shopping mall, Finley recalls. But there was one sale that made a difference -- a big difference -- in his career.

"He was a businessman from Nashville who had stopped by the mall to buy a comb," Finley remembers. "He liked 'Might Rain' and bought it."

A few weeks later, the man called Finley and invited him to Nashville to meet some of his friends.

Finley had two shows planned, but the people the businessman wanted him to meet pushed a busy schedule out of his mind.

"Singer Ray Stevens gave a party for me," says Finley. Stevens bought some works and so did his

Hootenanny and her friends move to new solar-heated animal shelter

Hootenanny appears to like her new home, and apparently she's not alone.

Hootenanny -- Shelby County Humane Society's mascot goat -- kept close tabs last week on the settling in process following the February 10 move into the new animal shelter in Columbiana.

According to shelter director Anne Speakman, the move went smoothly.

"The animals weren't upset at all, but it was raining and the mud was knee-deep," she said. One volunteer got a muddy paw in the mouth while struggling with a dog.

A few animals are still a bit confused about the move. Tripod, the three-legged cat, still claims the desk from the old shelter as his. Speakman said that a couple of dogs who stayed at the new facility before the rest of the animals arrived were "a bit put out" by the newcomers.

Speakman said the old shelter will be fixed up by an Explorer Post the society sponsors. It will be used for extra space for keeping animals.

"The old shelter is a well-constructed building, but the county just grew too fast," she said.

Outside the new building it is still somewhat cool, but inside passive solar panels on top of the $175,000 wooden building let

YOUR WEEDS WILL CURL UP, SHRIVEL, AND DISAPPEAR. CHEMLAWN GUARANTEES IT.

Why fight weeds alone?
With ChemLawn you'll win the battle against weeds—and have a thicker, greener lawn, too. Guaranteed. Because we keep coming back until you're completely satisfied, or we'll refund your money.

WE'D LIKE TO GIVE YOU A FREE, NO-OBLIGATION LAWN ANALYSIS covering the 15 trouble spots in every lawn. Things like grass type—is it right for your area?—crabgrass and broadleaf weeds—insect problems—even whether you're over- or under-watering.

If you wish, this free analysis is all we'll do for you. But if you say yes to ChemLawn care, here's what else we'll do:

WE'LL GET RID OF THE WEEDS. We can zap over 60 kinds of weeds, right down to their roots. We'll apply a special crabgrass control—and we'll come back at just the right time to wipe out broadleaf weeds. Guaranteed.

WE COME BACK TO FEED YOUR LAWN. Our custom-blended feeding turns your lawn a darker, richer green. Guaranteed. Your Specialist will make roots grow deeper, strengthen the sod, and fill in ugly bare spots.

THEN, WE'LL DE-BUG IT. Since lawn bugs can do a lot of damage before they're even noticed, your Specialist will get them before they can seriously harm your lawn. Guaranteed.

And your ChemLawn Specialist will keep coming back—with free service calls within 48 hours—and free consultations on the best ways to mow, water, dethatch, and overseed.

WHY DO IT YOURSELF? When ChemLawn's year-round lawn care program costs about the same as if you did the same things yourself. And we guarantee you a more weed-free lawn—without the back-breaking work.

FOR YOUR FREE LAWN ANALYSIS, MAIL THE COUPON BELOW—OR CALL

Artist captures feel of the South

by John Hood

Artist Donny Finley likes to paint about what he knows best. What he captures in watercolors is the calmness of the southern countryside and the quiet dignity of people who have spent their lives in rural areas.

Finley paints in a studio at his home in northern Shelby County. There he turns out watercolors that are regularly sold in galleries in New Orleans and Jackson, Mississippi. His paintings are in collections all over the world and in many museums.

To stand out from the thousands of other artists painting rural scenes, Finley has to display more than good technique.

"I paint something when I have a gut feeling about it, or when I have a good knowledge of a subject," Finley says, as he sketches a wooden chair lit by the afternoon sun. "I'm at the point now where I can tell when something will work and when it will not."

Finley starts his paintings with a sketch done from a photograph he has taken of something that interests him. He doesn't like to work outside that much because of the frequent interruptions of wind and rain, and because he "tends to rush the painting."

Finley transfers the pencil sketch to tracing paper and then to a board. At that point, he begins to apply the watercolors. He likes watercolor because it dries quickly and he doesn't have to worry about stretching canvas.

Finley started drawing while he was growing up in Millerville, a small town in Clay County. The rural scenes that he saw everyday and the people he knew were his subjects; he didn't have to make up his pictures. When he started winning awards in national competitions, judges started noticing how familiar Finley was with his subjects.

"I was being more intimate with things and people that I saw," he says.

In many of his paintings, his 84-year grandmother appears, standing in an orchard, or sitting by a window.

In "Might Rain" she stands in front of a line of billowing laundry, her hands on her hips and her eyes surveying the sky, daring it to rain. It was this watercolor that gave Finley his first big break.

At the time - 1975 - Finley had graduated from Jacksonville State University and was beginning to make the rounds of art shows and craft fairs. Just married, he was worried that the small sales would not support him and his wife.

After being in Dothan for a week, he had made a grand total of $150 showing his work at a shopping mall, Finley recalls. But there was one sale that made a difference -- a big difference -- in his career.

"He was a businessman from Nashville who had stopped by the mall to buy a comb," Finley remembers. "He liked 'Might Rain' and bought it."

A few weeks later, the man called Finley and invited him to Nashville to meet some of his friends.

Finley had two shows planned, but the people the businessman wanted him to meet pushed a busy schedule out of his mind.

"Singer Ray Stevens gave a party for me," says Finley. Stevens bought some works and so did his

Hootenanny and her friends move to new solar-heated animal shelter

Hootenanny appears to like her new home, and apparently she's not alone.

Hootenanny -- Shelby County Humane Society's mascot goat -- kept close tabs last week on the settling in process following the February 10 move into the new animal shelter in Columbiana.

According to shelter director Anne Speakman, the move went smoothly.

"The animals weren't upset at all, but it was raining and the mud was knee-deep," she said. One volunteer got a muddy paw in the mouth while struggling with a dog.

A few animals are still a bit confused about the move. Tripod, the three-legged cat, still claims the desk from the old shelter as his. Speakman said that a couple of dogs who stayed at the new facility before the rest of the animals arrived were "a bit put out" by the newcomers.

Speakman said the old shelter will be fixed up by an Explorer Post the society sponsors. It will be used for extra space for keeping animals.

"The old shelter is a well-constructed building, but the county just grew too fast," she said.

Outside the new building it is still somewhat cool, but inside passive solar panels on top of the $175,000 wooden building let

YOUR WEEDS WILL CURL UP, SHRIVEL, AND DISAPPEAR. CHEMLAWN GUARANTEES IT.

Why fight weeds alone? With ChemLawn you'll win the battle against weeds—and have a thicker, greener lawn, too. Guaranteed. Because we keep coming back until you're completely satisfied, or we'll refund your money.

WE'D LIKE TO GIVE YOU A FREE, NO-OBLIGATION LAWN ANALYSIS covering the 15 trouble spots in every lawn. Things like grass type—is it right for your area?—crabgrass and broadleaf weeds—insect problems—even whether you're over- or under-watering.

If you wish, this free analysis is all we'll do for you. But if you say yes to ChemLawn care, here's what else we'll do:

WE'LL GET RID OF THE WEEDS. We can zap over 60 kinds of weeds, right down to their roots. We'll apply a special crabgrass control—and we'll come back at just the right time to wipe out broadleaf weeds. Guaranteed.

WE COME BACK TO FEED YOUR LAWN. Our custom-blended feeding turns your lawn a darker, richer green. Guaranteed. Your Specialist will make roots grow deeper, strengthen the sod, and fill in ugly bare spots.

THEN, WE'LL DE-BUG IT. Since lawn bugs can do a lot of damage before they're even noticed, your Specialist will get them before they can seriously harm your lawn. Guaranteed.

And your ChemLawn Specialist will keep coming back—with free service calls within 48 hours—and free consultations on the best ways to mow, water, dethatch, and overseed.

WHY DO IT YOURSELF? When ChemLawn's year-round lawn care program costs about the same as if you did the same things yourself. And we guarantee you a more weed-free lawn—without the back-breaking work.

FOR YOUR FREE LAWN ANALYSIS, MAIL THE COUPON BELOW—OR CALL

YOUR WEEDS WILL CURL UP, SHRIVEL, AND DISAPPEAR. CHEMLAWN GUARANTEES IT.

Why fight weeds alone? With ChemLawn you'll win the battle against weeds—and have a thicker, greener lawn, too. Guaranteed. Because we keep coming back until you're completely satisfied, or we'll refund your money.

WE'D LIKE TO GIVE YOU A FREE, NO-OBLIGATION LAWN ANALYSIS covering the 15 trouble spots in every lawn. Things like grass type—is it right for your area?—crabgrass and broadleaf weeds—insect problems—even whether you're over- or under-watering.

If you wish, this free analysis is all we'll do for you. But if you say yes to ChemLawn care, here's what else we'll do:

WE'LL GET RID OF THE WEEDS. We can zap over 60 kinds of weeds, right down to their roots. We'll apply a special crabgrass control—and we'll come back at just the right time to wipe out broadleaf weeds. Guaranteed.

WE COME BACK TO FEED YOUR LAWN. Our custom-blended feeding turns your lawn a darker, richer green. Guaranteed. Your Specialist will make roots grow deeper, strengthen the sod, and fill in ugly bare spots.

THEN, WE'LL DE-BUG IT. Since lawn bugs can do a lot of damage before they're even noticed, your Specialist will get them before they can seriously harm your lawn. Guaranteed.

And your ChemLawn Specialist will keep coming back—with free service calls within 48 hours—and free consultations on the best ways to mow, water, dethatch, and overseed.

WHY DO IT YOURSELF? When ChemLawn's year-round lawn care program costs about the same as if you did the same things yourself. And we guarantee you a more weed-free lawn—without the back-breaking work.

FOR YOUR FREE LAWN ANALYSIS, MAIL THE COUPON BELOW—OR CALL

Pelham girl gets rabies shots after stray cat bite

by John Hood

A Pelham girl is undergoing painful rabies shots after being bitten several times by a stray cat. At present, cats are not covered by Pelham leash laws, but city officials say they will look into the problem.

For years wild, stray cats have apparently lived under trailers in Southgate Mobile Home Park.

Residents say the cats are impossible to get near, but until recently they weren't much more than an annoyance.

A flash of white fur and it was gone. That is about all three-year-old Lou Crissy Dilbeck remembers of the stray that attacked her three weeks ago.

"The kids were outside playing, waiting for us to go to church," said Dilbeck's mother, Sheila. "All of a sudden Crissy ran in screaming, with blood running down her arm."

Dilbeck is undergoing a series of seven injections to ensure she doesn't contract rabies. Besides being painful, the shots are expensive -- about $750 for all of them -- and side effects from the serum include high fever and nausea.

"Nurses wouldn't tell me the side effects at first," Crissy's mother said. "They said they were so bad I might not want to agree to the treatment."

But, she added, there was really no choice about the shots, because rabies is always fatal.

Southgate residents don't recall anyone ever being bitten by the cats before this incident.

Sharon Reed said she has lived at Southgate for seven years and has seen the cats many times. She said her husband has tried many times to get them out from under their mobile home, but was unable to.

"There are a lot of woods around here. The cats come out mostly in the early morning and in the evening," Reed said.

Delbick speculates that her daughter may have startled the cat.

While it is clear that the strays are a nuisance, the question of who is responsible for them is not so easily answered.

Pelham's leash law applies only to dogs. But, according to Mayor Burk Dunaway, the city, if called, would send someone to catch stray cats.

"Last week we had a complaint in another neighborhood about a cat," said Dunaway. The cat was caught and examined by a vet, but it did not have rabies.

Both Reed and Dilbeck said they had talked to the Shelby County Health Department about the problem, but not to the city.

Reed said that the dogcatcher has not been around the trailer park for about a year. Dunaway explained that Pelham's dogcatcher is part-time and generally goes out only when called.

Health department environmentalist George Holcombe said that group has no animal control program. It will, however, examine wild animals for rabies if they're destroyed and brought to the department, he said.

According to Anne Speakman, director of the Shelby County Humane Society, there is just not enough funding for wild animal control.

Speakman said the society will lend its cat trap to people who need it. However, she said, the society cannot afford to round up the animals.

Oak Mountain run draws 525

The Birmingham Heart Run held at Oak Mountain State Park last Saturday has been deemed a big success.

According to race director Dr. Adam Robertson, about 525 runners participated in the event, and between $3,000 and $3,500 was raised for the American Heart Association.

Robertson said the goal for the race was $3,000.

"We had a good day and a good time," Robertson told the Reporter of the Baptist Medical Center sponsored event.

According to Robertson, the worst injuries received were a scraped knee and a scraped leg.

Winners of the men's ten kilometer race were Doug Conkite, Matt Holdbrooks and Ronnie Brown, all in the age 20-24 age bracket. Their times were 32.37, 33.03 and 34.04 respectively.

The 14 and under men's race was won by Scott Webb with a time of 37.33; the 15-19 age group was led by Kyle Scartwed with a time of 35.34; Chuck Hawkins won the 25-29 age group run with a time of 36.09.

Fred Haberle won the 30-34 age group with a time of 36.49; Don Hendersons won the 35-39 age group with a time of 34.42; Ronnie Tidwell won the 40-44 age group with a time of 40.17.

Orbin Thompson won the 45-49 age group with a time of 37.42, Gerry Williams won the 52-59 gage group with a time of 39.09 and Arthur Black won the 60 and over age group with a time of 48.50.

Winners of the ten kilometer women's race were:

Age 15 and under, Jill Underwood who finsished second overall with a time of 45.03l; age 16-24, Simone Ferrier with a time of 54.47; age 25-29, Jane Oxford with a time of 51.39;

Age 30-34, Elizabeth Perry with a time of 50.29; age 35-44, Lynn Aldlrich who finished first over-all with a time of 42.38;

Isabell Joffrion, who finished third over-all with a time of 49.49; and age 45-54 was won by Nancy Wandsnider with a time of 49.27.

The top ten male finishers in the ten mile race were Tim Weaver with a time of 52.58; Bill Louv, Stan Norton, Morgan Looney, Makoto 'Saigusa, Mike Allen, Randal Hardin, Dan George Tim Hardy, and Garry Castelli, with a time of 58.06.

The top five female finishers in the ten mile race were: Annette Emmanuel with a time of 1:14.18; Laurie Hilyer, Debbie Reich, Christie Lowe, and Ann Bernett with a time of 1:19.12.

friends, Jerry Reed, Burt Reynolds and Lester Flatt.

Finley now has a contract with a gallery in New Orleans. He visits the gallery about twice a year, and says he likes the feedback he gets from people viewing his works.

Finley is one of two artists from Alabama who has won an award from the American Watercolor Society. His painting "Hayride" was shown at the society's exhibition in New York in 1978.

He has also shown at international watercolor exhibitions and is listed in Who's Who in American Art.

"I guess I'm a little isolated here, so I enjoy talking about art and seeing new places." Finley gives local workshops in painting twice a year.

Finley has two small children, and says that one of them enjoys drawing. He and his wife, Janet, are putting the finishing touches on their house they built on top of Hope Mountain, between Cahaba Valley and Valleydale Roads. Finley says being able to work at home is important to him.

"I've been blessed in that I can spend a lot of time with my family," says Finley. He attributes his success to that and his relationship with God.

The serenity of the scenes in many of Finley's paintings reflect the surroudings he grew up in and his personal approach to living. The north Shelby woods around his new mountain top home may well find their way into his future works.

Columbiana Workshop

Eighteen area students have been named to the UAB's Dean's List for the 1983 fall term.

Qualification requires that a student earn a total grade point average of greater than 3.6 (based on a 4.0 award for an A), and must be classified as a full-time student.

Students from this area named to the Dean's List were:

•Helena -- Ann H. Thomas, Mary J. Stanford and Robert J. Mallett.

•Leeds -- Terri D. Cook and Freida H. Kirk.

•Pelham --Marco Gonzalez, Toni A. Smith, Joanna H. Brewer, Margaret M. Heerten and Allen L. Leverett.

•Calera -- Shannon L. Hinds.

•Maylene -- John. W. Charles.

•Montevallo -- William P. Vest and Tracy B. Gentry.

•Columbiana -- Judy A. McConnell.

Water patrol officer gets promotion

Marine Police Officer Bill Attaway was recently named State Educational Officer for the Marine Police Division of the Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources.

Attaway, a native of Alabaster, spent several years serving in Shelby County, patrolling Lay Lake and all other bodies of water in the county.

Later he was assigned to Mitchell Lake in Chilton County.

In his new position, Attaway will develop a boating safety education program, and coordinate information from the division. He will work from the state office in Montgomery.

Attaway holds a BS degree from Troy State University. His wife, the former Nelle Nelson, is also a native of Alabaster. They have three children.

friends, Jerry Reed, Burt Reynolds and Lester Flatt.

Finley now has a contract with a gallery in New Orleans. He visits the gallery about twice a year, and says he likes the feedback he gets from people viewing his works.

Finley is one of two artists from Alabama who has won an award from the American Watercolor Society. His painting "Hayride" was shown at the society's exhibition in New York in 1978.

He has also shown at international watercolor exhibitions and is listed in Who's Who in American Art.

"I guess I'm a little isolated here, so I enjoy talking about art and seeing new places." Finley gives local workshops in painting twice a year.

Finley has two small children, and says that one of them enjoys drawing. He and his wife, Janet, are putting the finishing touches on their house they built on top of Hope Mountain, between Cahaba Valley and Valleydale Roads. Finley says being able to work at home is important to him.

"I've been blessed in that I can spend a lot of time with my family," says Finley. He attributes his success to that and his relationship with God.

The serenity of the scenes in many of Finley's paintings reflect the surroudings he grew up in and his personal approach to living. The north Shelby woods around his new mountain top home may well find their way into his future works.

UAB honors county scholars

Eighteen area students have been named to the UAB's Dean's List for the 1983 fall term.

Qualification requires that a student earn a total grade point average of greater than 3.6 (based on a 4.0 award for an A), and must be classified as a full-time student.

Students from this area named to the Dean's List were:

•Helena -- Ann H. Thomas, Mary J. Stanford and Robert J. Mallett.

•Leeds -- Terri D. Cook and Freida H. Kirk.

•Calera -- Shannon L. Hinds.

•Maylene -- John. W. Charles.

•Montevallo -- William P. Vest and Tracy B. Gentry.

•Columbiana -- Judy A. McConnell.

Water patrol officer gets promotion

Marine Police Officer Bill Attaway was recently named State Educational Officer for the Marine Police Division of the Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources.

Attaway, a native of Alabaster, spent several years serving in Shelby County, patrolling Lay Lake and all other bodies of water in the county.

Later he was assigned to Mitchell Lake in Chilton County.

In his new position, Attaway will develop a boating safety education program, and coordinate information from the division. He will work from the state office in Montgomery.

Attaway holds a BS degree from Troy State University. His wife, the former Nelle Nelson, is also a native of Alabaster. They have three children.

Indian Springs helps

The Indian Springs Ladies Auxiliary gave out some Valentines Tuesday in the form of checks to two local agencies.

Vice president Pat Key presented $1,200 to Brenda Lee Rice, Director of the Shelby County Youth Attention home, and $200 to Anne Speakman, the director of the county humane society.

The club raised the money by holding an open house tour during Christmas in the Indian Springs area. Auxiliary members Nancy Harris, Colleen Roland and Joan Oast opened their homes to visitors, and crafts and refreshments were sold.

Plans are underway to hold an auction in the near future, according to Key.

Animal shelter goes into its new facility warm sunlight in for heat and lighting.

The new structure is three times as large as the old cinderblock shelter a few hundred yards away.

It has 22 holding pens, a clinic, a cleaning area and offices. The pens have runs behind them so animals can exercise, and outside there is a holding pen for livestock.

The old shelter had only eight pens. Speakman said before the move dogs were crowded three or four to a pen.

Now, the animals have their own enclosure. Speakman said there are about 50 animals at the shelter.

"The new building gives the dogs some room and it is a better place for people to visit," Speakman said. "The old building was so dark and dreary, I think people will be more willing to help out. It's a nicer place to work."

Getting more people out to the shelter will increase the chances of dogs being adopted, Speakman hopes. That in turn will ease the worst part of the job for her and the other shelter workers -- putting unwanted animals asleep.

Since the move, about 27 animals have had to be destroyed, Speakman said.

The new shelter -- built mostly from donations and county supplied jail inmate labor -- has been some two years from plans to completion.

Hootenanny has helped the project along by agreeing to personal appearances at area schools, and greeting visitors to the shelter, Speakman said.

Stage presentation set

Pam Middaugh in 'Everything I Always Wanted to Do But...' will be presented Feb. 24-25 at 8 p.m. in Reynolds Theatre on the University of Montevallo campus.

Proceeds from this musical revue, co-sponsored by the UM Theatre Department and the Shelby County Community Theatre, will benefit the department's scholarship fund.

The program features Middaugh singing a wide range of selections from the blues to gospel and show tunes.

Tickets are $5 for Friday and $10 for Saturday. For more information: 665-2521, ext. 412 or 413.

Theatre holds auditions

Scholarship auditions for students interested in studying theatre at the University of Montevallo will be held Feb. 25, March 24 and April 14.

Awards ranging from partial to full tuition scholarships are available, said Dr. Charles Harbour, theatre department chairman.

Applicants should prepare two contrasting, one-minute monologues and a resume, and they are urged to bring letters of recommendation.

For more information: 665-2521, ext. 412 or 413.

Need a wild horse?

Wild horses and burros from public land in Nevada and Wyoming will be offered for adoption in Alabama.

About 180 horses and 70 burros will be be available for adoption at Casey Stockyards in Montgomery and West Alabama Stockyards in Eutaw. People interested in adopting an animal should call the Bureau of Land Management in Alexandria, Va. at (703) 235-2866 or 235-2840 to be screened and to set up adoption appointments.

A fee of $215 per horse and $130 per burro will be charged to cover the cost of the roundup and veterinarians.

The adoptions will take place in Montgomery on Feb. 24-26 and in Eutaw on March 2-4.

In service of the USA

Horizon 280 names committees

Several studies on land use and traffic patterns will be used in newly formed committees of the Horizon 280 Association.

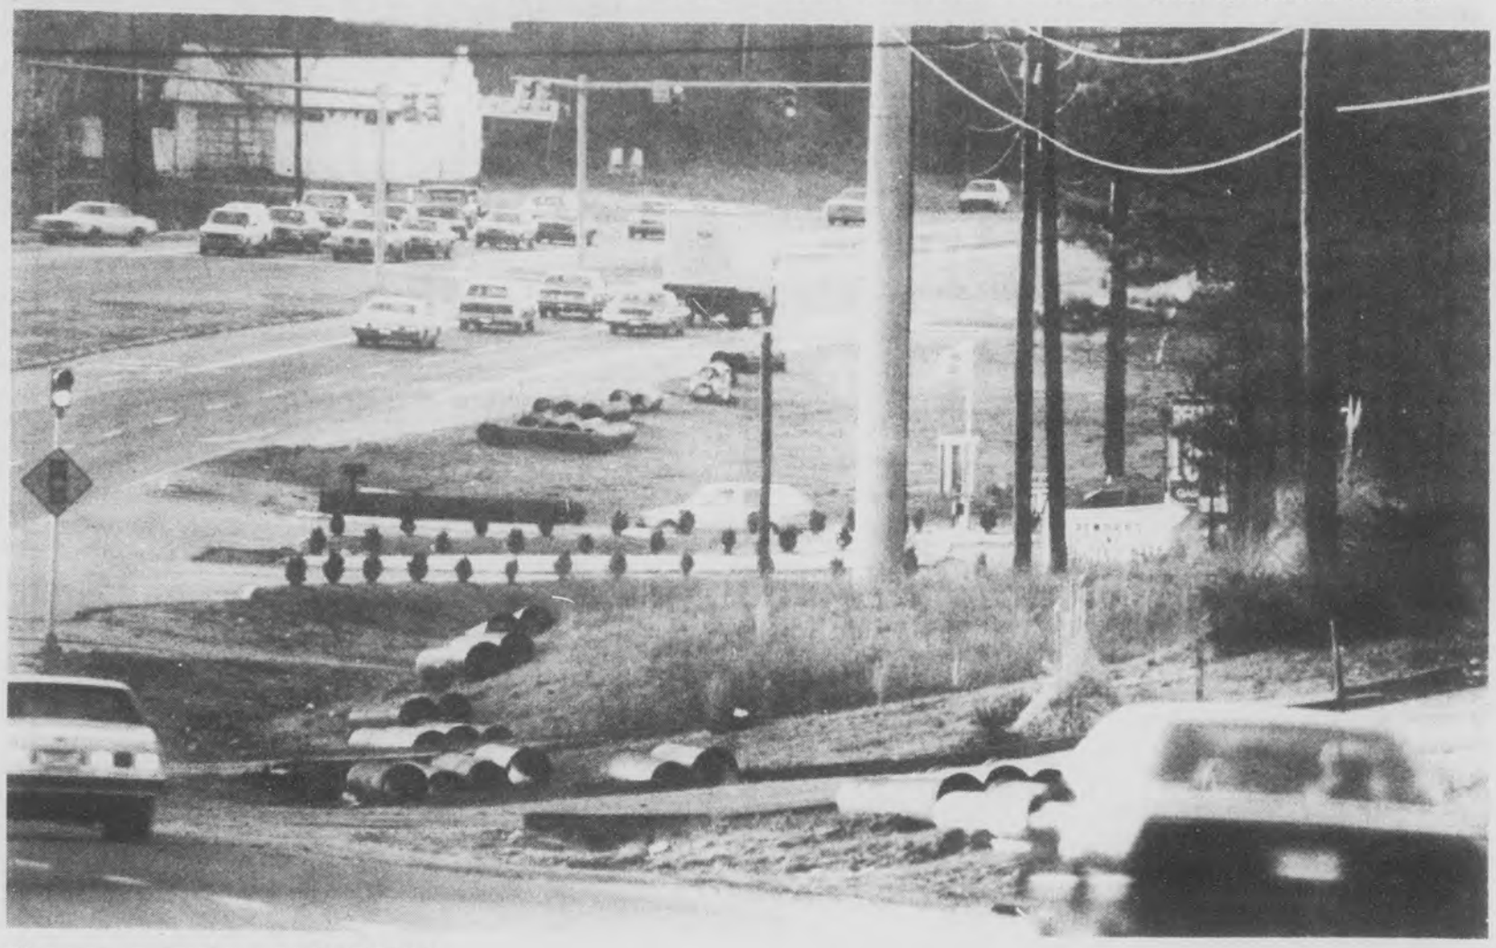
The group -- which promotes controlled development of the land surrounding Highway 280 -- met Tuesday and Chairman of the Board Leo Karpeles, Jr. announced the creation of seven committees.

Karpeles said that a land use study by Barber, Blaylock and Cooper would be completed and released to the group in about a month, along with studies done by the Shelby County Regional Planning Commission on population and employment.

Bill Foisy, a member of the commission, said the studies will then be used by the highway department to do a traffic study. The group hopes the studies will point out the need for zoning regulations.

The committees will focus on support for zoning in Beat 13, sign ordinances, long range planning and a liason with the highway department, according to Karpeles.

Horizon 280 has supported attempts to have zoning regulations voted on, but proposed ordinances have been turned down twice by voters in the area.



Sewer coming to US 280

Pipeline along US 280 will be used for sewer hookups in offices from I-459 to State 119. Development in the area has been slowed because of the lack of sewer service. Charles Bueltman, president of the $2 million Cahaba Water Renovation Systems Inc. said that his system will serve businesses at first, but residences could be hooked on later. His company has almost completed a water treatment plant near Inverness, and Bueltman told the Horizon 280 Association last week that the plant should be operational by mid-March. (photo by David F. FRANCIE HOLDER ...and winning stamp design

Stamp design wins

The artistic ability of an eleven year old Pelham girl has been recognized by a national organization.

Francie Holder's penguin drawing was one of 22 winning entries in a nationwide poster contest sponsored by the Animal Protection Institute of America.

Her drawing appears on the set of seals issued by the institute this year to call attention to animal cruelty.

In addition to the stamp, her drawing is also being used by the institute in conjunction with its educational program.

The young artist is an honor student at Briarwood Christian School. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Mike Holder.

Alabama Power pays

Three Shelby County municipalities have received license fees amounting to roughly $358,000 from Alabama Power Company.

Recently receiving license fees from Alabama Power Company were Wilton, $9,395.73; Columbiana, $112,172.34; Wilsonville $15,828.16; and Pelham, $220,629.44.

R.F. Barrett, local manager in Columbiana, delivered the checks there and in Wilsonville. John Vaughn, district superintendent at Montevallo, delivered the check to Wilton, Bobby Hosea, district manager at Alabaster, delivered the check to Pelham.

Principal Don Bulger dies in boat mishap

by Bert Seaman

Students and faculty at Shelby County High School were in mourning Monday over the death of principal Don Bulger.

The 49-year old principal drowned in a boating accident Friday afternoon while fishing on the Alabama river with his wife and another companion, Lewis Walker of Columbiana. His body was recovered Saturday morning.

A memorial service was held for Bulger at the school Monday, and 500 or more mourners attended the 3 p.m. funeral services at Bolton Chapel in Columbiana.

Players from the first football team Bulger coached when he came to Shelby County High School in 1957 were among the crowd that spilled out of the chapel and onto the funeral home lawn.

"His life will live on in the boys he coached," said Phillip Sessions, one of the ministers who conducted the service.

Interment was held afterwards at Columbiana Cemetery.

Bulger's friend, Lewis Walker, gave the Reporter the following account of the events surrounding the accident:

He met Bulger and his wife, Reggie, at the Prairie Creek boat launch Friday morning. That section of the Alabama River -- located near Autaugaville, between Selma and Montgomery -- is a favorite fishing place for numerous Columbiana fishermen.

The Bulgers had planned to fish from one boat while Walker went in another. The couple hadn't been gone long when Walker saw them returning, and learned that their boat had hit a stump.

All three then fished from Walker's boat until lunchtime, when they stopped at Beaver Creek.

"Don fussed at his wife and me for eating too slow," Walker said. "He said he was ready to get back to fishing."

With Bulger in the stern piloting the boat -- a 15-foot fiberglass tarpon -- the boat headed out of Beaver Creek into the river.

A stiff breeze was whipping up the water.

Bulger attempted to slow the boat when a wave came over the bow, but instead of slowing, it stopped completely. A backwash followed over the stern, and the boat began to sink.

Walker, who was in the bow, attempted to start the trolling motor to get the boat to shore, but when he realized the boat was sinking, he told the Bulgers to grab the life preservers.

The Bulgers never got life preservers, but Walker later found two as he made his way to shore.

"We were in the water and Don called out and asked if we were all right," Walker said. "I had hold of a minnow bucket. Reggie had a floatation cushion and Don was clinging to a fiberglass ice chest."

"He told us he couldn't hang on -- but his wife said, 'yes you can, just keep on coming,'" Walker said.

"The next time I looked back," Walker said, "I didn't see him."

Walker estimated the boat was 75 yards from land when it sank. The current swept him and Mrs. Bulger downstream about 30-40 yards before she reached the shore.

"Reggie stuck a long tree branch she'd found, out into the water and pulled me in," Walker said.

Remembering a boat he'd seen in Beaver Creek during lunch, Walker started walking in that direction to get help.

Some fishermen passed him by out in the river, but he was unable to attract their attention. However, Mrs. Bulger succeeded in waving them in when they came within sight of her on the riverbank.

The fishermen -- coincidentally -- were Columbiana residents E.J. Jones, Calvin Walton and Norman Lefkovits.

Jones and Lefkovits took Mrs. Bulger to a trailer that had a telephone and she called for help.

"As it turned out," Lefkovits said, "it was the only trailer on the river that had a phone."

Rescue squads dragged the river until dark. The principal's body was found about 9:30 a.m., shortly after the boats went back out Saturday.

The board of education office reported that an interim principal for Shelby County High School is expected to be named by Monday.

Whoever is named will serve until the end of the school year and applications for the position will be taken this summer.

Bulger had been principal since 1974. Prior to that, he was principal at Sardis High School in Etowah County.

After coaching winning football teams at SCHS in the late 1950's and early '60's, Bulger took a coaching position at Emma Sansom High School in Gadsden.

A memorial fund for him has been established at the First National Bank of Columbiana.

In addition to his wife, Bulger's survivors include: a daughter, Mary Elizabeth Bulger, Columbiana; sons, Donald Russell Bulger, Lombard, Ill., Douglas K. Bulger, Shelby; four sisters, Florence Coleman, Birmingham, Ruby Jesswein, Brannington, FL, Mildred Coyle, Castleberry, FL, and Jeanette McCain, Sylacauga.

He is also survived by brothers, Virlyn L. Bulger, Florence, Vernon E. Bulger, Pensacola, Fl.; step daughters Carolyn and Patricia Smiley, and step son, Robert L. Smiley, all of Pelham.

Local bank to finance county purchase of highway department equipment

by Fred Guarino

The Shelby County Commission will locally finance the purchase of a $102,750 hydraulic excavator.

Commissioners voted Monday to take the low bid of Dixie Equipment Company on a Badger Hydro-Scopic 460 and to finance that purchase through the First National Bank of Columbiana, rather than finance it through the dealer.

County engineer Gary Ray recommended the action as a means of saving money.

According to Ray, a 36 month lease purchase agreement through Dixie Equipment Company would cost the county $120,958.48.

However, if the equipment is bought at a direct purchase price and financed for 36 months through the bank, the cost will be only $113,074.56.

"I checked with Don Lawley, legal counsel for the Department of Public Accounts, to make sure that the county could legally do this," Ray told commissioners. "He advised me that this would be acceptable as long as the bidder agrees."

Ray caused eyebrows to rise among bidders, however, when he said that the county could still return the equipment to the bank at the end of 12 months...just as if the purchase had been financed through a dealer.

A representative of Joe Money Machinery said he had spoken with six or eight banks and no bank said they could do it.

Other bidders commented that if the equipment were turned back after 12 months, the bank would be in the equipment business.

According to Ray, the bank will finance the purchase at 6.5 percent.

The county engineer said he spoke with officers of the First American Bank, Shelby Bank, First National Bank of Columbiana and the First Bank of Alabaster for the best quotes on a lease purchase agreement.

With the First National Bank of Columbiana, a 36 month agreement will cost the county $3,140.96 per month for a total payout of $113,074.56.

Ray said he got the quotes from Billy Jones and Karl Harrison.

North Shelby fire kills two, injures one

by John Hood

A flash fire raced through a mobile home in north Shelby County last Tuesday night, killing a man and a young boy. A second man was injured in the blaze.

Ronald James Lee, 19, and Billy Gene Colley, 7, died in a blaze that started when fuel for a outdoor stove exploded, according to North Shelby Fire District Chief Winston Boutwell.

Paula Strader, Colley's mother, was in the kitchen in the front of the trailer where the fire started. She said Ronald's brother, Terry, was attempting to fuel up a borrowed outdoor stove near a open-flame heater when the "blowout started."

"It was small to begin with," she said, "but Terry's pants leg was on fire. I screamed fire and tried to put it out."

Strader said she had to jump over flames to get out the front door.

She said Terry's father, John Lee, grabbed Colley, who was asleep on the couch and told him to go out the back door.

Shortly, after he saw that he wouldn't be able to douse the growing flames, Strader said John Lee ran to the rear of trailer, but couldn't get out the back door. She said he jumped out a hall window to escape.

When they realized that Colley and Ronald Lee were still inside, Strader said, "John was hollering for them from the window. The heat was too bad. He didn't hear anything. He would have gone back inside if he had heard something."

Deputy Sgt. Tom Barnes who arrived a few minutes before north Shelby firefighters, said he had to hold Terry Lee down to keep him from going back into the burning trailer after the other two. Lee was released this week from University Hospital in Birmingham after treatment for second-degree burns on his arms and legs.

Boutwell said the trailer was engulfed in flames when firefighters arrived at Double Oak Trailer Park at 9:15 p.m., about ten minutes after being called. The mobile home park is located off US 280 at the western foot of the Double Oak Mountain.

The makeshift open-flame heater was being used for heat because the power had been shut off earlier in the week, according to Boutwell. Neighbor Kathy Shinn said the brothers were in the process of moving out.

Shinn said she called the fire department after someone beat on the side of her trailer and yelled fire. At first she thought her trailer was on fire.

"I grabbed my baby and started to run outside, but my daughter saw the fire across the street," Shinn said. "It's the first fire I've ever seen. It was horrible."

The fire is under investigation by the state fire marshall's office.

Fluffy white stuff

Fluffy white stuff Tuesday morning caused several traffic accidents (see related story on page 5) and closed Briarwood Christian High School. Pelham FD continues to flush into creek

by David F. Moore

Toilets at Pelham Fire Station Number Two continue to flush sewage directly into nearby Bishop Creek.

County health official George Holcombe met last week with a sewer engineer to discuss the situation. In several attempts by phone and in person, the Reporter was unable to contact Holcombe for comment.

Former Pelham firefighter Bill Kline -- who was stationed in a nearby mobile home while the fire station was being built, and later worked out of the new station -- said that to the best of his knowledge, a septic tank was never installed at the station.

Instead, Kline said, two 55-gallon drums were buried, and a pit was filled with gravel. This led to problems in 1982 of sewage backing up into the fire station bays, he said.

Fire chief Bill Bryars said he was unaware of exactly how the city had solved the backup problem. He said the problem was similar to troubles city hall once had with septic tanks, so he didn't think it was too unusual.

To alleviate the problem at station number two, Kline said city workers laid sewer lines straight to the creek.

"It's apparent that the system has failed again," said state environmental engineer Jim Moore. "We'll stay in touch with them (health officials) to see if they make any progress."

Mayor Burk Dunaway said one solution would be a new sewer plant for the north end of the city. That would solve other sewer problems in the area, Dunaway said.

Bounty hunters invade homes

by John Hood

Armed bounty hunters apparently looking for a bond-jumper recently forced their way into two Pelham homes. No one was apprehended, and paramedics treated the residents of the homes for shock after the incident.

According to Pelham police reports, three men who said they were bounty hunters entered a house at about 9:30 p.m., February 16. The men had asked for and received an escort from Pelham police.

(Bounty hunters have the power to enter people's home without a warrant, according to Pelham Sgt. Don Guyer, but he said that most of them will ask for a 'courtesy escort' from the local police. Police are not allowed to intefere or enter homes without a warrant.)

At about the same time, a fourth bounty hunter -- without a police escort -- entered the house next door.

A woman was washing dishes when her son answered the front door. According to the report, a man with a shotgun pushed her son to the floor and pointed the gun at her.

The report said another man came in through the back door and said, "We've got the wrong house, hurry."

The police report stated that the victim said the bounty hunters did not identify themselves. Police reported that they were working for OK Bonding Company.

R.C. McCaine, part-owner of OK Bonding, said that he did not know about the incident. He stated that his company had not hired the men involved in the incident.

McCaine said that the certified bond in question was on file in his office, but that his former employee Roy McMahan was handling it.

McMahan's bonding business is listed in the phone book, but the number is disconnected.

McCaine said that bonding companies hire bounty hunters to find bond-jumpers, and the hunters get a percentage of the bond.

The hunters were apparently searching for a woman who had jumped bond on a charge of forging a prescription.

At press time, no charges had been filed in the case.

State representatives

Representative John Tanner (above, left) lends an ear to what Wayne Sumners and his wife have to say from Vincent, during the Shelby County Democratic Executive Committee's appreciation banquet at the University of Montevallo Friday. Representative Sonny Moore (below, left) gives his attention to M.E. 'Moon' Thornton of Montevallo. Placques were presented to Moore, Tanner and Senator Frank 'Butch' Ellis for their service to Shelby County and to Dr. Milton Orr, vice chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee for his contribution to good government. County Demos run for delegate spots

Ten residents of Shelby County are seeking election as delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Their names will appear on the party ballot, pledged to various presidential candidates, on the March 13 election.

Florence Moss Jacoby and Clark E. Dotson are Shelby Countians pledged to candidate Alan Cranston.

Local residents who are pledged to John Glenn are Patricia M. (Patti) Smith, Buddy Glasgow and David 'Radar' Nichols.

Presidential candidate Walter Mondale has five Shelby County residents seeking to be delegates to the convention: Karen R. Creel, Catherine Cassimus Sarris, Miles A. Creel, Jack Hamilton and Kevin Vincent.

Local candidates will be competing with several others from District 7 to be elected delegates to the national convention.

See related story on GOP, Page X-2

Democrats will elect four women and four men from the total list. Presidential candidates who do not have any Shelby County residents seeking to represent them are Reuben Askew, Gary Hart, Ernest Hollings, Jesse Jackson and Gerald Willis.

Accident claims life of Wilsonville girl

An 18 year-old Wilsonville girl lost her life Monday afternoon in an accident involving a Blazer pickup truck and a gasoline tractor - trailer rig.

Joyce Annette Fulgham of Route 1, Box 188, Wilsonville, was pronounced dead at the scene on the intersection of county roads 55 and 51, according to Shelby County Coroner Billy Thompson. She was reportedly driving the Blazer, he said.

The other vehicle was driven by Linda Jackson Stinson, also of the Wilsonville area. She was taken to an area hospital emergency room by private vehicle, Thompson said.

No further details were available from the highway patrol.

Smith Camp residents mad at bridge delay

by Fred Guarino

It's reportedly a case of priorities taking precedent. But to some of the families living on County 103 at Smith Camp, the fact they have been without a bridge for over one year is a case of the county pushing their needs aside.

Clercy Yarbrough said at least 16 homeowners in Smith Camp are upset, apparently feeling that they have been neglected in favor of road work on County 41 at Shoal Creek -- host of the 1984 PGA Golf Tournament.

According to Yarbrough, County Commission Jake Morris promised that the County 103 bridge would be replaced shortly after it was taken down for safety reasons. "We are hung up here," Yarbrough said. "We have got to go way around a dirt road another half-mile to get out."

She added that since Morris made his promise, the county continues to claim it is too tied up to do the work.

"Then we got the Reporter (last week) and we found out what they were tied up on. We found out the county is fixing a road so that that man (Shoal Creek developer Hall Thompson) can have his golf tournament."

"We are people too," she added in frustration.

But county engineer Gary Ray vowed the county has not pushed Smith Camp aside for a golf tournament. He said that Morris was "anxious" to replace the Smith Camp bridge last summer.

"But we had problems on other structures on primary routes," Ray said. He indicated that the county continues to have other problems and that priorties change daily.

Ray said, however, that because of petitions received from Smith Camp residents asking for a new bridge, Morris has gone so far as to reject a less expensive option in order to fulfill his promise.

The option would have been to pave a detour road the county "bent over backwards to build" for the residents, Ray said. He added that would only have caused Smith Camp residents to drive 800 more feet than they would have to travel even with the bridge in place.

The cost of Ray's suggested option would have been $5,000, as opposed to the minimum $20,000 that it will cost the county to build a new bridge.

According to the county engineer, "if there is any way to do it," Morris wants a new bridge erected on County 103 this spring.

Ray added that any work being done on a road leading to Shoal Creek Country Club is being funded entirely by the State of Alabama.

Elections will cost Montevallo

by Bert Seaman

Montevallo is ready for city elections this summer with Justice Department approval of the division of the city into voting districts.

However, the council discovered Monday, that the added cost of the election hadn't been planned for.

City Administrator Don Hughes estimated the cost would be around $10,000. Mayor Ralph Sears predicted $15,000 to $20,000.

"And we didn't budget a nickel," Sears observed.

According to Hughes, there is supposed to be a polling place in each of the five districts. Before, there had been only two in the city.

Hughes said he would try to get approval from the state for voters in four districts to use the First United Methodist Church for a polling place. The four districts all join at where the church is located at the corner of Middle and Oak Streets.

City hall is the voting place for the fifth district, which is predominantly black.

Election costs will include the time consuming process of compiling voters' lists and their publication at least twice in the newspaper.

Additional voting machines and personnel will be required and a school for election officials will also have to be held.

Despite the extra drain on city finances, Hughes was optimistic the city could come out in the black if department heads stay within in their budgets.

Also at Monday's meeting, an application was presented from Betty Lucas for the annexation of her property at the end of Jones Road on Holloway Hill.

The council expressed tentative approval of the application which will be voted on at the next meeting.

Since some property on the street is within the city and other property is not, Sears made the point that the situation creates confusion in answering fire, police and rescue calls.

The city does not answer calls outside the city limits.

Pelham

Moore said the city has not applied for a discharge permit for the upper section or Bishop Creek.

Another possible solution, state environmentalists said, is an on-site sewer package plant for the station, available for about $4,000. Again, a permit would be needed for discharge.

Harpersville refuses to annex two areas because of costs

by Bert Seaman

Residents who had asked to be annexed by the town of Harpersville got an answer last Tuesday -- but it wasn't the answer they wanted.

The council was unanimous in their decision not to annex any area at the present time. And the resolution it passed said the town will not be divided into voting districts.

Gallups Circle, near County 62, and Chancellor Ferry, on County 79, were the two areas that wanted inside the city.

Councilman Thomas Green said the reason for denying the annexation was because of the financial burden it would impose on the town.

"I hope we'll be able to do it sometime in the future," he told the six people from those areas present at the meeting.

When Terry Threatt from the Gallups Circle area asked how much money they were talking about, Mayor J.W. Donahoo said he couldn't give an exact figure, but that it would run in the thousands of dollars. He said the city would have to provide water lines, paved streets, street lights, garbage service and police protection.

With a 5 mill ad valorem tax, the town receives $4,500 from property taxes. And the areas wanting to be annexed would bring in very little more, the mayor noted.

A petition for annexation signed by 74 individuals from Gallups Circle -- most of whom were husband and wife -- was handed to the city clerk Tuesday.

Residents from the Chancellor Ferry area had asked to be annexed a couple of years ago, but were never given an answer.

Wiltha Kelly, from the predominantly black Gallups Circle area, had also asked the council to consider dividing Harpersville into two voting districts. The proposal was for two candidates to run from the black district, and three from the other district, with the mayor to run at large.

Even if the council had not turned down that proposal, city clerk Wilma Finn said it was too late to take that action anyway.

She explained that districts had to be defined six months prior to an election, which meant the deadline was January.

Donahoo urged anyone from the black community interested in a council seat to sign up as a candidate in the July election. He said there is no qualifying fee.

Although residents asking to be annexed were disappointed by the council's decision, two other groups had better luck with their requests.

Attention Home Director Brenda Lee Rice, who asked for $300 for the facility, had her request granted.

The council also agreed to give the rescue squad $500 toward the purchase of a van.

The vehicle is one of the back-up ambulances being sold by Jimmy Gill, and will cost a total of $1,500.

In other business, the council was asked to look over an ordinance prepared by attorney Sonny Conwill concerning dog control.

Dogs would not need to be penned or kept on a leash, Conwill explained, but simply kept up for designated periods.

The limited control method would be all a town the size of Harpersville would need to locate dogs that are strays, Conwill said.

After a trial period of meeting once a month, the council agreed the time lapse is too long between meetings.

It was agreed to go back to the former schedule of meeting on the first and third Tuesday of the month at 6:30 p.m.

Mental health discussion

Some of the participants in the mental health seminar held in Harpersville last week stopped to chat after the meeting. They are Rev. Vollie Biddle, county commissioner Leon Archer, Harpersville Police Chief Aubrey Perrigin, John Brumley, Rev. Trying to live with each other

by Bert Seaman

What's the biggest problem in day to day living?

"Boiling it down, it's just trying to live with each other," answers Dr. Kenneth Warren.

Warren, who is a clinical psychologist, spoke Friday at a mental health seminar held at the United Methodist Church in Harpersville.

Ministers, school principals and guidance counselors were the main participants in the session sponsored by the Chilton-Shelby Mental Health Center.

Center Director John S. Brumley told the group about when and how to make referrals. He also gave a talk called "Services That Enable People To Live in Community."

Malcolm Larkin, minister of Mt. Tabor United Methodist Church, also talked to the group about how to live in community.

When Warren addressed the audience, he noted that there is a misconception about what a mental health center is.

"It isn't for crazy people," he said, "but a place to help people encountering difficulties in life."

Acknowledging that none of the groups present had all the answers, Warren observed that it would benefit everyone to pool their resources.

A key point Warren made in regard to helping people change, was the necessity of "getting them to change the way they think of themselves."

Brumley announced that mental health services are now being offered at the Harpersville clinic. The number to call for information is 672-2401.

Services include: family and marital counseling, group and individual therapy, psychiatric evaluation and therapy, and psychological evaluation.

The center also works with business and industry and in the area of mental retardation.

Emergency services include a 24-hour crisis line, 668-1313, hospital and jail visits and acting as consultants to the probate court.

Floyd fund set up

A scholarship fund has been established at the University of Montevallo in memory of L. Holland Floyd. Floyd, the University's executive director of buildings and grounds, died Feb. 10 of an apparent heart attack.

The fund will be used to educate the Floyd children, Deana and Drew. After their formal education has been completed, the interest from the remaining assets will be used for scholarships for UM upperclassmen.

Scholarship recipients will be selected based on qualities held by Floyd: perseverance, integrity and service to others.

Floyd, had been on the staff at UM for seven years.

Donations should be sent to the Holland Floyd Fund, UM Foundation, Station 301, Montevallo, AL 35115.

FmHA ups loans to poor

Families with very low incomes will be getting a break from the Farmers Home Administration.

A new law is requiring the FmHA to make 40 percent of its loans to these families. In Shelby county, any family of four with an income of less than $12,400 will qualify as 'very low income', according to Earl Nichols, county FmHA supervisor.

Applicants must be without decent, safe, and sanitary housing to be eligible.

The loans can be used to buy an existing dwelling, to build a new one, or to repair an existing dwelling.

Nichols explained that applicants must have income adequate to cover living expenses, taxes, insurance and maintenance, as well as repayment of the mortgage. The mortgage payment may be subsidized, he noted, so that the interest rate actually paid may be as little as 1 percent.

More information is available at the FmHA office in the courthouse, or by telephoning 669-3122.

Library group meets today

The North Shelby Friends of the Library will meet Thursday, March 1.

The meeting will be held at the First Christian Church on Valleydale Road (county 17) at 7:30 p.m.

According to friends president Lynn Stockham, plans will be discussed to obtain library service for North Shelby.

All residents interested in new library services are invited to attend.

Limit on sports

It's about time someone put a lid on school sports.

To coincide with state school superintendent Wayne Teague's Plan for Excellence, the Alabama High School Athletic Association has moved to apply limitations of its own to sporting programs.

We recognize the part sports play in developing our youth. However, prior to AHSAA's action last week, school sporting programs were on the verge -- if not well past the point -- of overkill.

Seasons were getting longer in several events. It was cause to wonder about the quality of education when so many students spent so much time practicing sports, playing sports, making banners, or cheering from the sidelines on school nights.

When scrimmage is taken more seriously than schooling, something is wrong. The problem even carries over to hiring practices in situations where qualified coaches seem more important than qualified teachers.

Teague's and AHSAA's lid on sports should help reverse some of the trouble with such priorities.

Under the old rules, most senior high schools were scheduling 11 football games per season, and junior highs had 10. That has been shaved back to 10 and eight, respectively.

Volleyball had no limits to the number of games. Now senior highs are held to a dozen games, junior highs to six.

Varsity basketball has not had its game numbers limited, but it is being held to only one tournament outside of area and region play, unless a tourney is played over holidays. Junior highs and girls teams are limited to 16 games and one tournament outside the county playoffs. State playoffs are to take up no more than two school days.

AHSAA has recommended that varsity baseball be scheduled for Friday nights and Saturdays, and that only one night game be played per week.

Other reasonable limits have been placed on track, golf and tennis.

The association also recommends that:

•Students participate in only one school night athletic event per week.

•When regular games are played on nights preceding school, they should end by 10 p.m.

•No more than one junior high game can be played per week on nights before school.

•Athletics below grade seven should be limited to intramurals only, according to policy to be set by the state board of education.

•Varsity football spring training will be limited to 15 days in a 30-day calendar period.

These policies in themselves won't insure quality education for the youth of Shelby County and the state, but they're a step in the right direction.

'Wise' administrator is joke

Letter to the Editor:

It has become clear that the new reporter for our county paper has little understanding of the people and the politics in Shelby County. His editorial in the Shelby County Reporter asking the hospital board to seek a wise administrator was a joke, for it has been obvious from the start that these key men are only scape-goats for the doctors and business men who profit from the money which flows through this institution. Where, then, can this board find a wise scape-goat?

This editorial also revealed that the hospital was the largest employer in the county. This statement told the people that it takes more employees for this hospital to care for the sick- poor in the county, than it takes employees hired by the board of education to educate all of our children from kindergarten through high school. So, bite your fingers Mr. Reporter.

Give hospital tax to schools

Letter to the Editor:

In response to the defeat of the additional school tax, I feel there are several reasons why the tax was defeated. The first reason was the unspecified use of the tax in the wording of the referendum. The second was the length of time the tax was to be imposed.

Why shouldn't the referendum specifically state that Thompson High is to be replaced, Vincent High to be renovated... etc.? If the reasons for the tax can be printed in the newspaper, they can be made legally binding in the referendum. As any lender of money has the right to know why money is being loaned, the taxpayer has the right to know ahead of time where his money is being spent.

Why did the tax have to be imposed for 20 years? Why not 10 years? An increasing population also means increasing taxes. A 10-year period would be adequate for paying back the initially planned loan of $6.5 million which has recently jumped to $9.7 million.

Why continue the hospital tax? If there is surplus money from that tax, then obviously the bonds must be paid off. If they are not, then there should not be any surplus for some group to be fighting over. I do not wish to guarantee the solvency of Shelby Memorial with my taxes. I would rather use the present hospital tax given to the schools. Let's have a referendum to determine whether to let the schools have the tax or whether to let it stay with a privately owned hospital.

Sincerely,
B.S. Hallas

People will be burdened

Letter to the Editor:

This letter is in reply to Fred's Corner in the February 23 addition of the Reporter. On the surface, Fred's column advocating a county wide animal control program sounds like motherhood and apple pie, but let's take a closer look.

After the county has hired the animal control expert (dogcatcher) we will have to have a county wide leash law, otherwise the 'expert' won't be able to tell the strays from the neighborhood dogs. Then all of us who leave our animals outside will soon become 'violators'. Only two years ago I witnessed the crying of my 7 year old niece whose dog had been picked up by the Pelham dog control officer. She had seen her dog taken, but was too scared to do anything.

Fred cites persons being bitten by 'stray' dogs. Let's hear some statistics, Fred. Of the dog bite incidents you know of, how many were from 'strays' and how many were from dogs whose owners were well known? Also, how many garbage cans are raided by 'stray' dogs. Nonsense! Garbage cans are raided by your neighbor's dog - maybe even by your own dog!

I'm not all one sided on this issue. Sometimes I'm a jogger, and joggers are definitely harassed by dogs (never by strays and never by cats). But I would much rather see the dog free on his block for 24 hours a day so that he can chase me for about 24 seconds.

With the cooperation of the veterinarians the county certainly could have a minimum cost spaying program to prevent the births of unwanted animals, but let's not have the ordinances, the citations, the fines, the traps, and the dogcatcher. I do not share the view that an animal control program will make Shelby County a better place to live. On the contrary, I believe such a program would simply put a needless burden on 95% of the people in order to control 5% of the people.

This is America. We are supposed to be free. Often we worry about the federal government taking our freedoms away, but our local government can chip bits and pieces of our freedom away too.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member FDIC.

At first I was against it. The same as I am against any eye-sore, big or small, or wherever it shows its ugly head. And it was in the way. It just stood there, big as four houses, big and ugly and ragged, waiting for an accident to happen.

Mildred Wallace and I talked about it a dozen times. We both had to pass it on our way home from work, and it wasn't like passing a rose garden or a lilac patch. Mimi is gone now. After almost fifty years of working together, she slipped away one day and left her name behind. I think if she were here she would, the same as I, change her mind about it.

I guess we remembered it as it once was -- a hotel and a dining room and food and people, and a well outside and clerks carrying water to the stores, and a trough where horses and mules watered.

But that is all gone now. They've dressed it up and painted its face and are still adding little things to make it pretty.

But there's another reason why I've changed my mind about the old courthouse on the south end of Main. Maybe it's a selfish reason, but it's mine, and I've never been one to back away from what's mine.

You see, I'm getting old. I'm almost as old as Indian wars and slavery and kerosene lamps and high-top shoes. I'm older than paved streets and electric lights and lightbread and inside bathrooms.

In a few years somebody will have to do a lot of primping if I am to look like something. And if they can do it for the old courthouse they can do it for me.

That's why I'm for the whole kaboodle one hundred percent. Make that one hundred and ten percent!

Notes from the Kingdom

...being the thoughts of a newspaperman who lives in the Kingdom Community.

by David F. Moore

It was raining Monday morning -- outside with water, inside with dreariness. Perhaps you know the feeling.

I'm convinced that a lot of that dreary feeling can be attributed directly to the month of February. When it comes to the months of the year, February is the pits. Past experiences have painted the month a damp gray in my mind. It's a dead time of the year, lacking both the crispness of December and January, and the warm stirring of life that March and April evoke.

Actually, as far as weather goes, we were lucky this year with February. The sun was out more than usual, the skies were mostly clear, the temperature was relatively warm. Not bad for this time of the year. Still, it was February, and for all its good moments, it brought with it clouds of damp dreariness...

* * * *

January ended on a bad note as far as violent news goes. As such, the first issue of the paper in February was filled -- literally -- with death: Chelsea principal Brad Stevens' wreck, the shotgun slaying of a woman in Montevallo, the shooting of a Montevallo man in Birmingham, and the story of a Birmingham man who toppled some 100 feet to the ground at the Wilsonville steam plant.

Prior to that, it had been a while since we'd had much death or violence in the paper. On a professional level, I approach such matters objectively. It's the only way one should ever write news.

However, in questioning the chief deputy sheriff on one of those tragedies, it struck me as odd that I was being so objective about someone's death. I wasn't being callous, just objective. The chief -- who's seen more of death than I -- understood. Still, it's not a way I'd want to be all the time. It'd be too dreary...

* * * *

It was raining last Wednesday morning when the north Shelby fire chief called about the two deaths in the trailer fire. Dreary.

I returned to work Sunday from a press convention in Huntsville and learned of Don Bulger's death. It wasn't raining, but it was dreary anyway.

On top of these and other tragedies, Vandiver has been missing since the day after Valentine's. Vandiver is a white-booted, 13-pound, year-and-a-half old gray tabby house cat -- strikingly handsome if I do say so myself. To my wife and I, he was a son. Now Vandiver's gone...

* * * *

It wasn't raining Saturday, February 18. In fact, it was a beautiful day. With the help of some jumper cables I started the 1950 Ford tractor Don Klasing lets me use to cut grass at home in the Kingdom -- only the plow blades were hooked up to it, not the bushhog.

After puttering over to Beeswax Grocery for air in the tires, I couldn't help but drive a lap around the field -- after all, it wasn't raining and the evening sky was setting into warm colors.

As I started to shut it down, I suddenly dropped the blades into the soft red earth. I confess I know nothing about the production end of a garden. I can eat veggies with the best of them, but growing a garden? Me?

At first I attributed this crazy action to a serious wild hair. Now I realize that what I truly want to do is make something grow and live in the earth. It won't end dreariness, but it sounds like one way to fight it.

As for February, well, it took care of itself and went out in a flurry, so to speak. Welcome, March, wind and all!

Alabama Scene

by Bob Ingram

by Bob Ingram

Action is hot and heavy on the state political scene, what with the Legislature in session and the presidential primary only days away. Here are a few quickies on those and other subjects...

Will Gov. George Wallace give his public blessing to any of the Democrat hopefuls before Super Tuesday, March 13? No way. Wallace is a great believer in an old Alabama political rule -- Don't ever get in another dog's fight. He probably will vote for John Glenn, but it's not likely he would ever admit it. Come fall, if Walter Mondale is indeed the Democrat nominee, Wallace will be hard-put to even endorse him. He will likely simply urge folks to "vote Democratic" and say no more...

And speaking of Gov. Wallace, the testimony he gave about his Christian faith at the State Baptist Convention's Legislative Prayer Luncheon at Montgomery's Civic Center was one of the most moving statements ever made by him...

The best line written about the frequent visit of Democrat presidential candidates crisscrossing Alabama in recent days was something to this effect: "The candidates have left their tracks all over the state, but there's not a Big Foot among them..."

One of former Gov. Fob James' proudest achievements was the budget isolation bill. Irritated at the way the Legislature would wait until the final hours of a session to pass the budgets, he got the lawmakers to approve a proposed constitutional amendment that would have required the budgets to be passed before any other legislation could be considered. This amendment was to be on the ballot for voter approval on March 13. However, the 1984 Legislature has passed a resolution calling for the amendment to be taken off the ballot. Budget isolation apparently is dead...

Lt. Gov. Bill Baxley has made some demands on the pending Jefferson County horse racing bill which may kill that measure for this session. Spokesmen for the group which plans to build the track have said if the Baxley amendments are adopted -- they would cost the track an estimated $2.3 million a year -- then the plans for the facility will be scrapped...

A House committee approved a bill that would substantially increase the minimum amount of liability insurance a motorist must carry on his vehicle. Presently the minimum is $10,000 for injury to one person, $20,000 for injury to two or more, and $5,000 property damage. The new law, if passed, would increase this to $25,000/ $50,000/ $100,000. Opponents claim the corresponding increase in premiums will result in many people having no insurance. They also labelled it a "lawyer's bill". Proponents say the coverage under the present law is unrealistic.

Vincent vote expansion up to Justice Dept

Residents of south Vincent may soon be able to vote with the rest of their city, in Beat 16.

County commissioners voted to extend Beat 16 to take in the entire city limits of Vincent on Monday.

Currently, people who live within the Vincent city limits, but who live below county 62 and along US 231 must vote at Beat 10 at Harpersville.

The action, recommended by Commission Chairman Tommy Snowden and approved unanimously by the commissioners, is subject to U.S. Justice Department approval.

Under no circumstances will it take effect prior to the March 13 presidential primary.

The county previously combined Beat 10's Box 1 and 2 voting places (including part of Vincent) into one location at Harpersville because the Box 2 location was no longer available.

That meant Vincent residents had to vote in Vincent for city elections but in Harpersville for everything else.

In addition, Snowden said some Vincent residents were having to vote outside their school district, which was a major reason for his recommendation to change beat lines.

Monday's action will correct all situations for at least 80 voters if the Justice Department approves.

At least one Vincent resident was well pleased with the county's action.

"You better believe it," said Mary Smiley when asked if she liked what the county proposed. "It's the only way I'll vote. I'll not go to Harpersville to vote. I live in Vincent and I pay taxes in Vincent."

Snowden took full credit for bringing the matter to the commission's attention. When asked who suggested the idea, he said, "Not really anybody unless you say me. I wanted to clear up a matter in the Vincent school district."

Harpersville suspect arrested by deputies

County sheriff deputies arrested a suspect last Wednesday in connection with the burglary of the home of the mayor of Harpersville.

Stanley Mac Bruno, P.O. Box 244, Harpersville, was arrested and charged with receiving stolen property. His bond was set at $50,000.

Mayor J.W. Donahoo's home was burglarized Feb. 1 and $11,000 worth of jewelry and two firearms were taken. Investigators recovered all of the jewelry from a pawn shop in Sylacauga, but the guns are still missing.

Bruno was free on reduced bond in connection with another case when he was arrested in Columbiana. A preliminary hearing will be held on March 15.

In other police news, Super Foods was evacuated Sunday evening after a bomb threat was called in. Sheriff deputies and Columbiana police searched the store as an ambulance stood by. About eight people were in the store when the night manager received the bomb threat by phone at 7:40 P.M.

"It was a prankster, but we evacuated the store immediately," said store owner Jerry Diggels.

The police found no evidence of a bomb, but the store closed early.

On the sheriff's incident report for the last week, there were five arrests for DUI and eight reports of burglary.

Man killed, one injured in interstate wreck

One man is dead and another is in critical condition as the result of an accident on I-65 Tuesday morning, according to Shelby County Deputy Coroner Billy Rocko.

Rockco said that Robert Timothy Adams, 29, of Marbury in Autauga County, was dead on arrival at 6:50 a.m. at Shelby Medical Center. Adams was a passenger in a 1980 Mazda pickup driven by Levi F. Goodwin, 61, of Montgomery

SMC emergency room personnel reported that Goodwin was admitted to the critical care unit.

According to Rocko, the Mazda pickup was traveling north on I-65 when it hit an ice spot on the road which caused it to go out of control and strike the back end of a tractor trailer rig.

He stated that the accident occurred between the airport and US 31 exits and that the other vehicle was undamaged.

Investigation continues in postmaster's death

Was Maylene Postmaster Carolyn Terrell murdered or did she take her own life? Postal investigators who have been working on the case for a month still don't have the answer.

The body of the 37 year-old postmaster was found in the mail vestibule of the post office January 26 with a bullet wound from her gun in the temple.

"The case is just about as cloudy now as it was at the beginning," investigator Arnie DuPriest told the Reporter. DuPriest is officer in charge of the postal investigation office in Birmingham.

He said there is no conclusive evidence in the case. Even though indications point toward suicide, DuPriest said there is also a motive for murder, but he refused to disclose it.

"We're doing some more lab analysis," he reported, "and we're redoing some of the tests to make sure we haven't missed anything."

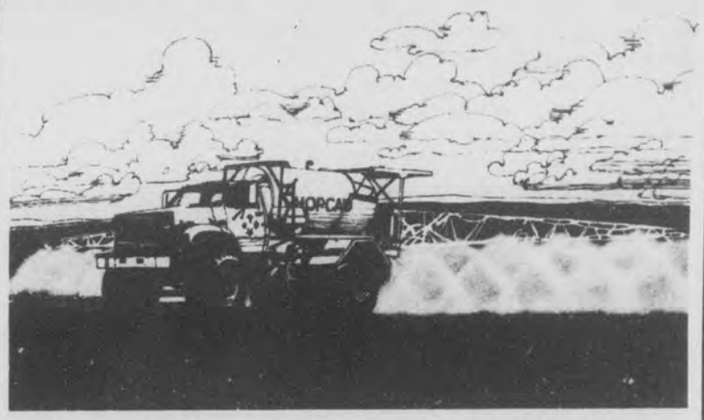
Hopcaid Liquid Fertilizer Boosts Yields



Uniform application gives you up to 6½ extra bushels per acre!

If you sidedress one row of corn or beans twice, and then skip the next row . . . and do that all across the field, what will happen at harvest? Well, you'll get a lot less yield than if you had treated every row the same. You know that.

But look what happens when you plan to put on 200 pounds per acre of a dry bulk blend fertilizer, using a spreader that throws a 40-foot swath. Extensive tests prove that at the center of the swath you're putting on your dry fertilizer at the rate of about 251 pounds per acre . . . 10 feet from the center of the swath your rate may be only about 95 lbs./A . . . and 20 feet from the center of the swath you may be getting on only 51 lbs./A. That's just about like sidedressing one row twice and skipping the next.

With Hopcaid Liquid Fertilizer, every square foot of your land will have the exact proportion of N, P, K and micronutrients called for by your soil test. To get yield-boosting uniformity like this with dry fertilizer blends is not only difficult . . . it's impossible.

We can give you about 6½ extra bushels per acre with uniform application alone. Call us. We'll be ready when you are.

Yellow Jackets reign as area, region champs

The Vincent Yellow Jackets are flying high!

They are the undisputed 2A champions of both Area 7 and Region 4. They are 22-7 on the season.

Go team

In addition, they have earned a shot at Holly Pond in the first round of 2A state playoff action in Tuscaloosa. The game with Holly Pond was scheduled for 10:30 a.m., Wednesday, February 29.

Vincent earned the state tourney road trip with an impressive 63-52 win over the Holy Family Tornadoes last Friday night, and a 54-52 win over Munford last Saturday.

The win over Holy Family came in the championship round of the area tournament played in Montevallo, and the win at Munford came in a close clash for regional honors.

"This year we worked real hard at winning this thing," said Vincent's Craig Fair of the area title.

He added that his team made a point of dedicating this entire season to its senior members -- Eric Posey, Eddie Reynolds Pat Kelley and B.J. Keller.

Holy Family brought what might have appeared an unimpressive 7-12 record into the area championship game. But that wasn't any reason for the Yellow Jackets to celebrate early.

Always tough, the Tornadoes were the defending Area 7 champions, and coach Richard Crumpton's players knew that.

To prove they were ready, the Yellow Jackets delighted a packed house in Montevallo with impressive shooting and by blocking no less than 15 of Holy Family's shots

Bruce Hamilton rejected seven shots, Keller and Tony Hamilton blocked three each, and two unnamed guards each blocked one shot.

Overcoming a tremendous fullcourt press, Vincent fought the Tornadoes to a regulation first period tie at 13-all.

A technical foul let Holy Family shoot for a 14-13 lead after the buzzer, but Vincent rallied to take a 25-22 half-time lead.

Third period action saw Vincent leading 45-37, and when the final horn sounded the Yellow Jackets led 63-52.

Against the Family, Keller scored 22 points and pulled down 12 rebounds.

Saturday, against Munford, Keller hit for 19 points while Bruce Hamilton scored 16 points and pulled down 20 rebounds.

Other Area 7 tournament action saw Comer down Jemison 88-67, Holy Family down Winterboro 99-71, Montevallo down Chelsea 81-51, Holy Family defeat Comer 70-67 and Vincent drop Montevallo 54-45.

In defeating Chelsea and losing to Vincent, the Montevallo Bulldogs ended the season with a 12-11 record.

Taylor Blackwell paced the Bulldogs in their clash against Vincent with 17 points. He was followed by Terry Rutledge with 12 points and Tommy Bivins with 10.

The Dogs will lose six seniors from this year's squad, including five starters: Taylor Blackwell, Tyrone Bell, Terry Rutledge, Leslie Rutledge and Keith Moore. The sixth senior is Karl Rutledge.

In losing to Montevallo, Chelsea ended its season with a 5-20 mark. Steve Shelton paced the Hornets with 21 points in that game.

The Hornets will lose one starting senior from this year's squad -- standout Jason Wiggins.

Returning starters for next year will be sophomores Stephen Guthrie. Keith Welch and Steve Shelton. Also returning next year will be junior Mike Fant.

Tourney stars named

All Tournament players for 2A, Area 7 were announced in Montevallo last Friday night.

Making the squad were:

Chris Spear and Anson Moon of B.B. Comer; Arnold Hamilton and William Ellington of Holy Family; Taylor Blackwell and Tyrone Bell of Montevallo; Bruce Hamilton, Tony Hamilton and B.J. Keller of Vincent; Steve Shelton of Chelsea; and Doug Cook of Winterboro.

Holy Family's Arnold Hamilton was unanimously selected as the tournament's MVP, and Chris Spear of Comer and B.J. Keller of Vincent were named to represent Area 7 on the All-Star team.

All Tournament players for 3A, Area 8 were named in Childersburg on Friday night as well.

Players making that squad include Thompson's Chris Thomas, Tony Hale, Luvell Bivins and Pelham's Kyle Hutchison, according to THS coach Thomas Johnson. Shelby County High School had no all tournament player.

Selected for the 1A Area 8 all tournament team on Friday night in Billingsley was Calera's Kenny Marsh. Indian Springs High School also had no all tournament player.

Warriors fall in finals

It might be wise not to mention the name 'Sylacauga Aggies' to either coach Thomas Johnson or his Thompson Warriors.

The Aggies brought an end to the outstanding 24-7 season for the Warriors in the championship game of the 3A Area 8 tournament in Childersburg last Friday night.

The Warriors were shot down by the Aggies 69-62, despite 18 points by outstanding junior Chris Thomas, 12 points by Demetrius Gaiters, 11 points by lone senior Luvell Bivins, and 10 points by Tony Hale.

One reason for the downfall might be credited to Sylacauga's Fred McNealy, who hit for 21 points and who was joined in double figures by Karn Burns with 18.

Thompson advanced to final action by dropping Chilton County 82-62 in opening round action and by edging Bibb County 60-59.

Against Chilton, Thomas hit for 23 points, Bivins came through with 21 points and Hale netted 19.

In action against Bibb County, Thomas and Bivins both hit for 18 points each, while Hale added 12.

Both the Shelby County Wildcats and the Pelham Panthers were eliminated from further action in their opening area tournament games.

Bibb County literally blasted the Wildcats off the court with a crushing 98-37 victory -- that's a 61 point spread.

The loss left Shelby County with a mark of 13-12 on the season but coach Don Piazza isn't crying.

"I wouldn't say we lost any games we were supposed to win," he said.

He pointed out that the Wildcats had only one senior in Cecil Wood, and that they started one ninth grader -- Ambrose Wood -- and two tenth graders -- David Wood and Oneal Williams.

Against Bibb County, David Wood scored 13 points while he and Cecil Wood pulled down five rebounds each.

Pelham wrapped up its season 22-7 on the year after losing to Childersburg 68-56. Eddie Reeves scored 17 points for the Panthers in that contest while John North and Brian Hughes pulled down six rebounds each.

The Panthers lose three starters from this year's squad: Reeves, Hughes and Kyle Hutchison.

Two starters -- Alfonzo Hudson and North -- will return for action next year.

Pressure

Calera proves tough in 1A area race

The Calera Eagles made it to the semi-finals of the 1A, Area 8 basketball tournament played at Billingsley High School.

But the road to glory for the sixth seeded (11-10) Eagles ended last Thursday night on an outstanding but heartbreaking 53-52 loss to second seeded Maplesville.

Outstanding performance is no example of over statement in this case... Maplesville was 22-5 on the season and yet, with only 15 seconds left in the game, Calera had the ball for one last shot at victory.

But fate turned her smiles away from Calera at the last moment and the shot that could have spelled upset, never reached the hoop. Calera's Kenny Marsh claimed he was fouled while putting up the shot, but what could have been a critical call from the officials never came.

The contest ended with the Eagles and Maplesville fighting for the basketball on the floor.

For a team that went 1-5 early in the season, the Eagles came on much stronger towards the end, often playing like a team possessed. Among the highlights of the year was Calera's win over Montevallo -- for only the second time in 17 years -- and key wins against both Briarwood and Weogufka.

"We put in a new offense," said Marsh, explaining the im-

Falcons close out season

Basketball season is over for the University of Montevallo Falcons.

However, before closing out the season, the Falcons picked up two last wins in the Southern States Conference Tournament in Montgomery -- including a 70-61 upset over arch-rival Birmingham-Southern last Friday.

The Falcons entered the tournament as the number four seed, knocked off the UAH Chargers in the opening round, but lost 63-60 in final action against host team Auburn-Montgomery.

"It was a real big win for us," said UM Coach Bill Elder of the Birmingham-Southern game. "This was a team win in that we had our most balanced scoring attack since before Christmas."

While Birmingham-Southern didn't need to win to keep their National Tournament hopes alive, BSC Coach Joe Dean had only praise for the Falcons.

"Montevallo played a great game and came up with the key plays at the end," said Dean. "I felt we were ready to play and wanted to win this game, but Montevallo wanted it more. Everytime we play them it's a dogfight."

Montevallo came roaring out in the second half and went up 47-41 on a basket by Dexter Walker with 11:28 left. The Panthers regained the lead on a basket by Brown at 52-51 with 7:02 left. From that point on it was all Montevallo as the Falcons outscored the Panthers 19-9 over the last 7:02.

The Falcons took the lead for good at 53-52 at 6:15 on basket by Richard Dorsey and iced the win by sinking 11 of 15 free throws down the stretch.

Montevallo's season came to an end however, when they lost to AUM 63-60 late Saturday night in the finals of the SSC Tournament.

The Falcons end the season at 19-11.

Round of applause

Music comes alive at U of M

The University of Montevallo Lyric Theatre will present "The Threepenny Opera" March 5-6 at 8 p.m. in LeBaron Recital Hall.

The classic work will be directed by Shari Boruvka, assistant professor of music. Musical director will be Spencer Shaw, assistant professor of music.

Starring in the production are music department chairman Dr. Ted Pritchett and UM graduate Darrell Revel of Hueytown.

The Kurt Weill score contains many famous songs, such as the 'Ballad of Mack the Knife.'

For reservations, call 665-2521, ext. 383.

* * * *

Soprano Julianne Chaney will present her senior recital March 18 at 8 p.m. in LeBaron Recital Hall on the UM campus.

Chaney will sing selections from Vivaldi, Faure, Schubert, and Puccini. Also on the program is Margaret Bond's 'Three Dream Portraits by Langston Hughes.'

She is a senior voice student of Dr. Benjamin Middaugh.

* * * *

Soprano Margaret Miller and baritone Terry Sanford will present their senior recitals March 20 at 8 p.m. in LeBaron Hall on the UM campus.

Both are students of Dr. Benjamin Middaugh.

* * * *

Lisa Davis, a piano student at UM, will present her junior recital on March 22 at 1 p.m. in LeBaron Hall.

Miss Davis, of Pelham, is a student of Joan Cowan.,

For more information on the recitals: call 665-2521, ext. 202.

Baptists slate singular event

There's something special coming to Shelby County for singles.

What is it? It's a Just for Singles Conference and it's scheduled for March 24 at the First Baptist Church of Columbiana.

Registration will begin at 2 p.m. followed by a welcoming service at 3, and will conclude with a fellowship time at 8.

The theme of the affair is 'Victorious Living for Singles'. Qualified conference leaders will cover topics such as: Contentment in Solitude: How to Find it and Keep it; Dealing with Feelings; Dating and Relating; Defending yourself; and Cooking for One. State drama winner Donna Lee Davis is scheduled to perform with her puppet.

All Shelby County churches are asked to participate in this event, which is a first for Shelby County. Churches are also asked to make this announcement and encourage others who might be interested to register.

There is a small registration fee required to cover expenses of the speakers, conference leaders, and the evening meal.

If your church has not received information on this special event or registration forms, please call Sheryll at 669-9959, or Rena at 669-3327, both after 5 p.m. or call the church office.

Chelsea PTO wants treasures

The PTO at Chelsea School is asking patrons to search their homes for treasures they would be willing to contribute to an auction.

Judy Autry, publicity chairman, says the PTO will hold an auction on Friday, March 23 at 6 p.m. to raise money for the school.

She is asking for contributions of new and used items of value, handmade objects, baked goods and servies. In the services category, she is asking patrons to volunteer their labor at whatever they do best, such as lawn mowing, chimney sweeping, silver polishing, housework, etc.

For more information, contact her at 678-9523.

provements in the season. "It set up the open shot on the wing and gave Greg Hayes a better shot on the inside."

The effectiveness of that tactic was evidenced by Calera's surprising 12-8 first period lead over Maplesville, and its ability to hang tough as it went down 27-22 at the half.

The Eagles trailed 47-43 at the end of the third period, but were ready to apply pressure in the final stanza -- and that's what they did.

They tied the score at 47-all on a shot by Marsh and later kept it close with work by other Eagles, such as super eighth grader Chris Smith.

Maplesville was called for a charging violation with 48 seconds left in the game, and the clock began to tick down with Calera in control of its own destiny.

But the end came too quickly, and the score never changed.

The road to state playoff action for Calera began Monday, February 20, with the Eagles surviving first round action.

On that night, Indian Springs defeated Verbena 60-55 in overtime, Calera defeated Weogufka 88-81 and Maplesville edged Thorsby 80-77.

Second round action saw Fayetteville defeat Isabella 88-79 and number one seed Billingsley coast to an easy 88-50 win over Indian Springs.

The loss ended Indian Springs season with a record of 3-21 and a very uncertain future.

Coach Greg Van Horn's squad will graduate six seniors, three of whom Stewart Hall, David Hunt and Pat Parks were starters. Others are Mark Sable, Willis Standord, Chris Thompson and Bill Bullard.

The quarter-finals set the stage for last Thursday's action which pitted the favored Billingsley Bears against number four seed Fayetteville and number two seed Maplesville against Calera.

The now 11-11 Eagles will lose only one senior -- Chris Haynes -- to graduation. They will return six of seven players including Smith, Marsh, Keith Dowdell, Mark Jones, Greg Haynes and Willie Taylor.

Against Maplesville, Taylor scored 14 points for Calera while Smith and Marsh scored 12 points each. Chris Haynes added 10.

Chelsea sets benefit sing

A benefit singing will be held this Friday night, March 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the Chelsea High School auditorium.

Featured singers will be the Key Master's Quartet, the Cavaliers, and the Chelsea Trio.

The singing will benefit the family of Mrs. Eunice Minor of Chelsea, whose home burned on January l, while the family was at church. Mrs. Minor's daughter and son in-law and their one year old daughter, Sheena, were also residing at the home, which burned to the ground, saving nothing.

All local churches are urged to participate and the public is invited to the benefit singing. There will be no admission charge, but a freewill offering will be taken.

Auxiliary met

The Montevallo American Legion Auxiliary met recently in the home of Mary Lee Mahaffey.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Mrs. Glennie Lee Clark, who talked on the subject of 'Americanism' because February is Americanism Month.

In service

Airman Tammy L. Butler has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., after completing basic training.

She is the wife of John Butler, formerly of Birmingham, and is the daughter of Harold and Julie Trice of Rt. 2, Calera.

Dear Ms. Moya,
Several months ago I gave a cross stitch piece to a friend for her birthday. She has never displayed it in her home yet, and I am wondering if she even likes it. What shall I do, it really hurts my feelings.
N.H. in M.

Dear N.H. in M.,
I can think of a few reasons why your work does not hang in your friends home.
Maybe the colors or the theme do not blend with the interior. Maybe the piece is not centered, laced or framed properly.
Whatever the case, I would say that if your friendship is a very good one, you could offer to replace the gift with something she really would rather have. Then you can have your handwork back to enjoy, or to give to someone who might like to have it. It would be safer though, to forget it and be more careful the next gift giving time.

Dear Ms. Moya,
I washed a cross stitched Christmas ornament and the red stitches all bled. It is ruined. How could this happen?
R.F. in A.

Dear R.F.
Pollution standards overseas have caused the makers of embroidery floss to use a different chemical to set the dye. Unfortunately, the reds and purples tend to bleed. My advice is to wash the strands before you begin your work and avoid disappointments later.

Send your questions, or come to see us at the Moya House, where you will receive expert advice and instruction in the needle arts.

Thursday nights we invite you to come and learn the Cathedral Window quilt pattern.

Tribute to Don Bulger

"A Tribute to the Memory of Mr. Don Bulger"

As I sit here with pen in hand, staring out my kitchen window, at the rain drops slowly falling, this day will be etched in my memory forever. You see, Monday, one of the best friends I've ever known was laid to rest.

Anyone can write of a person, or speak what seems to them to be truth, but knowing a person for years is truth. I knew the man. My first encounter with coach Bulger was in the 7th grade, at Shelby County High in 1959-60. I met him in the hall one day. He spoke.

"You're new here aren't you?"

"Yes Sir," I replied.

"Well just dig in, always be alert, and know what's going on, and you'll make it, Little Bit (That's what he called me then)."

I knew I'd found a friend that day. Oh, I'd already heard of him from the other students around school. You see, he was not only a teacher and football coach, but he was their friend. And that's the bottom line, Friend!

The love affair continued many years with Mr. Bulger and Shelby County High. There have been thousands of students that have passed through that school, and I'm sure most all are better from having known the man. In some shape or form, he left his mark on each student.

There have been unnumbered times I've asked and received help from Mr. Bulger on projects for the betterment of our schools and community. He always said, "Helen, the youth have got to come first. They are our future." He was, and is, so right.

I can truly say he believed everyone had good in them. He looked for the positive in students and people, not the negative. He believed in building blocks, in foundations. He called it, "mentally speaking" of the individual, for therein lies the strength of the person.

He was proud of Shelby County High, and its accomplishments and of its faculty. He commented to me recently, "Helen, I believe we have one of the best schools in the county, if not the state. Sure we've had our problems, but what school doesn't? You can't make all the students and faculty happy all the time, but education is a must, we have a good faculty here, and as long as I'm principal we will work together to see our youths have what it takes -- maybe not what they like, but what it takes to give that extra push, to enter the adult world outside. For you see, the world outside, these walls can be cruel at times."

He got his taste of both, I'd say. I read somewhere, "It takes the bitter with the sweet, to make life full and complete."

Mr. Bulger had an inner strength that sustained him. He believed in trying to help yourself, if you pushed hard enough, that extra shove would eventually come.

He came in contact with many people through his walk in life. On the job, off the job, he leaves behind family, friends, acquaintances.

Oh Mr. Bulger, I shall surely, as so many will, miss seeing your kind face and hearing your encouraging words. I'll miss seeing you at football, baseball, basketball, school plays, at any activity involving our youth, or walking down the halls of Shelby High. I'll miss the friendly hello or hand waving or shaking as I'd pass you on some street corner or highway. No one can take away those memories. I am a proud and better person for having known Mr. Don Bulger, my dear friend. So rest in peace. Life's toils are over, and though your life light has dimmed, Shelby County High and your friends will always love thee still! Amen.

Your friend,
Helen Foster Lewis

Making the tough decisions. . .The Hollings Difference

Senator Fritz Hollings is the only Presidential candidate with a plan to end soaring budget deficits. Fritz Hollings has the track record in providing responsible government at all levels. He has fought consistently for strong, balanced national security. He has fought tenaciously to protect our nation's natural resources. He has been an insistent voice on the side of investing in our nation's human resources through nutrition and education.

And no candidate speaks so directly, candidly and with as much common sense as Senator Fritz Hollings.

LEGAL NOTICE

State of Alabama
County of Shelby

Notice is hereby given that a bill substantially as follows will be introduced in the Legislature of Alabama and applcation for its passage and enactment will be made, to-wit:

A Bill to be Entitled
AN ACT

To authorize the Shelby County Commission to adopt, amend and provide for the enforcement of certain building codes which shall apply in certain areas in said county; to prescribe the manner of adopting such codes; to authorize the prescription and collection of certain fees necessary to effect the enforcement of such codes and to prescribe penalties for violation of such codes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. This act shall apply only in Shelby County, Alabama.

Section 2. When used in this act the word "code," unless the context clearly indicates a different meaning, shall mean: not less restrictive than the Southern Building Code, as of the date of this act, (and its companion codes on plumbing and gas, all as produced by the Southern Building Code Congress, and the National Electrical Code of the National Fire Protection Association).

Section 3. The Shelby County Commission may by reference, adopt, amend, and provide for the enforcement of the code. Such code, when adopted as herein authorized, shall apply to and govern in all unincorporated areas of the county and also in those parts of the county lying within the corporate limits of municipalities which have not adopted and are not enforcing municipal building codes. Such commission may also repeal any such code after having adopted it.

The code shall not be adopted by such commission except after a public hearing on due notice thereof by publication in a newspaper published and of general circulation in such county. Such notice shall be published at least ten days before the hearing. The text of the code which it is proposed to adopt by reference shall be made available for inspection at the county courthouse. Nothing herein shall be construed to require the setting out in full of the text of the proposed code in the notice of the hearing nor in the resolution or ordinance; but such code or amendments thereof shall be properly identified as to date and source in the notice and in the ordinance or resolution adopting it and a copy thereof shall be attached to such ordinance or resolution.

A copy thereof shall also be filed in the office of the clerk of the county commission and in at least one other county office where such copies will be available for public use, inspection and examination.

When Shelby County has adopted the code by reference pursuant hereto, the officer administering such code may adopt administrative regulations which incorporate by reference such subsequent changes and amendments of the code, properly identified as to date and source, as may be adopted by the agency or association which promulgated the code, if such officer finds that the changes and amendments conform to nationally recognized standards or accepted engineering practices.

Any administratice regulations which incorporate building code amendments by reference shall become effective upon the expiration of sixty calendar days following the promulgation of the regulations, unless within that period of time the county commission adopts a resolution or ordinance disapproving of such administrative regulations.

Section 4. The county commission shall have the authority for and the responsibility of enforcing the provisions of this act. The county commission having established an enforcement program for such code, is hereby further authorized and empowered to prescribe and exact fees and charges based on a percent of the total value or cost of the project, to be paid for inspections and other administrative services. Such fees and charges collected pursuant to this act shall be paid into the county treasury.

Section 5. Any person violating any of the provisions of this act or failing to comply with any of the provisions of the act after ten days written notice of an enforcement agency shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or thirty days in jail or both, and a penalty of one hundred dollars per day during continuance of the violation.

Section 6. This act shall not be construed to impair or limit in any way the power of the county commission to define or abate public nuisances within its jurisdiction.

Section 7. Nothing in this act shall be construed as abrogating or otherwise affecting the power of any state department or agency to promulgate regulations, make inspections, or approve plans in accordance with any other applicable provisions of law not in conflict with the provisions herein.

Section 8. This act shall be liberally construed as being additional authority for the Shelby County Commission to adopt ordinances relating to the establishment and enforcement of minimum standards for buildings, dwellings, and the structures of all types and descriptions used for human habitation and occupancy. The authority conferred by this act is cumulative to and in addition to other existing legal authority.

Section 9. Mobile homes, as defined in Section 24-5-[illegible] of the Code of Alabama 1975, are specifically excluded from the provisions of this act.

Section 10. The following exceptions shall be excluded by the county commission from the provisions of these minimum codes:

1. One and two family dwellings and out buildings in connection therewith.

2. Farm buildings or farm structures.

Nothing in these minimum codes shall apply to any building or project authorized or licensed by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission or the Federal Power Commission. The county commision may modify these minimum codes for application within its area of jurisdiction by adopting provisions more stringent than the codes set forth above, and also may amend and revise these codes by adopting more recent amendments or additions of the named codes.

Section 11. The provisions of this act are severable. If any part of this act is declared invalid or unconstitutional, such declaration shall not affect the part which remains.

Section 12. This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor, or upon its otherwise becoming a law.

March 1,8,15,22, 1984 No. 223

STATE OF ALABAMA
PROCLAMATION
BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at the Third Special Session of 1983 ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama on a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, set out here as Act No. 83-791, and further ordered in Act No. 83-791 that said election on said amendment to be held at the first statewide primary, general or special election after the expiration of three (3) months from the final adjournament of the Third Special Session of the Legislature in 1983; and

WHEREAS, the date of the first statewide primary, general or special election held after the expiration of three (3) months from the final adjournment of the Third Special Session of the Legislature in 1983 will be and occur on March 13, 1984; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with this proposed amendment, is required by law and by the provisions of tne Act submitting the amendment to be given by a Proclamation of the Governor, to be published in every county in the State of Alabama for four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for the election, in a newspaper published in each such county;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, George C. Wallace, as Governor of the State of Alabama, Jo hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 13th day of March, 1984, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form provided by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of 1901 of the State of Alabama:

Proposed Amendment

"(A) As used in this Amendment, the following terms shall be given the following respective meanings:

"Costs of County Facilities" means the costs of acquiring, providing, constructing and equipping new County Facilities, renovating, reconstructing, improving, enlarging or equipping any existing County Facilities or any combination thereof.

"County" means Randolph County, Alabama.

"County Facilities" means (a) any land, building, equipment and any other facility or facilities necessary or useful in the housing, confinement, detention, feeding, treatment, rehabilitation or training of persons held in lawful custody, and (b) any land, building, equipment or other facility useful as a county courthouse building.

"County Facilities Building Fund" means the County Facilities Building Fund to be established by the County pursuant to the provisions hereof for the purpose of receiving certain tax receipts required by the provisions hereof to be paid therein.

"Existing Ad Valorem Tax" means the two and one-half mill road, bridge and public building ad valorem tax authorized to be levied by the County pursuant to Section 215 of the Constitution.

"Related Securities" means any bonds or warrants, including refunding bonds or warrants, issued for purposes for which Securities may be issued hereunder after the effective date of this Amendment under the provisions of any other amendment to the Constitution or statute, provdied that the governing body of the County in the proceedings authorizing the issuance of such bonds or warrants hrs pledged for the payment of such bonds or warrants those moneys required by the provisions hereof to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

"Securities" means any bonds or warrants, including refunding bonds or warrants, issued by the County under the provisions of this Amendment.

"Special Ad Valorem Tax" means the special county hospital ad valorem tax authorized to be levied by the County pursuant to Amendment No. 72 to the Constitution.

"Special Taxes" means the Special Ad Valorem Tax and the Existing Ad Valorem Tax.

(B) The County is hereby authorized and directed (subject to prior pledges and agreements, if any) to pay, out of taxes collected each year, beginning with taxes collected with respect to the tax year that began October 1, 1982, one-half of the tax receipts derived from the levy of the Special Ad Valorem Tax into the County Facilities Building Fund. The County shall discontinue paying such tax receipts into the County Facilities Building Fund when all of the Securities issued hereunder and any Related Securities issued by the County have been paid in full, or when the County shall have expended the sum of $1,500,000 out of the County Facilities Building Fund to pay Costs of County Facilities, whichever shall last occur.

(C) The County is hereby authorized and directed (subject to prior pledges and agreements, if any) to pay, out of taxes collected each year, beginning with taxes collected with respect to the tax year that began October 1, 1982, four-tenths of the tax receipts derived by the County from the levy of the Existing Ad Valorem Tax into the County Facilities Building Fund. The County shall discontinue paying such tax receipts into the County Facilities Building Fund when all of the Securities issued hereunder and any Related Securities issued by the County have been paid in full, or when the County shall have expended the sum of $1,500,000 out of the County Facilities Building Fund to pay Costs of County Facilities, whichever shall last occur.

(D) The County is hereby authorized and directed to establish the County Facilities Building Fund for the purpose of receiving the moneys required to be paid therein by the provisions hereof and any other tax receipts or other moneys of the County that the County may determine to pay therein. Funds on deposit in the County Facilities Building Fund shall be used to pay Costs of County Facilities, up to an amount not exceeding $1,500,000, and to pay principal of and interest and premium, if any, on (1) Securities issued hereunder to finance Costs of County Facilities and (2) Related Securities issued to finance Costs of County Facilities.

(E) The County is hereby authorized to sell and issue from time to time its Securities, not exceeding $1,500,000 in aggregate principal amount, for the purpose of financing Costs of County Facilities and to pledge for payment of the Securities the portions of the Special Taxes required to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

For the purpose of refunding any Securities, including refunding Securities issued under the provisions of this Amendment, whether the refunding shall occur before, at or after the maturity of the Securities refunded and for the purpose of paying all premiums and expenses of the refunding (including, without limitation, attorneys' fees, costs of printing the refunding Securities, fiscal agents' fees and accountants' fees), the County is hereby authorized to sell and issue from time to time refunding Securities in an aggregate principal amount not exceeding the sum of (a) the outstanding principal amount of the Securities to be refunded, (b) the interest (accrued or to accrue) to the respective maturities of the Securities to be refunded or if the Securities to be refunded are to be called for redemption, either on the earliest date on which under their terms they may be redeemed or some later date or dates, the interest (accrued or to accrue) on the Securities to be refunded to the date or dates on which they are to be called for redemption, (c) the amount of any redemption premium required by the terms of the Securities to be paid as a condition to their redemption prior to their respective maturities and (d) the amount of any expenses (actual or estimated) of such refunding.

The Securities issued hereunder may but need not be general obligations of the County, but shall be secured by the portions of the Special Taxes pledged for their payment in the proceedings of the County whereunder the Securities are authorized to be issued and required to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

All Securities issued under this Amendment may be in such form and denominations and of such tenor and maturities, may bear interest at such rate or rates payable at such time or times, not exceeding thirty (30) years from their date may be sold at public or private sale and may contain such provisions not inconsistent with this Amendment as shall be provided in the proceedings of the governing body of the County whereunder such Securities are authorized to be issued. The power to pay, as required herein, the portions of the Special Ad Valorem Tax and the Existing Ad Valorem Tax into the County Facilities Building Fund and the power to issue the Securities shal be in addition to all other powers which the County may have under this Constitution and the laws of Alabama. The indebtedness evidenced by the Securities issued under this Amendment shall be in addition to all other indebtedness authorized to be incurred by the County and shall not be charged against the limitation on the indebtedness of the County provided for in Section 224 of the Constitution.

(F) The County is hereby authorized to pledge for payment of principal of and interest (and premium, if any) on Related Securities the portions of the Special Taxes required to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

(G) It is the intention hereof that the governing body of the County shall pay one-half of the revenues from the Special Ad Valorem Tax and four-tenths of the revenues from the Existing Ad Valorem Tax (subject only to prior pledges of and agreements pertaining to either thereof) as shall, together with any other moneys paid into the County Facilities Building Fund, be sufficient to provide funds to make available County Facilities for the County, either directly through payment of Costs of County Facilities or through payment of the principal of and interest (and premium, if any) on the Securities authorized to be issued hereunder and on any Related Securities that may be issued by the County for the purpose of paying Costs of COunty Facilities, all to the end that adequate County Facilities will be available in the County. Proceeds of the Special Taxes paid into the County Facilities Building Fund that are not needed within 12 months of the date of such payment to pay principal of and interest on Securities issued hereunder or on Related Securities or to refund Securities shall be used to pay costs of constructing and maintaining the County Facilities herein provided for, or to purchase and retire Securities or Related Securities or to call Securities or Related Securities for redemption prior to the maturity thereof.

(H) The provisions of this Amendment shall be self-executing, and authorization from or any other action by the Legislature shall not be a prerequisite to the issuance of the Securities hereunder or to the use of the proceeds of the Special Taxes as provided herein; provided, however, that the provisions of this Amendment shall not become operative unless approved by a majority of the qualified electors of the County who vote thereon at a referendum election held for such purpose upon the call of the County Commission, and provided further, that if this amendment is approved by the qualified electors of the County who vote thereon upon its submission, such election shall constitute a referendum held for such purpose and no further election need to be called.

(I) It is hereby specifically declared that this Amendment is not being proposed pursuant to the provisions of that certain amendment to the Constitution (known as Amendment No. 425) that was proposed by Act No. 82-330 adopted at the 1982 Regular Session of the Legislature of Alabama, and provisions of the said Amendment 425 are hereby declared to be inapplicable to this Amendment."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election to be held on Tuesday the 13th day of March, 1984, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of 1901 of the State of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 13th day of March, 1984, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county, and in a county where no newspaper is published, a copy of the notice shall be posted at each courthouse and in three other places in the county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed by the Secretary of State at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, this the 12th day of February, 1984.

LEGAL NOTICE
Ordinance No. 84-B

An Ordinance Amending Sections 1 & 2 of Ordinance No. 75-F of The City of Montevallo Levying a Privilege or License Tax against persons, firms or corporations engaged in the business of selling tangible personal property at retail or conducting places of amusement in the City of Montevallo or within its police jurisdiction.

Be it ordained by the Mayor and City Council of The City of Montevallo in the State of Alabama as follows:

1. Section 1 of Ordinance No. 75-F of the City of Montevallo which was adopted by the City Council and approved by the Mayor of the said City of December 8, 1975 is hereby amended so that the said Section 1 shall read in its entirety as follows:

Section 1. For the privilege of engaging or continuing within the city in the business activities hereinafter referred to there is hereby levied, in addition to all other taxes of every kind now imposed by law, and shall be collected as herein provided, a privilege or license tax against the person on account of the business activities and in the amounts to be determined by the application of rates against gross proceeds of sales, or gross receipts, as the case may be, as follows:

(a) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling at retail any tangible personal property whatsoever, including merchandise and commodities of every kind and character (not including, however, bonds or other evidence of debt or stocks, nor sale or sales of material and supplies to any person for use in fulfulling a contract for painting, repair, or reconditioning of vessels, barges, ships and other watercraft of over fifty tons burden), an amount to two percent (2%) of the gross proceeds of sales of the business except where a different amount is expressly provided herein; provided, that any person engaging or continuing in business as a retailer and wholesaler or jobber shall pay the tax measured by the gross proceeds of retail sales of such business at the rates specified, when his books are kept so as to show separately the gross proceeds of sales of each business, and when his books are not so kept he shall pay as a retailer the tax measure by the gross sales of the business.

(b) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of conducting or operating places of amusement or entertainment, billiard and pool rooms, bowling alleys, amusement devices, musical devices, theaters, opera houses, moving picture shows, vaudevilles, amusement parks, athletic contests, including wrestling matches, prize fights, boxing and wrestling exhibitions, football and baseball games (including athletic contests conducted by or under the auspices of any educational institution within the City, or any athletic association thereof, or other association whether such institution or association be a denominational, state, county or municipal institution or association or a state, county or city school, or other institution, association or school), skating rinks, race tracks, golf courses, or any other place at which an exhibition, display, amusement or entertainment is offered to the public, or place or places where an admission fee is charged, including public bathing places, public dance halls of every kind and description within the city, an amount equal to two percent (2%) of the gross receipt of any business.

(c) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling at retail machines used in mining, quarrying, compounding, processing and manufacturing of tangible personal property, an amount equal to one percent (1%) of the gross proceeds of the sales of such machines; provided, that the term "machine" as herein used, shall include machinery which is used for mining, quarrying, compounding, processing or manufacturing tangible personal property, and the parts of such machines, attachments, and replacements therefor which are made or manufactured for use on or in the operation of such machines and which are necessary to the operation of such machines and are customarily so used.

(d) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling at retail any machine, machinery, or equipment which is used in planting, cultivating, and harvesting farm products, or that which is used in connection with the production of agricultural products or products, livestock, or poultry on farms, and the parts of such machines, machinery, or equipment, attachments and replacements therefor which are made or manufactured for use on or in the operation of such machine, machinery, or equipment, and which are necessary to and customarily used in the operation of such machine, machinery, or equipment, an amount equal to one percent (1%) of the gross proceeds of the sale therof. The one percent (1%) rate herein prescribed with respect to parts, attachments, and replacements shall not apply to any automotive vehicle or trailer designed primarily for public highway use, except farm trailers used primarily in the production and harvesting of agricultural commodities. Where any used machine, machinery, or equipment, which is used in planting, cultivating, and harvesting farm products, or used in connection with the production of agricultural produce or products, livestock, and poultry on farms is taken in trade or in a series of trades as a credit or part payment on a sale of a new or used machine, machinery, or equipment, the tax levied herein shall be paid on the net difference, that is the price of the new or used machine, machinery, or equipment sold, less the credit for the used machine, machinery, or equipment taken in trade.

(e) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling at retail any automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer, or house trailer, an amount equal to one-half of one percent (½) of the gross proceeds of sales of the said automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer or house trailer; provided, that when any used automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer, or house trailer is taken in trade, or in a series of trades as a credit or part payment on the sale of a new or used vehicle, the tax levied herein shall be paid on the net difference, that is, the price of the new or used vehicle sold less the credit for the used vehicle taken in trade; and provided, further, that when a taxpayer subject to the tax provided for in this subsection (e) withdraws from his stock in trade any automotive vehicle or truck trailer, semi-trailer or house trailer for use by such taxpayer or by an employee or agent of such taxpayer in the operation of such business, the tax of such taxpayer hereunder shall be measured with respect to the item so withdrawn by him by the sum of 83 for each year or part therof during which such automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer or house trailer so withdrawn shall remain the property of such taxpayer, each such year or part thereof shall begin with the day of the anniversary date, as the case may be, of such withdrawal and shall run for the twelve succeeding months or part thereof during which such automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer or house trailer so withdrawn shall remain the property of such taxpayer.

(f) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling through coin-operated dispensing machines, food and food products for human consumption, not including beverages other than coffee, milk, milk products and substitutes therefor, there is hereby levied a tax equal to two percent (2%) of the cost of such food, food products and beverages sold through such machines, which cost for the purpose of this subsection shall be the gross proceeds of sales of such business.

11. Section 2 of Ordinance No. 75-F of the City of Montevallo which was adopted by the City Council and approved by the Mayor of the said City on December 8, 1975 is hereby amended so that the said Section 2 shall read in its entirety as follows:

Section 2. Levy of the Tax in Police Jurisdiction. Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged in the doing of any act, or who shall do any act, or continuing in the doing of any act, or engaged in the operation of any business, or who shall engage in the operation of any business, within the police jurisdiction of the City but beyond the corporate limits of said City for which or upon which a privilege or license tax is in this ordinance levied or required within the corporate limits of the City there is hereby levied, in addition to all other taxes of every kind now imposed by law or by municipal ordinance, to be collected as herein provided for the privilege or license taxes herein levied with the corporate limits of the City a privilege or license tax equal to one-half of that provided, levied or required in this ordinance for the doing of such act, or the engaging or continuing therein, or the engaging or continuing in the operation of such business within the corporate limits of the City. Provided further, that except for the amount of the privilege or license tax herein levied within the police jurisdiction of said City but without the corporate limits thereof, all the provisions of this ordinance extend and apply to all the area within the police jurisdiction of the City.

111. This ordinance shall become effective on the 1 day of April 1984.

Adopted and Approved, this 13 day of Feb. 1984.

LEGAL NOTICE

State of Alabama
County of Shelby

Notice is hereby given that a bill substantially as follows will be introduced in the Legislature of Alabama and applcation for its passage and enactment will be made, to-wit:

A Bill to be Entitled
AN ACT

To authorize the Shelby County Commission to adopt, amend and provide for the enforcement of certain building codes which shall apply in certain areas in said county; to prescribe the manner of adopting such codes; to authorize the prescription and collection of certain fees necessary to effect the enforcement of such codes and to prescribe penalties for violation of such codes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. This act shall apply only in Shelby County, Alabama.

Section 2. When used in this act the word "code," unless the context clearly indicates a different meaning, shall mean: not less restrictive than the Southern Building Code, as of the date of this act, (and its companion codes on plumbing and gas, all as produced by the Southern Building Code Congress, and the National Electrical Code of the National Fire Protection Association).

Section 3. The Shelby County Commission may by reference, adopt, amend, and provide for the enforcement of the code. Such code, when adopted as herein authorized, shall apply to and govern in all unincorporated areas of the county and also in those parts of the county lying within the corporate limits of municipalities which have not adopted and are not enforcing municipal building codes. Such commission may also repeal any such code after having adopted it.

The code shall not be adopted by such commission except after a public hearing on due notice thereof by publication in a newspaper published and of general circulation in such county. Such notice shall be published at least ten days before the hearing. The text of the code which it is proposed to adopt by reference shall be made available for inspection at the county courthouse. Nothing herein shall be construed to require the setting out in full of the text of the proposed code in the notice of the hearing nor in the resolution or ordinance; but such code or amendments thereof shall be properly identified as to date and source in the notice and in the ordinance or resolution adopting it and a copy thereof shall be attached to such ordinance or resolution.

A copy thereof shall also be filed in the office of the clerk of the county commission and in at least one other county office where such copies will be available for public use, inspection and examination.

When Shelby County has adopted the code by reference pursuant hereto, the officer administering such code may adopt administrative regulations which incorporate by reference such subsequent changes and amendments of the code, properly identified as to date and source, as may be adopted by the agency or association which promulgated the code, if such officer finds that the changes and amendments conform to nationally recognized standards or accepted engineering practices.

Any administratice regulations which incorporate building code amendments by reference shall become effective upon the expiration of sixty calendar days following the promulgation of the regulations, unless within that period of time the county commission adopts a resolution or ordinance disapproving of such administrative regulations.

Section 4. The county commission shall have the authority for and the responsibility of enforcing the provisions of this act. The county commission having established an enforcement program for such code, is hereby further authorized and empowered to prescribe and exact fees and charges based on a percent of the total value or cost of the project, to be paid for inspections and other administrative services. Such fees and charges collected pursuant to this act shall be paid into the county treasury.

Section 5. Any person violating any of the provisions of this act or failing to comply with any of the provisions of this act after ten days written notice of an enforcement agency shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars of thirty days in jail, or both, and a penalty of one hundred dollars per day during continuance of the violation.

Section 6. This act shall not be construed to impair or limit in any way the power of the county commission to enjoin or abate public nuisances within its jurisdiction.

Section 7. Nothing in this act shall be construed as abrogating or otherwise affecting the power of any state department or agency to promulgate regulations, make inspections, or approve plans in accordance with any other applicable provisions of law not in conflict with the provisions herein.

Section 8. This act shall be liberally construed as being additional authority for the Shelby County Commission to adopt ordinances relating to the establishment and enforcement of minimum standards for buildings, dwellings, and the structures of all types and descriptions used for human habitation and occupancy. The authority conferred by this act is cumulative to and in addition to other existing legal authority.

Section 9. Mobile Homes, as defined in Section 24-5-2 of the Code of Alabama 1975, are specifically excluded from the provisions of this act.

Section 10. The following exceptions shall be excluded by the county commission from the provisions of these minimum codes:

1. One and two family dwellings and out buildings in connection therewith.

2. Farm buildings or farm structures.

Nothing in these minimum codes shall apply to any building or project authorized or licensed by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, or the Federal Power Commission. The county commision may modify these minimum codes for application within its area of jurisdiction by adopting provisions more stringent than the codes set forth above, and also may amend and revise these codes by adopting more recent amendments or additions of the named codes.

Section 11. The provisions of this act are severable. If any part of this act is declared invalid or unconstitutional, such declaration shall not affect the part which remains.

Section 12. This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor, or upon its otherwise becoming a law.

March 1,8,15,22, 1984 No. 223

STATE OF ALABAMA
PROCLAMATION
BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at the Third Special Session of 1983 ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama on a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, set out here as Act No. 83-791, and further ordered in Act No. 83-791 that said election on said amendment to be held at the first statewide primary, general or special election after the expiration of three (3) months from the final adjournment of the Third Special Session of the Legislature in 1983; and

WHEREAS, the date of the first statewide primary, general or special election held after the expiration of three (3) months from the final adjournment of the Third Special Session of the Legislature in 1983 will be and occur on March 13, 1984; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with this proposed amendment, is required by law and by the provisions of the Act submitting the amendment to be given by a Proclamation of the Governor, to be published in every county in the State of Alabama for four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for the election, in a newspaper published in each such county;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, George C. Wallace, as Governor of the State of Alabama, Jo hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 13th day of March, 1984, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form provided by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of 1901 of the State of Alabama:

Proposed Amendment

"(A) As used in this Amendment, the following terms shall be given the following respective meanings:

"Costs of County Facilities" means the costs of acquiring, providing, constructing and equipping new County Facilities, renovating, reconstructing, improving, enlarging or equipping any existing County Facilities or any combination thereof.

"County" means Randolph County, Alabama.

"County Facilities" means (a) any land, building, equipment and any other facility or facilities necessary or useful in the housing, confinement, detention, feeding, treatment, rehabilitation or training of persons held in lawful custody, and (b) any land, building, equipment or other facility useful as a county courthouse building.

"County Facilities Building Fund" means the County Facilities Building Fund to be established by the County pursuant to the provisions hereof for the purpose of receiving certain tax receipts required by the provisions hereof to be paid therein.

"Existing Ad Valorem Tax" means the two and one-half mill road, bridge and public building ad valorem tax authorized to be levied by the County pursuant to Section 215 of the Constitution.

"Related Securities" means any bonds or warrants, including refunding bonds or warrants, issued for purposes for which Securities may be issued hereunder after the effective date of this Amendment under the provisions of any other amendment to the Constitution or statute, provdied that the governing body of the County in the proceedings authorizing the issuance of such bonds or warrants hгs pledged for the payment of such bonds or warrants those moneys required by the provisions hereof to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

"Securities" means any bonds or warrants, including refunding bonds or warrants, issued by the County under the provisions of this Amendment.

"Special Ad Valorem Tax" means the special county hospital ad valorem tax authorized to be levied by the County pursuant to Amendment No. 72 to the Constitution.

"Special Taxes" means the Special Ad Valorem Tax and the Existing Ad Valorem Tax.

(B) The County is hereby authorized and directed (subject to prior pledges and agreements, if any) to pay, out of taxes collected each year, beginning with taxes collected with respect to the tax year that began October 1, 1982, one-half of the tax receipts derived from the levy of the Special Ad Valorem Tax into the County Facilities Building Fund. The County shall discontinue paying such tax receipts into the County Facilities Building Fund when all of the Securities issued hereunder and any Related Securities issued by the County have been paid in full, or when the County shall have expended the sum of $1,500,000 out of the County Facilities Building Fund to pay Costs of County Facilities, whichever shall last occur.

(C) The County is hereby authorized and directed (subject to prior pledges and agreements, if any) to pay, out of taxes collected each year, beginning with taxes collected with respect to the tax year that began October 1, 1982, four-tenths of the tax receipts derived by the County from the levy of the Existing Ad Valorem Tax into the County Facilities Building Fund. The County shall discontinue paying such tax receipts into the County Facilities Building Fund when all of the Securities issued hereunder and any Related Securities issued by the County have been paid in full, or when the County shall have expended the sum of $1,500,000 out of the County Facilities Building Fund to pay Costs of County Facilities, whichever shall last occur.

(D) The County is hereby authorized and directed to establish the County Facilities Building Fund for the purpose of receiving the moneys required to be paid therein by the provisions hereof and any other tax receipts or other moneys of the County that the County may determine to pay therein. Funds on deposit in the County Facilities Building Fund shall be used to pay Costs of County Facilities, up to an amount not exceeding $1,500,000 and to pay principal of and interest and premium, if any, on (1) Securities issued hereunder to finance Costs of County Facilities and (2) Related Securities issued to finance Costs of County Facilities.

(E) The County is hereby authorized to sell and issue from time to time its Securities, not exceeding $1,500,000 in aggregate principal amount, for the purpose of financing Costs of County Facilities and to pledge for payment of the Securities the portions of the Special Taxes required to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

For the purpose of refunding any Securities, including refunding Securities issued under the provis ons of this Amendment, whether the refunding shall occur before, at or after the maturity of the Securities refunded and for the purpose of paying all premiums and expenses of the refunding (including, without limitation, attorneys' fees, costs of printing the refunding Securities, fiscal agents' fees, and accountants' fees), the County is hereby authorized to sell and issue from time to time refunding Securities in an aggregate principal amount not exceeding the sum of (a) the outstanding principal amount of the Securities to be refunded, (b) the interest (accrued or to accrue) to the respective maturities of the Securities to be refunded, or if the Securities to be refunded are to be called for redemption, either on the earliest date on which under their terms they may be redeemed or some later date or dates, the interest (accrued or to accrue) on the Securities to be refunded to the date or dates on which they are to be called for redemption, (c) the amount of any redemption premium required, by the terms of the Securities, to be paid as a condition to their redemption prior to their respective maturities, and (d) the amount of any expenses (actual or estimated) of such refunding.

The Securities issued hereunder may but need not be general obligations of the County, but shall be secured by the portions of the Special Taxes pledged for their payment in the proceedings of the County whereunder the Securities are authorized to be issued and required to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

All Securities issued under this Amendment may be in such form and denominations and of such tenor and maturities, may bear interest at such rate or rates, payable at such time or times, not exceeding thirty (30) years from their date, may be sold at public or private sale and may contain such provisions not inconsistent with this Amendment as shall be provided in the proceedings of the governing body of the County whereunder such Securities are authorized to be issued. The power to pay, as required herein, the portions of the Special Ad Valorem Tax and the Existing Ad Valorem Tax into the County Facilities Building Fund and the power to issue the Securities shal be in addition to all other powers which the County may have under this Constitution and the laws of Alabama. The indebtedness evidenced by the Securities issued under this Amendment shall be in addition to all other indebtedness authorized to be incurred by the County and shall not be charged against the limitation on the indebtedness of the County provided for in Section 224 of the Constitution.

(F) The County is hereby authorized to pledge for payment of principal of and interest (and premium, if any) on Related Securities the portions of the Special Taxes required to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

(G) It is the intention hereof that the governing body of the County shall pay one-half of the revenues from the Special Ad Valorem Tax and four-tenths of the revenues from the Existing Ad Valorem Tax (subject only to prior pledges of and agreements pertaining to either thereof) as shall, together with any other moneys paid into the County Facilities Building Fund, be sufficient to provide funds to make available County Facilities for the County, either directly through payment of Costs of County Facilities or through payment of the principal of and interest (and premium, if any) on the Securities authorized to be issued hereunder and on any Related Securities that may be issued by the County for the purpose of paying Costs of COunty Facilities, all to the end that adequate County Facilities will be available in the County. Proceeds of the Special Taxes paid into the County Facilities Building Fund that are not needed within 12 months of the date of such payment to pay principal of and interest on Securities issued hereunder or on Related Securities or to refund Securities shall be used to pay costs of constructing and maintaining the County Facilities herein provided for, or to purchase and retire Securities or Related Securities or to call Securities or Related Securities for redemption prior to the maturity thereof.

(H) The provisions of this Amendment shall be self-executing, and authorization from or any other action by the Legislature shall not be a prerequisite to the issuance of the Securities hereunder or to the use of the proceeds of the Special Taxes as provided herein; provided, however, that the provisions of this Amendment shall not become operative unless approved by a majority of the qualified electors of the County who vote thereon at a referendum election held for such purpose upon the call of the County Commission, and provided further, that if this amendment is approved by the qualified electors of the County who vote thereon upon its submission, such election shall constitute a referendum held for such purpose and no further election need to be called.

(I) It is hereby specifically declared that this Amendment is not being proposed pursuant to the provisions of that certain amendment to the Constitution (known as Amendment No. 425) that was proposed by Act No. 82-330 adopted at the 1982 Regular Session of the Legislature of Alabama and provisions of the said Amendment 425 are hereby declared to be inapplicable to this Amendment.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election to be held on Tuesday the 13th day of March, 1984, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of 1901 of the State of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 13th day of March, 1984, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county, and in a county where no newspaper is published, a copy of the notice shall be posted at each courthouse and in three other places in the county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed by the Secretary of State at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, this the 10th day of February, 1984.

LEGAL NOTICE

Ordinance No. 84-B

An Ordinance Amending Sections 1 & 2 of Ordinance No. 75-F of The City of Montevallo Levying a Privilege or License Tax against persons, firms or corporations engaged in the business of selling tangible personal property at retail or conducting places of amusement in the City of Montevallo or within its police jurisdiction.

Be it ordained by the Mayor and City Council of The City of Montevallo in the State of Alabama as follows:

1. Section 1 of Ordinance No. 75-F of the City of Montevallo which was adopted by the City Council and approved by the Mayor of the said City of December 8, 1975 is hereby amended so that the said Section 1 shall read in its entirety as follows:

Section 1. For the privilege of engaging or continuing within the city in the business activities hereinafter referred to there is hereby levied, in addition to all other taxes of every kind now imposed by law, and shall be collected as herein provided, a privilege or license tax against the person on account of the business activities and in the amounts to be determined by the application of rates against gross proceeds of sales, or gross receipts, as the case may be, as follows:

(a) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling at retail any tangible personal property whatsoever, including merchandise and commodities of every kind and character (not including, however, bonds or other evidence of debt or stocks, nor sale or sales of material and supplies to any person for use in fulfulling a contract for painting, repair, or reconditioning of vessels, barges, ships and other watercraft of over fifty tons burden), an amount to two percent (2%) of the gross proceeds of sales of the business except where a different amount is expressly provided herein; provided, that any person engaging or continuing in business as a retailer and wholesaler or jobber shall pay the tax measured by the gross proceeds of retail sales of such business at the rates specified, when his books are kept so as to show separately the gross proceeds of sales of each business, and when his books are not so kept he shall pay as a retailer the tax measure by the gross sales of the business.

(b) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of conducting or operating places of amusement or entertainment, billiard and pool rooms, bowling alleys, amusement devices, musical devices, theaters, opera houses, moving picture shows, vaudevilles, amusement parks, athletic contests, including wrestling matches, prize fights, boxing and wrestling exhibitions, football and baseball games (including athletic contests conducted by or under the auspices of any educational institution within the City, or any athletic association thereof, or other association whether such institution or association be a denominational, state, county or municipal institution or association or a state, county or city school, or other institution, association or school), skating rinks, race tracks, golf courses, or any other place at which an exhibition, display, amusement or entertainment is offered to the public, or place or places where an admission fee is charged, including public bathing places, public dance halls of every kind and description within the city, an amount equal to two percent (2%) of the gross receipt of any business.

(c) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling at retail machines used in mining, quarrying, compounding, processing and manufacturing of tangible personal property, an amount equal to one percent (1%) of the gross proceeds of the sales of such machines; provided, that the term "machine" as herein used, shall include machinery which is used for mining, quarrying, compounding, processing or manufacturing tangible personal property, and the parts of such machines, attachments, and replacements therefor which are made or manufactured for use on or in the operation of such machines and which are necessary to the operation of such machines and are customarily so used.

(d) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling at retail any machine, machinery, or equipment which is used in planting, cultivating, and harvesting farm products, or that which is used in connection with the production of agricultural products or products, livestock, or poultry on farms, and the parts of such machines, machinery, or equipment, attachments and replacements therefor which are made or manufactured for use on or in the operation of such machine, machinery, or equipment, and which are necessary to and customarily used in the operation of such machine, machinery, or equipment, an amount equal to one percent (1%) of the gross proceeds of the sale therof. The one percent (1%) rate herein prescribed with respect to parts, attachments, and replacements shall not apply to any automotive vehicle or trailer designed primarily for public highway use, except farm trailers used primarily in the production and harvesting of agricultural commodities. Where any used machine, machinery, or equipment, which is used in planting, cultivating, and harvesting farm products, or used in connection with the production of agricultural produce or products, livestock, and poultry on farms is taken in trade or in a series of trades as a credit or part payment on a sale of a new or used machine, machinery, or equipment, the tax levied herein shall be paid on the net difference, that is the price of the new or used machine, machinery, or equipment sold, less the credit for the used machine, machinery, or equipment taken in trade.

(e) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling at retail any automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer, or house trailer, an amount equal to one-half of one percent (½) of the gross proceeds of sales of the said automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer or house trailer; provided, that when any used automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer, or house trailer is taken in trade, or in a series of trades as a credit or part payment on the sale of a new or used vehicle, the tax levied herein shall be paid on the net difference, that is, the price of the new or used vehicle sold less the credit for the used vehicle taken in trade; and provided, further, that when a taxpayer subject to the tax provided for in this subsection (e) withdraws from his stock in trade any automotive vehicle or truck trailer, semi-trailer or house trailer for use by such taxpayer or by an employee or agent of such taxpayer in the operation of such business, the tax of such taxpayer hereunder shall be measured with respect to the item so withdrawn by him by the sum of 83 for each year or part therof during which such automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer or house trailer so withdrawn shall remain the property of such taxpayer, each such year or part thereof shall begin with the day of the anniversary date, as the case may be, of such withdrawal and shall run for the twelve succeeding months or part thereof during which such automotive vehicle, truck trailer, semi-trailer or house trailer so withdrawn shall remain the property of such taxpayer.

(f) Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged or continuing within the City in the business of selling through coin-operated dispensing machines, food and food products for human consumption, not including beverages other than coffee, milk, milk products and substitutes therefor, there is hereby levied a tax equal to two percent (2%) of the cost of such food, food products and beverages sold through such machines, which cost for the purpose of this subsection shall be the gross proceeds of sales of such business.

11. Section 2 of Ordinance No. 75-F of the City of Montevallo which was adopted by the City Council and approved by the Mayor of the said City on December 8, 1975 is hereby amended so that the said Section 2 shall read in its entirety as follows:

Section 2. Levy of the Tax in Police Jurisdiction. Upon every person, firm or corporation engaged in the doing of any act, or who shall do any act, or continuing in the doing of any act, or engaged in the operation of any business, or who shall engage in the operation of any business, within the police jurisdiction of the City but beyond the corporate limits of said City for which or upon which a privilege or license tax is in this ordinance levied or required within the corporate limits of the City there is hereby levied, in addition to all other taxes of every kind now imposed by law or by municipal ordinance, to be collected as herein provided for the privilege or license taxes herein levied with the corporate limits of the City a privilege or license tax equal to one-half of that provided, levied or required in this ordinance for the doing of such act, or the engaging or continuing therein, or the engaging or continuing in the operation of such business within the corporate limits of the City. Provided further, that except for the amount of the privilege or license tax herein levied within the police jurisdiction of said City but without the corporate limits thereof, all the provisions of this ordinance extend and apply to all the area within the police jurisdiction of the City.

111. This ordinance shall become effective on the 1 day of April 1984.

Adopted and Approved, this 13 day of Feb. 1984.

LEGAL NOTICE

The Planning Commission of the City of Pelham will hold a public hearing on March 14, 1984, at 7:00 p.m. at City Hall to consider an amendment to the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Pelham. The amendment would change Article XVI, Section 2, Paragraph 2.B to read as follow:

B. In the B-2 and B-3 General Business Districts and the M-1 and M-2 Industrial Districts signs shall not exceed two square feet of surface area for each lineal foot of lot adjoining a public street or roadway or 120 square feet of surface area, whichever is less. On lots zoned Business or Industrial and abutting an Interstate Highway the following rules shall a apply.

a) One identification sign and one price or product sign are permitted for any business located at the intersection of an Interstate Highway with a State, County Road or City Street.

b) The minimum height of the identificaiton and/or price or product sign shall be fifty (50) feet from the ground level to the base of sign and shall not exceed one hundred (100) feet from the ground level to the base of said sign.

The maximum size of the identification sign shall be two hundred and thirty (230) square feet of the copy area. The maximum size of the price or product sign shall be six hundred (600) square feet.

c) No identification of price sign shall be permitted further than one hundred fifty (150) feet from the right-of-way line of any Interstate Highway or more than five hundred fifty (550) feet from the right-of-way line of the secondary State of County Road or City Street. Any such signs shall be constructed on the premises of an individual business. No off-premises sign shall be permitted pursuant to the provisions of this code.

d) The aforesaid identification and price or product signs shall be constructed in strict accordance with the minimum specification as follows:

PSF design wind load: 39# PSF and certified by a licensed engineer, furnishing calculations on how the wind load was determined.

e) In addition, one identification sign will be permitted on the premises for any business, that is totally occupied by one business not to exceed one hundred twenty (120) square feet and is to be mounted perpendicular with the secondary street.

Said sign shall not exceed a height of twenty (20) feet from the ground level to base of sign, nor less than fifteen (15) feet from the ground level to base of sign. Such sign shall not be constructed less than ten (10) feet from the right-of-way line of an Interstate Highway right-of-way line and ten (10) feet from the right-of-way line of the secondary street.

LEGAL NOTICE

Buford Murrell Osborne, Plaintiff
vs.
Linda Gayle Osborne,
Defendant

In the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama
Case No. DR-84-59
Order of Publication

It being made to appear in the above cause from the affidavit of Buford Murrell Osborne, that Defendant, Linda Gayle Osborne, has an unknown address and the same cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort and on diligent inquiry, her last known whereabouts being Harpersville, Alabama; and that said Defendant is over the age of 19 years; it is, therefore, on request of Plaintiff, ordered that the said Defendant, Linda Gayle Osborne, answer or plead to the Complaint in said cause on or before March 23, 1984, or, in default thereof, for 30 days thereafter, a default judgment be rendered against said Defendant.

It is further ordered that publication of this order be now made in the Shelby County Reporter, a newspaper published in Shelby County, Alabama, once a week for four consecutive weeks, and that a copy of said order be posted up at the door of the Courthouse of this County.

Done and Ordered, this 17th day of February, 1984.

Vincent volunteer mans crisis hot-line

by Shelba Nivens

The telephone rings. She is instantly alert.

Her voice is steady as she answers, "Crisis Center."

"I have a gun. I'm going to kill myself," says the voice on the line.

Muscles tense. "Be calm," she tells herself. "Don't scare him off."

Aloud she says, "That really scares me. Will you tell me why you want to kill yourself?"

"What do you care?" His voice is slurred.

"I'm concerned. I don't want you to die," she answers earnestly. "I want you to talk to me about it. Will you put the gun down while we talk?"

"I don't want to talk about it."

"But I want to hear. What happened? Tell me about it."

"My wife left me. And she took my kids. She says she's not coming back..."

Slowly, carefully, volunteer telephone counselor Linda Cordisco -- a petite single mother from Vincent -- draws out the man's story. He has never faced anything like this before. He is despondant. He's desperate. He has been drinking. He has a gun.

This is definitely a 'high risk' suicide call. Cordisco takes it seriously.

She keeps the man talking to help him reflect his feelings, and to help her determine what further action is needed.

"Do you have someone who could come over and stay with you tonight?" she asks. "Someone you can talk to?"

She needs to help him regain control of his emotions and his actions. When he does not answer, she persists, "Do you know someone to call who counsels with people?"

No. But he names a friend who might come over.

"Will you call me back and let me know whether he comes?" she asks. "Or let me call you back?"

She presses for his name and telephone number. Then, scanning the Crisis Center's referral file she suggests a professional counselor for him to see the next day.

He can not afford that, he says, and she senses his backing off.

"I'm so concerned about you," she says quickly. "I want you to have all the help you need with this thing. How about calling the mental health center? You pay them only what you can afford."

He consents. He also promises to call his friend tonight.

Later, between other calls, Cordisco will check back with the man to be sure someone is with him. Tomorrow, a counselor will call him again.

Such calls are not run-of-the-mill at the Crisis Center, according to Cordisco, although they received 1,080 suicide threats last year -- almost

The rust of years prevents an old sickle mower in the Kingdom Community from cutting hay or grass anymore. Still recouping from winter, the bird that lit on the seat of the old farm machinery may be little rusty with its singing, too -- but not for long, thanks to the warming weather. (photo by David F. Congressman holds community meet

Eastern Shelby County citizens who wish to send a message to Washington DC will have the chance this Saturday. Congressman Richard Shelby will be holding a series of community meetings that day across the county.

"I will, of course, be happy to answer any questions citizens may have about the issues as I perceive them and my voting record, " Shelby said. But primarily, I want to hear from my constituents in Shelby County to find out what is on their minds and how best I can serve them."

Shelby's scheudle includes:

- Vandiver Post Office -- 9 a.m.
- Sterrett PO -- 9:30
- Justice Store, Calcis -- 10
- Vincent City Hall -- 10:30
- Harpersville PO -- 11:15
- Chelsea PO -- 1:15 p.m.
- Westover PO -- 1:45
- Wilsonville PO -- 2:30

UM to host piano concert, March 1

Pianist Lee Luvisi will be in concert March 1 at the University of Montevallo.

The Kentucky native will play Schubert's 'Four Moments Musicaux, Beethoven's Sonata in C Minor, and Schumann's Carnaval.

The school's new Hamburg Steinway will be rolled into Palmer Hall for the occassion. It will be the second time the grand piano has been played in concert.

Newsweek Magazine has called Luvisi a 'pianist's pianist.'

The program is being sponsored by UM's Concert and Lecture Series, and tickets for the 8 p.m. performance will be available at the door.

CHEMLAWN GUARANTEES A THICKER, GREENER LAWN. BECAUSE WE KEEP COMING BACK.

We'll start by giving you a free lawn analysis—no obligation.

How can we make such a guarantee?

For starters, our local ChemLawn Specialist will give you a free, no-obligation lawn analysis.

Then, if you say yes, he'll keep coming back all year with a program scientifically designed for your lawn's needs.

IS YOUR LAWN GETTING A "BALANCED DIET"?

For example, he knows that lawns are picky eaters. So he'll feed your lawn according to the area, soil type, the lawn's condition, shade conditions and the time of year.

He'll give your lawn Phosphorus, Potassium and Nitrogen to help it grow thicker and greener.

WE'LL HELP YOUR LAWN CHOKE OUT THE WEEDS

Your specialist knows that a thick, healthy lawn can actually choke weeds out, so he will time his applications to control weeds when your grass is growing vigorously enough to take over the spaces the weeds leave behind.

And if he sees any problems with insects, he'll take care of those too.

And there's more. Like free service calls if you have any problems. And free consultation on the best ways to mow, water, dethatch and overseed.

A PROGRAM THAT PAYS FOR ITSELF MANY TIMES OVER

The ChemLawn program costs about the same as it would cost you to do it yourself. And since a beautiful lawn increases the value of your property, the program actually pays for itself many times over.

So call today—or drop the attached coupon in the mail—and get your free lawn analysis. Remember there's no obligation; you don't even have to be home when it's done.

TAKE OUR FIRST APPLICATION NOW, AND WE'LL TAKE YOU TO LUNCH

Here's how you can save us some time and yourself some money.

Just decide to take your first ChemLawn application at the same time as your free lawn analysis and we'll knock $5.00 off the price of the application. (It saves us a trip.)

Then use the $5.00 you saved to go out to lunch!

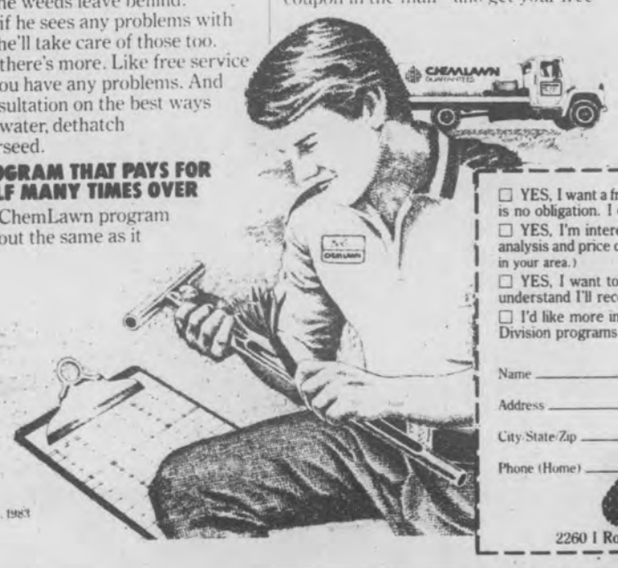
FOR YOUR FREE LAWN ANALYSIS CALL

942-7842

CHEMLAWN GUARANTEES

If you're not satisfied with the results of a ChemLawn application, give us a call. We'll keep working on your lawn at no additional cost to you, until you decide you are satisfied. Or we'll refund the cost of the application.

(Or mail in this coupon.)



☐ YES, I want a free lawn survey before I decide. I understand there is no obligation. I don't even have to be home.

☐ YES, I'm interested in a ChemScape Professional landscape analysis and price quote without any obligation. (May not yet be available in your area.)

☐ YES, I want to save $5. Start ChemLawn service now. I understand I'll receive my free survey with my first treatment.

☐ I'd like more information about the ChemLawn Commercial Division programs for business properties.

Spring song

The rust of years prevents an old sickle mower in the Kingdom Community from cutting hay or grass anymore. Still recouping from winter, the bird that lit on the seat of the old farm machinery may be little rusty with its singing, too -- but not for long, thanks to the warming weather. (photo by David F. Congressman holds community meet

Eastern Shelby County citizens who wish to send a message to Washington DC will have the chance this Saturday. Congressman Richard Shelby will be holding a series of community meetings that day across the county.

"I will, of course, be happy to answer any questions citizens may have about the issues as I perceive them and my voting record, " Shelby said. But primarily, I want to hear from my constituents in Shelby County to find out what is on their minds and how best I can serve them."

Shelby's scheudle includes:

- Vandiver Post Office -- 9 a.m.
- Sterrett PO -- 9:30
- Justice Store, Calcis -- 10
- Vincent City Hall -- 10:30
- Harpersville PO -- 11:15
- Chelsea PO -- 1:15 p.m.
- Westover PO -- 1:45
- Wilsonville PO -- 2:30
- Shelby PO -- 3:30

UM to host piano concert, March 1

Pianist Lee Luvisi will be in concert March 1 at the University of Montevallo.

The Kentucky native will play Schubert's 'Four Moments Musicaux, Beethoven's Sonata in C Minor, and Schumann's Carnaval.

The school's new Hamburg Steinway will be rolled into Palmer Hall for the occassion. It will be the second time the grand piano has been played in concert.

Newsweek Magazine has called Luvisi a 'pianist's pianist.'

The program is being sponsored by UM's Concert and Lecture Series, and tickets for the 8 p.m. performance will be available at the door.

CHEMLAWN GUARANTEES A THICKER, GREENER LAWN. BECAUSE WE KEEP COMING BACK.

We'll start by giving you a free lawn analysis—no obligation.

How can we make such a guarantee?

For starters, our local ChemLawn Specialist will give you a free, no-obligation lawn analysis.

Then, if you say yes, he'll keep coming back all year with a program scientifically designed for your lawn's needs.

IS YOUR LAWN GETTING A "BALANCED DIET"?

For example, he knows that lawns are picky eaters. So he'll feed your lawn according to the area, soil type, the lawn's condition, shade conditions and the time of year.

He'll give your lawn Phosphorus, Potassium and Nitrogen to help it grow thicker and greener.

WE'LL HELP YOUR LAWN CHOKE OUT THE WEEDS

Your specialist knows that a thick, healthy lawn can actually choke weeds out, so he will time his applications to control weeds when your grass is growing vigorously enough to take over the spaces the weeds leave behind.

And if he sees any problems with insects, he'll take care of those too.

And there's more. Like free service calls if you have any problems. And free consultation on the best ways to mow, water, dethatch and overseed.

A PROGRAM THAT PAYS FOR ITSELF MANY TIMES OVER

The ChemLawn program costs about the same as it would cost you to do it yourself. And since a beautiful lawn increases the value of your property, the program actually pays for itself many times over.

So call today—or drop the attached coupon in the mail—and get your free lawn analysis. Remember there's no obligation; you don't even have to be home when it's done.

TAKE OUR FIRST APPLICATION NOW, AND WE'LL TAKE YOU TO LUNCH

Here's how you can save us some time and yourself some money.

Just decide to take your first ChemLawn application at the same time as your free lawn analysis and we'll knock $5.00 off the price of the application. (It saves us a trip.)

Then use the $5.00 you saved to go out to lunch!

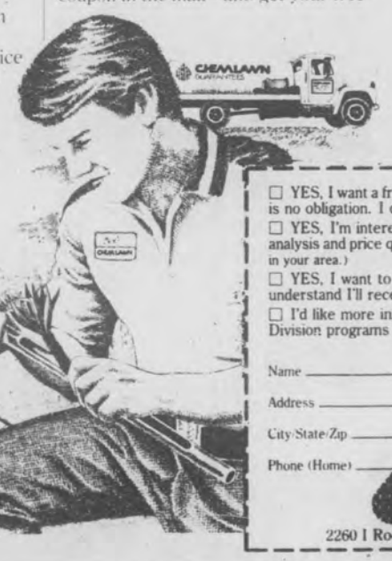
FOR YOUR FREE LAWN ANALYSIS CALL

942-7842

CHEMLAWN GUARANTEES

If you're not satisfied with the results of a ChemLawn application, give us a call. We'll keep working on your lawn, at no additional cost to you, until you decide you are satisfied. Or we'll refund the cost of the application.

(Or mail in this coupon.)



☐ YES, I want a free lawn survey before I decide. I understand there is no obligation. I don't even have to be home.

☐ YES, I'm interested in a ChemScape Professional landscape analysis and price quote without any obligation. (May not yet be available in your area.)

☐ YES, I want to save $5. Start ChemLawn service now. I understand I'll receive my free survey with my first treatment.

☐ I'd like more information about the ChemLawn Commercial Division programs for business properties.

County Republicans put on ballot for convention delegate spots

Shelby County Republicans will choose ten delegates and ten alternates in the Presidential Preference Primary on March 13.

Although President Ronald Reagan is the only candidate appearing on the Republican ballot, all the candidates running for delegate positions to the Republican National Convention will be included.

Three of the names appearing at the polls will be those of Shelby Countians.

L. Holt Cloud, of 5518 Parkview Circle off State 119 (Cahaba Valley Road), has qualified as a candidate for one of the three delegates and three alternate voters in the Seventh District will nominate.

Seven delegates and alternates will be chosen from the state-at-large. Among the 31 Republicans who have qualified to run in that category, are Joe Dickson, of 1021 Riverchase Parkway West, and Wayne W. Killion of 403 Carnaoustie North in Shoal Creek.

Other nominees from the Seventh District include: Pete Cavert, Tuscaloosa; L. Holt Cloud, Birmingham; Karl Elebash, Tuscaloosa; Ray Fitzpatrick, Birmingham; Jimmie Thorne Jernigan, Tuscaloosa; Gordon Lawless, Tuscaloosa, L.H. "Lee" McCormack, Cottondale.

Kevin Manning, Northport; James J. Odom, Tuscaloosa; Jeff Snow, Tuscaloosa; Virginia (Nell) Walser, Marion.

Other nominees running in the state-at-large include:

Edward S. Allen, Birmingham; James E. "Jim" Bacon, Hueytown; Ann Bedsole, Mobile; Judy B. Bewley, Birmingham; F.E. "Buz" Busby, Dothan; Don Collins, Birmingham. Lucy Colson, Huntsville; Virginia H. Cornelius, Birmingham; O.H. (Ollie) Delchamps, Jr., Mobile; Joe Domnanovich, Birmingham; Martha Foy, Enterprise; Thomas T. Gallion III, Montgomery.

Billy Gray, Birmingham; Riley "Benny" Harris, Decatur; Homer A. Jackson, Jr., Birmingham; J.D. Kuffskie, Mobile; Frances Little, Birmingham.

Candy M. McMillan, Brewton; Frank L. Mason, Birmingham; Tom Moxley, Birmingham; Ted Pearson, Birmingham; John Porter, Birmingham.

Fred Price, Birmingham; George G. Seibels, Jr., Birmingham; Lakey Tolbert, Birmingham; James C. Van Antwerp, Jr., Mobile; Luther H. Waller, Jr., Montgomery; and Gil Wideman, Birmingham.

All faith revival set

An interdenominational revival will be held at Helena Cumberland Presbyterian Church March 5-9 with services beginning at 7 p.m.

A special offering taken at each service will be given to Judy Grater, a minister's wife suffering from a serious illness.

The public is urged to attend the services which will be conducted by the following churches: Alabaster First Assembly of God, Hickory Hills Worship Center, Camp Branch United Methodist Church. Living Word Church.

Christian band at Montevallo

Mylon LeFevre and the Broken Heart band will be in concert at the University of Montevallo Saturday at 8 p.m.

The appearance of the contemporary Christian singing group on the UM campus is being sponsored by the Student Government Association.

There will be no reserve seats and tickets may be purchased at the door.

Singing midshipmen

Allen Goodwine (left) of Riverchase and John Abbot of Birmingham will perform with the United States Naval Academy Glee Club at Indian Springs School on March 6. Abbot is a graduate of Indian Springs and Goodwine is a graduate of Pelham High School.

Local midshipmen on glee club tour

Two midshipmen with Shelby County connections will perform with the United States Naval Academy Glee Club at area high schools next week.

Allen Goodwine, a graduate of Pelham High School, is a freshman at the academy, studying communications. His parents are Rev. and Mrs. Paul Goodwine of Riverchase. Rev. Goodwine is associate pastor at Alabaster First Assembly of God.

The group is on a musical tour through the South and will perform at Indian Springs School on Tuesday, March 6.

A senior academy student with the glee club, John Abbot, graduated from Indian Springs in 1980. The son of Rev. and Mrs. Richard Taylor, he is studying systems engineering at the academy.

Both men have appeared with the glee club before the president at the White House, and on the NBC television special, 'Christmas in Washington.'

Elvin Hill roasts beef

A roast beef dinner will be served at Elvin Hill Elementary School in Columbiana, Sunday, March 4 from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m, according to Carolyn Mundy.

Plates will be on sale $3 for adults and $2 for children and takeouts will be available.

Purchase of advanced tickets is recommended. For more information: 669-7165.

High EDB levels found in recalled muffin mix

The Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries has found a second food product that contains excessive amounts of the pesticide ethylene dibromide (EDB).

Five samples of 7 oz. packages of Martha White Bran Muffin Mix (Code 53183A) contained an average of 725 parts per billion (ppb) of EDB, exceeding the maximum safety level of 150 ppb.

Martha White, based in Nashville, issued a voluntary recall after being contacted by the Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries.

Customers who have purchased the product are advised to return their package to the grocery store where the muffin mix was purchased and exchange the old package for one from a new shipment.

Shipments of the Martha White Bran Muffin Mix (Code 53183A) were made to the Montgomery and Birmingham areas. A total of 380 cases were included in the shipments.

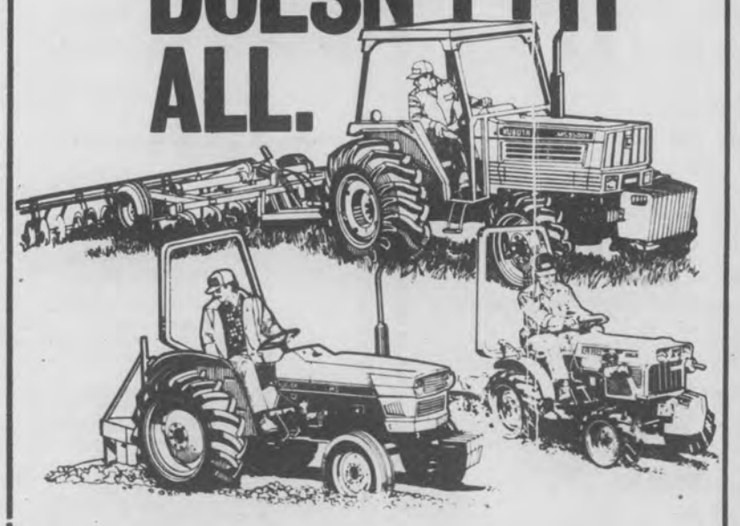
ONE SIZE DOESN'T FIT ALL.



Kubota has the field covered with dozens of diesel tractors, from 10 to 76 PTO horsepower.

And while they may vary in size, some things are the same on every model. The Kubota diesel engine, for example.

It's sturdy and dependable, one of the most fuel-efficient diesel engines anywhere. And not only does it use little fuel, it requires little maintenance. There's less noise and vibration too.

So take a look. There's a diesel-powered Kubota in your size.

Alabaster inventor creates electronic tattletale

by John Hood

Watch out kids, any more talking when the teacher leaves the room, and an electronic noise detector -- a little black box named Buddy Buzzer -- will give you away.

"They can't argue with an electronic device," says Raymond Kirby, creator of the classroom noise detector. Kirby, a computer software designer from Alabaster, has patented the device and a company started manufacturing it about six months ago.

Kirby works out of a comfortable office and workshop in his home. On a long table sits a computer with long lists of numbers rolling up the screen. Big boxes with squiggly lines on their screens and a profusion of wires take up the rest of the space on the table.

Kirby demonstrated how Buddy Buzzer works.

Setting the box on a table, he turned the electronic watchdog on and started talking.

"The box does nothing if I'm talking in a normal voice, but if I start to talk too loud," Kirby says, raising his voice -- BZZZ. Buddy Buzzer means business.

So does the instruction booklet that comes with the box.

"Do not make its use optional," it states. "In discipline, a dictatorship is far better than a democracy!" The booklet offers help to teachers by telling them how to punish noisy offenders.

"When the buzzer sounds, become the sympathetic friend of your students... you have no choice but to apply the rules (Buddy Buzzer is scientific in its decisions)."

Gone are the days when a chosen pupil took names of shameless chatterboxes. That system was pretty corrupt: friends got off, enemies got nailed.

Will space-age technology eliminate the classroom fink? What prevents kids from turning Buddy Buzzer off while the teacher is gone?

"Well, it's on the teacher's desk," the affable engineer says, perhaps underestimating the desperation of a talkative youngster.

Kirby designed the box after a school teacher in Woodland offered to manufacture it. The box is similiar to sound detectors Kirby used to design and sell to firms for security.

Buddy Buzzer is one of many inventions Kirby has created over the years. Most of his designs are in the field of data acquisition and computers, he says. He is getting ready to start up a company called Microengineers.

Kirby says his 14-year-old daughter Kim thinks the box is a good idea. She is a strong believer in classroom discipline.

"I think it is neat that my dad designed something like this," says Kim, a student at Thompson Middle School. "I think it would help a little bit."

Because of Buddy Buzzer's initial success, Kirby expanded the original concept, and has come up the Visual Audio Monitor (VAM) for policing larger areas.

With its red, green and yellow lights, VAM looks just like a traffic signal. It is designed to be used in the lunchroom, explains Kirby.

As long as the cafeteria is quiet, the light beams a benign green signal. If the place gets a a bit noisy, the aroused sentry blinks a warning yellow. Finally, when the little rascals get too rowdy, a full-alert red flashes for the principal and other authorities to quell the disturbance.

Kirby says the devices are selling well in California (at $29.95), and sales reps are moving east.

If so, students should get the illegal chatter out of their systems before it's too late, because Buddy Buzzer will be listening for them.

Mock wedding

Calera High School students Tony Piscitelli and Gina Gottier exchanged wedding vows recently with Calera Methodist Church Rev. Ken Chapman officiating. But the 'match' won't last because the vows were only said as part of a learning experience for a Marriage and Family Living Class. The students are studying marriage and marriage customs under the direction of their teacher Ann McGaughy.

International discussion

Shelby County High School counselor Bobby Harris and Brandon Blankenship (center and left) have an international discussion of sorts with Marco Paulino. The Brazilian exchange student is the first ever to visit SCHS. (photo by Bert Seaman)

Brazilian has impact on SCHS

by Bert Seaman

Summer vacation usually means time away from the books for most high school students. For Marco Paulino, however, it meant just changing classrooms.

The 16-year-old Brazilian youth arrived in Columbiana in December to live with the LeRoy Blankenships for three months, and to attend Shelby County High School.

Since the seasons are reversed in the southern hemisphere, summer holidays begin in December for Brazilian students.

Paulino, who came to Columbiana as an exchange student through the Open Door program, had his last day of classes there Friday.

Although he has taken English since sixth grade, he said it took him almost a month to "catch on" to everything he heard.

One of the expressions that puzzled Paulino at first was 'c'mere' -- for 'come here'.

"When someone called, he would just stand there looking blank," laughed Paulino's host, SCHS student Brandon Blankenship.

However, the Brazilian youth had a good grasp of the language before he left, and Blankenship had learned a smattering of Portuguese.

One of the differences in the languages, Blankenship explained, is that "It takes so many words in Portuguese to say so little!"

Although Paulino claimed there are many similarities between his country and the United States, he said he was amazed by the open spaces here.

His hostess, Catherine Blankenship, said, "I'd often see him standing at the back door -- just looking out over the fields."

Sao Paulo, the city where Paulino lives, has a population of 12 million, and there are 5,000 students in the high school he attends there.

"He was surprised that I seemed to know just about everybody here and in school," Blankenship said.

During his stay Paulino developed a taste for Mrs. Blankenship's fried chicken. He said he'll miss that when he gets home, along with all the friends he's made and the things that go with living in a small town.

But the contribution he made to the school won't soon be forgotten, SCHS counselor Bobby Harris told the Reporter.

"He expanded the horizons of students and faculty, too," Harris reported. "He just became one of us."

The young Brazilian -- who will be a senior when he returns to school in his country -- said he plans to be a mechanical engineer.

His studies at SCHS included his favorite subject: physics. He also took trigonometry, mechanical drawing, English and an English class on the novel.

In Brazil, students only go to school eight months, Paulino said, and classes are held six days a week from 7:30-12:30.

During the winter months in his country, Paulino said the temperature rarely gets below 40 degrees. He had never seen snow, so it was a new experience for him to observe the white flakes that fell while he was at the Birmingham Zoo one day.

He also had a memborable experience on another trip he took. On a visit to Montgomery, the young Brazilian had a chance to meet an talk with Governor George Wallace.

"He seemed to know quite a bit about my country," Paulino reported.

Although he's a member of the Catholic church, he took advantage of his trip here to visit a number of churches of other denominations.

"He really became part of our family," Catherine Blankenship remarked, shortly before Paulino's departure. "I feel as though I have three sons now."

Alabaster girl to perform with orchestra

Kerri Mulrooney, age 16 of Alabaster, will perform with the 1984 All-State Orchestra, March 22-24 in Tuscaloosa.

Mulrooney is an 11th grade student at the Alabama School of Fine Arts where she is a clarinet major. A principal clarinetist with the Alabama Youth Symphony, she was recommended for the honor by conductor, Dr. Terry Gates of the University of Alabama.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Mulrooney, Jr., Mulrooney is in her fifth year as a clarinetist and has performed with the All-State Band for the past two years.

Mulrooney plans to study music therapy at the University of Alabama.

UM to receive humanities program grant

The Committee for the Humanities in Alabama has awarded $52,000 in grants to four universities for summer seminars for state high school teachers.

CHA awards grants on a competitive basis to organizations sponsoring public programs on history, languages, literature, philosophy, and other areas of the humanities.

Institutions receiving CHA grants for summer seminars for high school teachers are as follows:

University of Montevallo, Department of English, $124,230 to sponsor "Transitions and Continuity: Seminar in Literature and Writing."

Livingston University, Division of Languages and Literature, $10,005 to sponsor "American Literature in the Secondary School."

University of Alabama, Department of English, $14,280 to sponsor "American Literature and Culture: Summer Seminars for Teachers."

Auburn University, Department of Foreign Languages, $13,400 to sponsor "Approaching the Humanities through Spanish-American and French Literature."

Since October 1983, the CHA has made additional grants to a variety of non-profit organizations in support of conferences and lecture/ discussion programs in the humanities.

The next deadline for grant applications requesting over $1,500 and the annual deadline for media and exhibit grants is April 1. For more information contact: The Committee for the Humanities in Alabama, Box A-40, Birmingham- Southern College, Birmingham, AL 35254, (324-1314)

New Miss North Shelby aims for state title

Toni Krumer, a voice major at Judson State College, won the title of Miss North Shelby Friday night at Riverchase Middle School.

Kumer, who lives in Decatur, sang an aria from an Italian opera in the talent portion of the pageant. She will now compete in the Miss Alabama pageant in June.

The North Shelby Jaycees sponsored the pageant, which was judged by by two field representatives for the Miss Alabama pageant, Dana Anglin and Mitzi Prater. The third judge was Gina Harris, a top contestant in the 1983 state pageant.

First runner-up in the contest was Susan Hartsell, second-runner-up was Kathy Glassgow, third runner-up was Melissa Lancaster and fourth runner-up was Sherry Coates.

Other contestants in the pageant were Lynn Waggoner, Harel Reach, Roxanne Cline, Ra-Jane Chadwick, Melinda Cork, Robin Ankrum, Elaine Cox, and Tammy McDaniel.

UAB invites artists to enter illusion contest

To see or not to see -- that is the illusion.

Shelby County artists are invited to enter a unique contest. The UAB School of Optometry is conducting the Optical Illusions in Two Dimensions contest.

Alabama artists (over 16) can use their skills in the juried competition.

Accepted entries will be hung May 1 through May 25 at the Optometry Clinic Gallery at UAB, and cash awards of $200 each will be given for the three best two-dimensional optical illusions in painting or graphics.

Entries will be accepted at the School of Optometry April 9, 10 and 11, and the exhibit will be open to the public at no admission charge. For further information: 934-4488.

SCHS drum major to join honor band

One of the musicians chosen to participate in Livingston University's Invitational Honor Band Festival and clinic, is the drum major of Shelby County High School's marching band.

The award winning performer is 17-year old Joey Bradley.

He will travel to Livingston March 16 to take part in the three day event.

Bradley's accomplishments as a drum major include:

•All superior ratings as the highest scoring drum major at the 1983 Central Alabama Marching Band festival at Thompson.

•Best drum major at the Supercorps Drum Major Camp at the University of Montevallo.

A talented musician -- Bradley plays the drum -- he is a member of the Alabama Youth Symphony orchestra and is listed in 'Who's Who in Music.'

He is also listed in several volumes which name students with high academic achievement.

Law student makes list

James R. Kramer of Maylene has been named to the dean's list at the Cumberland School of Law.

During the fall semester Kramer earned a 2.61 grade point average on 3.0 scale.

Presently employed as a clerk for an Alabaster law firm, he is taking the Georgia Bar exam this week, but expects to practice in Shelby County.

He graduated from the University of Montevallo in 1981 and is married to the former Lynette Pickett of Alabaster.

Crisis center deals with suicide, other problems twice as many as the year before.

The largest percentage of the 28,871 calls received in 1983 concerned interpersonal relationships.

She said a typical call might come from a woman stuck at home with three children under five years of age. She married young and has never worked outside the home. Her husband may be mistreating her, or he brings home no money. She feels she is in a hopeless situation.

In such cases the telephone counselor acts as a sort of sounding board, said Cordisco. She lets the woman talk to help clarify how she feels and what she wants to do.

The counselor might help with problem solving by asking the questions:

What are your alternatives? What are the good points in this alternative? What are the obstacles?

"You let her know you care," said Cordisco. "But you don't lead her. The answer has to come from within her."

The Crisis Center gets calls on everything from loneliness, to need for food and shelter, to crime. It has special counselors to deal with victims of rape.

Cordisco, who works as a teacher at a creative Montessori school and with a private counseling group, received her graduate degree in counseling. She points out, however, that most center volunteers do not have previous training or experience in this or related fields.

They are basically people (at least age 19) from all walks of life who are interested in helping other people.

Cordisco said she works as a volunteer because she feels better when she can help someone without being paid for it. She calls the Crisis Center her 'second home' and said her four-year-old daughter Laura knows all about the center because she has spent so much time there with her mother.

Starting four years ago as a telephone counselor, Cordisco is now instructor for other volunteers. She will be helping with spring training sessions beginning March 13 for Rape Response, and March 20 for telephone counselors.

She said persons interested in becoming a volunteer should call immediately to allow time for screening. She stressed that volunteers are especially needed in the rape response program.

Crisis Center, located in Brimingham, is an United Way Agency. Its number is 323-7777.

The emergency rape response number is 323-RAPE.

Say what?

'Quack!' 'Quack, quack. Quack!' Every wonder what it is ducks find so interesting to quack about? Are they talking politics? Medical terms? Deodorants? Whatever the ducks at Okomo Camp on Lay Lake were saying last week, they were saying it with such authority that it sounded at least interesting -- if not earthshaking. (photo by David F. Moore)

Tanner changes stand, introduces dog track bill

by David F. Moore

After years of false starts, Pelham's dog racing bill has finally moved beyond the advertising stage. But its chances of getting much further are apparently not good.

Flip-flopping on his previous stand, Rep. John Tanner introduced a bill late last Thursday that would allow Pelham residents to vote on the creation of a pari – mutual racing commission.

At the same time, Tanner introduced a bill that places a three-year moratorium on any new betting facilities in the state. A similar bill is now tied up in a Senate committee.

Tanner said four factors caused him to change his stand on the bill and introduce it:

•The Birmingham horse racing bill was amended Thursday afternoon to encompass all of Jefferson County. That move greatly increases the possibility of a track being built just outside the Shelby County line.

"That was the catalyst that prompted me to act immediately," Tanner told the Reporter A horse track on the county line would "give us all the problems associated with that industry, and not one red dime of revenue. Maybe the best defense is a good offense."

•Secondly, racing bills have now tied up three separate legislative sessions, causing several special sessions to be called, frustrating everyone in Montgomery, and wasting "millions in taxpayers' money." Tanner said it was time to settle the issue once and for all.

•Along those same lines, he said he is personally frustrated with the issue. "Proponents and opponents are just about driving me crazy," he said.

•Finally, defeat of a proposed county tax for education last month prompted numerous county officials to ask him to change his position on the bill. "You've got to look at that. We need the money," he said.

According to Tanner, he had letters of support for the bill from three of the four county commissioners (excluding Jake Morris), Sheriff Buddy Glasgow, Pelham Mayor Burk Dunaway and a majority of the Pelham city council, as well as Valley Elementary principal Norma Rogers, and UM President Jim Vickrey.

If either moratorium bill passes before the Pelham bill -- or any of the racing bills -- it would effectively kill them, Tanner said. He placed the odds of Pelham's bill not passing at all, at 70 to 30.

Rep. Sonny Moore called the odds "slim to none" of its passing, and gave a slight edge to the horse bill.

"My position (on dog racing) is exactly the same as it was when you interviewed me before the election," he told the Reporter. "I wasn't going to introduce it, and I'm not going to vote on it."

Moore's opposition alone would not be enough to stop the bill from going to the Senate. But Senator Frank Ellis said he seriously doubted that the bill would pass the House.

"If it did," Ellis said, "I'd have to evaluate my position at that time. But I don't plan to introduce it in the Senate."

Ellis agreed that a horse track close to Shelby County would probably create problems without any compensation. He noted too that the Madison County dog bill passed the House by only one vote -- and that was without the opposition the Jefferson County delegation would undoubtly mount against the Pelham bill.

Abernathy, Harris plead guilty

A Shelby County physician and a former county sheriff have both pled guilty to heroin charges in federal court.

Dr. Frank Abernathy, 50, of Maylene, entered a plea of guilty before United States District Judge James H. Hancock Friday in Birmingham. Abernathy pled guilty to one count of conspiracy and four counts of importing heroin from Thailand.

His sentencing was delayed.

Charles H. 'Chuck' Harris, 77, of Siluria, pled guilty to one count of conspiracy and two counts of importing heroin. Hancock placed Harris on five years probation, and fined him $7,500.

In outlining evidence against Abernathy and Harris, Assistant US Attorney Doug Jones told the court that the case originated last November when four letters addressed to Harris, Abernathy and two others, were intercepted by drug agents in Thailand.

According to Jones, lab tests on the bagged contents of the letters revealed that each contained three grams of nearly pure heroin.

The letters were forwarded on to the states where authorities observed Harris retrieving them from his post office box in Siluria, and from Abernathy's post office box in Alabaster.

Later, agents of the Drug Enforcement Administration discovered approximately 24 grams of heroin at Abernathy's medical clinic in Maylene.

One of the other intercepted letters went to Abernathy's sister, Beulah Hill. Jones said she had received similar letters and turned them over to Abernathy, unopened.

Charges against her were dismissed.

The last of the four intercepted letters went to an unnamed woman in Piedmont. Jones said that she later told authorities that Abernathy had paid her $50 for each unopened Thailand letter she turned over to him.

Abernathy's sentencing was continued until summer while he participates in a drug addiction treatment program in Georgia. The court ordered regular reports on his participation.

According to reports, Abernathy, who was also on the staff at Shelby Medical Center, plans to reopen his private practice at a later date.

US Attorney Frank W. Donaldson said Abernathy still faces a maximum sentence of 75 years in prison and a $125,000 fine.

Water board lifts moratorium

by John Hood

The Birmingham Water Works Board abruptly thawed out a freeze on new water hookups in north Shelby County in a special meeting Monday evening.

The board voted 3-1 to lift the moratorium that created a storm of protests from developers and businessmen in Birmingham and Shelby County.

The moratorium on water hookups, which was imposed by the board last week, also included parts of south Jefferson County. Finding money for new water lines was the reason the board gave for suspending new water permits.

The existence of more than $5,000,000 in surplus funds set the board up for complaints of politics and favoritism to Birmingham. In lifting the moratorium, the board restored the funding to the water lines to areas south of Birmingham.

Water works manager C.D. Colee said the water lines to the south of Birmingham should be completed by the end of the year.

Developers and businessmen were divided in their opinions on how serious the moratorium was. Some, because of projects already in progress, were upset.

William Hulsey, a partner in Riverchase Properties, said a multi-million dollar condominium project would have ground to a halt because of the moratorium. The 138-unit complex, called The Gables, is presently under construction in Riverchase.

"We are going to have to stop construction immediately if we are not assured of water," Hulsey said last week.

Columbiana pitches in with ballfields

by Bert Seaman

With baseball and softball registration underway for boys and girls in Columbiana, the city council is trying to help with practice fields.

The shortage of places to practice was brought to the council's attention last month by Charles Jones, who works with the city's Dixie Youth League.

It was suggested that playing fields at the middle school might be developed for the boys to use.

The city studied that idea at Thursday's meeting. Councilwoman Jessie Jones brought plans for fields and other recreational areas at the school.

The plans had been drawn when the city was seeking a recreation grant last year. The grant money -- which didn't come in -- would have been used to develop the area around the middle school and another one adjacent to the city park.

Jones thought the city might be able to afford the ballfield portion of the project. She figured that after some minor grading was done and top soil put on, the backstops and bleachers for two fields would cost $3,200.

Money from the budget could possibly be diverted for that purpose Jones told the Reporter, with revenue sharing funds replacing what was taken from the budget.

Mayor Buck Falkner said he would talk with CMS Principal Ouida Bentley and see if she approved the plans.

In other matters:

•Two bids were received on fencing to enclose property adjacent to city hall. The low bidder was A&D Fence of Bessemer with a price of $3,970.

•The council listened to a request for funds to help pay for new carpet at the Columbiana Library but made no commitment. The mayor said he thought finance chairman Lewis Walker should be present when a decision was made.

Library Board Chairman Sue Phillips said the carpet was put down 15 years ago when the library opened. New carpet, she said, would cost approximately $3,500 and the city was asked to contribute $1,750.

Photographs were passed around showing how badly the carpet is worn. "We have no allotment for capital outlay in our budget," Phillips noted, "and this is the first time we have ever asked for this type expenditure."

She reported that the Friends of the Library would probably not be able to raise more than $1,000, and money from overdue fines amounted to $75-$90 a month.

There is $1,000 in a fund for emergencies, Phillips reported, but the board didn't want to touch that, in case something unexpected happened such as equipment breakdowns.

Calera goes shopping

The Calera council was staggered by the increased cost of insurance coverage for city employees that was announced at Monday's meeting.

After reporting that the increase from Washington National, the present carrier, would amount to nearly $39,000 a year, Mayor Carl Prichard said, "There's no way the city can afford to pay that much!".

Premium payments are presently $60,852. The increase would boost that figure to $99,612.

Councilman Larry Farris reminded the council that the insurance would run out this month, and some action would be needed as soon as possible.

After agreeing the city should take bids on insurance, the mayor appointed a committee to draw up specifications.

Those appointed were: Council members Mark Jones, Bill Watts, Jeff Pilgreen. A member of the water board will also be on the committee.

Although he doesn't plan to start construction work on the gas system's odorant plant until July, Street Superintendent David Jones reported that he is already advertising for bids.

He reminded the council that the odorant station, located near Blue Circle Industries on Hwy. 25, has been there a long time

Fire destroys office on US 31

Three volunteer fire departments fought a blaze early Monday that destroyed an office building on US 31, about three miles south of Alabaster.

Fire Chief Jim Mason of the Saginaw Volunteer Fire Department said his men could see the fire at RHP Construction Company miles away when they answered the alarm at 12:55 a.m.

"We got out on the highway and could see it," Mason said. When his men arrived at the fire, Mason called Calera and Shelco firefighters for back-up.

The company had offices in the front of the building, and used the back as a garage and storage area. A truck and a backhoe were destroyed in the blaze.

High winds hampered efforts by firefighters to bring the fire under control. The three companies fought the fire for more than four hours.

There was no one injured fighting the fire and the building was unoccupied when the fire broke out, Mason said.

Mason believed the fire started in the storage area, where chemicals such as mineral spirits were kept. A neighbor reported an explosion that woke him up, which Mason said was probably caused by tanks of compressed oxygen used for welding.

The owners of RHP declined to talk about the fire later that morning when they were at the site. No damage estimate was available.

Helena leash law criticized

by Fred Guarino

Pelham's City Council did not meet last Monday night and Helena's City Council failed to have a quorum. But a proposed leash law for Helena parks still stirred some comments.

The Pelham mayor and council took Monday night off in order to attend the national mayors conference in Washington, D.C. on March 3, 4 and 5.

Helena mayor Charles Penhale and councilman C.W. Fulgham also attended that national conference.

But with Helena councilman Bill Harris serving in Penhale's place, the Helena Council was scheduled to carry out the second reading of a dog leash law that would apply only to city parks.

However, only councilman James Kwater and city clerk Frances Parish were present with Harris, the meeting was called off for lack of a quorum. Missing were councilmen Ron Erwin and Billy Ray Hines.

Kwater took the opportunity to express his feelings on the city's proposed leash law for parks.

"I wasn't here at the last meeting," Kwater said of the law's first reading, "But I don't see a whole lot of sense in a leash law for parks when dogs are free to run in the city."

"If we are talking about a leash law, it needs to cover the whole town," he added.

Kwater said he would also like to see the proposed law published in the newspaper, and the public given a chance to comment on it.

One citizen who showed up for Monday's Helena Council meeting said that he would also like to see the law applied to the whole town.

The citizen, who asked that his name not be used, told Harris and Kwater that he had a problem with dogs sleeping on his front porch and eating the cornbread he throws out for birds.

The Helena City Council will next meet at 7 p.m., Monday, March 21.

Pelham's City Council is scheduled to meet next Monday night at 6:30 p.m.

Building inspection bill starts

by John Hood

The Shelby County Commission wants the state to allow it to hire building inspectors to ensure that contractors are following building codes.

The commission is currently advertising a building code bill that will go to the state legislature in the near future. (See the legal section of the Reporter for the complete bill.)

Presently, builders are supposed to abide by standards like the Southern Building Code and electrical codes of the National Fire Protection Association, but compliance is voluntary.

Commissioner John Ames would like the county to be able to certify that buildings are within minimum standards.

Although Ames said he did not think that many builders were violating building codes, the county has had many complaints from home-buyers who purchased already built homes.

"There is nobody to ensure compliance," he said. The proposed bill exempts homes or farm buildings from inspection, but one section of the bill leaves the county the power to change that if it wants to.

Ames said creation of an inspection department would be a start toward correcting any problems.

"The bill is a carbon copy of Jefferson County's," he said.

A similiar bill came before the legislature last year, but it died in committee when representative Don Murphy objected to the inspections of single and double family dwellings and other non-commercial buildings.

Ames said Murphy's suggestions to alter the bill were followed this year.

The county will hold public hearings on the bill after the state approves it, and before it comes to the commission for final approval, according to Ames.

Murphy, president of First Realty Company in Pelham, is no longer a legislator. He said he is not against the bill, but he does have reservations about the effectiveness of it.

"I would like to see public hearings held by the legislature," said Murphy. He also would like to see Section Eight of the proposed bill changed.

Section Eight gives the commission in the authority to extend code requirements if it desires to in the future.

Murphy said it would be impossible to hire enough inspectors to do a good job inspecting every house that was built. If there was a big problem with commercial buildings, then someone should let the legislature know about it, he said.

"I'm afraid this is just another department that will cost the taxpayers money," he said. "The county is always crying about not having enough revenue, and this department will not make money."

Ames is not certain about who will sponsor the bill in the legislature, but he hopes to get it passed by the next fiscal year.

Kindergarten becomes reality, but details aren't worked out

by Bert Seaman

Kindergarten will be available to every five-year-old in Shelby County this year.

But funding will determine whether the children will be able to attend kindergarten classes for a year or just one semester.

The kindergarten program was approved at Tuesday's board of education meeting, but education superintendent Ellie Glasscox said that funding will be the key in planning the program.

The superintendent estimated there will be 850-900 five-year-olds in kindergarten classes this fall.

If the children go to school a full year, Glasscox said 15 additional classrooms will be necessary.

Adding to the expense of serving every child under the full year plan, would be the employment of more teachers as well as the increased cost of transportation.

The county school system will also have to provide classroom space and furnishings.

There are presently 22 units at the 11 elementary schools in the county, making a total kindergarten enrollment of 440 students.

With that number expected to double, Glasscox said he saw no way for the board to provide 22 additional teachers unless the state funds them.

He mentioned that one way to alleviate some of the strain on the system would be the alteration of class sizes to meet local needs.

By increasing the class size to 25 -- or 30 with a teacher's aide -- Glasscox noted that fewer teachers would be needed.

In order to get an idea of the kindergarten enrollment in each area, Glasscox said that registration will begin April 1 and continue through May.

If the county goes to the semester system, children on one side of the county would attend school a full day for a semester and then children on the other side of the county would have their turn in class.

In order to handle that situation, the superintendent said the board needs the authority to shift teachers from one community to another.

He said that he will try to get state approval for both actions.

The reason the board adopted the kindergarten program for every child, was to comply with a court decision handed down last July.

It said the lottery system which had been used to determine kindergarten enrollment, was to be discontinued.

The board had used that system because there was not enough money to provide kindergarten for every eligible child.

Board to study uses of SCHS house

A proposal to convert the house on the Shelby County High School campus into office space has met with some initial resistance.

The proposal was made at last week's board of education meeting by school superintendent Ellie Glasscox.

Board member Joe Coggins asked how much the project would cost. Glasscox said about $20,000 - $25,000.

"You shook me up with that," remarked board member Paul Sumners.

Coggins moved that the matter be tabled until the next meeting to give the board time to study the project more thoroughly.

The board owns the house which has been used as a residence for coaches and principals.

Pat Bulger, who is in charge of the child nutrition program for the county school system, has lived in the house since 1974 when her former husband became principal of SCHS.

Glasscox said that she plans to move out this summer, and at that time, the house either needs to be repaired or torn down.

Bulger was not at the meeting.

Glasscox recommended that six special education supervisors be moved into the house to alleviate the cramped conditions at the Center for Exceptional Children.

He also proposed moving the resource center out of the Central Office building and into the house. That would necessitate taking out walls, putting up shelving, and making storage space.

Shelving, Glasscox explained, would be one of the major expenses since cassette tapes and other items in the center represent a big investment.

Emergency fund set up for needy

An emergency fund has been established for low income or no income families who need assistance for one month's rent or one mortgage payment.

According to Shelby County Red Cross Director Emily Rabren, the funds will be based on household income and eligibility.

Personnel will be in the Red Cross office from 9:30-3:30, Monday-Fridays to sign up qualifying households, Rabren said.

For more information, call the Shelby County Red Cross, Main Street, Alabaster at 663-4290.

Rabren also points out that one other very special bargain is also available.

"Anyone coming to the Shelby County branch office of the American Red Cross in Alabaster on Friday's from 12 noon until 6 p.m. can give one pint of blood and in return receive 50 pints of blood when needed."

Rabren said the Red Cross considers that a very good deal.

Alabaster donates money to DAY

The Alabaster City Council breezed through its Monday night meeting and adjourned after donating money to a program for troubled teenagers.

Developing Alabama Youth (DAY) is an alternative school for teenagers who are unable to fit in a regular school setting, according to Alabaster police chief C.E. 'Bull' Carter. Carter outlined what the program did for the council before they voted to give DAY $1,200.

The program has a facility in Siluria and is staffed by four teachers who also are experts in counseling and social work. It serves the entire county, Carter said, and is funded by the county board of education, juvenile court, Department of Youth Services and by donations.

"The kids come down to the police station and work on the weekends," Carter said, explaining his connection with the DAY.

Sheriff's blotter report

A Calera woman remains in serious condition at University Hospital after being shot on February 27.

Rebecca P. Smith of Rt, 2, Calera is in serious but stable condition, according to hospital spokesman John Wright.

The county sheriff's office did not release details of the incident, but a suspect named Willie Mcleod was arrested. He was released on $2,500 bond.

Sheriff's deputies are investigating several burglary cases:

- Items were stolen from the home of Leroy Kyzer in Leeds.
- There are suspects in the theft of cash from the home of a Montevallo man.
- A river cabin near Merrel Beach on Lay Lake was broken into and items stolen.

The shooting of two goats belonging to a woman near Sterret was reported by Anne Speakman of the county Humane Society. The goats were apparently shot by the woman's neighbor when he found them on his property.

Speakman said the man would not be charged because witnesses refused to sign a warrant.

Speakman said the society helps to prosecute people who mistreat animals, but citizens have to become involved to stop animal cruelty.

Spain plane crash ends county dreams for Air Force paratrooper trainer

by David F. Moore

Air Force Tech. Sgt. Larry Allen Rainey won't be moving to Shelby Springs to retire where his parents live. He won't be able to build the house on the old homestead where he wanted to settle with his wife, and two children who already live there and go to school in Columbiana.

Rainey was killed February 27 when a military plane crashed in the mountains of Spain.

SGT. LARRY ALLEN RAINEY
...killed in plane crash

According to the scattered reports his family managed to gather -- most through wire service accounts -- it was foggy and snowing when the plane attempted an emergency landing and crashed into the 7,000-foot Moncayo Mountains.

The plane was on maneuvers with 18 crew members and members of a special combat control group, which carry them from the Bardenas Reales firing range to Zaragova. The plane was reported missing at 8:22 p.m.

Rainey, 34, trained paratroopers around the world for tactical work, and was a member of the special combat group.

His mother, Lola Mae, and sister Amy Harris told the Reporter that they can only figure that Rainey never got the chance to jump from the plane. "His (para)chute stayed with him always," his sister said.

She received official notification of the accident at her home in Bessemer last Wednesday morning. In the year that her parents have lived on the unpaved part of County 42, they have been unable to get phone service, so Harris had to drive to Shelby Springs to break the bad news.

"I got my brothers together and the pastor and we came down to tell mother and father, and (Rainey's) kids," Harris said. "The Air Force followed a few minutes later with the official statement."

The news was not taken lightly. Making it even harder to take, Harris said, were all the unanswered questions: "Did the plane burn? How did they find it? What about Larry's body?"

His parents -- Jesse J. and Lola Mae -- , were born and raised in the Shelby Springs-Prospect area, and had inherited 40 acres which has been in the family since the 1920's.

Rainey was born after they moved to Bessemer, but visited the place in Shelby County along with his brothers and sisters as they grew up. At 19, he joined the service.

More recently, while Rainey trained paratroopers, his wife, Barbara, stayed in Germany where he was generally based. His daughter, Tonya Lee, 14, and son, Larry Allen, Jr., 13, have been living with Rainey's parents and attending Columbiana Middle School.

"In five years he would have been out of the service," his mother said. "He was planning on coming down here, retiring, and building a house so everybody wouldn't be juggled around so much."

Harris described her brother as a tall and slim man, with light brown hair and blue eyes, who "took life to the fullest."

"He was so easy going," she said. "But we'd get onto him to be safe. He'd say, 'When you gotta' go, you gotta' go. I could be killed in a car wreck going to Columbiana."

Rainey's work was often dangerous, involving as it did jumping from airplanes.

In one exercise, he did an extended freefall from a Boeing 737 passenger jet. The temperature aloft was −18 F.

Besides US troops, he also trained special groups from other countries, and helped conduct international military exercises. His work took him from Antarctica to Africa, from the Mid-east to all parts of Europe.

Despite the travels, he apparently thought a lot about his children, and about being 'home' in Shelby County. Rainey came 'home' over Christmas, and was looking foward to his family being together this summer in Germany.

"Barbara and I are on pins and needles in anticipation of y'alls' arrival," Rainey wrote to his son on January 19.

He went on to instruct him to mind the rabbits, what to do if the quail had babies, and to help Tonya clean the hamster cage weekly. "Be good and you and Tonya stay in your books," he wrote.

"I have done and seen a lot since coming into the military almost 15 years ago," he wrote them last October. "I have no regrets except that you were not with me to share it."

Rainey's body was still in Spain on Monday, and final arrangements had not been completed. A service will be held in Hueytown, and he will be buried in his wife's hometown of Austin, TX.

Other survivors include: daughter Jennifer, 11, of Illinois; brothers Kenneth and Jesse Mac, both of Bessemer, and Johnny Richard, Guthrie, OK.

Major named as SCHS principal

Evan Major has been named interim principal at Shelby County High School.

A member of the central staff of the Shelby County Board of Education, Major has been helping at the school since the death of principal Don Bulger on Feb. 24.

The announcement of Major's appointment was made Monday at a SCHS faculty meeting.

He will serve in that position until the end of the school year when applications for a permanent principal will be taken.

Juanita Lightsey, who was assistant principal under Bulger, still holds that position for the time being.

Major said he is not sure what, if any, changes will be made.

Before joining the central staff, Major was principal at Chelsea four years and assistant principal two years before that.

His career in education began at Thompson Elementary School in 1966 where he taught science and physical education.

In addition to serving as interim principal, Major will continue as director of instructional services on the central staff.

Montevallo collects late mowing fees

The City of Montevallo collected $4,620 last week in lawn mowing fees that had accumulated over a period of 18 years.

The fee has been filed as liens against property owned by Moreland Smith of Montgomery. The property is located at the entrance to Ashville Circle subdivision, facing highway 119.

The owners had not kept the property mowed, and in the interest of health as well as appearance, the city had dispatched crews to keep it cleared through the years. The cost was assessed to the owners.

Late in 1983, the owners decided to deed the property to the University of Montevallo Foundation, which in turn sold it to the Church of the Holy Comforter.

Before clear title could be obtained, the liens had to be cleared up, and the UM Foundation presented a check for the amount to the City.

Mayor Ralph Sears said, "The city does not like to get involved in these things, but when property owners do not take the responsibility of keeping up their property, the city must do it, and it is only fair to the taxpayers to insure that the cost will be paid somewhere down the line."

Gambling indictments reissued against 13

Gambling indictments have again been returned against a group of men whose cases had been dismissed in January.

A recalled grand jury issued the indictments after listening to the evidence presented Friday.

One of those reindicted suffered a heart attack the day before this latest grand jury met. Alabaster Police Lieutenant Leroy Davis was reportedly stricken while on duty Thursday and taken to Shelby Medical Center.

Davis was transferred to Brookwood Hospital and his condition Monday was listed as stable, although he remains in the Intensive Care Unit.

Circuit Court Judge Robert Armstrong, who originally dismissed the indictments, said they failed to cite specific acts.

Twenty-four men were intially indicted in August following a gambling raid on the AMVETS club in Pelham the month before.

Nine have pled guilty and cases are still pending against the others.

Those who had indictments reissued against them Friday were: Davis, Edward Eugene Glasgow, Johnie Crawford, Donald Ralph Castleberry, James Michael Cruse, Joseph Lewis Cameron, Paul Jackson, Nathan Levern Metcalf, Mark Randall Metcalf, James O. Shelton, Jay Milam, Saliba S. Bajalieh.

Charges against Jackson, Castleberry, the Metcalfs and Bajalieh are felonies; the others are misdemeanors.

Alabaster man run over; wife jailed

An Alabaster woman has been arrested and charged with attempted murder after she allegedly ran over her husband with a car.

Shara Ann Hale, 26, of Route 5, Box 462, Alabaster, was arrested by police officers at her home last Sunday night after her husband was run over, according to Alabaster investigator Sgt. Larry Rollan.

James Curtis Hale suffered head injuries and is in fair condition at St. Vincent's Hospital after undergoing surgery.

Rollan said the couple was apparently arguing in the car in the front yard when James Curtis got out of the car and walked toward their house. His wife then allegedly ran over him with the car, and, before stopping, hit the porch of a house about 75 feet away.

Hale was released from the county jail after posting a $10,000 bond.

Water board lifts moratorium

of the Harbert-Equitable Joint Venture Group, said the moratorium would have affected the ability of the company to sell land. Harbert-Equitable sells land to developers and is responsible for installing roads and water mains.

Because of the number of jobs construction projects provide, many developers refused to believe the board was serious because of the adverse impact on the area economy.

The project director for Metropolitan Properties, Ingram Tynes, said the moratorium never worried him.

"You (the board) can't declare something of that impact," he said. "There are literally hundreds of contracts that would be affected."

Last week, Tynes called the moratorium a "devastating" action, but felt it would be cleared.

Ron Rockhill, a partner in AFT Company, has a large condominium and apartment complex in the planning stages to be located near the intersection of Valleydale Road and I-65. He plans to start construction this fall.

"I can't believe this is a long-term deal," he said, adding that a drawn out moratorium would have caused problems.

DID YOU KNOW?
We can all grow 14 years older before a new generating plant is born.
It takes 10-14 years to plan and build a new generating plant. And it's expensive because of construction and labor costs, government regulations . . . and the high cost of borrowing money. So we don't want to build plants unless they are needed. To determine if and when new plants will be needed, Alabama Power prepares annual electricity use forecasts. Population growth, economic growth, conservation, and use of alternate energy sources are carefully evaluated. Our past forecasting record has been one of the most accurate in the industry. Narrow thinking

Narrow-minded.

In a hyphenated word, that's the best way to describe the Birmingham Water Board's short-lived moratorium on new water hook-ups in North Shelby and South Jefferson.

This is, unfortunately, a prime example of the sort of short-sighted thinking that has hurt the Birmingham metropolitan area before. The narrow-mindedness is reminiscent of the leadership thinking that went into the demolition of the old Southern Railroad Terminal.

Birmingham needed the ugly bare field that act created, just about as much as it needed to cut off the economic hand to the south that's helping so much to feed it these days.

The board was apparently trying to make the point that other areas need improved services. But if all the ongoing and planned developments south of Birmingham along US 280, I-65, I-459 and US 31 were halted, the economic shockwaves would shake -- if not tumble -- any need for the water board itself. What kind of business would it do in a desert?

It's high time various Birmingham leaders woke up and realized how much they need what's going on today in Shelby County.

By the same token, it would help if similar type thinking in Shelby County changed, too.

History is fine. Heritage and pride need not be forgotten. But anyone who doesn't have the vision to see how important a viable Birmingham is to the overall well-being of Shelby County in this day and age, needs glasses.

In the future, we hope to see improved thinking on both sides of the Cahaba River -- for everyone's benefit.

Know the rules when you vote

by Fred Guarino

If you plan to vote in the Alabama Presidential Preference Primary, Tuesday, March 13, there are some things you need to know.

According to Shelby County voting machine custodian Bill Tucker, you must first declare yourself as either a Democrat or Republican. That will allow poll workers to accept only votes for your party.

Since Ronald Reagan has no Republican opposition, state law prevents his name from even appearing on the ballot, so don't worry when you don't see it. Instead, Republicans will find only the names of delegates pledged to President Reagan.

Tucker points out that Republican voters can only vote for seven delegates from the Seventh Congressional District, and three state-at-large delegates.

Democrats, on the other hand, have two options: they can vote for a presidential candidate without voting for individual delegates, or they can vote for a presidential candidate and individual delegates to represent him. Votes for delegates other than than those pledged to the candidate you selected, will not count.

If you choose to vote only for a Democratic presidential candidate, and don't care who represents him at the convention in San Francisco, Tucker said that candidate will simply be assigned delegates.

Again, votes can be cast for seven congressional district delegates, and three state-at-large delegates.

If you do vote for a candidate and individual delegates, you must vote for four males and four females. You cannot vote for all men or all women on the Democratic ticket, because it might prevent the opposite sex from being represented.

"If you vote for all males, don't expect you'll get all of them," Tucker says. He explains that the Democratic Party will assign male and female delegates evenly, based on who gets the largest number of votes.

Tucker reports that all eight Democratic presidential candidates will appear on Alabama's March 13, primary. Those will include candidates who have already dropped out, as well as a slot for "uncommitted."

In addition, an amendment will appear on the ballot to make Alabama's state legislature consider general funds and education budgets before they take any other action.

An amendment will also appear to earmark revenues for road and bridge work in Randolph County. That measure has the approval of citizens there, but still requires a state wide vote.

The polls in Shelby County will be open on 'Super Tuesday' from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

For several of the candidates -- including John Glenn and Walter Mondale -- the outcome of the Alabama primaries and others being held that day, could make or break them.

Readers' opinion

Tighten your belt, Shelby County

Letter to the Editor:

Recent articles in this, and other newspapers have brought to my attention several points that I feel I should comment on.

The tax proposal that was voted down, was voted down by the majority of the voters.

I don't argue that the schools need some repairs and new buildings, but, there are a lot of other things in Shelby County that need a lot of repairs, such as bridges and roads.

But we don't have the money needed for these repairs, either. What has happened to all of the money?

We just had a one cent sales tax increase three years ago. That was supposed to fix everything for the next ten years. So said the proponents of that tax increase.

What happened? I think I can tell you. Our commission members and department heads have spend a lot of it unwisely.

I'll tell you how I manage my money. If I don't have any, I don't spend any, but I have a regular income, and I know within a few dollars of the amount, so I live within the limits of my income. I don't have to go to the bank and ask for a loan each time I need to buy food, or pay the utilities.

So I say to the commission and department heads, budget your departments and live within your limits.

While the taxpayers have been in a recession you have been on a spending spree.

As for the Birmingham news articles, I pay very little attention to them because the people of Jefferson County can't manage any better than Shelby Countians, and they can't mind their own business at all.

I guess the Highway Department needs money worst of all to make repairs to highways and bridges.

But I think they should get off of their behinds and get to work.

Get in your car and ride past where they have a work project going on. Look at the waste, two 'one' hour breaks a day for the workers. At two p.m. I have seen three or four trucks parked three to four miles away from the shop, waiting on quitting time.

Most of the big companies have had to tighten their belts. So I say, Shelby County, tighten your belt and cut out the waste.

Sincerely,
Robert Bearden

Apologize to Hitler?

Letter to the Editor:

May I comment on the article by Mr. John Hood, March 1, about the bounty hunters in Pelham.

Myself and millions of Americans went overseas in WWII to stop the Japanese and Hitler from taking away our freedom. I will accept a legal search warrant for my home freely. I will accept these bounty hunters also, but I will suggest that they have their funeral arrangements complete.

If we, the people put up with these criminals, then why not apologize to Adolph Hitler. That is the way he operated. In Columbiana, I believe we have a higher grade of police officers.

Randolph seeks support

Letter to the Editor:

Amendment Number 2 on the March 13 ballot is an amendment affecting only Randolph County.

The citizens of Randolph County, in the November 1983 Special General Election, overwhelmingly voted in favor of this amendment, which diverts a portion of property taxes already being collected to a special fund to finance a new jail. The Attorney General's Office ruled that the election was conducted incorrectly, however, because it was voted on only in Randolph County. Therefore the Amendment will reappear on the statewide ballot on March 13.

Since the citizens of the only county to be affected have already voiced their approval, we urge all citizens of the State of Alabama to respect their wishes and vote 'Yes' on Amendment Number 2.

Thanking you in advance,

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member FDIC.

If you grew up around here, as Joe Shoveltree did, or came back on a visit, as Joe did, this should bring back memories.

We started out from Handy Ellis' house on the corner. From there to the Kingdom fork at the foot of the mountain, there was one house. A little house not much bigger than a sack of mule feed where Alf and Nan McClannahan lived.

Later they would develop Judge Longshore's wheat field. They'd built a street down the middle and put houses on each side. In Mrs. McMillan's pasture across the street, Harold and Melvil Harlin built a house under the tall scaleybark trees.

At the Kingdom fork we took a left and walked up a dusty road. Halfway up the mountain we turned off down a little trail that led to her house. It was an old house with a hall down the middle and rooms on each side. A kitchen was out back with a dogtrot leading to it from the house.

Years ago when we were here we'd climb up high front steps. They were made out of one by tens with each step ten inches above the other, and all of 'em shakey, so that a fellow coming down them in a hurry would likely fall in the front yard and scramble out onto the trail on his hands and knees like a dog or a mule maybe, depending on his size.

If he came down the steps upright and was in a terrible hurry he'd run into one or two pine saplings that were scattered over the front yard like pins in a billiard hall.

But today when Joe, who had been gone for close to fifty years, and I got there, we found only two chimneys and a dozen big pines and a little pile of rotten wood where the high steps had been.

"This is all that's left," Joe said. "This and a hundred memories that still tickle a guy's fancy."

He waited a long minute and then added: "I remember everything about it except her name. Do you remember her name?"

"Lucy," I said.

Mosaic

by Marcia M. Sears

The name of Charles "Chuck" Harris in the news this week prompts memories of the time when he was elected sheriff of Shelby County.

That election set off a long chain of events that profoundly influenced the direction of Shelby County politics.

In 1958, Chuck Harris ran for sheriff against the incumbent, Hugh Sims Sr., and Claude Fore.

It went into a runoff between Harris and Sims, and Harris, who worked for Siluria Mills and the town as a police officer, emerged the winner.

In those days of early primaries and Democratic party dominance, the result was known by June of 1958, although the new term of office did not begin until January of 1959.

But when Harris went into the sheriff's office to take over, he apparently decided there were aspects of the job he did not care for, and announced his resignation almost immediately.

This left the office open for Governor John Patterson to make an appointment.

At the time, numerous people assumed there was some backstage maneuvering. At any rate, Governor Patterson named C.P. 'Red' Walker to the sheriff's position, and Walker held the job until he was voted out in 1978.

Walker became a living legend for his exploits in the office.

Many people wondered why Walker wanted the sheriff's job when he had just gone through a five-man campaign to be elected to the House of Representatives in the state legislature.

The other four in that race were John Lewis Cates, J.T. "Jimmy" McDow, James Sharbutt and Frank Thiemonge. (The representative's spot was open because the previous incumbent, Karl Harrison, had run for Governor in 1958.)

Walker's appointment to the sheriff's job, left the representative's seat open, and a special election was held.

This time John Lewis Cates, Marion "Sonny" Jones, and William Morris ran for the post. Cates was elected.

Four years later, in 1962, Cates was challenged by Karl Harrison, but he held the seat. In 1966 Cates was narrowly defeated by Tom Stubbs.

Alabama Scene

by Bob Ingram

Alabama voters will get their day in the sun next Tuesday when they go to the polls in the presidential preferential primary.

National attention on Alabama will be considerable because it offers the best barometer of the relative strengths of the Democratic contenders. Similar primaries will be conducted on the same day in Georgia and Florida but they will be clouded by other considerations -- in Florida, the presence of native son Reuben Askew on the ballot will make a difference in the voting; in Georgia the close ties between Walter Mondale and former President Jimmy Carter may affect the outcome.

There are no such factors to impact on the vote in Alabama, hence the significance of the vote.

Despite his poor showings in Iowa and New Hampshire, the feeling persists that Alabama may give a boost to the fortunes of Sen. John Glenn. He desperately needs such a boost.

A host of prominent Alabamians are in Glenn's corner, including Lt. Gov. Bill Baxley. Glenn is perceived to be the less-liberal of the candidates, and his background with the space program should translate into votes in North Alabama where the program is so important.

Baxley hawkishly has predicted Glenn will get 50% of the Alabama vote. This sharply conflicts with a recent Birmingham News survey which places Mondale far out front. However, the newspaper poll was limited to those who professed to be Democrats, and a lot of the people who vote March 13 in the Democratic primary would not be classified as Democrats.

Alabama is no less critical to the Rev. Jesse Jackson. While he is running without the endorsement of the Alabama Democratic Conference, Rev. Jackson is expected to draw broad support from black voters. A strong showing by Jackson will work to Glenn's benefit, because most of the votes Jackson receives would otherwise go to Mondale.

Sen. Gary Hart, who scored the stunning upset in New Hampshire, isn't expected to do nearly so well in Alabama. He has spent little time here, his organization here is almost non-existent.

No one is estimating the voter turnout, but due to the tremendous national media exposure the primary will get, a bigger - than - expected vote may be forthcoming.

Shelby County taxpayer says, 'No one... asked me what I want'

Letter to the Editor:

Mr. Reagan and all the Democratic candidates seeking the riches of the Presidential Office to line their nests with more money, all want to serve the people (conscientiously, to hear their voices) and give them what they want. Bless their dear hearts -- the low down thieves.

This is what I want:

1. A national health program especially for small children and old people.

2. A Social Security Pension system and social programs equal to those of US Presidents, Congressmen, Senators, Governor George C. Wallace, state and federal judges and corporate executives.

3. Repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and all state Right to Work laws.

4. A constitutional amendment (Federal) stating, "No US citizen can serve more than two years in any elective office of the US government."

5. State governments shall be allowed two years to amend their constitutions to comply with federal requirements.

No one has asked me what I want. Where are the poll voters (questioners, examiners, etc.)? I vote! I pay taxes! My family votes! We own property! We fought wars! We have never been on relief! We never hear from you politicians except during elections!

Sincerely yours,
James O. Bonner, Jr.

Homemakers gather at 4-H Center

As snow swirled around the state 4-H Center last Tuesday, extension homemakers carried on their program as best they could.

Because of the weather, some of the program participants from other parts of the state were not able to be at the District IV meeting.

Shelby County's Associate County Agent Gail Reagan said 308 members registered for the event, but only 169 were able to attend.

Council officers from Shelby County attending the meeting included June Storey, president; Frances Shaw, president-elect; Dot Lucas, secretary-treasurer; Marguerite Williams, historian.

Recognition was given to the oldest homemaker's club from Chalkville and to the Jefferson County group for having the most members at the meeting.

Columbiana council

•Youth Aid Officer Judy Gilbert reported eight new cases for the month of February. Alcohol, she said, is still the main problem among city youth.

Gilbert told the council that plans are now in the works to put together a program dealing with alcohol and drugs that will be used in city schools.

•The council passed an ordinance saying senior citizens getting the reduced rate on cable television cannot have the movie channels.

Tac-Can district manager Richard Murphy is giving individuals over 65 who request it, the basic package -- channels 2-13 -- for $8.25. Other customers pay $12.95 per month for channels 2-20.

Councilman Harold McCord made the point that people unable to pay the regular price for cable television, couldn't afford to pay for extra channels.

Councilman Frank Owen cast the only dissenting vote, saying that age has its privileges, which should also include reduced rates for cable television movie channels.

Retirement birthday

Juanita Beck, a licensed practical nurse for 18 years, recently celebrated her birthday and retirement from Shelby Medical Center. She was presented a service award from SMC by Brenda Carter, assistant administrator of nursing services. Looking on is the hospital's interim administrator, Norman Price.

Columbiana police slot remains unfilled

The city of Columbiana is short one policeman.

However, there was no mention of the vacancy on the police force when the council talked about salaries for police department personnel at Thursday's meeting.

The man no longer with the Columbiana PD is Frank Formby. He was fired three weeks ago after refusing to resign.

A petition was reportedly signed by friends of the fired officer asking that he be given his job back.

No action was taken on the petition, however, and Formby quickly found a job with the Pelham Police Department.

Formby, who has been in law enforcement 18 years, said Columbiana Police Chief Howell Horn told him he had an attitude problem.

"He told me I didn't get along with the public or fellow officers," Formby reported, "and he accused me of not answering calls."

Formby has requested a hearing before the public safety committee of Columbiana. Members are Lewis Walker, Bill Seale and Mayor Buck Falkner.

At Thursday's meeting the city council adopted the following pay schedule for new officers: beginning pay of $400 bi-weekly with no experience; $450 after nine months and completion of the police academy; $500 after 18 months and top pay after 24 months.

A graduate of the academy with law enforcement experience, will now start out at $525 bi-weekly. After a nine month probationary period, he will draw top pay.

and needs to be rebuilt.

Since natural gas has no odor, a chemical is added to it at the station to warn of leaks in the system.

In other business, the council

•Approved the purchase of two air packs for the fire department at a cost of $1,449. They can be interchanged with rescue squad air packs.

•Approved the purchase of new tires to replace worn ones on the rescue vehicle.

•Appointed Mark Jones, Jeff Pilgreen, Larry Farris and Arthur Davis to the finance committee for the sewer project.

Yellow Jackets reach 2A basketball's top four

by Fred Guarino

The road leading to a 2A state basketball championship came to an abrupt deadend for the Vincent Yellow Jackets last Friday in Tuscaloosa.

After winning the championship for Area 7, and Region 4, and after defeating Holly Pond 71-63 in first round state playoff action, Vincent fell to R.C. Hatch, 84-67, in the semi-finals.

Free-throws spelled the end for the Yellow Jackets, who close out a successful season at 23-8.

Although R.C. Hatch hit 60 percent of its shots from the floor, top-four ranked Vincent stayed close by putting up 31 fieldgoals to the opposition's 33.

R.C. Hatch, however, made 30 trips to the free-throw line to just 11 trips by Vincent. Coach Richard Crumpton said that made all the difference.

Still, Crumpton had nothing critical to say about his Yellow Jackets.

"I was real proud of them. They dedicated themselves to working hard. They did everything we asked them to do and they played their hearts out," he said. "But they came up a little short against a real fine team and there is nothing you can do about that."

Evidence of the Yellow Jackets' dedication was shown by their ability to adapt as a team...

When Vincent reached state level competition, the opposition tried to shut down Bruce Hamilton's deadly lane shooting. In the face of that defensive strategy, Hamilton's less famous brother, Tony, stepped forward and with the help of his teammates, bombed the hoops from the outside.

Overshadowed by his brother and B.J. Keller all season, Tony Hamilton hit 50 percent of his shots from the floor in state tournament play.

He was largely responsible for the Yellow Jackets' first round victory over Holly Pond and he scored the first ten points for his team in that game.

Tony paced the Yellow Jackets with 19 points against Holly Pond until the rest of his squad heated up.

Against R.C. Hatch, Tony Hamilton again proved to be the main man. He scored 22 points and pulled down 15 rebounds to lead his teammates.

"I came prepared and I practiced my outside shooting," the junior standout said of his sudden rise to prominence.

Seniors Eric Posey, Keller, Eddie Reynolds and Pat Kelley will be gone next year, but -- probably to the delight of the Vincent fans and coaches -- brothers Tony and Bruce Hamilton will be back. That, and memory of the Holly Pond game, could well be reason for smiles.

The Holly Pond contest, began under less than perfect conditions for Vincent.

A short-lived but surprising Leap Year Eve snow storm kept Yellow Jacket basketball fans from following their team to Tuscaloosa last Wednesday.

Without a home crowd, Vincent also had to overcome cold shooting and a first half deficit to win. After Vincent led 16-10 through the first period -- thanks to Tony Hamilton -- Holly Pond fought back for a 28-22 half-time lead.

To make matters worse, Bruce Hamilton suffered his fourth foul in the third period with Holly Pond leading 45-40.

But Vincent wasn't ready to pack it in... Bruce Hamilton came out of a deep sleep to hit some badly needed free-throws. Tony Hamilton returned to first period form and knotted things at 55-all.

With under three minutes left in the game, Bruce Hamilton gave the Yellow Jackets a short lead at 57-55. But Holly Pond tied things up at 57-all with ten seconds left on the clock.

The game went into a three-minute overtime. Vincent declared war.

Keller, who had also been a sleeper until overtime, began to draw fouls from Holly Pond players. He upped the Yellow Jackets' lead to 60-57 before Bruce Hamilton and Reynolds made it 64-59 lead.

Reynolds hit from both the free-throw line and the floor to put Vincent up 68-61 and when the final horn sounded, the Yellow Jackets were on top 71-63.

"In the first half, it wasn't so much Holly Pond's playing, but what we weren't doing. I pretty well cleared their ears out," Crumpton said.

"I thought the press picked up the tempo of the game and that took Holly Pond out of their walk, set and shoot offense."

While Vincent fans may remember the Holly Pond game for a long time, last Friday's semi-finals game was one they will soon want to forget.

"Where did those guys come from?" was about all Crumpton could say after R.C. Hatch ended his team's state title dreams.

'Jackets plan strategy

Vincent basketball coach Richard Crumpton goes over the game strategy that will ultimately serve to beat Holly Pond in the first round of the state 2A basketball championship tournament. Vincent goes on to win this game but later finds R. C. Hatch an unstoppable force. (photo by Fred Guarino)

Auburn Tigerettes choose Columbiana girl

Shelly McCombs of Columbiana is now officially an Auburn University Tigerette.

The announcement was made Monday, February 27 by the Auburn Athletic Department.

The Tigerettes are a group of some 60 girls who assist the Auburn football program by aiding in unofficial recruiting on Saturdays and with overall administration work, during the fall.

During the winter quarter, the girls work with Auburn football players in helping to make official weekend visit for high school recruits more enjoyable.

According to Jerre Anne Williams, Tigerette publicity chairperson, the girls also help with seminars, conventions, receptions, football camps, alumni functions, and campus and athletic facility tours.

"Each Tigerette works hard and plays a very improtant part in the Auburn football program," Williams said.

Another Warrior down

UNA signs Douglass

The Thompson Warriors have added yet another outstanding football player to the college ranks.

John Douglass -- a 6'3" 225 pound tackle -- was recently signed by the University of North Alabama on a four-year football scholarship.

The Alabaster football standout averaged a grading of 70 percent for every game the Warriors played last season. "That grades him as a winner," said coach Doug Wheeler.

"He is really young. He just turned 17 and I feel he's got a lot of playing time," Wheeler added of Douglass' college future. "I feel that he will mature and he can handle even more weight."

According to the Warrior coach, Douglass did not play much football before his senior year but he worked hard and played in every game last season.

Douglass is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Douglass, Jr. of Alabaster.

Vincent retains honor

The team that put the Vincent Yellow Jackets on ice as far as state championships go, found themselves on the slab last Saturday in Tuscaloosa.

But even R.C. Hatch, which ultimately lost to Headland 71-63, could not deny the Yellow Jackets their own share of glory.

Vincent received both a semi-finalist trophy and saw brothers Bruce and Tony Hamilton recognized for all state honors.

For the record, Bobby Jackson scored 24 points and pulled down 19 rebounds to give Headland the 2A state title and a 34-2 record.

At any rate, the way things turned out, the Yellow Jackets still rank among the top four 2A high school basketball teams in Alabama for the 1983-84 season.

Turkey callers to compete

The Fourth Annual Southeastern Open Turkey Calling Championships will be held at Montgomery Civic Center, Wednesday, March 14 at 7 p.m.

Three divisions will make up the competition: Professional, Amateur, and Junior. Trophies will be awarded in all divisions.

Professional Division calls will include Tree call of hen, Old hen yelp, Fly down cackle of a hen turkey, Young turkey gobble, Caller's best call.

Amateur division: Tree call of hen, Old hen yelp, Fly down cackle of a hen turkey, Cluck, Caller's best call.

Junior division: Cluck, Yelp, Cackle, Gobble, Caller's best call.

Softball leagues plan registrations

A meeting for all teams interested in playing for the Columbiana Men and Women Slow Pitch Softball League is scheduled for Friday, March 9.

The meeting slated for 7:30 p.m. in the Columbiana Recreation Building will be used to inform participants of league rules as well as to register participating teams for action, according to league president Hank Lucas.

For more information, call 669-9856 before 10 p.m.

According to David Seales, Camp Branch is changing from an open league to a men's church softball league this season.

Camp Branch womens' softball will be handled by the YMCA this year, he said, but the men's league will be open to all area church teams.

To get things started, Seales said a meeting of participating teams will be held at the Camp Branch Community Center, Friday, March 9 at 7:30 p.m.

For more information, Seales suggests that church softball team officials call him at 663-5285, or contact league commissioner Eugene Carden at 663-7613.

Top steers win at county show

Awards of $1,500 were given out during the annual FFA / 4-H, Shelby County Steer Show Saturday.

Dawn Tate, a 4-H'er from Harpersville, captured 'Grand Champion' honors for her heavy-weight, 'Class 6' prize winning steer. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tate of Harpersville, she won a total of $150 cash, a $50 savings account, and trophies with her steers.

Todd Atchison, a 4-H'er from Chelsea, was reserve champion. Dawn's brother, Jamie Tate, won the 'Junior Showmanship' award.

Wayne Jones and breeder Joe Arledge won the 'Best Shelby County Calf and Breeder' award.

Twenty-six steers were presented in the show by county 4-Her's and members of Future Farmers of America.

"There's no doubt in my mind" said extension agent John Jones, "that this was the best show we've had in the county."

Winners are competing this Wednesday and Thursday in the district show in Birmingham. Winners from the district will advance to state competition March 12-14 in Montgomery.

All first place class winners received $50, and cash prizes in $5 decrements were awarded down to $30 for fifth place. The steers were judged by Dr. Richard Deese of Auburn University.

First through third place class winners were, respectively:

•Class 1 -- Wayne Cofer, Montevallo; Jimmy Nash; Karla Hawks

•Class 2 -- Jamie Tate, Harpersville; Bob Peete; Tommy Layton

•Class 3 -- Scott Salter, Moore's Cross Roads; Norman Payne; Jonathan Bates

•Class 4 -- Jessica Ann Eisenberg, Calera; Todd Atchison; Scott Atchison

•Class 5 -- Jonathan Bates, Montevallo; Lance Byrd; Bryan Hoagland

•Class 6 -- Dawn Tate, Todd Atchison, Wayne Jones

•Best calf and breeder -- Wayne Jones; Lance Byrd; Robby Johnson.

The show was sponsored by the Shelby County Cattleman's Association, Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries, the county extension office, and a host of area businesses and individuals.

Beautiful winners

Winners in the Miss Chelsea beauty pageant were: (junior winners on front row) Annette Parker, 4th runner up; Meredith Sherrell, 3rd and Miss Congeniality; Wendy Massey, Junior Miss Chelsea; Tina Landers, 1st; Sherry Smith, 2nd. The senior court consisted of: Lori Foster, 2nd and Miss Congeniality; Diane Smith, 3rd; Dawn Wilson, Miss Chelsea and tie for Miss Congeniality; Kim McManus, 1st; Deborah Shirley, 4th.

PHS seniors earn honors

Three seniors from Pelham High School have been recognized as winners of the 1984 United States National Award by the United States Achievement Academy.

Scott Davis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Davis of Pelham received his award for science.

Kevin J. Young, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry W. Young, received his award for mathematics.

Mary Ann Peel has received an award for mathematics. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Peel of Pelham.

Peel plans to attend the University of Alabama after graduation.

Talent needed

Can you sing? Dance? Play piano? Act or tell jokes?

The Montevallo PTO is seeking such people for its Talent Show on April 13. Cash prizes and door prizes will be presented.

Auditions for the show are set for 9 a.m., Saturday, March 24, in the MHS auditorium.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU SMELL GAS.

Natural gas has no odor of its own. We add one for your protection. Her's what you should do if you smell gas.

If the odor is slight, and it's near an appliance, it may simply mean a pilot light is out and needs relighting. But if there's any doubt, give us a call.

If the odor is strong, leave the building. Don't flip the light switches. Don't use any other electrical equipment. Don't light a match or candle or try to find the leak yourself. Be sure everyone is out, and call us from a neighbor's phone.

If the odor is outdoors, call us immediately. Don't wait for others to do it.

You can reach us anytime. If you smell gas, one of our servicemen will come right to your home and make a thorough inspection.

Natural gas is one of the safest energies you can use. And together we'll keep it that way.

LEGAL NOTICE

State of Alabama
County of Shelby

Notice is hereby given that a bill substantially as follows will be introduced in the Legislature of Alabama and appication for its passage and enactment will be made, to-wit:

A Bill to be Entitled
AN ACT

To authorize the Shelby County Commission to adopt, amend and provide for the enforcement of certain building codes which shall apply in certain areas in said county; to prescribe the manner of adopting such codes; to authorize the prescription and collection of certain fees necessary to effect the enforcement of such codes and to prescribe penalties for violation of such codes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. This act shall apply only in Shelby County, Alabama.

Section 2. When used in this act the word "code," unless the context clearly indicates a different meaning, shall mean: not less restrictive than the Southern Building Code, as of the date of this act, (and its companion codes on plumbing and gas, all as produced by the Southern Building Code Congress, and the National Electrical Code of the National Fire Protection Association).

Section 3. The Shelby County Commission may by reference, adopt, amend, and provide for the enforcement of the code. Such code, when adopted as herein authorized, shall apply to and govern in all unincorporated areas of the county and also in those parts of the county lying within the corporate limits of municipalities which have not adopted and are not enforcing municipal building codes. Such commission may also repeal any such code after having adopted it.

The code shall not be adopted by such commission except after a public hearing on due notice thereof by publication in a newspaper published and of general circulation in such county. Such notice shall be published at least ten days before the hearing. The text of the code which it is proposed to adopt by reference shall be made available for inspection at the county courthouse. Nothing herein shall be construed to require the setting out in full of the text of the proposed code in the notice of the hearing nor in the resolution or ordinance; but such code or amendments thereof shall be properly identified as to date and source in the notice and in the ordinance or resolution adopting it and a copy thereof shall be attached to such ordinance or resolution.

A copy thereof shall also be filed in the office of the clerk of the county commission and in at least one other county office where such copies will be available for public use, inspection and examination.

When Shelby County has adopted the code by reference pursuant hereto, the officer administering such code may adopt administrative regulations which incorporate by reference such subsequent changes and amendments of the code, properly identified as to date and source, as may be adopted by the agency or association which promulgated the code, if such officer finds that the changes and amendments conform to nationally recognized standards or accepted engineering practices.

Any administratice regulations which incorporate building code amendments by reference shall become effective upon the expiration of sixty calendar days following the promulgation of the regulations, unless within that period of time the county commission adopts a resolution or ordinance disapproving of such administrative regulations.

Section 4. The county commission shall have the authority for and the responsibility of enforcing the provisions of this act. The county commission having established an enforcement program for such code, is hereby further authorized and empowered to prescribe and exact fees and charges based on a percent of the total value or cost of the project, to be paid for inspections and other administrative services. Such fees and charges collected pursuant to this act shall be paid into the county treasury.

Section 5. Any person violating any of the provisions of this act or failing to comply with any of the provisions of this act after ten days written notice of an enforcement agency shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars of thirty days in jail, or both, and a penalty of one hundred dollars per day during continuance of the violation.

Section 6. This act shall not be construed to impair or limit in any way the power of the county commission to enjoin or abate public nuisances within its jurisdiction.

Section 7. Nothing in this act shall be construed as abrogating or otherwise affecting the power of any state department or agency to promulgate regulations, make inspections, or approve plans in accordance with any other applicable provisions of law not in conflict with the provisions herein.

Section 8. This act shall be liberally construed as being additional authority for the Shelby County Commission to adopt ordinances relating to the establishment and enforcement of minimum standards for buildings, dwellings, and the structures of all types and descriptions used for human habitation and occupancy. The authority conferred by this act is cumulative to and in addition to other existing legal authority.

Section 9. Mobile Homes, as defined in Section 24-5-2 of the Code of Alabama 1975, are specifically excluded from the provisions of this act.

Section 10. The following exceptions shall be excluded by the county commission from the provisions of these minimum codes:

1. One and two family dwellings and out buildings in connection therewith.

2. Farm buildings or farm structures.

Nothing in these minimum codes shall apply to any building or project authorized or licensed by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, or the Federal Power Commission. The county commision may modify these minimum codes for application within its area of jurisdiction by adopting provisions more stringent than the codes set forth above, and also may amend and revise these codes by adopting more recent amendments or additions of the named codes.

Section 11. The provisions of this act are severable. If any part of this act is declared invalid or unconstitutional, such declaration shall not affect the part which remains.

Section 12. This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor, or upon its otherwise becoming a law.

STATE OF ALABAMA
PROCLAMATION
BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at the Third Special Session of 1983 ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama on a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, set out here as Act No. 83-791, and further ordered in Act No. 83-791 that said election on said amendment to be held at the first statewide primary, general or special election after the expiration of three (3) months from the final adjournament of the Third Special Session of the Legislature in 1983; and

WHEREAS, the date of the first statewide primary, general or special election held after the expiration of three (3) months from the final adjournment of the Third Special Session of the Legislature in 1983 will be and occur on March 13, 1984; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with this proposed amendment, is required by law and by the provisions of the Act submitting the amendment to be given by a Proclamation of the Governor, to be published in every county in the State of Alabama for four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for the election, in a newspaper published in each such county;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, George C. Wallace, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 13th day of March, 1984, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form provided by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of 1901 of the State of Alabama:

Proposed Amendment

"(A) As used in this Amendment, the following terms shall be given the following respective meanings:

"Costs of County Facilities" means the costs of acquiring, providing, constructing and equipping new County Facilities, renovating, reconstructing, improving, enlarging or equipping any existing County Facilities or any combination thereof.

"County" means Randolph County, Alabama.

"County Facilities" means (a) any land, building, equipment and any other facility or facilities necessary or useful in the housing, confinement, detention, feeding, treatment, rehabilitation or training of persons held in lawful custody, and (b) any land, building, equipment or other facility useful as a county courthouse building.

"County Facilities Building Fund" means the County Facilities Building Fund to be established by the County pursuant to the provisions hereof for the purpose of receiving certain tax receipts required by the provisions hereof to be paid therein.

"Existing Ad Valorem Tax" means the two and one-half mill road, bridge and public building ad valorem tax authorized to be levied by the County pursuant to Section 215 of the Constitution.

"Related Securities" means any bonds or warrants, including refunding bonds or warrants, issued for purposes for which Securities may be issued hereunder after the effective date of this Amendment under the provisions of any other amendment to the Constitution or statute, provdied that the governing body of the County in the proceedings authorizing the issuance of such bonds or warrants hrs pledged for the payment of such bonds or warrants those moneys required by the provisions hereof to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

"Securities" means any bonds or warrants, including refunding bonds or warrants, issued by the County under the provisions of this Amendment.

"Special Ad Valorem Tax" means the special county hospital ad valorem tax authorized to be levied by the County pursuant to Amendment No. 72 to the Constitution.

"Special Taxes" means the Special Ad Valorem Tax and the Existing Ad Valorem Tax.

(B) The County is hereby authorized and directed (subject to prior pledges and agreements, if any) to pay, out of taxes collected each year, beginning with taxes collected with respect to the tax year that began October 1, 1982, one-half of the tax receipts derived from the levy of the Special Ad Valorem Tax into the County Facilities Building Fund. The County shall discontinue paying such tax receipts into the County Facilities Building Fund when all of the Securities issued hereunder and any Related Securities issued by the County have been paid in full, or when the County shall have expended the sum of $1,500,000 out of the County Facilities Building Fund to pay Costs of County Facilities, whichever shall last occur.

(C) The County is hereby authorized and directed (subject to prior pledges and agreements, if any) to pay, out of taxes collected each year, beginning with taxes collected with respect to the tax year that began October 1, 1982, four-tenths of the tax receipts derived by the County from the levy of the Existing Ad Valorem Tax into the County Facilities Building Fund. The County shall discontinue paying such tax receipts into the County Facilities Building Fund when all of the Securities issued hereunder and any Related Securities issued by the County have been paid in full, or when the County shall have expended the sum of $1,500,000 out of the County Facilities Building Fund to pay Costs of County Facilities, whichever shall last occur.

(D) The County is hereby authorized and directed to establish the County Facilities Building Fund for the purpose of receiving the moneys required to be paid therein by the provisions hereof and any other tax receipts or other moneys of the County that the County may determine to pay therein. Funds on deposit in the County Facilities Building Fund shall be used to pay Costs of County Facilities up to an amount not exceeding $1,500,000 and to pay principal of and interest and premium, if any, on (1) Securities issued hereunder to finance Costs of County Facilities and (2) Related Securities issued to finance Costs of County Facilities.

(E) The County is hereby authorized to sell and issue from time to time its Securities, not exceeding $1,500,000 in aggregate principal amount, for the purpose of financing Costs of County Facilities and to pledge for payment of the Securities the portions of the Special Taxes required to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

For the purpose of refunding any Securities, including refunding Securities issued under the provis ons of this Amendment, whether the refunding shall occur before, at or after the maturity of the Securities refunded and for the purpose of paying all premiums and expenses of the refunding (including, without limitation, attorneys' fees, costs of printing the refunding Securities, fiscal agents' fees, and accountants' fees), the County is hereby authorized to sell and issue from time to time refunding Securities in an aggregate principal amount not exceeding the sum of (a) the outstanding principal amount of the Securities to be refunded, (b) the interest (accrued or to accrue) to the respective maturities of the Securities to be refunded, or if the Securities to be refunded are to be called for redemption, either on the earliest date on which under their terms they may be redeemed or some later date or dates, the interest (accrued or to accrue) on the Securities to be refunded to the date or dates on which they are to be called for redemption, (c) the amount of any redemption premium required, by the terms of the Securities, to be paid as a condition to their redemption prior to their respective maturities, and (d) the amount of any expenses (actual or estimated) of such refunding.

The Securities issued hereunder may but need not be general obligations of the County, but shall be secured by the portions of the Special Taxes pledged for their payment in the proceedings of the County whereunder the Securities are authorized to be issued and required to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

All Securities issued under this Amendment may be in such form and denominations and of such tenor and maturities, may bear interest at such rate or rates, payable at such time or times, not exceeding thirty (30) years from their date, may be sold at public or private sale and may contain such provisions not inconsistent with this Amendment as shall be provided in the proceedings of the governing body of the County whereunder such Securities are authorized to be issued. The power to pay, as required herein, the portions of the Special Ad Valorem Tax and the Existing Ad Valorem Tax into the County Facilities Building Fund and the power to issue the Securities shal be in addition to all other powers which the County may have under this Constitution and the laws of Alabama. The indebtedness evidenced by the Securities issued under this Amendment shall be in addition to all other indebtedness authorized to be incurred by the County and shall not be charged against the limitation on the indebtedness of the County provided for in Section 224 of the Constitution.

(F) The County is hereby authorized to pledge for payment of principal of and interst (and premium, if any) on Related Securities the portions of the Special Taxes required to be paid into the County Facilities Building Fund.

(G) It is the intention hereof that the governing body of the County shall pay one-half of the revenues from the Special Ad Valorem Tax and four-tenths of the revenues from the Existing Ad Valorem Tax (subject only to prior pledges of and agreements pertaining to either thereof) as shall, together with any other moneys paid into the County Facilities Building Fund, be sufficient to provide funds to make available County Facilities for the County, either directly through payment of Costs of County Facilities or through payment of the principal of and interest (and premium, if any) on the Securities authorized to be issued hereunder and on any Related Securities that may be issued by the County for the purpose of paying Costs of COunty Facilities, all to the end that adequate County Facilities will be available in the County. Proceeds of the Special Taxes paid into the County Facilities Building Fund that are not needed within 12 months of the date of such payment to pay principal of and interest on Securities issued hereunder or on Related Securities or to refund Securities shall be used to pay costs of constructing and maintaining the County Facilities herein provided for, or to purchase and retire Securities or Related Securities or to call Securities or Related Securities for redemption prior to the maturity thereof.

(H) The provisions of this Amendment shall be self-executing, and authorization from or any other action by the Legislature shall not be a prerequisite to the issuance of the Securities hereunder or to the use of the proceeds of the Special Taxes as provided herein; provided, however, that the provisions of this Amendment shall not become operative unless approved by a majority of the qualified electors of the County who vote thereon at a referendum election held for such purpose upon the call of the County Commission, and provided further, that if this amendment is approved by the qualified electors of the County who vote thereon upon its submission, such election shall constitute a referendum held for such purpose and no further election need to be called.

(I) It is hereby specifically declared that this Amendment is not being proposed pursuant to the provisions of that certain amendment to the Constitution (known as Amendment No. 425) that was proposed by Act No. 82-330 adopted at the 1982 Regular Session of the Legislature of Alabama and provisions of the said Amendment 425 are hereby declared to be inapplicable to this Amendment.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election to be held on Tuesday the 13th day of March, [illegible], upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of 1901 of the State of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 13th day of March, 1984, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county, and in a county where no newspaper is published, a copy of the notice shall be posted at each courthouse and in three other places in the county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed by the Secretary of State at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, this the 10th day of February, 1984.

Defendants.

In the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama
Case No. CV-83-088(E)

TO: Vernon Kidd, Percy Robinson, Melinda Robinson Goodman and Wesley J. Robinson

Whereas, Louise Kidd has filed a petition for an order to sell certain lands belonging to Louise Kidd, Juanita K. Hall, Walter Kidd, Charlie Kidd, Mattie Kidd Hamilton, Persia E. Kidd, Jr., Vernon Kidd, Jr., Clifford Kidd, Percy Robinson, Melinda Robinson Goodman, Wesley J. Robinson, Leola M. Kidd, Frederick E. Kidd, Walter E. Kidd and David Earl Kidd, which said land is described in said application as follows:

NE¼ of SW¼ of Section 18; 25 acres on East side of SE¼ of SW¼ of Section 18, bounded on the West by hedge row; N½ of SW¼ of SE¼ of Section 18; 10 acres on East side of NE¼ of NW¼ of Section 19, Except South 509.7 feet of said tract; Except SE¼ of SE¼ of SW¼ of Section 18; Except one acre as described in Deed Book 150, Page 473 in the Probate Office of Shelby County, Alabama.

All of the above described property is located in Township 19 South, Range 3 East, Shelby County, Alabama.

Whereas, Plaintiff has alleged that she and the Defendants named therein are the joint owners in common of the above described land.

Whereas, Plaintiff has also alleged that said land cannot be equitably divided or partitioned among said joint owners without a sale thereof and said sale is being made for the purpose of distribution among the joint owners.

Whereas, Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Vernon Kidd, Jr. by certified mail at his last known address, 50 Peterboro Street, Apt. 316, Detroit, Michigan 48201, on two occasions, and both notices were returned, marked "unclaimed", one on April 15, 1983 and the other on October 12, 1983.

Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Percy Robinson by certified mail at his last known address, Ferry Court, Childersburg, Alabama 35044 and said summons and complaint was returned to the Circuit Clerk's Office of Shelby County, Alabama, marked "insufficient address". Plaintiff's attorney then tried to serve Defendant, Percy Robinson by certified mail c/o Judy Goldman, 316 West Grand, Highland Park, Michigan 48031, and said summons and complaint was returned marked "unclaimed" on October 23, 1983.

Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Melinda Robinson Goodman, at her last known address, 1689 Lee Place, Detroit, Michigan 48206, and said summons and complaint was returned to the Circuit Clerk's Office of Shelby County, Alabama, marked "moved, not forwardable" on March 31, 1983. Plaintiff's attorney then tried to serve Defendant, Melinda Robinson Goodman by certified mail c/o Judy Goldman, 316 West Grand, Highland Park, Michigan 48031, and said summons and complaint was returned marked "unclaimed" on October 23, 1983.

Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Wesley J. Robinson by certified mail at his last known address, 18226 Patton, Detroit, Michigan 48227 and said summons and complaint was returned to the Circuit Clerk's Office of Shelby County, Alabama, marked "moved, left no address" on April 4, 1983.

After making diligent search and inquiry, Plaintiff has been unable to ascertain the addresses of said persons. Notice is therefore given to said defendants by this publication notice.

Whereupon, it is ordered that the 14th day of May, 1984 at 1:00, be appointed a day on which to hear such application at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said application if they think proper.

Witness this the 2 day of March, 1984.

Defendant

In the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama
Case No. DR-84-59

Order of Publication

It being made to appear in the above cause from the affidavit of Buford Murrell Osborne, that Defendant, Linda Gayle Osborne, has an unknown address and the same cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort and on diligent inquiry, her last known whereabouts being Harpersville, Alabama; and that said Defendant is over the age of 19 years; it is, therefore, on request of Plaintiff, ordered that the said Defendant, Linda Gayle Osborne, answer or plead to the Complaint in said cause on or before March 23, 1984, or, in default thereof, for 30 days thereafter, a default judgment be rendered against said Defendant.

It is further ordered that publication of this order be now made in the Shelby County Reporter, a newspaper published in Shelby County, Alabama, once a week for four consecutive weeks, and that a copy of said order be posted up at the door of the Courthouse of this County.

Done and Ordered, this 17th day of February, 1984.

MEMORY

IN LOVING MEMORY OF GUY KIRBY
Who went missing March 13, 1975
The disappearance of guy, is still a mystery,
Although the case seems to be past history.
Nine years have gone by without a word,
And not one thing has his family heard.
The memory of Guy, his family has kept,
and often times each one has wept.
But times go by and all hope seems gone,
Guy is still out there, but not all alone.
The ones who loved him are with him still,
No matter where he is, in valley or on hill,
But in our hearts, he'll always stay,
Each moment, each day, each year he's away.
To the one or ones who did Guy in,
We hope the Lord will forgive you, that awful sin.
A conviction of crime is not our goal,
But a conviction to Christ to save your soul.
In Loving Memory of Guy, from his Family and Friends

Helena roads get help

by Fred Guarino

Help is coming to Liberty Heights.

In 30 days the City of Helena will begin a resurfacing and road paving project in the area. Funding will come from a $275,000 community development block grant, according to city clerk Frances Parrish.

Roads to be paved or resurfaced will include Cunningham Drive, Lawley Street, Briggins Drive, Starkey Street and an unnamed road, all located in Liberty Heights, according to building inspector Gary Carter.

Carter noted that Scurlock Road, which is not located in Liberty Heights, will also be improved.

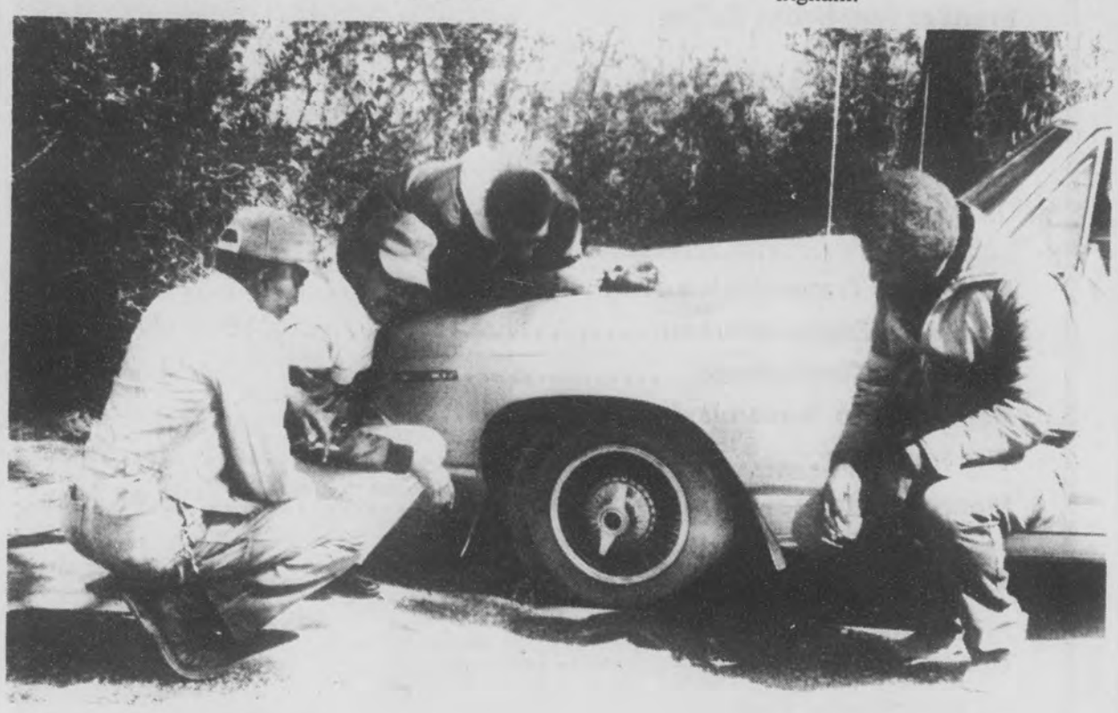
The roadwork plans came as good news to at least four Liberty Heights residents. Bennie Howard, Fredrick Tyree, Joe Burnett and a man who simply called himself "Lee" were all eager to show the Reporter just how bad their streets were last Friday morning.

In their eyes, some of the worst conditions are along Cunningham Drive where potholes are numerous.

"Sure it will help," Howard said of his city's planned improvement. "A lot of them that drive through here have busted tires or knocked their front ends out of alignment. I knocked my right front side out of alignment myself."

The city opened bids for the project on February 24. Parrish said easement corrections are now being sought and actual road work should begin in 30 days.

The low bid for the project was Dunn Construction, Birmingham.



Pothole problems

A $275,000 community block grant should end the widespread problem of potholes in the Liberty Heights section of Helena. Looking over a bogged down vehicle on Cunningham Drive are (left front to back) Bennie Howard, Joe Burnett and Fredrick Tyree, and (right) a man who simply called himself "Lee". Ladder power

Firefighter Robert King appears dot-like through the knees of a photographer as he starts up the 75-foot ladder on the North Shelby County Fire District's newest piece of equipment. Chief Winston Boutwell said the $250,000 Pierce truck expands his department's firefighting capabilities, especially in growing commercial areas such as Inverness, where mid-rise office building are common. North Shelby seeks library

by John Hood

Plans for a library and community center in North Shelby County are slowly beginning to take shape.

Two officers of the fledgling North Shelby Friends of the Library, and one concerned resident met with county library director Phil Clark Thursday night to find out how to raise funds for a facility. The meeting was held at the First Christian Church on Valleydale Road.

Because residents of Beat 12 and 13 are not within any city limits, a library would have to be funded by a county-wide tax or a local fee, according to Clark. Both proposals presently have to be approved by the voters of the entire county.

"We don't have a base because we are unincorporated," said Lyn Stockham, president of the group. "To apply for federal grant money, we have to go through a legislative process."

The state legislature must pass a bill allowing special districts within a county to tax themselves, and then the districts may vote on it. But Clark said there might be an easier way.

"In committee now is a permissive tax bill, which allows counties to tax for libraries," said Clark. The passage of this bill would allow tax money collected by the county library system to be spread around, he said, including a facility for Beats 12 and 13.

"The county library board would be willing to do this," Clark said. He estimated the cost of the library at about $500,000, but added that may be a bit 'idealistic.'

The group plans to start meeting monthly, Stockham said, noting that one advantage to having a library is having a facility where area civic groups can meet. The next meeting will be March 29.

The group's last official meeting was held in May, 1983.

Rescue 88 sells papers to raise pager funds

Members of Rescue 88 will be selling newspaper subscriptions this Saturday in Columbiana.

Volunteer Mike Atchison said the group plans to have a table set up at both Super Foods and Piggly Wiggly groceries during the day, and members on hand to take new subscriptions and renewals to the Shelby County Reporter.

If enough volunteers are available Saturday, Atchison said they will also go door-to-door in both Columbiana and Wilsonville.

The rescue unit -- which serves south eastern Shelby County -- will receive $3 for each new $7 in-county subscription, and $1 for all renewals, no matter when they come due. Atchison also said all straight donations to the rescue would gladly be accepted.

He said that members plan to upgrade their beeper system with the proceeds from the sale.

"The main thing will be to get voice pagers, and a whole lot more of them," Atchison said. "More folks will be available to answer calls."

Rescue 88 has been in operation about two years with its Columbiana based vehicle. It has some 18 responding volunteers, and numerous non-responding members.

Pelham grad tops in college

A graduate of Pelham High School is one of the 15 outstanding students at Tennessee's Bethel College.

Nona Young is a senior at Bethel and editor of the yearbook. She is a member of Lambda Sigma sorority, Gamma Beta Phi Honor Society and Diakonoi.

The North Shelby County student will be listed in a volume naming outstanding students from more than 1,500 institutions of higher learning in the United States and abroad.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Young.

Computer magic

Thompson 'scientists' show off projects

Nine Thompson Middle School students will be showing off their science projects in Birmingham on April 12.

The seventh and eighth grade students -- who placed first, second and third in each of three divisions at their school's annual science fair -- will be competing for Central Alabama Regional honors.

Representing Thompson Middle School will be: •Life division winners Leslie Quick, first; David Pray, second; and Dana Pickett, third.

•Earth Division winners, Darin Maxwell, first; Janice Nolan, second; and Beth Collins, third.

•Chemistry/physics division winners, Tim Ross, first; Angie Park, second; and Kim Hood, third.

Stephen Jones will not be competing at the regional event but he did win the sixth grade division.

To win the seventh and eighth grade life division, Leslie Quick demonstrated how mouth cultures can be killed with mouth wash.

To take the seventh and eighth grade earth divison, Darin Maxwell showed how rock crystals are formed.

To take top honors in the chemistry/physics divison for seventh and eighth graders, Tim Ross demonstrated different types of computers and how they work with help from a computer program he designed.

Sixth grade winner Steven Jones demonstrated how new colors are formed from base colors.

Other winners were as follows:

•Life: April Sellers, fourth; Wayne Nunnally, Ty Mask and Jennifer Stinson all honorable mentions.

•Earth: Eric Carter, fourth; Renee Malboeuf, John Nix and Cindy Kent, all honorable mentions.

•Chemistry/physics: Craig Yancy, fourth; Brandy Gibbs, Cathy Pickett and Tim Mulling, all honorable mentions.

•Sixth grade divison: Jennifer Malone, second; Traci Cole, third; Valerie Gray, fourth; Lory Coyne, Charline Barker, Jennifer Weaver and Aimee White, all honorable mentions.

Ministers preview 'Prodigal'; Zimmer scheduled for county

Carl Love, owner of the Strand Theatre in Montevallo gave a free preview of the movie, "The Prodigal" to area ministers and church leaders Monday night.

The movie, which was produced by Billy Graham's World Wide Productions, is a fast paced drama of a modern day family. It will open to the public at the Strand for a limited engagement on April 6.

The Strand has also booked world-famous singer Norma Zimmer for five personal performances in June, in co-sponsorship with the Spring Creek Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

Jr. scholars compete

Calera, Columbiana, Chelsea, Montevallo, Thompson, Riverchase and Vincent were all vied for top academic honors, Wednesday, March 7.

Shelby County Middle School Scholars' Bowl was held at the board of education office building in Columbiana. A total of 170 students were expected to participate in the event for sixth, seventh and eighth grade championships.

Each school was to field one team for each grade and to participate in four rounds of academic questions.

With electronic buzzers in hand, the students were all intended to test their brains and to be the first to answer an academic question correctly for their school.

The competition was set to be begin at 9 a.m. and continue until 3:45 p.m. While the results were not known at press time, they will be published along with the names of championship winning team members in next week's Reporter.

Rooms scheduled to be used for the competition were the board of education office building cafeteria, conference room, resource center and Room 11.

Top moms

Maureen Kelly (left), Grace McEntee and Cora McMaster were this year's merit mothers from Shelby County. The three were honored at a tea at Pelham City Hall and later attended the state event at Arlington where Jeanette Guthrie of Jasper was selected to represent the state. (photo by Bert Seaman)

Dr. Farmer honored with endowed series

Friends and students of Dr. Hallie Farmer are working to establish an endowed social science lecture series in her memory at the University of Montevallo.

Called "the undisputed champion of this state's politically - minded women," Dr. Farmer came to Alabama in 1927 to teach history at UM (then Alabama College). From 1949 until her retirement in 1956, she chaired the social sciences department there.

Dr. Farmer spearheaded a crusade for reform in Alabama politics in the '40s and '50s, including work to abolish the poll tax that discriminated against women and other segments of the population, and by work to allow women to serve on jury duty.

She also advocated prison reform and was instrumental in beginning the state merit system as well as the pardon and parole system.

She was the first woman elected to the Montevallo City Council and served that body from 1938-45.

She was an innovative officer of the American Association of University Women, serving as state president, national chairman of the legislative program committee, and, at the time of her death in 1960, she was president-elect of the national AAUW.

Judson College established the Alabama Women's Hall of Fame in 1971. Dr. Farmer took her place beside Julia Tutwiler and Helen Keller as one of the first three inductees.

The Hallie Farmer Lecture Series Fund will bring to UM, lecturers in the field of social sciences once every two years. The principal will be invested, with the revenue supporting this biennial lecture series.

Dr. Lucille Griffith, former chairman of the Department of Social Sciences, is chairman of the Hallie Farmer Fund effort, which is part of the larger UM Annual Fund Drive.

Inquiries or correspondence may be directed to Dr. Lucille Griffith, 386 Highland St., Montevallo, AL 35115.

Chiropractor joins ACA

An area chiropractor has been elected to represent his profession in Alabama at the national level.

P. Reginald Hug, D.C. was recently named as state delegate to the American Chiropractic Association (ACA) governing body for a two year term. The ACA, with a membership of over 18,000, represents the majority of licensed chiropractic practitioners in the United States through offices in the Washington DC area.

Dr. Hug served as president of the Jefferson County Chiropractic Society and the Alabama State Chiropractic Association and was named Chiropractor of the year in Alabama in 1983. He lives on Titonka Road in north Shelby County and has practiced in Cahaba Heights since 1971.

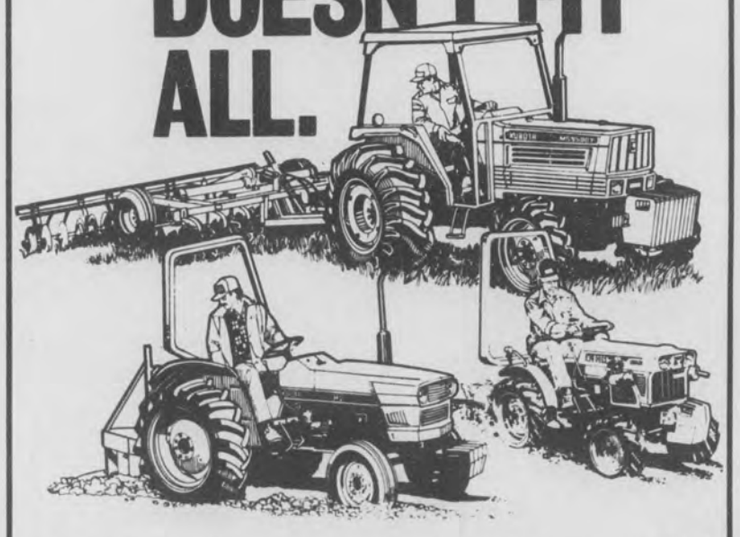
ONE SIZE DOESN'T FIT ALL.



Kubota has the field covered with dozens of diesel tractors, from 10 to 76 PTO horsepower.

And while they may vary in size, some things are the same on every model. The Kubota diesel engine, for example.

It's sturdy and dependable, one of the most fuel-efficient diesel engines anywhere. And not only does it use little fuel, it requires little maintenance. There's less noise and vibration too.

So take a look. There's a diesel-powered Kubota in your size.

Baby pause

The Busbys -- first to use the missionary furlough home in Wilsonville -- will be leaving this week for assignment in Venezuela. Taking a 'baby pause' from packing are (from left) Roger, Lindsey, Carol, Christy and Bethany.

Wilsonville Baptists open to missionaries

by Bert Seaman

When a family moves into the house at the end of Church Street in Wilsonville, all they need is food and clothing.

Everthing else -- from furniture to cooking utensils -- has been provided by members of the Wilsonville First Baptist Church.

"It's our home missions project," explained Bertha Cosper, who is chairman of the committee responsible for the home.

When it was purchased three years ago, the house was occupied by the church's minister of music. But the present music director made other arrangements, so the Women's Missionary Union of the church asked if the house could be used by missionary families on furlough.

When the church agreed, the congregation gave furniture, bedding, china and all the necessary appliances.

Just before Christmas, the first missionary family moved in.

The Roger Busbys came home on medical furlough because their three-year-old daughter Bethany had a severe ear infection.

When they arrived from Costa Rica on December 22, the couple had two children, Bethany and eight-year-old Christy. When they left March 5 -- they had three.

Lindsey, who was expected the end of January, actually arrived on the second of that month.

When Lindsey was born, the church helped out again with a 'box shower.' Baby items were placed in a box left at the church.

Since complications following childbirth forced Carol Busby to spend three weeks in the hospital, she wasn't able to get acquainted with very many people in the community.

However, during Christmas, church members put up a tree for the Busby's and played Santa for the children.

Christy made friends in her third grade class at Wilsonville Elementary School that she had to say goodby to last week.

On Monday, the family left for Los Teques, Venezuela, where the third grader will attend a school for embassy children.

This will be the Busbys' first assignment after completing language school in Costa Rica.

Now the missionary home in Wilsonville is ready to receive another family.

The home is listed with the denomination's foreign mission board and can be used by any Baptist missionary.

Church pastor Etsel Riddle said that 1% of all undesignated funds are used for the upkeep of the dwelling.

The house is between 85 and 100 years old, and was purchased for $20,000 from Myrtie Daniel when she moved.

Some renovation was done, Riddle said, mostly in the kitchen and to the fireplace area in the den. The cost was approximately $3,000.

The next project is to add a second bathroom, and friends of the church from various areas of the county have contributed $1,500 toward the construction.

YOUR WEEDS WILL CURL UP, SHRIVEL, AND DISAPPEAR. CHEMLAWN GUARANTEES IT.

Why fight weeds alone? With ChemLawn you'll win the battle against weeds—and have a thicker, greener lawn, too. Guaranteed. Because we keep coming back until you're completely satisfied, or we'll refund your money.

WE'D LIKE TO GIVE YOU A FREE, NO-OBLIGATION LAWN ANALYSIS covering the 15 trouble spots in every lawn. Things like grass type—is it right for your area?—crabgrass and broadleaf weeds—insect problems—even whether you're over- or under-watering.

If you wish, this free analysis is all we'll do for you. But if you say yes to ChemLawn care, here's what else we'll do:

WE'LL GET RID OF THE WEEDS. We can zap over 60 kinds of weeds, right down to their roots. We'll apply a special crabgrass control—and we'll come back at just the right time to wipe out broadleaf weeds. Guaranteed.

WE COME BACK TO FEED YOUR LAWN. Our custom-blended feeding turns your lawn a darker, richer green. Guaranteed. Your Specialist will make roots grow deeper, strengthen the sod, and fill in ugly bare spots.

THEN, WE'LL DE-BUG IT. Since lawn bugs can do a lot of damage before they're even noticed, your Specialist will get them before they can seriously harm your lawn. Guaranteed.

And your ChemLawn Specialist will keep coming back—with free service calls within 48 hours—and free consultations on the best ways to mow, water, dethatch, and overseed.

WHY DO IT YOURSELF? When ChemLawn's year-round lawn care program costs about the same as if you did the same things yourself. And we guarantee you a more weed-free lawn—without the back-breaking work.

Mind of the artist

What goes through the mind of the artist -- old or young -- during the creative process of drawing? It's a mysterious but important process to say the least. Whatever the process, it certainly seems to have the complete concentration of Thompson third grader Angie Gilmore who is drawing for the school's art show this month. See story on page 10. Commission denies low equipment bidder

by Fred Guarino

For the second county commission meeting in a row, highway department equipment bids became a source of controversy last Monday.

Also, for the second time, Joe Money Machinery Co., Inc. found itself the odd man out as a result of apparently legal but controversial recommendations by county engineer Gary Ray.

Two weeks ago Ray surprised equipment dealers with the way he handled bids on a hydraulic excavator.

At that time, the county commission was expected to accept bids based on an outright purchase price, a 36-month lease purchase agreement or, a 48-month lease purchase agreement. Joe Money had the low bid on the 36-month option while Dixie Equipment Company had the low bid for outright purchase.

However, on Ray's recommendation, the commission surprised bidders by going for a 36-month lease purchase option with an unusual twist.

Instead of awarding the sale to Money based upon his low 36-month option bid, commissioners took Dixie Equipment's low outright purchase price and financed an option with the First National Bank of Columbiana.

Last Monday, Joe Money was again the low bidder -- this time for a front-end loader. Again, Money's bid was rejected.

This time, however, the rejection was based on specifications allegedly written "for" a Caterpillar 963 unit that Money's equipment would not fit.

The only represented company which could offer that particular Caterpillar was Thompson Tractor Company. Other bids either fell below required specifications or exceeded the Caterpillar in size and cost.

Adding to the frustration of Joe Money representative Bill Thomas was the fact that the county engineer never denied the point.

"In writing specs, a lot has to be considered," Ray told commissioners. "Wherever you start, someone will be below or above. What I have tried to do in my mind is test units... and draw specifications in a range which proved satisfactory."

The specification that left Joe Money out of compliance but was met by the Caterpillar unit, was the requirement for 36,000 pounds of break-out force. Break-out force is the pressure exerted by a front-end loader's digging bucket when it is scooping up a load.

Commissioner Harold Davenport said he had mixed emotions about the specifications which Ray used. He also asked Thomas why his company did not bid on another unit which would meet or exceed the break-out force specs.

Thomas said he tried to bid equipment which could do the job without exceeding specifications and thereby pricing himself out of the competition.

The Caterpillar unit bid by Thompson Tractor costs $71,563.54. According to Thomas, other units with larger break-out forces would have cost at least $100,000.

Thomas said that when Ray tested front-end loaders in a chert pit, he compared a new Caterpillar unit to a five-year old model demonstrated by Joe Money. He also tied the machines down to avoid tipping them over.

Thomas challenged the usefulness of the break-out force test required by Ray. He said a front-end loader can not use any force greater than the load weight which which would cause it to tip forward.

He said the Caterpillar's usable break-out force was below its peak rating. He said his unit could match up on a usable force basis and could actually handle more weight without tipping.

Since the machines were tied down for the test, tip weight was not verified.

But Ray argued before commissioners that more differences existed between the Joe Money

Pelham buys sewer plant

A package sewerage system is expected to be installed this week for Pelham Fire Station #2. The unit should be in operation sometime next week.

Complaints about raw sewage from the station were first registered with the state some two years ago.

Last month the Reporter observed discharge from the station's toilets dumping straight into nearby Bishop Creek -- a direct violation of state environmental laws.

The discharge comes from a pipe about 50 yards downstream from the station.

Paul Yeager, Jr., director of public works for Pelham, said waste from the station will now be treated by a miniature active sludge plant built next to the firehouse.

"The plant is basically just like the one that handles sewage for the entire city, except that it is a lot smaller," Yeager said.

The plant will cost the city about $1,500, according to Yeager. Construction is expected to start by Thursday or Friday, and will be completed by early next week.

Mayor Burk Dunaway said the unit is being installed by Trimm Construction Company.

According to city officials, the building's sewerage lines were initially supposed to hook into a private plant in Green Park South. However, while the firehouse was under construction, ownership of the mobile home park changed and the agreement fell through.

County health authorities and city officials said the station was then tied into some sort of system that had been used by a city mobile home that the fire department used for a time on the Green Park entrance road.

When that setup failed and caused backup problems in the fire station, some sort of work was done on the site which officials said they thought solved the problem.

According to former Pelham firefighter Bill Kline who worked out of station #2 at the time, two 55-gallon drums were apparently buried in the ground and used in connection with an underground gravel pit to solve the sewage problems.

Shelby County splits kindergarten sessions

by Bert Seaman

Although every five-year-old in the county will be able to go to kindergarten this year, it appears that it will only be for one semester.

According to school officials, a lack of funding prevents the Shelby County Board of Education from offering a full year's program.

If parents have a preference as to which semester they want their child to attend, they need to let the school know early in April.

Preferences will be considered in the order they are received by the school.

Registration will be held at every elementary school in the county April 2-30 during regular school hours.

In order to be eligible for kindergarten during the 1984-85 school year, children must be five years of age before October 2.

Students must register in the school zone in which they live, and immunization forms and birth certificates should be presented at the time of registration.

Crash kills three men on I-65

by John Hood

Three men died early Monday morning when a truck carrying church pews slammed into a concrete pillar on I-65 south of Calera.

Deputy coroner Billy Rockco said the victims were identified as Clyde Penix, 26, of Ruston, La., Brad Allen Humphrey, 18, and Ricky J. Humphrey, 25. The Humphreys were brothers and both were from Lawrence, Tenn.

The men installed church pews for a company owned by the Humphreys' father, and were on their way to Florida, according to Rockco.

Before hitting the concrete post, the truck traveled several hundred yards on the shoulder of the road. Rockco said the driver may have fallen asleep.

According to chief deputy James Jones, the 2 a.m. accident was one of the worst he'd ever seen. He said the men were killed instantly.

Calera rescue workers, state troopers and other sheriff's deputies worked about three hours to clear up the wreckage.

Crossing guard bids farewell

by Bert Seaman

Some of the children leaving Calera Elementary School Friday seemed to be thinking only about the AEA holidays.

Farewell hug

Six-year-old Jonathan Birdsong gives Calera Elementary School crossing guard Mona Bradshaw a farewell hug. Bradshaw retired Friday after 11 years of directing traffic at the school. (photo by Bert Seaman)

But others paused to hug the crossing guard before hopping into their cars.

It was the last day of directing traffic for Mona Bradshaw, who has been at her post in front of the school mornings and afternoons for the past eleven years.

She felt some pangs of regret about giving up the job because, "the children have become very special to me," Bradshaw said.

Her reason for leaving was because of the retirement of her husband Bill from the State Troopers, and their plans to take frequent camping trips.

"I've enjoyed this job," Bradshaw said, "because it's given me the opportunity to work with a fine, outstanding faculty, to meet new people and to have a close relationship with the children."

She began working at the school in 1973 at the request of former Calera Police Chief Gene Hamby, now a deputy with the Shelby County Sheriff's Department.

Although Bradshaw plays down her former position, principal Philip Haynie apparently thought highly of the woman who kept his students safe.

"You could always depend on her to be there on time," he said. "No matter if it was cold, or rainy, you always knew she'd be out there."

Showing their appreciation during a special assembly in her honor, the students and faculty presented Bradshaw with a portable radio/ television set to take camping with her.

The Bradshaws have three children -- Rhonda Anderson, David and Richard Bradshaw, and a granddaughter, Dana.

Montevallo balks on garbage contract

by Bert Seaman

Although Centerpoint Garbage Service Inc. appeared as low bidder on commercial garbage pickup service in Montevallo, the council has not awarded a contract yet.

At Monday's council meeting Mayor Ralph Sears said the reason for the delay was to give City Administrator Don Hughes time to make sure that all specifications had been met.

The low bid was $2,977 per month for twice weekly pickup -- nearly $600 lower than BFI, the company which now services trash containers in the city.

BFI bid $3,570, and Remove-All Waste Disposal Inc. submitted a bid of $3,400.

The council's decision to send out bids on the service was based on an announcement from BFI that their price was going up.

After buying out Shelby Waste, the company had provided the service for two years at $2,884 per month.

Their bill for February, presented to the city administrator at Monday's meeting, was $4,084.

Hughes said he would determine who would get the contract Tuesday and that company would have 30 days to start operating.

The containers now being used by the businesses belong to BFI. There was some discussion of the public using the containers and Sears reported that people from other counties had been seen dumping garbage in them.

There is now no law on the books to cover that situation when someone is caught, but the council decided to have one drawn up.

Finance Chairman J.A. Brown noted that in garbage collections, the city is $5,000 in the hole to begin with.

He said that the budget lists $30,000 in revenue from garbage, while costs amount to $35,000.

The city had intended to either raise merchant fees or put a charge on leaf and limb pickup, but has done either.

"Thank goodness we passed the sales tax, it really got us out of a jam," Brown declared.

In other business, the council:

- Voted to reappoint Barbara Belisle to another term on the Park and Recreation Board
- Were invited to the dedication of the Montevallo Library April 8 at 3 p.m.

County moves on new park

by Fred Guarino

A county park for cattle shows, the county fair, and jogging trails all took a step closer to reality last Monday.

The Shelby County Commisson passed a resolution which officially created a county park and recreation authority.

Six of the eight new board members were approved during Monday's county commission meeting and are: Buddy Argo, Gloria Tate, Nina Kent, Joe Bradley, Jim Braden and Charles Jones.

Commission Chairman Tommy Snowden will be an ex-officio member, and another regular board member remains to be appointed.

The body was created to advance development of a proposed county park to be established on former Gulf States Paper Company property located next to the county vocational school.

Tax Assessor Bobbie Reynolds failed to receive commission approval for hiring temporary help in her property maintenance department.

Because Reynolds did not submit a budget statement with her request, the county commission voted to reject it.

"What do we have to do to get department heads not to send a request without a budget statement?" asked a frustrated commissioner John Ames.

He moved that Reynolds not be granted her temporary help and commissioner Harold Davenport seconded the motion.

Ames asked Snowden to present a report from the tax assessor's office concerning the number of pink slips issued for tax exemptions.

Davenport and Ames both said they understood that numerous slips had been issued, when they were told there would not be more than a dozen.

* * * *

Snowden repoted that $5,000 in revenue sharing funds have been received by the county for Indian Ford Lodge.

He said the money -- to be presented on March 31 -- was secured by Sen. Sam Bennett.

Commissioners approved a resolution that allows Jefferson County to use entitlement funds in those parts of Hoover and Leeds which extend into Shelby County.

Winning county views

Two University of Montevallo students are finalists in 'Photographers Forum' magazine's annual spring college student photography contest. A photograph of a cemetery marker in a misty Shelby County graveyard was submitted by Pamela Liss, of Pensacola, Fla., and Avis Richardson of Trussville entered a photograph of a water tower on the UM campus. The prints will be published in 'Photographers Forum'. Liss is a senior majoring in Communication design and Richardson is a junior in commercial art.

Sheriff's blotter report

Saginaw scam nets $1,000

Two men posing as driveway repairmen apparently stole $1,000 from a woman in Saginaw last Monday.

According to chief investigator Reed Smith of the county sheriff's office, two men knocked on the woman's door and told her they would spray her driveway for $21.

As one of the men was showing her the driveway outside, the other apparently went inside her home and took $1,000 from her purse.

The woman said she had just cashed some checks and had some 'mad' money in her billfold. She discovered the money missing when she went to pick her husband up.

After the men left her house, the woman said they stopped at a neighbor's and asked for a cigarette and if there was any work they could do.

"My neighbor said they didn't look right," she said. "I feel so bad about the money being gone. We are going to be a month behind on everything."

Smith said the men were driving a bright red pickup. Sheriff's deputies are investigating the case.

In other police activity:

•The chemistry lab at Coosa Valley Academy in Harpersville was broken into and vandalized. An estimate of the damages was not available.

•Several burglaries were reported, with money stolen from a home in Inverness and one in Leeds. A boat trailer was stolen from Okomo Marina on Lay Lake.

•The county humane society reported a number of horses that were underfed in Shelby. No charges had been pressed by Friday.

•Three arrests were made for DUI and two for public intoxication.

Shelby firemen quit

As the result of changes in by-laws, seven members of the Shelby Fire and Rescue Service have resigned.

According to former board chairman Cecil L. Barnett and former board member Onmie L. Higgins, new by-laws strip board members of authority and give it to the fire chief.

"We had some say-so over what was spent on the trucks," Higgins said. "Board members now only have a say over fund raising."

In a legal appearing on page A-10 of this issue of the Reporter, the seven discontented members of the Shelby Fire and Rescue state: "We the undersigned feel that our help and influence is not needed and welcome anymore, so for that reason we ask for our names be taken off the call list for 1984."

"I didn't like that change in the by-laws," Barnett said, "so I decided to get out."

Still, according to Higgins, "We don't have any hard feelings about the fire department."

Other members resigning their positions besides Higgins and Barnett include board member Eddie Martin and fire members O.J. McCall, Charles Benson, Johnnie Headley and Joe Pate.

The unit is under the direction of fire chief John Goolsby, and still has about 20 active members.

Goolsby declined any comment on the resignations.

Mixon gets 10 for robbery

Philip Mixon was sentenced Monday to ten years and one day in prison for the 1983 robbery of a Columbiana woman.

One of three defendants in the robbery case involving Nell Holcombe, Mixon pled guilty to the charge.

Otis Chapman, another defendant in the case, was previously tried, convicted, and sentenced to life. Charges against Mixon's brother Sylvester, the third defendant, are still pending.

Esther Cutts, who earlier pled guilty to criminally negligent homicide in the death of her newborn infant, was given 45 days in jail and a 12-month suspended sentence with two years probation and payment of court costs.

Other sentences handed down Monday by Judges Harold Walden and Robert Armstrong were as follows:

•Randall McDaniel, 10 years to serve under the habitual offender act for VAUCSA (Violation of the Alabama Uniform Controlled Substances Act)

•Randy Burnett, 10 years to serve, robbery 1st degree

•Raymond Thames, 10 years to serve, robbery 1st degree

•Julian L. Brock Jr., 7 years to serve for two counts of burglary 2nd degree

•Richard A. Ware, 3 years and 3 days to serve for three counts of burglary 3rd degree

•Kenneth Bozeman, 2 years to serve, sale of marijuana

•Floyd Vance Fowler, 1 year and 1 day to serve, burglary 3rd degree

•Ronald Burt, 1 year to serve, attempted burglary 3rd degree

•Jerry Lee Jackson, 1 year and 1 day suspended sentence, 3 years probation and 45 days to serve, plus restitution and court costs for burglary 3rd degree; 6 months suspended sentence, 2 years probation for attempted unlawful breaking and entering a vehicle; 6 months suspended sentence, 2 years probation, attempted theft of property 2nd degree plus restitution and court costs

•Rudy L. Mitchell, 1 year and 1 day suspended sentence, 3 years probation and court costs for theft of property 1st degree.

Highway repaving plans are laid out

Fourteen Shelby County roads will be resurfaced this spring as the result of Monday's county commission action.

Total cost of the projects is about $520,000.

Upon the recommendation of county engineer Gary Ray, the commission voted to approve the following county funded resurfacing projects:

•County 26 from State 70 to US 31, widen to 22 feet and resurface

•County 47 from State 25 bypass, south through Columbiana (joint project between Columbiana and the county)

•County 51 from old 280 northeast to County 55.

•County 81 (in Vincent)

•County 55 from US 280, north to County 51.

•County 14 (north Shelby)

•County 17 (Valleydale Road) east of US 280.

•Portions of County 2 (South Shades Crest Road) northeast of County 52

•Valleyview Road (500 feet of Valleyview Lane)

•County 380

•Auburn Road (off Arrowhead)

•Leveling on Indian Trail

•Mountain Vista

•Spring Garden Street

According to Ray the resurfacing project will cost approximately $130,000 per district.

Hospital tax aids community

Letter to the Editor:

In reference to a recent letter about hospital taxes, I would like not to defend, but to lend more facts to the issue.

First, our county hospital, Shelby Medical Center (not Shelby Memorial) is not a privately owned facility. It is a public, non-profit county institution. Supported through taxes is correct, but only about two percent of the total budget comes through taxes. These taxes guarantee the obligation of Shelby Countians to pay off the hospital's bond indebtedness through the year 2009.

Secondly, the money going back into Shelby County communities in the form of education, recreation, law enforcement and the generally good life style of Shelby County comes partially from the almost 700 employees at Shelby Medical. About 80 percent of the work force lives in the county.

Finally, our hospital, which has grown from a 35-bed facility in 1959 to the 210-bed modern medical center it is today, has not forgotten the people in this county who cannot afford the costs of medical care. With federal cutbacks, unemployment and inflation, many people are forced to go without the proper medical attention they need. Shelby Medical Center realizes this, and renders medical care through trained professionals to the indigent residents of this county. Without SMC's indigent care, those who cannot afford hospital care would have to go to Jefferson County, and Shelby Countians would have to pay the bill for its residents.

Why continue the hospital tax? The answers are: (1) to continue to support one of the largest institutions in the county; (2) to pay for bond obligations; (3) to help those who are truly indigent; (4) to generally support Shelby County.

Sincerely,
Cathy Hutchison Saviski

School funds wasted on excess jobs

Letter to the Editor:

After reading about the appointment of Evan Major to the position of interim principal at Shelby County High School and the fact that he will continue as Director of Instruction on the Central Staff, several questions and observations seem to be in order:

First: How can one person, however great, manage two full-time positions effectively?

Second: When the Central Office position needs his attention, who will manage the high school?

Third: When his principal's position needs his attention, who will do the work in his Central Office position?

Fourth: It has been said that others employed in the Central Office will do his work there. If these people have necessary fulltime positions, how can they leave their own work to do his? If they don't have enough work to keep them busy, then why are they drawing their fabulous salaries? It just might be that Mr. Major didn't have very much to do in the first place.

Fifth: When he is away from the high school, who will supervise the functioning of the school? If the person who served as assistant principal for the former principal does this for the interim principal, then this proves that the assistant has the ability to do the job, and should have been given the position, rather than removing someone from such a very important position in the Central Office.

It doesn't take a genuis to recognize the fact that no person employed for two full-time positions can do both at the same time. If the interim principal has seven hours a day to serve as principal, either before or after he has finished his work at the Central Office, then this Supervisor of Instruction position must require only one hour of work each day. For five hours work per week, or twenty hours per month, approximately $38,000 a year seems to be a rather ridiculous salary to be paid for his position.

Also, if other employees in similar positions at the Central Office have time to do his job, then perhaps there are unnecessary positions there.

Maybe the school trustees are such chauvinists they don't think a female should serve as principal. Whatever the reason for Mr. Major's appointment, political, friendship, or otherwise; it has a bad smell.

People were accused of not supporting education when they voted against the last tax. People are not opposed to education, but it may be that things like this are the reasons it wasn't approved. People are tired of paying taxes that are used to pay exorbitant salaries for unnecessary workers, and furnish cars for them to carry their families to ballgames, etc. It is time the people wake up and find out what is going on in education. It is also time that qualified people who deserve positions be given them, that positions not needed are elminated, and that all workers, Central Office staff and teachers, be paid by the same salary schedule. Education should serve all the people equally and fairly, and not just the Central Office.

The people should demand to know the number of people employed in the Central Office and the salaries of each, which are ridiculous. Then they might demand some changes and be willing to pay more taxes for the education of our children -- not for supervisor and coordinator salaries.

Sincerely,
Donna L. Knowles
Calera, AL 35040

Reader writes what's right in county

Letter to the Editor:

A slogan at a Shelby County department store got me to thinking about all the things I like about this area.

The people are one of them. Everyone I've gotten to know for the three years I've been living here, has always been willing to help me -- when I needed it and when I didn't. I think they're down-to-earth, decent and honest. I've lived in many different areas of the United States and there is a difference. Crowded places such as New York and L.A. cause more fear and selfishness than do sparsely populated ones.

I like the countryside. The gentle mountains and rolling hills equal the beauty of any part of America. The abundance of rivers, lakes, streams, and ponds are a fresh, delightful contrast to, say, dry Southern California with its few trees and overall brownness of the vegetation and, from the smog, the sky. And you have to drive for two hours to get out into the country. Here, all I have to do is walk out my back door.

I like all the animals you see as you drive about the county. But, I don't like to see them runover in the road. Cars and animals just don't mix. A child losing its pet might be the saddest feeling in the world.

I like the Westover Volunteer Fire Department who left their families and homes on a sub-zero Christmas Eve to help put out an automotive fire that could have destroyed my home and my Christmas.

All of the small towns -- where people aren't afraid to get to know each other and trust each other -- give me a comfortable feeling.

The growth potential of Shelby County is also very promising, economically speaking. And, Lord knows, when the economy speaks even E.F. Hutton listens. I just hope the growth will never interfere with the freshness, the simpleness, and relaxedness it has to offer now.

And right now, with it being about 70 degrees outside on this February day, I've got to say I like the weather. Thawing out from the winter in this sunshine, I know 'I got it good in Shelby County.'

President asks for prayers

Open Letter to the nation:

I thought you would like to know the progress we are making toward the passage of a constitutional amendment to permit voluntary school prayer.

Most of us would agree that God should never have been expelled from our children's classrooms. We are a Nation under God. And as George Washington said, "Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports... Reason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail in exclusion of religious principle." I believe his view is shared by the great majority of Americans, because they support voluntary prayer in schools.

In my State of the Union message on January 25, I asked the Congress, "...if you can begin your day with a member of the clergy standing right here, leading you in prayer, then why can't freedom to acknowledge God be enjoyed again by children in every school room across the land?"

Members of Congress will soon have an opportunity to answer this question. The school prayer amendment is scheduled for a vote in the Senate as early as the end of February or the beginning of March. If two-thirds of the Senators approve, I am hopeful the House of Representatives will do likewise and we will be on our way to restoring public prayer in our schools.

The time has come for the Congress to give the American people what most of them want for their children -- a constitutional amendment making it unequivocally clear that our children can hold voluntary prayer in every school across the land. The amendment would ensure that no person be required to participate in prayer and that the Government not be involved in the composition of any prayers to be said in public schools. But the original intent of the Constitution would be restored so that, once again, our public school children would be allowed to express their faith in God.

God bless you.

Sincerely,
Ronald Reagan

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member FDIC.

Sometimes he'd laugh so hard his stomach would shake. Gordon Dubose came to Columbiana as President of the Columbiana Savings Bank. In his way, he was quite a guy. He was precise and he was dedicated. So precise, in fact, that laughter came his way very seldom, and when it did he'd hold on to it, letting none of it scatter about. And he was punctual. Maybe the most punctual man who passed our way.

He'd go to church on Sunday morning, immaculately dressed, and sit in his usual seat halfway down the left aisle. He'd get there at exactly 10:55 and sit perfectly still until 11 o'clock. At one minute after eleven, if the service hadn't begun, he'd make his way out, his eyes straight ahead.

One day, on a Saturday, he promised to take his son to Birmingham. The train would leave at 9:35. When his boy got there at 9:38, although the train hadn't arrived, he sent him home, reminding him that he was supposed to be there at 9:35 and not 9:38.

Years later, when I was teaching at Newala and boarding in Calera, he was President of the Calera Bank. We'd play golf on a one-hole course back of the schoolhouse, he and George Long and I, twice a week. One day a dog came by, a sack tied to his tail, running like all get out and making enough noise to disturb the dead. George laughed and I laughed and we waited, watching his face. He said that was some running, and went on chasing his ball, without changing the expression on his face.

But there was something else about this fine precise man. He was the first man who came this way who could throw a schoolhouse out. Nobody had seen him pitch until this day at Shelby when Columbiana played there on a Saturday afternoon. Everybody waited, watching him warm up, a look of wonder on their faces. The Shelby players gathered around too. His ball would come in, heading for the middle of homeplate, and, at the last second, break two feet off the plate.

This was the pitch he used on every Shelby batter. Three times each man would swing, and three times the catcher would catch the ball two feet off the base. Between every inning, after the Shelby batters had taken three swings, he'd sit down on the pitcher's mound and laugh.

Yep, this precise man, who seldom laughed, sat on the pitcher's mound at Shelby, Alabama and laughed so hard his stomach shook.

AEA remembered

by Iris F. Smitherman

Top of the mornin' to ya, and welcome to Smitty's world.

This column is dedicated to all of the working class people who are 'enjoying' the AEA vacation chained behind an office desk, or in the nasty outdoors laboring as usual.

As a student -- learning all those things someone insisted I know in order to pass as an adult -- I got several vacations a year: AEA, 3 three months in the summer, a couple of days for Turkey day, two weeks for Christmas, and, with a little luck, a couple of snow days.

Now that I am an 'adult' (I use the word lightly), I get two weeks paid vacation, plus time off for all the finer things in life such as the Hong Kong flu, the mully grubs, and other fascinating 'cultural' events.

Now I ask you... is that fair?

I still have very fond memories of spring vacations. My parents always seemed to come up with at least a camping trip for the occasion.

One of the most memorable of those vacations was a camping trip to Gulf Shores. We were accompanied by two schoolmates and dear friends, Mary Jane Wyatt Emfinger, and Kathy Glosson Southerland.

I knew it was going to be a good trip when I didn't get car sick. Making things even more enjoyable, it just so happened we camped near a troop of boy scouts our same age (12 or 13).

The highlight of that trip, however, was playing at least 3,000 games of Trouble, and meeting a young lad named Guy Dunnam from Mobile who had braces just like me. That 'Guy' could spit farther than anyone I've ever seen in my life!

Oh yes, it seems as though there were these bright green frogs that hung around in the bath house shower stalls. Had I only known about the 'Frog Prince' story when I was there...

Another outstanding AEA vacation the time our family went to a friend's cabin on Lake Martin to help build a screened porch onto it.

Talk about educational! Cousin Lynn Harper, and I learned what pitch was to a floor, what toggle bolts do for a concrete block wall, and what a hammer can do for a thumb in the way.

'Guess I can't complain too much these days. After all, I had some pretty terrific spring breaks in my time. Besides, the best part of AEA vacation is still with me -- my birthday always falls during that week, which means a party, cake, and, best of all, presents!

Alabama Scene

by Bob Ingram

Should electrocutions carried out in the electric chair at Holman Prison near Atmore be shown on television?

A committee of the Alabama Legislature thinks not. A bill was pending before these lawmakers which related to who could witness electrocutions,and one of the provisions of the measure would have made it possible for the event to be televised. This provision was stricken from the bill.

What impact would 'death on TV in prime time' have on the viewers? No one is sure. Some argue that it would serve as a powerful deterrent, others insist it would result in an outcry to abolish capital punishment. Still others simply feel that it would be barbaric to make a public spectacle of an event of this nature.

Back in the 1950s this writer had the unpleasant assignment of covering executions. We witnessed seven of them at old Kilby Prison in Montgomery. It isn't a pleasant sight. Nobody ever said it was. But surely it was no more unpleasant than the brutal crimes these condemned people committed.

(For what it's worth, in all seven instances the condemned man or woman was trying to get right with the Lord when the switch was thrown.)

With the U.S. Supreme Court having issued several rulings recently which supported the death penalty, every indication is that it will be used with greater frequency in the future. Public sentiment is demanding this. But it seems highly unlikely that these executions... be they by electrocution, hanging, or lethal injection... will be seen on television. In Alabama or any other state.

* * * *

Odds and Ends -- With Gov. Wallace asking for some $300 million in new taxes, there has suddenly arisen a demand from the public for proof that the present tax money is being wisely spent. This is evidenced by recent developments in the Legislature.

Sen. Larry Dixon of Montgomery has won approval of a resultion asking for a list of the "consultants" who have been hired during this administration; who are they, who hired them, how much are they being paid.

In a similar move, Rep. Nelson Starkey of Florence has introduced a resolution calling for a freeze on all state hiring for one year. Some 60 House members co-sponsored the resolution. It came after it revealed that since Gov. Wallace took office 14 months ago the number of state employees has climbed from 29,417 to 30,431. Quipped one Wallace critic in the House, "When he ran in 1982 he promised jobs, jobs, jobs... but I didn't know he meant state jobs."

Dog track bad idea to councilman

Open Letter to John Tanner:

In your recent campaign for the State Legislature, I supported you both publicly and financially. As we have discussed, I had my reservations about this commitment, but felt it would be in the best interest of Pelham to have you in the State Legislature. I based this decision on a number of factors, which included your public commitment not to introduce the dog track bill.

Since you have now changed your position as it relates to this bill, I also change my position as it relates to supporting you.

My feelings concerning the negative effect of this dog track on our community is well known. I oppose it from a moral standpoint and I feel it would endanger the quality of life we have come to enjoy in the City of Pelham.

The purpose for this letter is to personally inform you as well as inform the public that I can no longer support you and I certainly oppose the introduction of this dog track bill. If it should come to a vote, I will work in opposition of this proposal.

Sincerely,
K.O. Maynard

Iranian sworn in as citizen, falls in love with Montevallo

by John Hood

The first thing Esmail Ebrahimi did after becoming a US citizen two weeks ago, was register to vote. He was looking forward to his first election -- voting in the presidential primaries, and, this fall, for president.

Ebrahimi was born and grew up in Iran, where his parents still live. He spent his childhood in the Persian Gulf town of Ahwaz, where his father is a retired executive for an oil company.

Now Ebrahimi is a small-town American, living in Montevallo with his wife Pat and their two-year-old son Allen. He works as Seaman Timber Company as an engineer and shift manager. He says he will never leave Montevallo.

"I first came to America in 1975, to Miami," recalls Ebrahimi. He spent four months in the Florida city learning to speak English. Then he moved to Montevallo to go to school.

"I couldn't speak that well when I got here, but I could talk some," he says. He started his business courses and met a lot of new friends.

While in school, he met Pat Gentry on campus and married her about five years ago. Pat grew up in Thorsby and works for the university as a switchboard operator.

Ebrahimi, who is 33, says he didn't plan to stay in the United States for good. He was planning to go back to Iran after he finished school.

"I was going to go back, but I got married and got a job and decided I liked it here better," says Ebrahimi. There is also a tragic reason for Ebrahimi's decision to stay in Montevallo.

"I buried my brother here, so I will not leave this town, he says softly." His brother, 17-year-old Reza, was a football player at Montevallo High School when he was killed in a hunting accident in 1982. The memory of his brother is constantly with him, Ebrahimi says.

Ebrahimi says over 300 people came to Reza's funeral to pay their respects. In a time when American hostages were being held in Iran, the Montevallo community felt they had lost a true citizen, he feels.

There has never been a problem with people making fun of him because he was from Iran, says Ebrahimi.

"This is a small town and everybody knows everybody," he says. "I joke with everybody about Khomeini."

Ebrahimi, who was rated the best tennis player in Montevallo before his brother's death, doesn't play much any more.

ESMAIL EBRAHIMI
...new citizen

"I used to play tennis, but now I go to work, come home and maybe work around the house some," he says.

Ebrahimi says he will probably vote for Reagan, but won't decide for sure until he talks it over with his wife.

Ebrahimi is glad he is going to be able to vote in the next election, but he is a bit puzzled why so many Americans do not take the time to vote.

"I guess they don't vote for the same reason some people ran to Canada instead of fighting," he said, referring to the Vietnam war.

"Nine years ago, I'd say that things were about the same here as in Iran. Now (in Iran) you can't play games or go out, or watch TV, or spend money they way you want to. I'm not saying it is perfect here, but I can do a lot here."

Liquor bill clarifies package licensing

A state amendment being advertised for Shelby County is designed to clean up confusion concerning the issuing of package store liquor licenses outside municipalities.

Sen. Frank 'Butch' Ellis told the Reporter that the State ABC Board has been strictly interpreting a current law which specifies that package stores cannot be constructed within five miles of each other.

He said that the law has been interpreted to mean that any business, including grocery stores, cannot sell wine less than five miles from another.

Apparently, grocery stores were not thought to be "package stores" when the local law was enacted.

When asked why the legislation was worded ambiguously in the first place, Ellis said, "There was just not enough time spent in drafting the bill." He added that the bill was written before he was elected to office.

Ellis described his bill as a housecleaning measure that would make the present law more specific.

Ellis defined what his new bill refers to as 'club ii' businesses, as privately owned retail package liquor outlets. The bill would not affect "club s" as such, and would not affect any package stores located inside a municipality.

Outside the municipalities, there are not now any retail package stores now within five miles of each other, Ellis said.

Investigation continues in Postmaster shooting

The Postal Inspection Service is still investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of Maylene Postmaster Carolyn Terrell.

Postmaster General William F. Bolger told the Reporter in Washington, D.C. last Friday, that there is no new information to be released on the case, as the postal service's investigative branch continues to study the case.

Terrell was found dead from a gunshot wound in the Maylene post office on January 26.

The investigation is seeking to determine if the death was a suicide or a murder.

Bolger told Reporter publisher Ralph Sears that he is keeping abreast of all the new developments in the case.

Arts council sends puppets to area schools

Two puppet shows and excerpts from two plays will be presented to elementary and high school students in Shelby County this spring. Pottery and clown demonstrations will also be given.

The presentations, sponsored by the Arts and Humanities Council of Shelby County, will feature four University of Montevallo students under the direction of Sara Edlin Marlowe, assistant professor of Communication Arts at UM.

Juniors Joel Altherr and Naomi Metz (of Montevallo) will perform two puppet shows, 'The Foolish Man' and 'The Brementown Musicians,' as well as poems by Stel Silverstein, for Shelby County elementary schools until mid-May.

Sophomores Paige Guthrie and David Harwell will present scenes from 'The Marriage Proposal' by Anton Chekov and 'The Good Doctor,' by Neil Simon.

The schedule for the elementary schools is as follows: March 20, Shelby; March 22, Helena; March 29, Wilsonville; April 3, Chelsea; April 10, Elvin Hill; April 24, Vincent; May 8, Montevallo; and May 10, Valley.

The schedule for the high schools is as follows: March 23, Shelby County High School; March 26, Chelsea High; March 30, Pelham; April 16, Thompson; April 23, Calera; April 25, Montevallo; and April 30, Vincent.

Ted Metz, associate professor of art at the University of Montevallo, will give pottery demonstrations as six Shelby County middle schools and at one elementary school this spring.

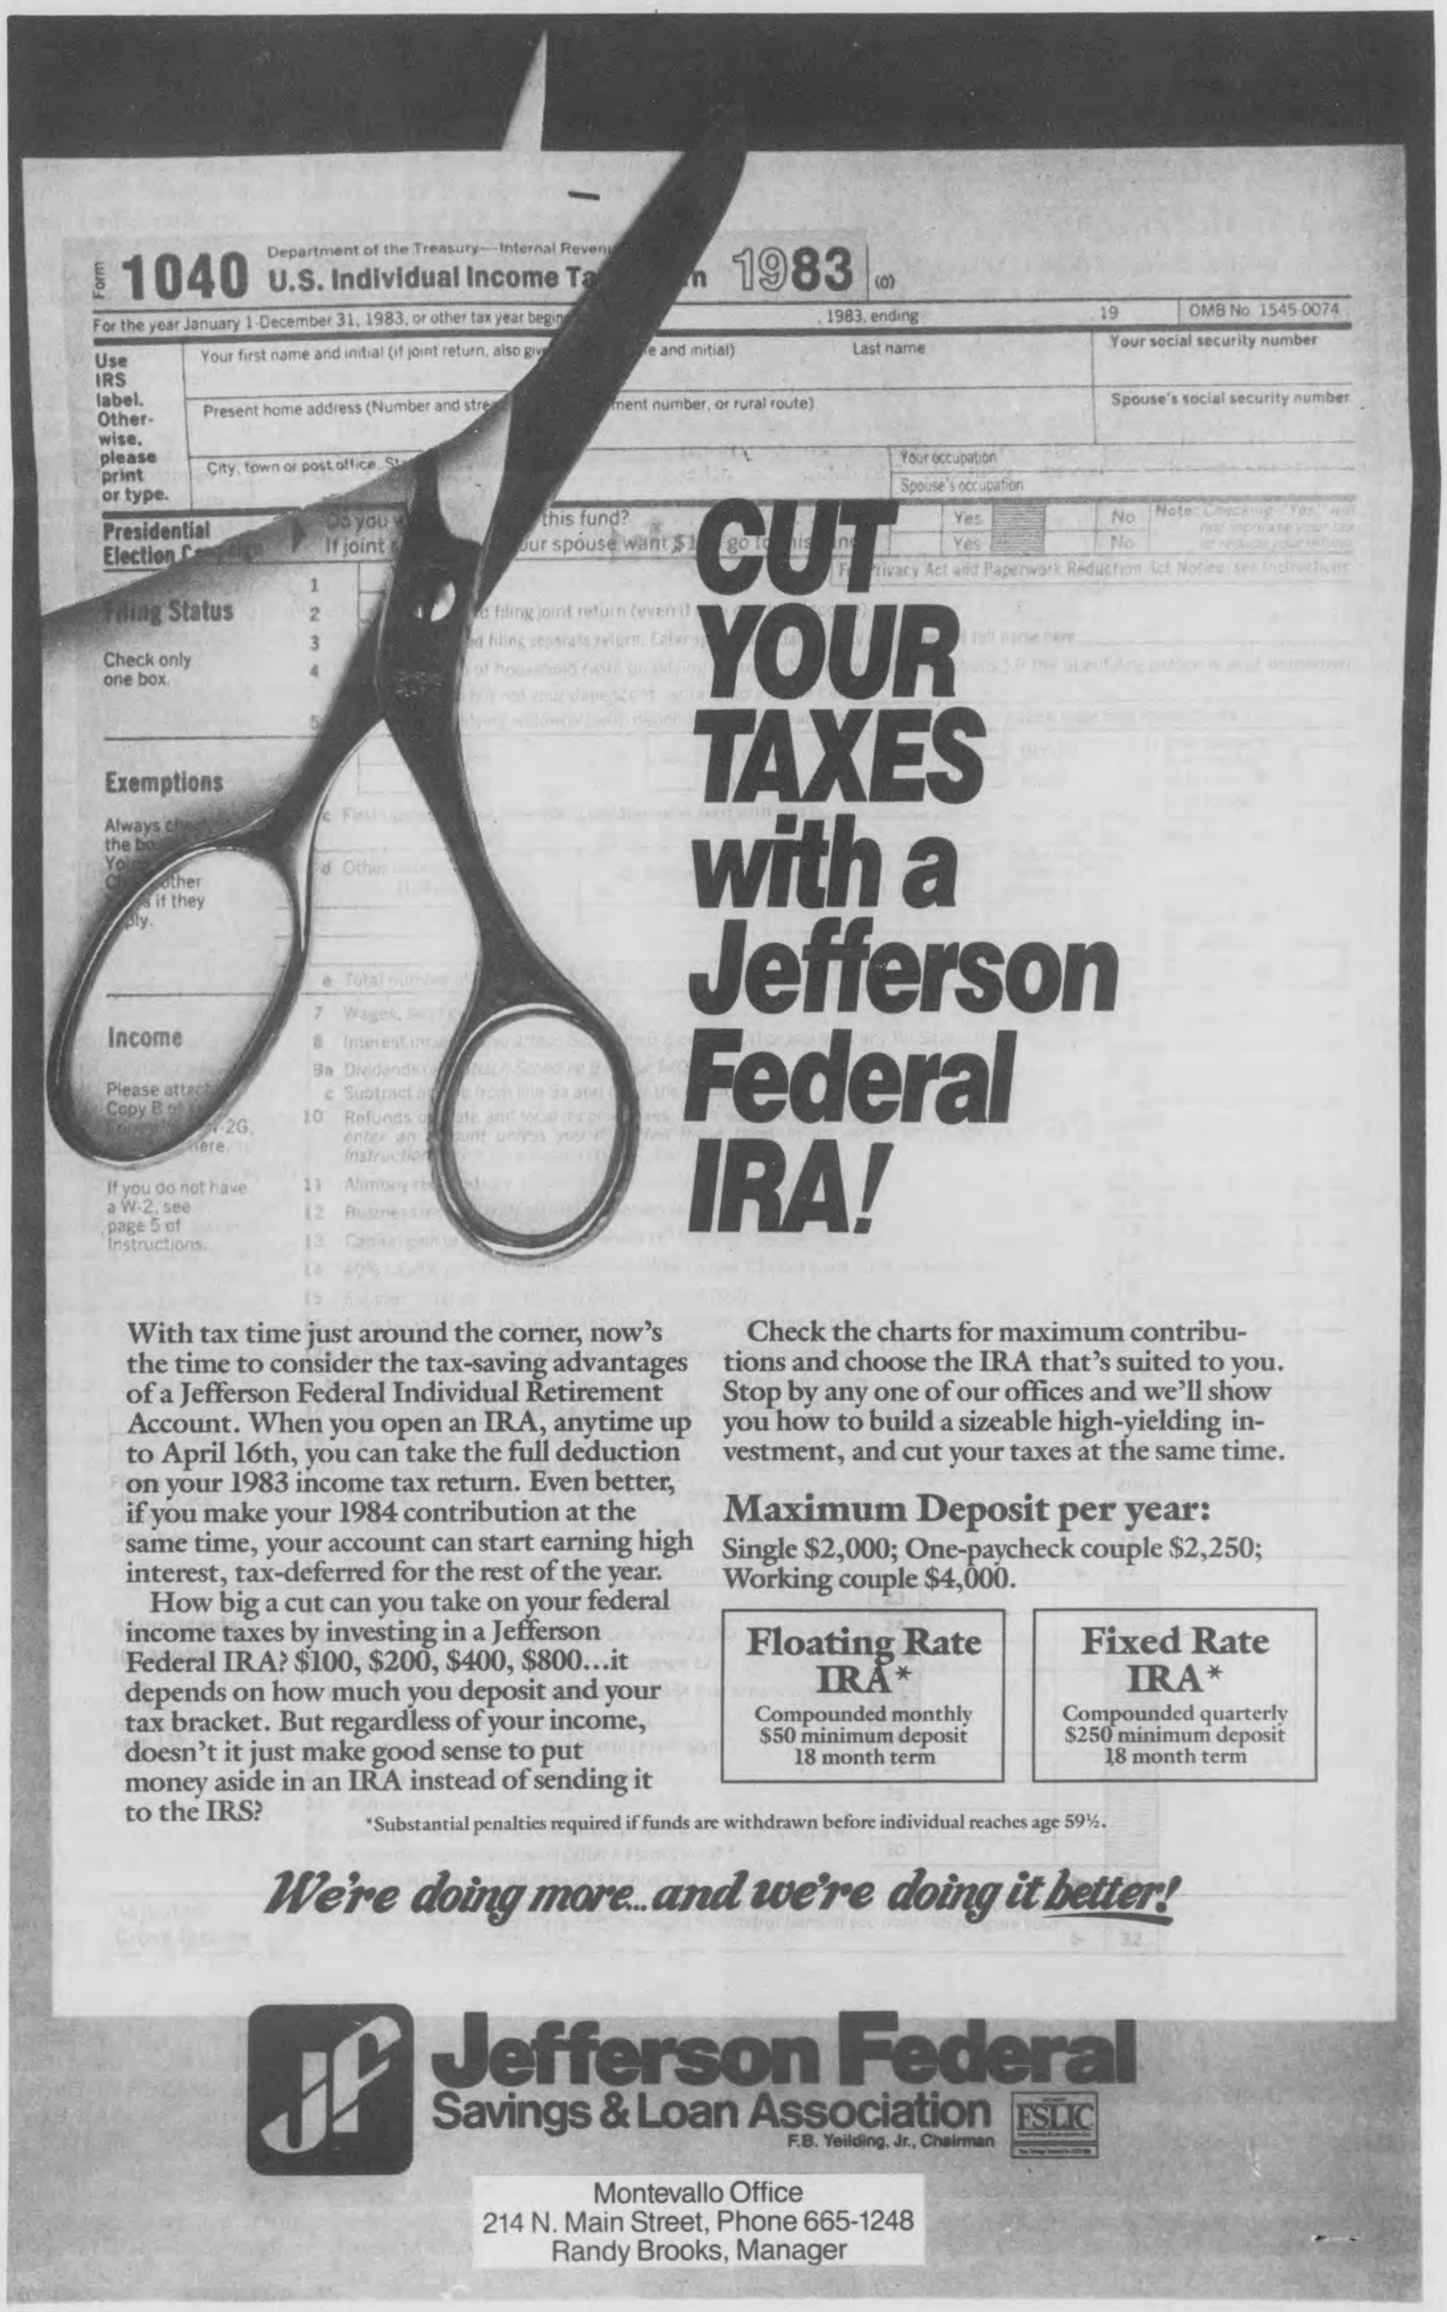
The schedule is as follows: March 20, Thompson Middle School; March 22, Riverchase Middle; March 27, Montevallo Middle; April 12, Vincent Elementary; April 17, Columbiana Middle; April 19, Chelsea Middle; and April 26, Calera Middle.

Ronlin Foreman, an actor/mime from Fairhope, will bring his clown work to Shelby County schools this spring.

Foreman has, over the past 10 years, gained national recognition as a forerunner in the Clown-Theatre movement in the United States. He will be featured this summer at the '84' World's Fair and the International Mime Clown Festival. In the fall, he will spend three months in Florida teaching at the Ringling Clown College.

His program to the schools will include an abbreviated form of his one-man show, 'A Happy Fellow,' as well as demonstrations of mime technique and an introduction to mime.

The schedule of appearances is: March 19, Vincent Middle and Columbiana Middle; March 20, Chelsea Middle and Inverness Elementary; March 21, Montevallo Middle and Calera Middle; and March 22, Thompson Middle.



With tax time just around the corner, now's the time to consider the tax-saving advantages of a Jefferson Federal Individual Retirement Account. When you open an IRA, anytime up to April 16th, you can take the full deduction on your 1983 income tax return. Even better, if you make your 1984 contribution at the same time, your account can start earning high interest, tax-deferred for the rest of the year.

How big a cut can you take on your federal income taxes by investing in a Jefferson Federal IRA? $100, $200, $400, $800...it depends on how much you deposit and your tax bracket. But regardless of your income, doesn't it just make good sense to put money aside in an IRA instead of sending it to the IRS?

Check the charts for maximum contributions and choose the IRA that's suited to you. Stop by any one of our offices and we'll show you how to build a sizeable high-yielding investment, and cut your taxes at the same time.

Maximum Deposit per year:
Single $2,000; One-paycheck couple $2,250; Working couple $4,000.

Hospital tax aids community

Letter to the Editor:

In reference to a recent letter about hospital taxes, I would like not to defend, but to lend more facts to the issue.

First, our county hospital, Shelby Medical Center (not Shelby Memorial) is not a privately owned facility. It is a public, non-profit county institution. Supported through taxes is correct, but only about two percent of the total budget comes through taxes. These taxes guarantee the obligation of Shelby Countians to pay off the hospital's bond indebtedness through the year 2009.

Secondly, the money going back into Shelby County communities in the form of education, recreation, law enforcement and the generally good life style of Shelby County comes partially from the almost 700 employees at Shelby Medical. About 80 percent of the work force lives in the county.

Finally, our hospital, which has grown from a 35-bed facility in 1959 to the 210-bed modern medical center it is today, has not forgotten the people in this county who cannot afford the costs of medical care. With federal cutbacks, unemployment and inflation, many people are forced to go without the proper medical attention they need. Shelby Medical Center realizes this, and renders medical care through trained professionals to the indigent residents of this county. Without SMC's indigent care, those who cannot afford hospital care would have to go to Jefferson County, and Shelby Countians would have to pay the bill for its residents.

Why continue the hospital tax? The answers are: (1) to continue to support one of the largest institutions in the county; (2) to pay for bond obligations; (3) to help those who are truly indigent; (4) to generally support Shelby County.

Sincerely,
Cathy Hutchison Saviski

School funds wasted on excess jobs

Letter to the Editor:

After reading about the appointment of Evan Major to the position of interim principal at Shelby County High School and the fact that he will continue as Director of Instruction on the Central Staff, several questions and observations seem to be in order:

First: How can one person, however great, manage two full-time positions effectively?

Second: When the Central Office position needs his attention, who will manage the high school?

Third: When his principal's position needs his attention, who will do the work in his Central Office position?

Fourth: It has been said that others employed in the Central Office will do his work there. If these people have necessary fulltime positions, how can they leave their own work to do his? If they don't have enough work to keep them busy, then why are they drawing their fabulous salaries? It just might be that Mr. Major didn't have very much to do in the first place.

Fifth: When he is away from the high school, who will supervise the functioning of the school? If the person who served as assistant principal for the former principal does this for the interim principal, then this proves that the assistant has the ability to do the job, and should have been given the position, rather than removing someone from such a very important position in the Central Office.

It doesn't take a genuis to recognize the fact that no person employed for two full-time positions can do both at the same time. If the interim principal has seven hours a day to serve as principal, either before or after he has finished his work at the Central Office, then this Supervisor of Instruction position must require only one hour of work each day. For five hours work per week, or twenty hours per month, approximately $38,000 a year seems to be a rather ridiculous salary to be paid for his position.

Also, if other employees in similar positions at the Central Office have time to do his job, then perhaps there are unnecessary positions there.

Maybe the school trustees are such chauvinists they don't think a female should serve as principal. Whatever the reason for Mr. Major's appointment, political, friendship, or otherwise; it has a bad smell.

People were accused of not supporting education when they voted against the last tax. People are not opposed to education, but it may be that things like this are the reasons it wasn't approved. People are tired of paying taxes that are used to pay exorbitant salaries for unnecessary workers, and furnish cars for them to carry their families to ballgames, etc. It is time the people wake up and find out what is going on in education. It is also time that qualified people who deserve positions be given them, that positions not needed are elminated, and that all workers, Central Office staff and teachers, be paid by the same salary schedule. Education should serve all the people equally and fairly, and not just the Central Office.

The people should demand to know the number of people employed in the Central Office and the salaries of each, which are ridiculous. Then they might demand some changes and be willing to pay more taxes for the education of our children -- not for supervisor and coordinator salaries.

Sincerely,
Donna L. Knowles

Reader writes what's right in county

Letter to the Editor:

A slogan at a Shelby County department store got me to thinking about all the things I like about this area.

The people are one of them. Everyone I've gotten to know for the three years I've been living here, has always been willing to help me -- when I needed it and when I didn't. I think they're down-to-earth, decent and honest. I've lived in many different areas of the United States and there is a difference. Crowded places such as New York and L.A. cause more fear and selfishness than do sparsely populated ones.

I like the countryside. The gentle mountains and rolling hills equal the beauty of any part of America. The abundance of rivers, lakes, streams, and ponds are a fresh, delightful contrast to, say, dry Southern California with its few trees and overall brownness of the vegetation and, from the smog, the sky. And you have to drive for two hours to get out into the country. Here, all I have to do is walk out my back door.

I like all the animals you see as you drive about the county. But, I don't like to see them runover in the road. Cars and animals just don't mix. A child losing its pet might be the saddest feeling in the world.

I like the Westover Volunteer Fire Department who left their families and homes on a sub-zero Christmas Eve to help put out an automotive fire that could have destroyed my home and my Christmas.

All of the small towns -- where people aren't afraid to get to know each other and trust each other -- give me a comfortable feeling.

The growth potential of Shelby County is also very promising, economically speaking. And, Lord knows, when the economy speaks even E.F. Hutton listens. I just hope the growth will never interfere with the freshness, the simpleness, and relaxedness it has to offer now.

And right now, with it being about 70 degrees outside on this February day, I've got to say I like the weather. Thawing out from the winter in this sunshine, I know 'I got it good in Shelby County.'

President asks for prayers

Open Letter to the nation:

I thought you would like to know the progress we are making toward the passage of a constitutional amendment to permit voluntary school prayer.

Most of us would agree that God should never have been expelled from our children's classrooms. We are a Nation under God. And as George Washington said, "Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports... Reason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail in exclusion of religious principle." I believe his view is shared by the great majority of Americans, because they support voluntary prayer in schools.

In my State of the Union message on January 25, I asked the Congress, "...if you can begin your day with a member of the clergy standing right here, leading you in prayer, then why can't freedom to acknowledge God be enjoyed again by children in every school room across the land?"

Members of Congress will soon have an opportunity to answer this question. The school prayer amendment is scheduled for a vote in the Senate as early as the end of February or the beginning of March. If two-thirds of the Senators approve, I am hopeful the House of Representatives will do likewise and we will be on our way to restoring public prayer in our schools.

The time has come for the Congress to give the American people what most of them want for their children -- a constitutional amendment making it unequivocally clear that our children can hold voluntary prayer in every school across the land. The amendment would ensure that no person be required to participate in prayer and that the Government not be involved in the composition of any prayers to be said in public schools. But the original intent of the Constitution would be restored so that, once again, our public school children would be allowed to express their faith in God.

God bless you.

One of the most memorable of those vacations was a camping trip to Gulf Shores. We were accompanied by two schoolmates and dear friends, Mary Jane Wyatt Emfinger, and Kathy Glosson Southerland.

I knew it was going to be a good trip when I didn't get car sick. Making things even more enjoyable, it just so happened we camped near a troop of boy scouts our same age (12 or 13).

The highlight of that trip, however, was playing at least 3,000 games of Trouble, and meeting a young lad named Guy Dunnam from Mobile who had braces just like me. That 'Guy' could spit farther than anyone I've ever seen in my life!

Oh yes, it seems as though there were these bright green frogs that hung around in the bath house shower stalls. Had I only known about the 'Frog Prince' story when I was there...

Another outstanding AEA vacation the time our family went to a friend's cabin on Lake Martin to help build a screened porch onto it.

Talk about educational! Cousin Lynn Harper, and I learned what pitch was to a floor, what toggle bolts do for a concrete block wall, and what a hammer can do for a thumb in the way.

'Guess I can't complain too much these days. After all, I had some pretty terrific spring breaks in my time. Besides, the best part of AEA vacation is still with me -- my birthday always falls during that week, which means a party, cake, and, best of all, presents!

Alabama Scene

by Bob Ingram

Should electrocutions carried out in the electric chair at Holman Prison near Atmore be shown on television?

A committee of the Alabama Legislature thinks not. A bill was pending before these lawmakers which related to who could witness electrocutions,and one of the provisions of the measure would have made it possible for the event to be televised. This provision was stricken from the bill.

What impact would 'death on TV in prime time' have on the viewers? No one is sure. Some argue that it would serve as a powerful deterrent, others insist it would result in an outcry to abolish capital punishment. Still others simply feel that it would be barbaric to make a public spectacle of an event of this nature.

Back in the 1950s this writer had the unpleasant assignment of covering executions. We witnessed seven of them at old Kilby Prison in Montgomery. It isn't a pleasant sight. Nobody ever said it was. But surely it was no more unpleasant than the brutal crimes these condemned people committed.

(For what it's worth, in all seven instances the condemned man or woman was trying to get right with the Lord when the switch was thrown.)

With the U.S. Supreme Court having issued several rulings recently which supported the death penalty, every indication is that it will be used with greater frequency in the future. Public sentiment is demanding this. But it seems highly unlikely that these executions... be they by electrocution, hanging, or lethal injection... will be seen on television. In Alabama or any other state.

Odds and Ends -- With Gov. Wallace asking for some $300 million in new taxes, there has suddenly arisen a demand from the public for proof that the present tax money is being wisely spent. This is evidenced by recent developments in the Legislature.

Sen. Larry Dixon of Montgomery has won approval of a resultion asking for a list of the "consultants" who have been hired during this administration; who are they, who hired them, how much are they being paid.

In a similar move, Rep. Nelson Starkey of Florence has introduced a resolution calling for a freeze on all state hiring for one year. Some 60 House members co-sponsored the resolution. It came after it revealed that since Gov. Wallace took office 14 months ago the number of state employees has climbed from 29,417 to 30,431. Quipped one Wallace critic in the House, "When he ran in 1982 he promised jobs, jobs, jobs... but I didn't know he meant state jobs."

Dog track bad idea to councilman

Open Letter to John Tanner:

In your recent campaign for the State Legislature, I supported you both publicly and financially. As we have discussed, I had my reservations about this commitment, but felt it would be in the best interest of Pelham to have you in the State Legislature. I based this decision on a number of factors, which included your public commitment not to introduce the dog track bill.

Since you have now changed your position as it relates to this bill, I also change my position as it relates to supporting you.

My feelings concerning the negative effect of this dog track on our community is well known. I oppose it from a moral standpoint and I feel it would endanger the quality of life we have come to enjoy in the City of Pelham.

The purpose for this letter is to personally inform you as well as inform the public that I can no longer support you and I certainly oppose the introduction of this dog track bill. If it should come to a vote, I will work in opposition of this proposal.

Sincerely,
K.O. Maynard

Iranian sworn in as citizen, falls in love with Montevallo

by John Hood

The first thing Esmail Ebrahimi did after becoming a US citizen two weeks ago, was register to vote. He was looking forward to his first election -- voting in the presidential primaries, and, this fall, for president.

Ebrahimi was born and grew up in Iran, where his parents still live. He spent his childhood in the Persian Gulf town of Ahwaz, where his father is a retired executive for an oil company.

Now Ebrahimi is a small-town American, living in Montevallo with his wife Pat and their two-year-old son Allen. He works as Seaman Timber Company as an engineer and shift manager. He says he will never leave Montevallo.

"I first came to America in 1975, to Miami," recalls Ebrahimi. He spent four months in the Florida city learning to speak English. Then he moved to Montevallo to go to school.

"I couldn't speak that well when I got here, but I could talk some," he says. He started his business courses and met a lot of new friends.

While in school, he met Pat Gentry on campus and married her about five years ago. Pat grew up in Thorsby and works for the university as a switchboard operator.

Ebrahimi, who is 33, says he didn't plan to stay in the United States for good. He was planning to go back to Iran after he finished school.

"I was going to go back, but I got married and got a job and decided I liked it here better," says Ebrahimi. There is also a tragic reason for Ebrahimi's decision to stay in Montevallo.

"I buried my brother here, so I will not leave this town, he says softly." His brother, 17-year-old Reza, was a football player at Montevallo High School when he was killed in a hunting accident in 1982. The memory of his brother is constantly with him, Ebrahimi says.

Ebrahimi says over 300 people came to Reza's funeral to pay their respects. In a time when American hostages were being held in Iran, the Montevallo community felt they had lost a true citizen, he feels.

There has never been a problem with people making fun of him because he was from Iran, says Ebrahimi.

"This is a small town and everybody knows everybody," he says. "I joke with everybody about Khomeini."

Ebrahimi, who was rated the best tennis player in Montevallo before his brother's death, doesn't play much any more.

ESMAIL EBRAHIMI
...new citizen

"I used to play tennis, but now I go to work, come home and maybe work around the house some," he says.

Ebrahimi says he will probably vote for Reagan, but won't decide for sure until he talks it over with his wife.

Ebrahimi is glad he is going to be able to vote in the next election, but he is a bit puzzled why so many Americans do not take the time to vote.

"I guess they don't vote for the same reason some people ran to Canada instead of fighting," he said, referring to the Vietnam war.

"Nine years ago, I'd say that things were about the same here as in Iran. Now (in Iran) you can't play games or go out, or watch TV, or spend money they way you want to. I'm not saying it is perfect here, but I can do a lot here."

Liquor bill clarifies package licensing

A state amendment being advertised for Shelby County is designed to clean up confusion concerning the issuing of package store liquor licenses outside municipalities.

Sen. Frank 'Butch' Ellis told the Reporter that the State ABC Board has been strictly interpreting a current law which specifies that package stores cannot be constructed within five miles of each other.

He said that the law has been interpreted to mean that any business, including grocery stores, cannot sell wine less than five miles from another.

Apparently, grocery stores were not thought to be "package stores" when the local law was enacted.

When asked why the legislation was worded ambiguously in the first place, Ellis said, "There was just not enough time spent in drafting the bill." He added that the bill was written before he was elected to office.

Ellis described his bill as a housecleaning measure that would make the present law more specific.

Ellis defined what his new bill refers to as 'club ii' businesses, as privately owned retail package liquor outlets. The bill would not affect "club s" as such, and would not affect any package stores located inside a municipality.

Outside the municipalities, there are not now any retail package stores now within five miles of each other, Ellis said.

Investigation continues in Postmaster shooting

The Postal Inspection Service is still investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of Maylene Postmaster Carolyn Terrell.

Postmaster General William F. Bolger told the Reporter in Washington, D.C. last Friday, that there is no new information to be released on the case, as the postal service's investigative branch continues to study the case.

Terrell was found dead from a gunshot wound in the Maylene post office on January 26.

The investigation is seeking to determine if the death was a suicide or a murder.

Bolger told Reporter publisher Ralph Sears that he is keeping abreast of all the new developments in the case.

Arts council sends puppets to area schools

Two puppet shows and excerpts from two plays will be presented to elementary and high school students in Shelby County this spring. Pottery and clown demonstrations will also be given.

The presentations, sponsored by the Arts and Humanities Council of Shelby County, will feature four University of Montevallo students under the direction of Sara Edlin Marlowe, assistant professor of Communication Arts at UM.

Juniors Joel Altherr and Naomi Metz (of Montevallo) will perform two puppet shows, 'The Foolish Man' and 'The Brementown Musicians,' as well as poems by Stel Silverstein, for Shelby County elementary schools until mid-May.

Sophomores Paige Guthrie and David Harwell will present scenes from 'The Marriage Proposal' by Anton Chekov and 'The Good Doctor,' by Neil Simon.

The schedule for the elementary schools is as follows: March 20, Shelby; March 22, Helena; March 29, Wilsonville; April 3, Chelsea; April 10, Elvin Hill; April 24, Vincent; May 8, Montevallo; and May 10, Valley.

The schedule for the high schools is as follows: March 23, Shelby County High School; March 26, Chelsea High; March 30, Pelham; April 16, Thompson; April 23, Calera; April 25, Montevallo; and April 30, Vincent.

Ted Metz, associate professor of art at the University of Montevallo, will give pottery demonstrations as six Shelby County middle schools and at one elementary school this spring.

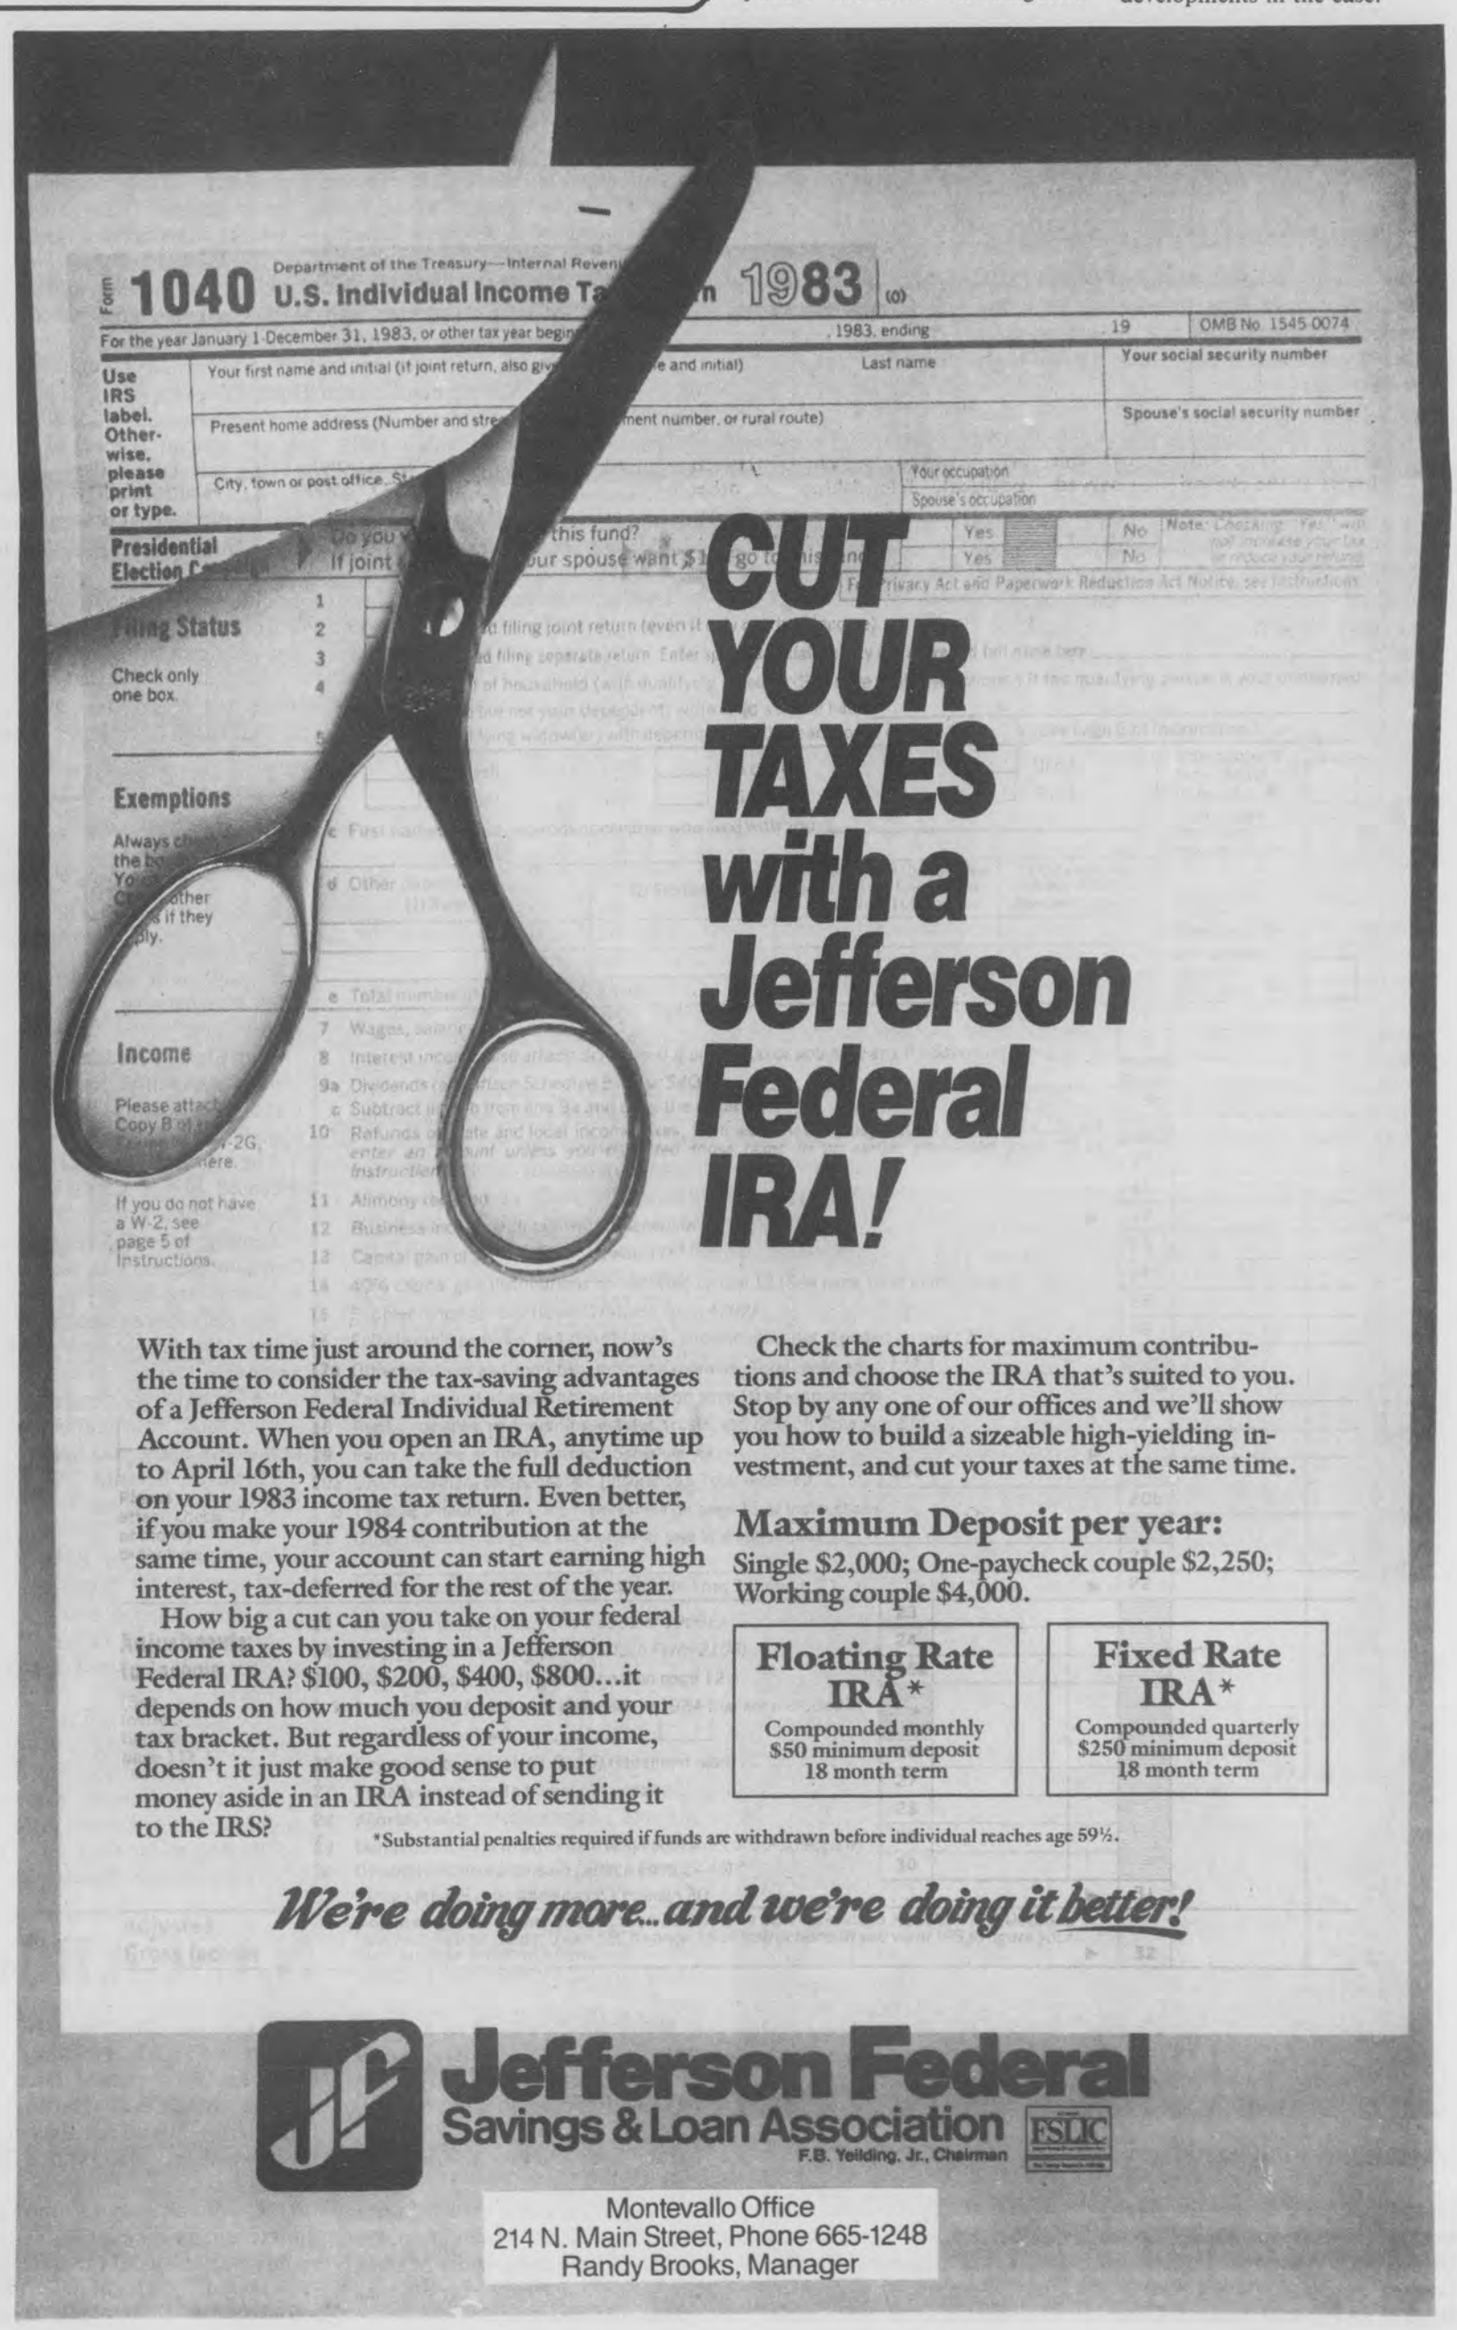
The schedule is as follows: March 20, Thompson Middle School; March 22, Riverchase Middle; March 27, Montevallo Middle; April 12, Vincent Elementary; April 17, Columbiana Middle; April 19, Chelsea Middle; and April 26, Calera Middle.

Ronlin Foreman, an actor/mime from Fairhope, will bring his clown work to Shelby County schools this spring.

Foreman has, over the past 10 years, gained national recognition as a forerunner in the Clown-Theatre movement in the United States. He will be featured this summer at the '84' World's Fair and the International Mime Clown Festival. In the fall, he will spend three months in Florida teaching at the Ringling Clown College.

His program to the schools will include an abbreviated form of his one-man show, 'A Happy Fellow,' as well as demonstrations of mime technique and an introduction to mime.

The schedule of appearances is: March 19, Vincent Middle and Columbiana Middle; March 20, Chelsea Middle and Inverness Elementary; March 21, Montevallo Middle and Calera Middle; and March 22, Thompson Middle.



With tax time just around the corner, now's the time to consider the tax-saving advantages of a Jefferson Federal Individual Retirement Account. When you open an IRA, anytime up to April 16th, you can take the full deduction on your 1983 income tax return. Even better, if you make your 1984 contribution at the same time, your account can start earning high interest, tax-deferred for the rest of the year.

How big a cut can you take on your federal income taxes by investing in a Jefferson Federal IRA? $100, $200, $400, $800...it depends on how much you deposit and your tax bracket. But regardless of your income, doesn't it just make good sense to put money aside in an IRA instead of sending it to the IRS?

Check the charts for maximum contributions and choose the IRA that's suited to you. Stop by any one of our offices and we'll show you how to build a sizeable high-yielding investment, and cut your taxes at the same time.

Maximum Deposit per year:
Single $2,000; One-paycheck couple $2,250; Working couple $4,000.

County teams see hot action on cold gridiron

by Fred Guarino

With the approach of spring, the thoughts of young men are supposed to turn to baseball and love... though not necessarily in that order.

However, with freezing temperatures and football jamborees in Shelby County last Thursday and Friday nights, and even a partial snow storm last Saturday morning, 1984 is throwing the expected scenario quite a curve!

Where are all the flowers, boxes of candy and baseballs? And, where is that warm weather?

Wildcat on the run

Shelby County Wildcat Ambrose Wood (22) charges for the endzone past a determined Briarwood Lion in a football jamboree held at Thompson High School last Thursday night. Trailing Wood but unable to catch him is Briarwood's John Kirkpatrick (78). (photos by Fred Guarino)

Spring officially begins in just a few days (March 20) and baseball season is supposed to start shortly thereafter. Yet, even more county football action is on tap for the end of the month.

It's almost enough to make grown sports editors want to hurl their notes, pens and stat sheets at Mother Nature.

Still this past week belonged to football and last Thursday did see Briarwood, Pelham, Shelby County and Thompson High School go into girdiron combat.

Last Friday night saw Shelby Academy and Coosa Valley Academy do the same thing. (See related story.)

Thursday's Games

With cold winds whipping though Alabaster and fanatic fans huddling for warmth, the Shelby County Wildcats and the Briarwood Christian Lions went after each other on Thompson's home field.

The Wildcats, who returned almost their whole team from 1983's 5-6 season, wasted little time in showing talent and defeating what appeared to be an improved Lions' squad 6-0.

But perhaps hurting 2-7 Briarwood was the absence of head football coach Gary Fleming.

The man who led the Lions to the state championship of the Alabama Christian Athletic Conference in 1982 and co-championships in 1979 and 1980, recently resigned his post to go into full-time ministry.

That meant Briarwood had to go into spring practice under acting coach Steve Franklin, unsure who its leader will be when the 1984 season begins in earnest.

The Reporter was unable to contact coach Franklin for comments on last Thursday night's game.

After holding Briarwood on its first possession, Shelby County took over at its own 26-yard line.

Behind the hard running of Ambrose Wood, Mark Cardwell, Jasper English and Clarence Harris, the passing of Kenneth Jones and the catching of Stacey Mitchell, the Wildcats drove to the Lion ten-yard line.

However, what seemed a sleek Shelby County scoring machine misfired on a fumble at the 17, and that gave Briarwood some momentum.

Behind the running of Craig Collier, the passing of Jimmy Collier and the catching of Milton Seabolt, the Lions put on their own show of force, driving to the Wildcat 27-yard line.

Yet a fourth-down fizzle stopped Briarwood's second quarter threat.

Again Shelby County put its scoring machine in gear, and this time there were no misfires. With third down and goal at the Briarwood six, Ambrose Wood broke into the endzone.

With only 20 seconds left to play, Briarwood went to the air but the attack fell short and Shelby County held on for the victory.

"We looked good at times but we've still got a lot of improving to do in many areas," Wildcat coach Ricky Seale said. "But that's not due to lack of effort. All our kids have a good attitude."

The Wildcat coach said his offensive line looked good but, "We've got work to do in the secondary."

No statistics were kept for the game.

For the record, the Wildcats returned the following offensive starters from 1983's squad:

Defensive returning starters: junior tackle Jasper English and senior linebackers James Cottingham and Mark Cardwell, and Wood and senior Kevin Jones in the secondary.

While the Thompson Warriors looked good behind the running the of junior Todd Harris, head coach Doug Wheeler was not pleased with his team's performance against Pleasant Grove.

The Warriors who ended 1983 with an official record of 10-1, fought Pleasant Grove for two quarters to a 0-0 tie.

Pleasant Grove was unable to move against the Thompson defense but then Thompson could only manage progress between the 20's.

The Warriors' deepest penetration of the game was to the Pleasant Grove 24.

The contest ended with Thompson quarterback Kenny Wilson throwing incomplete on fourth and ten from the Pleasant Grove 35.

"We played pretty well defensively, but we didn't move the ball like I thought we could," Wheeler said.

He pointed out that quarterback Wilson, wingback Steve Benson, tailback Todd Harris and splitend Kevin Duke had not played before in those positions, and had not been tested.

In fact, the only returning starters last Thursday for Thompson were junior tackle Homer Threatt, junior guard Russell Worrell, junior fullback Stevie Hawkins and junior tackle Preston Hansford.

Thompson managed seven first downs to Pleasant Grove's three, out rushed their opponents 49 yards to 20 yards, and led in passing 54 to 31 yards.

For the night, the Warriors produced a total offense of 103 yards, while Pleasant Grove managed 51 total yards.

The Warriors made the only two fumbles in the game and lost one of those to Pleasant Grove.

The Pelham Panthers, 4-7 in 1983, also played in a football jamboree last Thursday night and like Briarwood, they came up short.

Lion on the prowl

A couple of unknown Briarwood Lions knock any thoughts of catching a pass out of the head of Shelby County Wildcat Kevin Jones (18). See story for complete football jamboree deatails.

The Panthers dropped a 13-6 contest to Oak Grove in Hueytown. The only Panther score came on a three-yard option by new quarterback Jackie Johnson.

"It showed me a lot of the things we are going to need to work on when we come back in the fall," Pelham coach Billy Tohill said of the performance. "I think our kids wanted to win so bad that they made mistakes defensively and over played until they didn't really execute the designed calls."

Like Thompson High School, much of Pelham's problems may have come from lack of experience. The only returning starters for the squad this year are senior Johnson (a former tightend), senior corner Tony Johnson, and junior free safety Tony Jeffers.

No statistics were kept for the game.

In most cases, the grade levels of players listed in this article refer to their status as of next fall.

Big bass mean bucks

Hey it might be snowing in March but that doesn't mean the great outdoors are closed. Dust off your fishing rods, get yourself a windbreaker and head for Lay Lake.

Pelham Bassmasters will sponsor an open fishing tournament on Lay Lake, Saturday, March 31. The tournament features a 70 percent payback to five places, big fish pot, and door prizes.

Registration will begin at 4:30 a.m. at an Okomo Marina, and the tournament will last from 6 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Bring your own partner, but forget the alcoholic beverages.

All boats need to be back at the launch by 3 p.m.

Only largemouth and spotted bass will be weighed, with a 12-inch minimum. There will also be a ten fish limit per boat, and no iced fish are allowed.

No trolling is allowed and only artifical lures can be used.

A tournament committee will inspect livewells and boats prior to 6 a.m. and will be on hand afterwards in case any irregularities crop up.

For registration fees and other information: Carl Brackett, 663-0903.

County YMCA wins tourney

The Shelby County YMCA 9-year-old basketball squad recently took top honors in the state YMCA consolation basketball tournament.

The event was held Friday and Saturday, March 2-3 at the Huntsville Northwest YMCA.

After losing to Southeast Montgomery 29-17, the basketball players representing Valley, Thompson, Helena and Inverness Elementary Schools went on to defeat Southeast Huntsville 45-26, Northwest Birmingham 29-23 and Northwest Huntsville 24-20 in the consolation tournament.

Members of the all-star squad were: Chris Caldwell, Scott Queen, Pee Wee Studmire, Michael Proctor, Rickie Thigpen, Michael Beran, C. Thomas, David Neas, Bryan McClendon, Tim Smith.

Chuck Caldwell of Alabaster served as head coach for the 9-year-old all-stars, while Marvin Smith of Pelham served as Caldwell's assistant.

Rebs, Raiders do battle

Friday night in Harpersville might have been cold weatherwise, but footballwise things were plenty hot.

The Shelby Academy Raiders and the Coosa Valley Academy Rebels took on the likes of Cahawba, Minor Christian and each other in a round robin football jamboree.

The Raiders fought Cahawba to a 0-0 tie, defeated Minor Christian 16-6 and knocked off their host and arch rivals Coosa Valley 8-0.

Coming off a 2-9 record for 1983, Raider coach Dewayne Kervin was pleased with his squad's two wins and one tie in the jamboree.

But Kervin was also quick to point out that jamboree victories are no guarantee of a successful season.

"I thought we made a lot of improvement," Kervin said, "but teams playing a quarter of football doesn't tell you much."

However, he said, "If you just look at effort, that was pretty good."

Against Minor Christian, the Raiders scored on a four-yard run by Robert Thomas and a seven-yard touchdown romp by Mike Upton. The duo took turns scoring two point conversions as well.

Against Coosa Valley, Thomas scored again on a two-yard run and Upton did the two-point honors.

The Raiders return seven players on offense and seven players on defense for 1984.

Offensive returnees are: junior Doug Thomas at quarterback, senior Robert Thomas at runningback, senior Dennis Attaway at end, junior Ched Burton at tackle;

Defensive returnees include: Pickett and Burton at tackle, Attaway at end, Upton and Jeff Dunnaway at linebacker, and David Ingram at back.

Coosa Valley Academy defeated Minor Christian 6-0 and waxed Cahawba 28-0 before losing to the Raiders 8-0.

Against Minor, Bret Strickland scored on an eight-yard run. Against Cahawba, Bobby Glass scored on a 70-yard burst, Ricky Sprouse scored on a 50-yard sprint, and Strickland scored on runs of one and 15 yards. Strickland accounted for all points after touchdowns.

The Coosa Valley Rebels return 12 players from their 2-7 squad of 1983.

Returnees are: Sprouce, a senior at quarterback; Strickland, a senior at tailback; Dennis Robertson, a senior at tackle; Talza Harmon, a senior at guard; junior Tom Powers at center;

(All grade levels reflect the class players will be in this fall.)

"I thought we physically were much stronger than last year. The weight program we are on has made a big difference," coach Bruce Breland said.

A bit more optimistic than Shelby Academy's Kervin, Breland said of his team, "We are looking to going to the state playoffs and that's a goal my kids are working toward and I think they can get there."

NASCAR names Dash race director

Ed Cox of Charlotte, NC, a veteran NASCAR technical official, has been named Director of the NASCAR Darlington Dash Series, NASCAR Executive Vice-President Jim France has announced.

Cox, who already assumed his duties, will be in charge of day-to-day operations of the series for four-cylinder, sub-compact cars. Sponsored by Darlington International Raceway, the NASCAR Darlington Dash Series will have a tentative schedule of 15 events in 1984. The first race was the Florida 200 earlier this month at Daytona International Speedway. The next race for the NASCAR Darlington Dash Series is the Spring 100 scheduled for Saturday, April 7, at North Wilkesboro (NC) Speedway.

The 15-race Series schedule for 1984 will include two dates in the Midwest where the machines have never before raced. Included will be an event at Wisconsin State Fair Park Speedway in Milwaukee, on May 12; and an event at Indianapolis Raceway Park on August 25. The cars will also race this year in Nashville, Birmingham, Hampton, VA, Rougemont, NC, and Greenville, SC.

UM's Falcons strike for winning season

The 1984 UM Falcon baseball team heads full speed into the spring with the optimism of a bird of prey looking over a tasty field mouse.

The Falcons have good reason. Only one regular is gone from last year's 32-19 squad.

Besides returning seasoned veterans, UM Baseball Coach Bob Riesener's recruiting has strengthened the Falcons on the mound and behind the plate.

On the mound the Falcons can look to a five-man starting rotation with awesome potential.

Steve Smitherman, a junior who played high school ball for Thompson, and took Honorable Mention All-American honors at designated hitter, is a lefty with impressive speed and control.

His 90 strikeouts set a new school record, as he went 8-6 with a 2.05 ERA. In addition, the 6'2" 215-pounder batted .365 last year with 19 home runs.

Another left-handed starter, Tim Eberhart, a senior from Fort Payne, broke the single-game strikeout record when he fanned 13 batters.

Lefty Mark Lisenby went 6-0 last season with a 3.08 ERA.

Newcomer Jim Schauer is one of two right-handed starters. Riesener says that the junior transfer was "the best pitcher in the fall with an excellent curve ball, a key addition to our staff."

The other righty is Wayne Barker, a sophomore transfer from David Lipscomb College. The 5-9, 175-pound Barker posted a 7-1 record with 2 saves with a 3.19 ERA as a freshman.

Behind the plate the Falcons will be improved by the addition of Roger Wesson, who will take some of the pressure off regular catcher Doug Sisson.

Back at first base is Honorable Mention All-American David Bailey, a 6-4, 220-pound power-hitter who smacked 14 home runs and batted a dazzling .418 last season.

Senor Gerry Rivero will return to control the Falcon's second base slot.

Todd Hill, a 6-3, 175-pound sophomore, will work regularly at shortstop.

Another returnee is Billy Conner at third base. Conner, a senior from Childersburg, demonstrates some offensive power, too. He batted .266 last season with five home runs.

In left will be John Daniell, another veteran who batted .319 last year.

Junior Tod Bass will return to center field, where he played strongly and effectively last season. On offense, the 5-9 speedster had 15 stolen bases in 16 attempts and a .283 batting average.

Scott Storey will be back in right field where his strong, accurate arm has proved a real asset. Storey, a 6-1, 185-pound junior from Childersburg, batted .281 last year and belted one of the Falcons' three grand slams.

Sophomore Allen Henke (.359) will be seeing outfield action. Senior John Barnes (.241) can expect utility assignments at catcher, third base or right field. Sophomore Rebel Houston, used extensively last year as a pinch runner, can handle any infield position.

Columbiana Dixie Youth

Columbiana Dixie Youth baseball registration has been extended for players ages 5 thru 12.

The last date to sign up will be Saturday, March 17, 1984 from 10 a.m. until noon at the Shelby County High School gymnasium. There will be a fee of $25 each. Players must bring birth certificate and should be accompanied by parent or guardian.

Registration for Dixie Boys ages 13-14 will also be held Sat., at the same location. Registration fees for this age group will be $40 each. Any questions call Charles A. Jones, 669-6868.

County archers win state tournament

Six Shelby Countians and ten members of the Shelby County Bow Hunters Club proved to be winners in the state indoor archery championships held in Columbiana this past weekend.

The contest was held in the Shelby County High School gym Saturday and Sunday.

Shelby County Bow Hunters who won honors include:

Bill Garner, men's free style; Carolyn Garner, women's free style; Steve Gallups, men's bow hunter free style; Ricky Jacobs, men's bare bow;

Sharon Dupree, youth girls free style; Chris Dupree, cub boys bare bow; Beth Dupree, beginning girls; Shannon King, beginning boys; Marilyn King, women's bow hunter; and Junior Waites, longbow.

Gallups is a resident of Columbiana; Jacobs is a resident of Vincent; Sharon, Chris and Beth Dupree, Shannon, and Marilyn King all live in Wilsonville.

Anyone interested in participating in the Montevallo Park and Recreation Department men's open softball league, should attend a special meeting Friday, March 23.

The meeting will be held in the Montevallo Park and Recreation Department building and will begin at 7 p.m.

For more information call Tim Pyron at 665-7143 between 7 and 3:30.

Delinquent farm debts lower than expected

Farmers across the nation continue to struggle to meet debt obligations complicated by the third consecutive year of poor crop conditions. Delinquency rates for borrowers of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, however, remain relatively low according to Warner Bruner, president of the bank.

The Federal Land Bank holds almost half of the entire farm real estate debt in the states of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Currently, the bank has more than 38,000 loans outstanding for a total of $3.02 billion. Of that number, delinquency rates rose from 2.5% at year end 1982, to 3.6% on December 31, 1983.

During the same period, foreclosures increased from 43 to 117 although they represented only .3% of the number of loans outstanding and .64% of the entire loan volume.

Bruner said the number of bankruptcies are also on the increase in the district, with some 175 borrowers declaring bankruptcy by the end of 1983. However, he pointed out the figure is relatively low when compared to the total number of loans on the books.

Farm officials acknowledged that commodity prices were stronger in 1983 than during the prior year, due in part to the government's Payment In Kind (PIK) program and reduced commodity supply due to adverse weather conditions. However, they note that even though commodity prices were higher in 1983, substantial improvement in the area farm economy was offset by lower yields because of adverse weather conditions and crop damage.

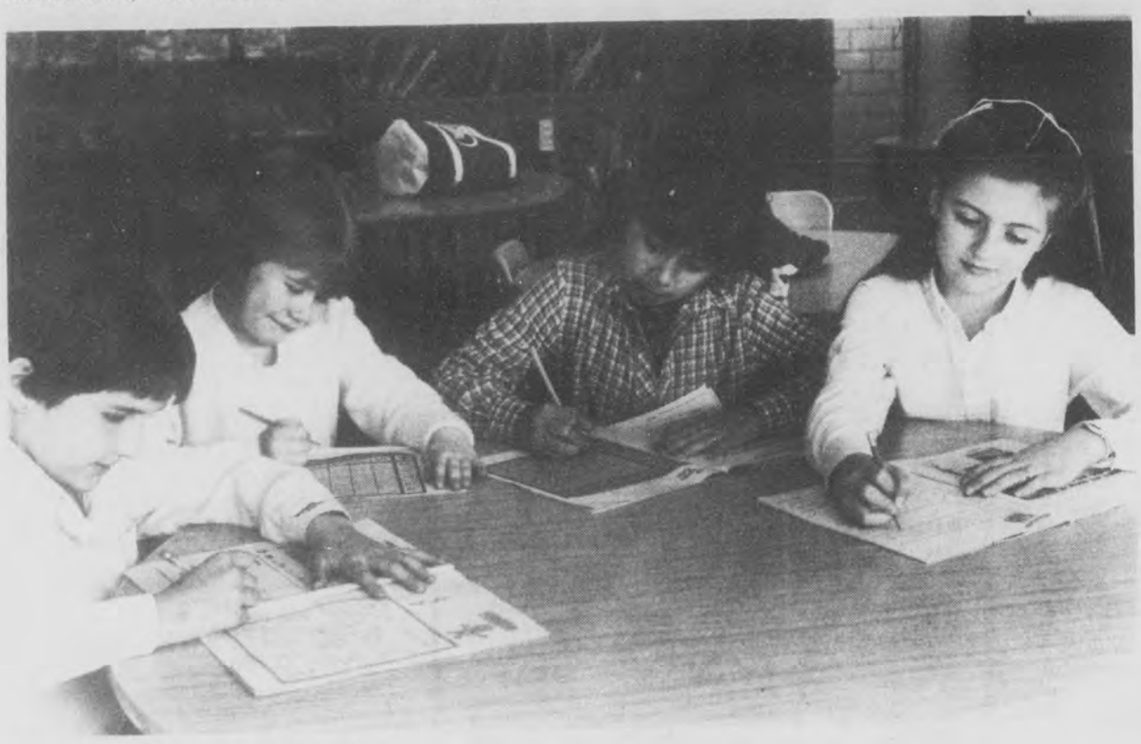
Elementary volcano

Peering into the mouth of a giant volcano can be dangerous, unless it is only a model such as the one shown by Cindy Coggins, who took the grand prize in Helena Elementary's annual Social Studies Fair. Peeping fair winners are (l-r) Tammy McClendon, T.J. Acton, Dara Pater, Coggins, Eric Lovelady, Kristi Ammons and Mike DeSantis. These students, along with ten other Helena fair winners will compete in a countywide event to be held at Montevallo Elementary during the month of April. (photo by Fred Guarino)



Math money raisers

Kristy Porter, Katie Kirkpatrick, Adrienne Simmons and Ginger Godwin were some of the Calera Elementary School students who raised money for St. Jude's Childrens Hospital by working math problems in the workbooks pictured above.

Calera adds up donations to hospital

After they worked 200 math problems, CES students wound up with over $3,200 for St. Jude's Childrens' Hospital in Memphis.

Sponsors paid the students a specified amount for working the problems in the workbooks they were given, with the money going to the research hospital.

Teacher Harri Ann Kirkpatrick reported that approximately one third of the student body took part in the money raising event, including the kindergarten classes.

She said there were nine students who each raised more than $100 for the hospital.

Contest prizes included T-shirts and slim line calculators.

Moving talk

Montevallo's Pamela Middaugh brought tears to the eyes of many of the women gathered last week for the Women's Week luncheon at the University of Montevallo. The moving talk by Middaugh -- potter, singer, actress, business woman, wife and mother -- addressed what it takes to be a woman artist.

Land dedicated

Dr. Mike Mahan (right), looks as though he was hit by a shot from the miniature Brooke cannon held by Kimberly-Clark executive Marvin Gade. The occasion was K-C's presentation of the deed to Brierfield Ironworks Park. At far left are park director Marty Everse and the governor's legal advisor Ken Wallis.

Kimberly-Clark donates land to Brierfield Ironworks Park

"We took historic raw material and made a park," Dr. Mike Mahan said Friday, as he spoke to supporters of Brierfield Ironworks Park.

The day marked another milestone in the development of the park located just southwest of Montevallo, when Kimberly-Clark Corporation turned over the deed to the land to the park board.

The presentation took place during a luncheon held on the University of Montevallo campus.

As a token of appreciation for giving the park the 45 acres, park director Marty Everse presented replicas of the historic Brooke cannon to K-C executives.

He reported that the original cannons used during the Civil War had been made from iron ore which came from the Brierfield Ironworks.

Another piece of good news for the park was announced by Governor George Wallace's legal advisor, Ken Wallis.

He said the state would match the amount at which the land had been valued, with the money going toward capital improvements.

The valuation is reported to be $86,000.

In his remarks to the group, Mahan said that, "Kimberly-Clark has supported us in an unbelievable manner during these ten years."

Other words of appreciation were expressed by UM President Dr. Jim Vickrey, who called K-C's civic mindedness in supporting the endeavor, "the finest form of corporate support."

Mahan said that the park was being completed despite "unsurmountable odds," because of the cooperation demonstrated by government officials, private enterprise and local volunteers.

In presenting the deed, K-C executive Marvin Gade noted, "This is one of the few places the corporation has developed such a good feeling about what is going on."

The first Bluegrass festival was held at the park in 1958. It has also been the site of "Brighthope," the state's only outdoor drama, which was produced by the theatre department at the University of Montevallo.

Other plays and musical events have also been held there as well as arts and crafts shows, Boy Scout and Girl Scout events, rifle shoots and reunions.

Chelsea student tastes victory when her chili wins cook-off

After tasting Talakili chili, judges in Shelby County's High School Beef Cook-off gave it their vote as the best dish in the contest.

The recipe was concocted by Elisa Trott, a home economics student from Chelsea High School.

Carl Gillis from Calera High School won the second place award for his Pepper steak entry.

The contest was held last Wednesday in the home economics department at Shelby County High School.

Other participants in the contest sponsored by the Shelby County CowBelles were: Sherry and Shelia Woods, SCHS; Nan Lucas, Thompson High School.

The beef cook-off winner, who says that she enjoys trying new and different recipes, will represent Shelby County in the Alabama High School Beef Cook-Off in Montgomery April 14.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Trott.

'Talakili' Chili
Elisa Trott
2 tablespoons margarine
3 lbs. ground chuck
2 tablespoons chili powder
2 medium onions, chopped
¼ cup hot green peppers, crushed
¼ teaspoon hot red peppers, crushed
2 tablespoons black pepper
1 tablespoon salt
2 teaspoons parsley flakes
1 tablespoon oregano
4 teaspoons garlic powder
1 can kidney beans
½ teaspoon cumin
1 (16-Oz.) can tomatoes
1 (6-Oz.) can tomato paste
1 (15-Oz.) can tomato sauce
1 can beer (can use water instead)
1 can water

Directions: In a large skillet melt the margarine. Brown the ground chuck in the margarine. Drain the excess fat. Add chopped onions and all peppers. Cook 3-4 minutes stirring constantly. Add all spices and mix well. Add tomatoes, tomato sauce, tomato paste, beans, beer and water. Stir until well blended. Pour entire mixture into a slow cooker and cook on low heat for two to three hours. Chili will be thick. Makes 2½ - 3 quarts. Serve with crackers and cubes of cheese.

Carl's Pepper Steak
Carl Gillis
2 lbs. round steak -- (cut in thin strips 2 or 3 inches long) fat for browning
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
2 cups onion, chopped
1 tablespoon Soy Sauce
2 tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce
2 cups water (more if needed)
½ teaspoon garlic salt
2 beef boullion cubes
1 tablespoon corn starch
1 cup mushrooms, chopped
3/4 cups bell pepper, chopped
1 tomato - optional

Directions: Trim fat and bone from meat. Cut meat in thin strips 2 or 3 inches long. Brown in small amount of hot fat. Add all other ingredients. Simmer in covered saucepan for two hours or in pressure cooker for 15 minutes at 10 pounds pressure. More water may be added if needed. Serve over hot, fluffy rice. Serves 6-8 people.

French students need local hosts

Alabama families who want to learn more about other cultures can host french students in their homes for four weeks in July.

The opportunity is being offered by the Nouvelle Association Culturelle, Educative et Linguistique (NACEL). Coordinating the search for host homes are Karen Mitchell, a french teacher in Huntsville, and her husband Bob.

Families do not need to speak french, for the students will want to practice their english. The students will be between the ages of 13-18 and will be in this country from July 11 to August 7.

The families will provide room and board. The students wil bring their own spending money and the program provides insurance for them.

For more information, call the Mitchells collect after 4 p.m. at (205) 881-6744.

TES plans art exhibit

Students at Thompson Elementary School will show off their artistic talent at a school-wide art exhibit this month.

The art work done by students in every grade will be displayed March 19-23 in observance of National Youth Art Month.

Art teacher Dian McCray says the exhibit is designed to call attention to the accomplishments of students and to stress the importance of art experiences in a child's education.

On March 20, parents attending the school's PTO meeting will view the art work from which several drawings will be selected for entry in the Superintendent's Art Show in April.

Dean's list

A University of Montevallo student from Alabaster has been named on the Dean's List for the fall semester of 1983.

Lynda Diane Glasscock is a senior majoring in merchandising.

Glasscock is the daughter of Wallace Glasscock of Alabaster.

UM concerts, recitals and shows

The University of Montevallo Concert Choir will join the Alabama Symphony Orchestra Choral Society in concert with the Alabama Symphony March 29-30 at 8 p.m. in the Birmingham-Jefferson Civic Center Concert Hall.

They will perform the choral works, 'Schicksalslied' by Brahms and 'Stabat Mater' by Rossini.

* * * *

UM student pianists Carol Ensor and Jennifer Holmes will present their joint senior recital April 1 at 4 p.m. in LeBaron Recital Hall on the UM campus.

Miss Ensor, a student of Dr. Robert Cowan, will play selections by Beethoven, Schumann, and Gottschalk. Miss Holmes, a student of Branislav Opacic, will perform selections by Barber and Haydn.

* * * *

Mezzo-soprano Shari Boruvka and baritone Benjamin Middaugh, UM faculty members, will give a free recital March 26 at 8 p.m. in LeBaron Recital Hall.

Ms. Boruvka and Dr. Middaugh will sing selections from two works by Hugo Wolf: 'Haliau,' about the relationships between men and women; and 'The Spanish Song Books,' a collection of songs with religious themes.

* * * *

The University of Montevallo Music Department will present a free Contemporary Music Concert April 3 at 8 p.m. in LeBaron Recital Hall on the UM campus.

Original works by UM faculty and students will be featured as well as pieces by Cage and Poulenc.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU SMELL GAS.

Natural gas has no odor of its own. We add one for your protection. Her's what you should do if you smell gas.

If the odor is slight, and it's near an appliance, it may simply mean a pilot light is out and needs relighting. But if there's any doubt, give us a call.

If the odor is strong, leave the building. Don't flip the light switches. Don't use any other electrical equipment. Don't light a match or candle or try to find the leak yourself. Be sure everyone is out, and call us from a neighbor's phone.

If the odor is outdoors, call us immediately. Don't wait for others to do it.

You can reach us anytime. If you smell gas, one of our servicemen will come right to your home and make a thorough inspection.

Natural gas is one of the safest energies you can use. And together we'll keep it that way.

HOMER WHEAT
...going fishing

Retired Calera man goes fishing for good

Twenty-nine years, eight months and 15 days. That's how long Homer Wheat, of Calera and Jemison, said he worked at Martin Marrietta (now Blue Circle).

Wheat, a former machinist and millwright, retired February 29.

So what's he plan to do now?

"Fish. That's the number one thing," he said. "And when I'm through, I'm going to fish some more."

Also on his list of 'projects' is watching his grandchildren grow.

He won't, he emphasized, miss work. "I like sitting down too much to do that."

Along with his change in lifestyle, Wheat has rented his house in Calera and moved with his wife to a second home in Jemison.

"I got out of the big city," he grinned. "I like the country best. Got me a little pond."

A Navy man during WWII, Wheat has a Victory Medal and Occupation Medal, as well as bars and medals for action in the China Sea, the American Campaign, the Phillipines, and the Asiatic - Pacific Campaign. He also has 11 battle stars.

He and his wife have a son Steve, and son and daughter-in-law Henri and Glenda Wheat, all of Calera. A son James lives in Maryland, and daughter Gloria Jean Thrift lives in Maine.

Pageant to be held

The annual Lovely Ladies Beauty and Talent Pageant will be held on March 31 in Hoover, and contestants from Shelby County are eligible to enter.

In its tenth year as a national pageant, Lovely Lady has classifications for age groups ranging from infants to 27-year-olds.

Winners of the pageant will have their entry fees paid to the state pageant held in Mobile in June. Other prizes include trophies, crowns and savings bonds.

State winners will go on to the national competition held in July at Hot Springs, Ark.

For more information, contact Wanna Owens at 923-1343 before March 28.

LEGAL NOTICE
State of Alabama
County of Shelby

Notice is hereby given that a bill substantially as follows will be introduced in the Legislature of Alabama and application for its passage and enactment will be made, to-wit:

SYNOPSIS: This bill amends Act No. 39, Second Special Session 1971 to provide further exceptions to the prohibition against the spraying of chemical substances by aircraft in Shelby County.

A BILL
TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT

To amend Act No. 39, H. 67, Second Special Session, 1971 (Acts 1971, p. 4173) to permit the application of chemical substances by aircraft in Shelby County under certain conditions.

Be it Enacted by the Legislature of Alabama:

Section 1. Section 2 of Act No. 39, H. 67, Second Special Session, 1971, (Acts, 1971, p. 4173) which prohibits the spraying of chemicals by use of aircraft in Shelby County is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 2. Provided, however, the provisions of this Act shall not apply to any application of any material whether from the air or ground, the primary purpose of which is to control mosquitos, eradicate fire ants or other insects considered to be harmful by the State Department of Agriculture.

"Provided further that the provisions of this Act shall not apply to any spraying or dusting application of any material, whether from air or ground, to cropland or pasture land, which primary purpose was to improve or enhance the production of food, cotton or like crops.

"Provided further that the provisions of this Act shall not apply to the application, whether from the air or ground, by a utility regulated by the Alabama Public Service Commission, or its agents, of any chemical substance registered with the United States Environmental Protection Agency, to any river, lake, or to any cleared or cut-over utility easement or right-of-way, not exceeding 325 feet in width, the primary purpose of which is to control brush or other vegetation and further provided, that any such chemicals registered with such Agency shall be applied under the direction of a certified applicator under the laws of this state and that the application of such chemicals shall be in accordance with the label directions to insure safety to humans, livestock and wildlife; and provided, further, that such utility or its agents when applying such chemical substances from the air shall provide suitable buffer for any house, orchard, crop lands or church."

Section 2. This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor, or upon its otherwise becoming a law.

LEGAL NOTICE
State of Alabama
County of Shelby

Notice is hereby given that a bill substantially as follows will be introduced in the Legislature of Alabama and application for its passage and enactment will be made, to-wit:

A Bill to be Entitled
AN ACT

To authorize the Shelby County Commission to adopt, amend and provide for the enforcement of certain building codes which shall apply in certain areas in said county; to prescribe the manner of adopting such codes; to authorize the prescription and collection of certain fees necessary to effect the enforcement of such codes and to prescribe penalties for violation of such codes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. This act shall apply only in Shelby County, Alabama.

Section 2. When used in this act the word "code," unless the context clearly indicates a different meaning, shall mean: not less restrictive than the Southern Building Code, as of the date of this act, (and its companion codes on plumbing and gas, all as produced by the Southern Building Code Congress, and the National Electrical Code of the National Fire Protection Association).

Section 3. The Shelby County Commission may by reference, adopt, amend, and provide for the enforcement of the code. Such code, when adopted as herein authorized, shall apply to and govern in all unincorporated areas of the county and also in those parts of the county lying within the corporate limits of municipalities which have not adopted and are not enforcing municipal building codes. Such commission may also repeal any such code after having adopted it.

The code shall not be adopted by such commission except after a public hearing on due notice thereof by publication in a newspaper published and of general circulation in such county. Such notice shall be published at least ten days before the hearing. The text of the code which it is proposed to adopt by reference shall be made available for inspection at the county courthouse. Nothing herein shall be construed to require the setting out in full of the text of the proposed code in the notice of the hearing nor in the resolution or ordinance; but such code or amendments thereof shall be properly identified as to date and source in the notice and in the ordinance or resolution adopting it and a copy thereof shall be attached to such ordinance or resolution.

A copy thereof shall also be filed in the office of the clerk of the county commission and in at least one other county office where such copies will be available for public use, inspection and examination.

When Shelby County has adopted the code by reference pursuant hereto, the officer administering such code may adopt administrative regulations which incorporate by reference such subsequent changes and amendments of the code, properly identified as to date and source, as may be adopted by the agency or association which promulgated the code, if such officer finds that the changes and amendments conform to nationally recognized standards or accepted engineering practices.

Any administratice regulations which incorporate building code amendments by reference shall become effective upon the expiration of sixty calendar days following the promulgation of the regulations, unless within that period of time the county commission adopts a resolution or ordinance disapproving of such administrative regulations.

Section 4. The county commission shall have the authority for and the responsibility of enforcing the provisions of this act. The county commission having established an enforcement program for such code, is hereby further authorized and empowered to prescribe and exact fees and charges based on a percent of the total value or cost of the project, to be paid for inspections and other administrative services. Such fees and charges collected pursuant to this act shall be paid into the county treasury.

Section 5. Any person violating any of the provisions of this act or failing to comply with any of the provisions of this act after ten days written notice of an enforcement agency shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars of thirty days in jail, or both, and a penalty of one hundred dollars per day during continuance of the violation.

Section 6. This act shall not be construed to impair or limit in any way the power of the county commission to enjoin or abate public nuisances within its jurisdiction.

Section 7. Nothing in this act shall be construed as abrogating or otherwise affecting the power of any state department or agency to promulgate regulations, make inspections, or approve plans in accordance with any other applicable provisions of law not in conflict with the provisions herein.

Section 8. This act shall be liberally construed as being additional authority for the Shelby County Commission to adopt ordinances relating to the establishment and enforcement of minimum standards for buildings, dwellings, and the structures of all types and descriptions used for human habitation and occupancy. The authority conferred by this act is cumulative to and in addition to other existing legal authority.

Section 9. Mobile Homes, as defined in Section 24-5-2 of the Code of Alabama 1975, are specifically excluded from the provisions of this act.

Section 10. The following exceptions shall be excluded by the county commission from the provisions of these minimum codes:

1. One and two family dwellings and out buildings in connection therewith.
2. Farm buildings or farm structures.

Nothing in these minimum codes shall apply to any building or project authorized or licensed by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, or the Federal Power Commission. The county commision may modify these minimum codes for application within its area of jurisdiction by adopting provisions more stringent than the codes set forth above, and also may amend and revise these codes by adopting more recent amendments or additions of the named codes.

Section 11. The provisions of this act are severable. If any part of this act is declared invalid or unconstitutional, such declaration shall not affect the part which remains.

Section 12. This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor, or upon its otherwise becoming a law.

vs.
Juanita K. Hall, et al,
Defendants.
In the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama
Case No. CV-83-088(E)

TO: Vernon Kidd, Percy Robinson, Melinda Robinson Goodman and Wesley J. Robinson

Whereas, Louise Kidd has filed a petition for an order to sell certain lands belonging to Louise Kidd, Juanita K. Hall, Walter Kidd, Charlie Kidd, Mattie Kidd Hamilton, Persia E. Kidd, Jr., Vernon Kidd, Jr., Clifford Kidd, Percy Robinson, Melinda Robinson Goodman, Wesley J. Robinson, Leola M. Kidd, Frederick E. Kidd, Walter E. Kidd and David Earl Kidd, which said land is described in said application as follows:

NE¼ of SW¼ of Section 18; 25 acres on East side of SE¼ of SW¼ of Section 18, bounded on the West by hedge row; N½ of SW¼ of SE¼ of Section 18; 10 acres on East side of NE¼ of NW¼ of Section 19, Except South 509.7 feet of said tract; Except SE¼ of SE¼ of SW¼ of Section 18; Except one acre as described in Deed Book 150, Page 473 in the Probate Office of Shelby County, Alabama.

All of the above described property is located in Township 19 South, Range 3 East, Shelby County, Alabama.

Whereas, Plaintiff has alleged that she and the Defendants named therein are the joint owners in common of the above described land.

Whereas, Plaintiff has also alleged that said land cannot be equitably divided or partitioned among said joint owners without a sale thereof and said sale is being made for the purpose of distribution among the joint owners.

Whereas, Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Vernon Kidd, Jr. by certified mail at his last known address, 50 Peterboro Street, Apt. 316, Detroit, Michigan 48201, on two occasions, and both notices were returned, marked "unclaimed", one on April 15, 1983 and the other on October 12, 1983.

Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Percy Robinson by certified mail at his last known address, Ferry Court, Childersburg, Alabama 35044 and said summons and complaint was returned to the Circuit Clerk's Office of Shelby County, Alabama, marked "insufficient address". Plaintiff's attorney then tried to serve Defendant, Percy Robinson by certified mail c/o Judy Goldman, 316 West Grand, Highland Park, Michigan 48031, and said summons and complaint was returned marked "unclaimed" on October 23, 1983.

Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Melinda Robinson Goodman, at her last known address, 1689 Lee Place, Detroit, Michigan 48206, and said summons and complaint was returned to the Circuit Clerk's Office of Shelby County, Alabama, marked "moved, not forwardable" on March 31, 1983. Plaintiff's attorney then tried to serve Defendant, Melinda Robinson Goodman by certified mail c/o Judy Goldman, 316 West Grand, Highland Park, Michigan 48031, and said summons and complaint was returned marked "unclaimed" on October 23, 1983.

Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Wesley J. Robinson by certified mail at his last known address, 18226 Patton, Detroit, Michigan 48227 and said summons and complaint was returned to the Circuit Clerk's Office of Shelby County, Alabama, marked "moved, left no address" on April 4, 1983.

After making diligent search and inquiry, Plaintiff has been unable to ascertain the addresses of said persons. Notice is therefore given to said defendants by this publication notice.

Whereupon, it is ordered that the 14th day of May, 1984 at 1:00, be appointed a day on which to hear such application at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said application if they think proper.

Witness this the 5 day of March, 1984.

Annexation, stop sign petitions receive Pelham approval

by Fred Guarino

Residents of Chatham Court in Deer Springs are on their way to being annexed into Pelham.

Residents of Pelham's Indian Hills subdivision will soon have a means to help deter speedsters on Indian Hill Road.

Pelham residents who want to eat Jack's Hamburgers will soon find it no longer necessary to drive to Alabaster.

And... Pelham library board members will soon be able to make plans for moving their facility into the city's new annex building.

All these projects were announced or started at Pelham council meeting Monday night.

Upon receipt of a petition, signed by 15 residents of Chatham Court, Councilman R.E. 'Ray' Hamilton moved that an annexation election be sought for that section of Deer Springs.

Considering that all but one resident of Chatham Court signed the annexation request, Hamilton moved that police and fire protection be provided immediately.

The motion passed unanimously and will provide Chatham residents those city services until their annexation fate is decided by vote.

Hamilton said the annexation will end problems now facing Pelham police and fire officials such as trying to determine exactly what parts of that area are already in the city's limits when calls for help come.

Mayor Burk Dunaway said the next steps to be taken will be advertisement of the proposition, introduction of a bill by the state legislature and a vote by Chatham residents.

Three Indian Hills residents were ready to defend their petition for a three-way stop sign at the intersection of Indian Hill Road and Chippewa Lane.

Last Monday night marked the second time in six months that a petition for that purpose had been presented.

Cheryl Francis told the Reporter that traffic conditions on the road were a detriment to children who have a tendency to play where cars come off a hill at 45 mph.

"One lady won't even cross the street to get her mail, she's so afraid," Francis said.

T.E. Falkner said the last time he sought a stop sign for the location, the city only approved two 25 mph speed limit signs.

Dan Walding said the road is dangerous, and noted that it is the only access to the north side of Chadawood and Chandalar.

The three presented their petition Monday night and won their say without a contest. Councilman K.O. Maynard moved that the request be granted, and it passed without opposition.

An application for a change of ownership for Frogg's Lounge wás approved for Buddy Kittrell of the Pig N' Whistle. Dunaway used the chance to drop a bomb of an announcement for hamburger fanciers.

Dunaway said Kittrell has already leased the Pig N' Whistle property to Jack's Hamburgers for a restaurant to be opened by May 1.

Library chairman Myla Bryars, asked the council what steps should be taken toward moving the city's library into the new health building next door.

Councilwoman Beverly Hall said she would meet with Bryars, library board members, and city engineer Paul Yeager this week to start drawing plans.

Dunaway told Bryars that the city already has the necessary heating equipment for the new library, and that the city council meeting room air conditioner will be given to the cause. He said units now serving to cool the rest of city hall can do the job for the meeting room.

Dunaway and Hall both suggested that layout of the new library be decided before the location of plumbing and heating equipment is located.

Dunaway also reported that while in Washington, D.C. last week, he and city council members met with Congressman Richard Shelby and Alabama's two U.S. Senators to discuss the flooding problems of Bishop Creek, and expanded sewerage facilities for the city.

"We bent their ears awhile," he said. "Maybe something will come of it."

Track bill goes to committee

The bill that proposes building a dog racing track in Pelham has been assigned to the Ways and Means Committee in the House of Representatives.

Rep. John Tanner of Pelham told the Reporter Tuesday that he expects the bill will be reported out of the committee, and be voted on by the House. He would not speculate on when this would occur, saying it may be next week or any time later in the legislative session.

Bills relating to horse and dog tracks in other parts of the state have also been assigned to the Ways and Means Committee, he said.

Scholars from Columbiana, Riverchase, Thompson win

Which Shelby County middle school boasts the smartest kids on a purely academic basis?

That question recently proved almost impossible to answer. While Riverchase won the eighth grade division of the annual Shelby County Middle School Scholars Bowl competition, Wednesday, March 7, Columbiana won the seventh grade division and Thompson won the sixth grade category.

In addition, each school including Calera, Chelsea, Montevallo, Riverchase and Vincent, produced its own share of winners.

There were not only winning teams for each grade over-all; but there were top scorers for each winning team, top scorers for each grade over-all and top scorers for each grade at each school.

Winning over-all honors for the eighth grade were Riverchase team members Sam Chestnut, Jeff Moore, Bart Lester, Bryan Jackson, Carrie Vincent, Julie Bullard, Michelle Colvin and Eric Smith. The top scorer of that team was Jackson.

Taking over-all honors for the seventh grade were Columbiana students Susan Stone, Morgan Mann, Jason Reid, Varenda Jones, Charity Martin, Donna Beasley, Vickie Wheeler and Angie Bryant. Stone was the top scorer of that team.

Going away with over-all for the sixth grade were Thompson students Max Jones, Jason Horton, Andy Beck, Steven Jones, Ryan Luster, and Tiffany Prater. Max Jones was the top scorer not only for that team but for the entire scholar's bowl with 350 points.

Over-all score leaders for each grade were as follows:

Sixth grade: Max Jones of Thompson, first; Neal Hutchens of Chelsea, second; Jill Lawley of Montevallo, third; and Jamie Roberts of Montevallo, fourth.

Seventh grade: Susan Stone of Columbiana and Randy Dewberry of Riverchase, first; Ky MacPherson of Montevallo, second; Ben Larken of Chelsea, third; and Ryan Livengood of Thompson, fourth.

Eighth Grade: Keith Ayers of Vincent, first; Dan Davis of Chelsea, second; Mike Mieure of Montevallo, third; Daniel Potter of Montevallo and Bryan Johnson of Riverchase, fourth.

The high scorers for each grade at each school were as follows:

Eighth grade: Keith Ayers of Vincent, Dan Davis of Chelsea, Mike Mieure of Montevallo, Bryan Jackson of Riverchase, Chris Perkins of Thompson, Greg Peoples of Calera, and Ben Roberts of Columbiana.

Seventh grade: Susan Stone of Columbiana, Randy Dewberry of Riverchase, Ky MacPherson of Montevallo, Ben Larkin of Chelsea, Ryan Livengood of Thompson, Stewart Stone of Vincent, and John Gilliam of Calera.

Sixth grade: Max Jones of Thompson, Neal Hutchens of Chelsea, Jill Lawley of Montevallo, Shawn Lindsey of Riverchase, Melissa Franks of Calera, Catherine Moore of Columbiana, and Lemuel Goss of Vincent.

Deadline nears for crop insurance

March 31 is the deadline to apply for crop insurance for corn, cotton, grain sorghum and soybeans in Shelby County.

According to Richmond P. Morrow, District Director for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC), coverage is available for the unavoidable loss of production resulting from adverse weather conditions, wildlife, earthquake, or fire.

"Three coverage levels (50, 65, or 75 percent) are available for insurance protection. Additionally, FCIC offers three optional price elections for valuing production lost or damaged," Morrow said.

"To assist producers, the FCIC will cost-share up to 30 percent of the cost of carrying insurance. For more information about the program, producers should contact an authorized crop insurance agent," Morrow said.

Helena lowers charge from DUI to speeding

The City of Helena has lowered DUI charges to speeding charges in a case against an Alabaster resident.

Dave Caldwell, 26, of Alabaster, was arrested February 4, 1983 on charges of DUI and attempting to elude an officer. He appealed the city case to circuit court, demanding a jury, but his appeal was dismissed last month, returning his case to the city.

The city, according to Caldwell and police Chief Ray Rollan, dropped the DUI charges, and charged him a $150 speeding fine for doing 46 mph in a 40 zone. The city found him guilty of speeding at its last court session, two weeks ago.

Rollan said the speeding fine was higher than usual because Caldwell scored .095% on an alcohol test.

Caldwell said he doesn't drink and police wouldn't let him take the test when he was arrested.

He said he is considering legal action against the city.

Equipment controversy arises

unit and that of Thompson Tractor Company than break-out force. He said the Caterpillar outperformed the Money model.

When commissioners learned that accepting a bid on any unit not meeting specifications would violate bid laws, Thompson Tractor won the case.

According to the county attorney and Ray, the only other option would have been to reject all bids and write new specifications.

"What has been accomplished by the specifications written," Ray added "is the smallest, least expensive unit to do the job."

Commissioner John Ames saying he had "no intentions of letting the county engineer lower specifications," moved the Caterpillar 963 unit be accepted.

Davenport seconded the motion saying, "I feel I have no other choice."

Valley students take over city

So, you think Burk Dunaway is mayor of Pelham, D.O. Watson is police chief, and Bill Bryars is fire chief? You're right, but...

When Monday rolls around -- officially proclaimed 'Pelham Youth Government Day' -- fifth graders from Valley Elementary School will have their day in city hall.

In observance of the occasion, fifth graders at Valley have elected Mark Bridges as honorary mayor, Chris Joyner as police chief, and Jeff Trammell as fire chief.

Other student 'officials' include council members Colin McKern, Mike Dunaway, Laura Vanderwall, Lisa Troncale and Slade Holladay; city clerk Tawana Anderson and city engineer Kirk Creel. A librarian is to be appointed.

The event is the culmination of the course 'LAW... The Language of Liberty,' which the 135 fifth graders have been studying.

According to a proclamation signed last week by real mayor Dunaway, the days activities will include morning tours of the new community park, city hall, the new library and city support facilities. City department heads will also speak to the students in the council chambers.

The student officers will attend a special luncheon with city officials, principal Dr. Norma Rogers, fifth grade teachers, and chamber of commerce president Tom Lloyd.

The regular, 6:30 p.m. council meeting Monday night will be somewhat irregular. The student officials will take part in the business meeting and be presented honorary certificates.

"It is essential that our students have a better understanding of the workings, duties, and responsibilities of our city government," Dunaway wrote in the proclamation. He said the special day is "tribute to the Pelham educational system, its principal, teachers staff and students."

Obesity -- conquering a big problem

by Shelba Nivens

"When you are overweight, you either laugh a lot or cry a lot. So, I learned to laugh and make fun of myself," recalled Deloris Foster of Columbiana.

But there came the time when she realized she had to do something about her problem because it was having adverse effects on her entire life.

She found that obesity can cause a person to become mentally, physically and spiritually handicapped, she said.

As a minister's wife, she had enjoyed many opportunities to meet people and make new friends. She had no qualms about standing before people to teach. She enjoyed sewing and wearing fashionable clothing.

But after she grew from a size 10 dress to a size 24½, she no longer cared to sew. She dreaded going out where people could see her. She felt she was setting a poor example as a Christian because her body stated that she was out of control.

"I couldn't even cross my legs," she recalled. "My kids had to tie my shoes for me."

Today, after losing 120 pounds, she can easily bend to tie her own shoes. And once again, she enjoys wearing pretty clothes, meeting people and doing public speaking.

Foster said that in order to conquer her weight problem, she had to accept full responsibility for being overweight and take steps to do something about it.

She also had to learn new behavior habits and change some attitudes about food.

"America has become too obsessed with food," she said. "Food is a sign of reward, hospitality and celebration, but we abuse it."

"We start off using it as a reward with children," she continued. "We say 'be good and I'll give you candy.' To show hospitality, we say 'Come over and I'll bake a cake.' Then we celebrate birthdays, anniversaries, etc. by baking another cake."

She recalled that once she tried to have the best-looking the best-tasting dish at every church and social dinner. She loved cooking big meals. She was intrigued by cookbooks.

But, all that changed.

She gave up cooking sweets, fried foods, other fats, and empty-calorie foods. She baked, broiled or roasted her food and greatly reduced portion size. It was hard to do, she said, but gradually her taste buds changed. "I can hardly believe I like broiled fish now," she said.

She added that now she can eat whatever she wants, even sweets, as long as she controls her portions.

At first, she cooked separate meals for herself and her family. Gradually, she introduced her new method of cooking to the whole household. "If you find an eating program that has a wide variety of foods and is nutritious, you can stay with it," she said.

She noted that a good exercise program is also important to her weight control program.

Snacks are the things she cannot resist eating -- and eating -- when they are available. So, she told her family that she would no longer buy them. If they wanted snacks they could eat them away from home.

Support from other people is also very impor-

120-pound difference

Deloris Foster demonstrates the difference 120 pounds can make inside a pair of dress slacks. To lose that much weight, she said, took changing her old eating habits -- which she demonstrates in the old picture of herself at the right. Pelham residents who want to eat Jack's Hamburgers will soon find it no longer necessary to drive to Alabaster.

And... Pelham library board members will soon be able to make plans for moving their facility into the city's new annex building.

All these projects were announced or started at Pelham council meeting Monday night.

Upon receipt of a petition, signed by 15 residents of Chatham Court, Councilman R.E. 'Ray' Hamilton moved that an annexation election be sought for that section of Deer Springs.

Considering that all but one resident of Chatham Court signed the annexation request, Hamilton moved that police and fire protection be provided immediately.

The motion passed unanimously and will provide Chatham residents those city services until their annexation fate is decided by vote.

Hamilton said the annexation will end problems now facing Pelham police and fire officials such as trying to determine exactly what parts of that area are already in the city's limits when calls for help come.

Mayor Burk Dunaway said the next steps to be taken will be advertisement of the proposition, introduction of a bill by the state legislature and a vote by Chatham residents.

Three Indian Hills residents were ready to defend their petition for a three-way stop sign at the intersection of Indian Hill Road and Chippewa Lane.

Last Monday night marked the second time in six months that a petition for that purpose had been presented.

Cheryl Francis told the Reporter that traffic conditions on the road were a detriment to children who have a tendency to play where cars come off a hill at 45 mph.

"One lady won't even cross the street to get her mail, she's so afraid," Francis said.

T.E. Falkner said the last time he sought a stop sign for the location, the city only approved two 25 mph speed limit signs.

Dan Walding said the road is dangerous, and noted that it is the only access to the north side of Chadawood and Chandalar.

The three presented their petition Monday night and won their say without a contest. Councilman K.O. Maynard moved that the request be granted, and it passed without opposition.

An application for a change of ownership for Frogg's Lounge was approved for Buddy Kittrell of the Pig N' Whistle. Dunaway used the chance to drop a bomb of an announcement for hamburger fanciers.

Dunaway said Kittrell has already leased the Pig N' Whistle property to Jack's Hamburgers for a restaurant to be opened by May 1.

Library chairman Myla Bryars, asked the council what steps should be taken toward moving the city's library into the new health building next door.

Councilwoman Beverly Hall said she would meet with Bryars, library board members, and city engineer Paul Yeager this week to start drawing plans.

Dunaway told Bryars that the city already has the necessary heating equipment for the new library, and that the city council meeting room air conditioner will be given to the cause. He said units now serving to cool the rest of city hall can do the job for the meeting room.

Dunaway and Hall both suggested that layout of the new library be decided before the location of plumbing and heating equipment is located.

Dunaway also reported that while in Washington, D.C. last week, he and city council members met with Congressman Richard Shelby and Alabama's two U.S. Senators to discuss the flooding problems of Bishop Creek, and expanded sewerage facilities for the city.

"We bent their ears awhile," he said. "Maybe something will come of it."

Track bill goes to committee

The bill that proposes building a dog racing track in Pelham has been assigned to the Ways and Means Committee in the House of Representatives.

Rep. John Tanner of Pelham told the Reporter Tuesday that he expects the bill will be reported out of the committee, and be voted on by the House. He would not speculate on when this would occur, saying it may be next week or any time later in the legislative session.

Bills relating to horse and dog tracks in other parts of the state have also been assigned to the Ways and Means Committee, he said.

Scholars from Columbiana, Riverchase, Thompson win

Which Shelby County middle school boasts the smartest kids on a purely academic basis?

That question recently proved almost impossible to answer. While Riverchase won the eighth grade division of the annual Shelby County Middle School Scholars Bowl competition, Wednesday, March 7, Columbiana won the seventh grade division and Thompson won the sixth grade category.

In addition, each school including Calera, Chelsea, Montevallo, Riverchase and Vincent, produced its own share of winners.

There were not only winning teams for each grade over-all; but there were top scorers for each winning team, top scorers for each grade over-all and top scorers for each grade at each school.

Winning over-all honors for the eighth grade were Riverchase team members Sam Chestnut, Jeff Moore, Bart Lester, Bryan Jackson, Carrie Vincent, Julie Bullard, Michelle Colvin and Eric Smith. The top scorer of that team was Jackson.

Taking over-all honors for the seventh grade were Columbiana students Susan Stone, Morgan Mann, Jason Reid, Varenda Jones, Charity Martin, Donna Beasley, Vickie Wheeler and Angie Bryant. Stone was the top scorer of that team.

Going away with over-all for the sixth grade were Thompson students Max Jones, Jason Horton, Andy Beck, Steven Jones, Ryan Luster, and Tiffany Prater. Max Jones was the top scorer not only for that team but for the entire scholar's bowl with 350 points.

Over-all score leaders for each grade were as follows:

Sixth grade: Max Jones of Thompson, first; Neal Hutchens of Chelsea, second; Jill Lawley of Montevallo, third; and Jamie Roberts of Montevallo, fourth.

Seventh grade: Susan Stone of Columbiana and Randy Dewberry of Riverchase, first; Ky MacPherson of Montevallo, second; Ben Larken of Chelsea, third; and Ryan Livengood of Thompson, fourth.

Eighth Grade: Keith Ayers of Vincent, first; Dan Davis of Chelsea, second; Mike Mieure of Montevallo, third; Daniel Potter of Montevallo and Bryan Johnson of Riverchase, fourth.

The high scorers for each grade at each school were as follows:

Eighth grade: Keith Ayers of Vincent, Dan Davis of Chelsea, Mike Mieure of Montevallo, Bryan Jackson of Riverchase, Chris Perkins of Thompson, Greg Peoples of Calera, and Ben Roberts of Columbiana.

Seventh grade: Susan Stone of Columbiana, Randy Dewberry of Riverchase, Ky MacPherson of Montevallo, Ben Larkin of Chelsea, Ryan Livengood of Thompson, Stewart Stone of Vincent, and John Gilliam of Calera.

Sixth grade: Max Jones of Thompson, Neal Hutchens of Chelsea, Jill Lawley of Montevallo, Shawn Lindsey of Riverchase, Melissa Franks of Calera, Catherine Moore of Columbiana, and Lemuel Goss of Vincent.

Deadline nears for crop insurance

March 31 is the deadline to apply for crop insurance for corn, cotton, grain sorghum and soybeans in Shelby County.

According to Richmond P. Morrow, District Director for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC), coverage is available for the unavoidable loss of production resulting from adverse weather conditions, wildlife, earthquake, or fire.

"Three coverage levels (50, 65, or 75 percent) are available for insurance protection. Additionally, FCIC offers three optional price elections for valuing production lost or damaged," Morrow said.

"To assist producers, the FCIC will cost-share up to 30 percent of the cost of carrying insurance. For more information about the program, producers should contact an authorized crop insurance agent," Morrow said.

Helena lowers charge from DUI to speeding

The City of Helena has lowered DUI charges to speeding charges in a case against an Alabaster resident.

Dave Caldwell, 26, of Alabaster, was arrested February 4, 1983 on charges of DUI and attempting to elude an officer. He appealed the city case to circuit court, demanding a jury, but his appeal was dismissed last month, returning his case to the city.

The city, according to Caldwell and police Chief Ray Rollan, dropped the DUI charges, and charged him a $150 speeding fine for doing 46 mph in a 40 zone. The city found him guilty of speeding at its last court session, two weeks ago.

Rollan said the speeding fine was higher than usual because Caldwell scored .095% on an alcohol test.

Caldwell said he doesn't drink and police wouldn't let him take the test when he was arrested.

He said he is considering legal action against the city.

unit and that of Thompson Tractor Company than break-out force. He said the Caterpillar outperformed the Money model.

When commissioners learned that accepting a bid on any unit not meeting specifications would violate bid laws, Thompson Tractor won the case.

According to the county attorney and Ray, the only other option would have been to reject all bids and write new specifications.

"What has been accomplished by the specifications written," Ray added "is the smallest, least expensive unit to do the job."

Commissioner John Ames saying he had "no intentions of letting the county engineer lower specifications," moved the Caterpillar 963 unit be accepted.

Davenport seconded the motion saying, "I feel I have no other choice."

Valley students take over city

So, you think Burk Dunaway is mayor of Pelham, D.O. Watson is police chief, and Bill Bryars is fire chief? You're right, but...

When Monday rolls around -- officially proclaimed 'Pelham Youth Government Day' -- fifth graders from Valley Elementary School will have their day in city hall.

In observance of the occasion, fifth graders at Valley have elected Mark Bridges as honorary mayor, Chris Joyner as police chief, and Jeff Trammell as fire chief.

Other student 'officials' include council members Colin McKern, Mike Dunaway, Laura Vanderwall, Lisa Troncale and Slade Holladay; city clerk Tawana Anderson and city engineer Kirk Creel. A librarian is to be appointed.

The event is the culmination of the course 'LAW... The Language of Liberty,' which the 135 fifth graders have been studying.

According to a proclamation signed last week by real mayor Dunaway, the days activities will include morning tours of the new community park, city hall, the new library and city support facilities. City department heads will also speak to the students in the council chambers.

The student officers will attend a special luncheon with city officials, principal Dr. Norma Rogers, fifth grade teachers, and chamber of commerce president Tom Lloyd.

The regular, 6:30 p.m. council meeting Monday night will be somewhat irregular. The student officials will take part in the business meeting and be presented honorary certificates.

"It is essential that our students have a better understanding of the workings, duties, and responsibilities of our city government," Dunaway wrote in the proclamation. He said the special day is "tribute to the Pelham educational system, its principal, teachers staff and students."

Obesity -- conquering a big problem

by Shelba Nivens

"When you are overweight, you either laugh a lot or cry a lot. So, I learned to laugh and make fun of myself," recalled Deloris Foster of Columbiana.

But there came the time when she realized she had to do something about her problem because it was having adverse effects on her entire life.

She found that obesity can cause a person to become mentally, physically and spiritually handicapped, she said.

As a minister's wife, she had enjoyed many opportunities to meet people and make new friends. She had no qualms about standing before people to teach. She enjoyed sewing and wearing fashionable clothing.

But after she grew from a size 10 dress to a size 24½, she no longer cared to sew. She dreaded going out where people could see her. She felt she was setting a poor example as a Christian because her body stated that she was out of control.

"I couldn't even cross my legs," she recalled. "My kids had to tie my shoes for me."

Today, after losing 120 pounds, she can easily bend to tie her own shoes. And once again, she enjoys wearing pretty clothes, meeting people and doing public speaking.

Foster said that in order to conquer her weight problem, she had to accept full responsibility for being overweight and take steps to do something about it.

She also had to learn new behavior habits and change some attitudes about food.

"America has become too obsessed with food," she said. "Food is a sign of reward, hospitality and celebration, but we abuse it."

"We start off using it as a reward with children," she continued. "We say 'be good and I'll give you candy.' To show hospitality, we say 'Come over and I'll bake a cake.' Then we celebrate birthdays, anniversaries, etc. by baking another cake."

She recalled that once she tried to have the best-looking the best-tasting dish at every church and social dinner. She loved cooking big meals. She was intrigued by cookbooks.

But, all that changed.

She gave up cooking sweets, fried foods, other fats, and empty-calorie foods. She baked, broiled or roasted her food and greatly reduced portion size. It was hard to do, she said, but gradually her taste buds changed. "I can hardly believe I like broiled fish now," she said.

She added that now she can eat whatever she wants, even sweets, as long as she controls her portions.

At first, she cooked separate meals for herself and her family. Gradually, she introduced her new method of cooking to the whole household. "If you find an eating program that has a wide variety of foods and is nutritious, you can stay with it," she said.

She noted that a good exercise program is also important to her weight control program.

Snacks are the things she cannot resist eating -- and eating -- when they are available. So, she told her family that she would no longer buy them. If they wanted snacks they could eat them away from home.

Support from other people is also very impor-

120-pound difference

Deloris Foster demonstrates the difference 120 pounds can make inside a pair of dress slacks. To lose that much weight, she said, took changing her old eating habits -- which she demonstrates in the old picture of herself at the right. Power company pays Calera license

Alabama Power delivered a check last week for $149,368.88 to city clerk Lemoyne Payton in payment of the company's 1984 Municipal License to the Town of Calera.

The payment represents franchise taxes the company pays to each municipality it provides with electric service. The amount of this tax is based on the company's total revenue in the municipality and police jurisdiction, according to Montevallo district manager Nolan L. Hardin.

Business news briefs

Cook Publications to expand

Cook Publications is expanding its operation in North Shelby County.

The Shelby County Commission has approved a resolution which allows the publishing and printing firm to finance an industrial development bond issue through AmSouth Bank of Birmingham.

A. Philip Cook, Jr. said his company plans to expand its building on Cahaba Beach Road by 23,000 square feet, to purchase some new equipment and to upgrade other equipment.

Cook said the bond issue has already met with the approval of the county industrial development board. He also reported that the company will lease the expanded facility from the bank and will pay off the bond issue through a lease agreement.

County attorney Frank Ellis added that Cook Publishing has agreed to pay a fee to the county in lieu of taxes. The details of that agreement are to be worked out, according to Ellis.

Commissioners accepted bids on a new track loader for the highway department but the low bid will not be announced until the next regular commission meeting.

The commission also approved a request from the county engineer to seek appraisals for an intersection change at Sunrise Cove.

Teacher awards provide scholarship

The Teacher of the Year program has a twofold purpose. Outstanding teachers will be recognized, and proceeds from the April 6 event will be used to establish a senior scholarship fund.

'Teachers Touch Lives Forever' is the theme of the program which will be held at Inverness School.

"That theme summerizes our attitude," said Beth Scruggs, president of the Shelby County Education Association.

"There are outstanding teachers in every school," she noted, "and we hope this program will bring deserved recognition to all of them."

In addition to the teachers, there will also be awards given to: the media, a polictical friend of education, a pioneer and a service award from SCEA.

Pelham police probe industrial break-ins

Pelham police are still investigating two break-ins that occurred at Pelham Industrial Park last weekend.

The offices of Sherman Bridge Company and the Sherman Concrete Company were burglarized February 26, according to police reports.

At Sherman Bridge a door window was broken and money taken from a petty cash envelope and a drink machine. A pair of walkie talkies valued at about $2,000 were also missing, according to the report.

At Sherman Concrete Pipe, valuables worth about $3,800 were taken from a manager's office. Investigators said a window was broken and muddy footprints were found inside the building.

THS band boosters sponsor pageant

The Thompson Band Boosters will host the Annual Dreamgirl Pageants March 30 and March 31.

The Friday night pageant for Middle School will be emceed by Jim Harrell of the Jr. Miss Pageant, and weatherman James Spann will emcee the high school competition on Saturday.

Adult and student tickets will be available at the door, and the price includes a program with discount coupons inside. (Pre-schoolers get in free.) Door prizes will also be given away.

Both shows start at 7:30 p.m., and will be held in the Thompson High School auditorium, according to publicity chairperson Shirley Mulrooney.

UM offers imagination celebration

Three University of Montevallo faculty members are participating in Imagination Celebration, a five-month long arts in education program available free to public schools across Alabama.

Ellen Shirley, music department; Sara Edlin Marlowe, theatre department; and Marianne Zeanah, dance instructor in the health, physical education and recreation department have been travelling around the state presenting workshops to elementary school teachers.

"The purpose of these sessions is to provide teachers with strategies for instructing children in appreciation of the art form," Zeanah said.

Workshops already have been held in Sylacauga, Mobile and Guntersville, with others planned in Andalusia, Gadsden, Dothan and Foley.

Imagination Celebration is funded by the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts and sponsored locally by the Alabama Alliance for Arts Education.

Researcher to discuss sciences, humanities

Researcher John E. Kelly will address the connection between science and the humanities in policy issues at the University of Montevallo on March 21 at 7:30 p.m. in LeBaron Recital Hall.

His address, "Nuke the Whales: Anomaly and Ambiguity in the Policy Process," will focus on how a person's humanistic training affects the way in which he sees national issues.

The program will be held in LeBaron Hall at 7:30 p.m., and is free to the public.

Kelly holds degrees in mathematics, physics, and a doctorate in American Civilization.

Following his address, a public forum will follow. The next, March 22, at 10 a.m., a panel discussion will be held in Comer Hall Auditorium to discuss issues raised in his presentation.

Kelly's visit to UM is the first of three seminars on 'Connecting Science and the Humanities: Science, Letters, and Human Choice,' designed to involve the public in analyses of this topic. The programs are being sponsored by the UM English Department with a grant from the Committee on the Humanities in Alabama.

Other topics examined during the project will be the connections between the sciences and humanities in education and in the state.

Mary Eleanor Clark, professor of biology at San Diego State University, will speak April 11 on the connections between the sciences and humanities in education.

Paul Zindel, former chemistry teacher and author of the Pulitzer Prize-winning play, "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds," will speak on May 10 on the connections in the arts.

CHEMLAWN GUARANTEES A THICKER, GREENER LAWN. BECAUSE WE KEEP COMING BACK.

We'll start by giving you a free lawn analysis—no obligation.

How can we make such a guarantee?

For starters, our local ChemLawn Specialist will give you a free, no-obligation lawn analysis.

Then, if you say yes, he'll keep coming back all year with a program scientifically designed for your lawn's needs.

IS YOUR LAWN GETTING A "BALANCED DIET"?

For example, he knows that lawns are picky eaters. So he'll feed your lawn according to the area, soil type, the lawn's condition, shade conditions and the time of year.

He'll give your lawn Phosphorus, Potassium and Nitrogen to help it grow thicker and greener.

WE'LL HELP YOUR LAWN CHOKE OUT THE WEEDS

Your specialist knows that a thick, healthy lawn can actually choke weeds out, so he will time his applications to control weeds when your grass is growing vigorously enough to take over the spaces the weeds leave behind.

And if he sees any problems with insects, he'll take care of those too.

And there's more. Like free service calls if you have any problems. And free consultation on the best ways to mow, water, dethatch and overseed.

A PROGRAM THAT PAYS FOR ITSELF MANY TIMES OVER

The ChemLawn program costs about the same as it would cost you to do it yourself. And since a beautiful lawn increases the value of your property, the program actually pays for itself many times over.

So call today—or drop the attached coupon in the mail—and get your free lawn analysis. Remember there's no obligation; you don't even have to be home when it's done.

TAKE OUR FIRST APPLICATION NOW, AND WE'LL TAKE YOU TO LUNCH

Here's how you can save us some time and yourself some money.

Just decide to take your first ChemLawn application at the same time as your free lawn analysis and we'll knock $5.00 off the price of the application. (It saves us a trip.)

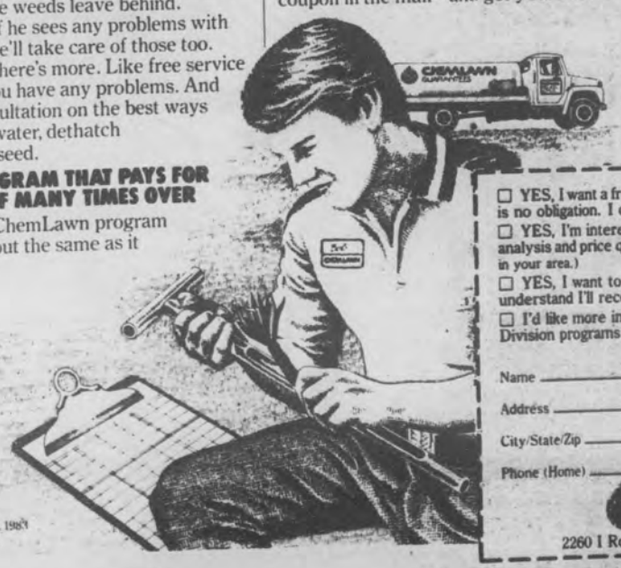
Then use the $5.00 you saved to go out to lunch!

FOR YOUR FREE LAWN ANALYSIS CALL
942-7842

CHEMLAWN GUARANTEES
If you're not satisfied with the results of a ChemLawn application, give us a call. We'll keep working on your lawn, at no additional cost to you, until you decide you are satisfied. Or we'll refund the cost of the application.

(Or mail in this coupon.)



☐ YES, I want a free lawn survey before I decide. I understand there is no obligation. I don't even have to be home.
☐ YES, I'm interested in a ChemScape Professional landscape analysis and price quote without any obligation. (May not yet be available in your area.)
☐ YES, I want to save $5. Start ChemLawn service now. I understand I'll receive my free survey with my first treatment.
☐ I'd like more information about the ChemLawn Commercial Division programs for business properties.

Miss Shelby County could be Miss America

The girl who is selected Miss Shelby County could go on to become Miss America.

Entries are now being accepted for the April 14 pageant at Thompson High School. The pageant is open to all young women in the Shelby County area 17 to 26 years old, and the deadline is March 31.

According to pageant chairman Jim Lowery, the county title winner will receive a four-year college scholarship, a $750 modeling course, and a $150 performing arts scholarship.

She will also advance to the Miss Alabama pageant, which in turn could launch her into national competition in Atlantic City, N.J.

For more information, civic or social organizations wishing to sponsor a candidate, as well as interested individuals, can contact Lowery at 663-3393, Lisa Mims in the evenings at 663-9891, or Debbie Williamson after 6 p.m. at 663-4814.

Arbor Day Foundation gives trees

Ten flowering trees will be given to people who join the National Arbor Day Foundation during March, 1984.

The free trees are part of the Foundation's effort to promote tree planting throughout America.

The Foundation will give two White Dogwood, two American Redbud, two European Mountain Ash, two Washington Hawthorn, and two Flowering Crab trees to members joining during March. The six-to-twelve inch trees will be shipped at the right time for planting this spring, between March 1 and May 31, postage paid with enclosed planting instructions.

These trees were selected because they will give a colorful flowering of pink, white, and red blossoms throughout the spring, according to the Foundation. The trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

The National Arbor Day Foundation, a nonprofit organization, is working to improve the quality of life throughout the country by encouraging tree planting. The Foundation will give the ten free trees to members contributing $10 during March.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, a $10 membership contribution should be sent to Flowering Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, NE 68410, by March 31.

In service of the US

Pve. Charles J. Klein, a resident of Calera and a member of Co. C, 2nd Battalion, 152nd Armor Alabama Army National Guard of Calera, will report to Fort Knox, Ky. on March 12 for seven weeks of basic training.

Mental health needs tax hero to save budget

"The solution to the state's budget problems which are your problems and mine, is a taxpayer's hero."

That's what John Brumley, executive director of Chilton-Shelby Mental Health Center, told the Columbiana Kiwanis Club last Thursday night.

Brumley pointed out that community mental health centers receive about two-thirds of their funding from state contracts, and the other one-third comes from local initiatives, client fees, and county commissions. Brumley said the current budget proposal could potentially cut local programs such as jail and hospital visits, emergency, and indigent care.

When asked what would happen with crises situations that the Center deals with daily, Brumley responded, "Some of them would have to be presented at local hospitals as medical emergencies. If we don't have the resources to work with them, someone else will have to be legally responsible."

The current state budget provides a little over $18 million for community mental health programs -- slightly less than the $19 million funded last year and much less than the requested 22.4 million this year.

"As I see it, a taxpayer's hero is our only solution." In Brumley's opinion, this 'hero' would cut the Department of Mental Health's budget by approximately 5% a year for the next five years, while increasing the community mental health budget by an average of $2.5 million over the same period. "This would result in a savings to you and me, the taxpayer, of over $100 million dollars (based on the budget's past rate of growth)," he said.

This strategy hinges on the cost effectiveness of community mental health, where persons are treated in 24-hour treatment facilities at a cost of about one-third of the daily cost of hospitalization in a state institution. According to Brumley such programs save the taxpayers more than $12 million, and on an outpatient basis, the savings is much more dramatic.

"I feel like a taxpayer's hero would most likely close one state hospital -- probably Searcy Hospital in Mount Vernon -- and keep only the most severely impaired in the state institutions," he said. "Our hero would invest part of the savings in community programs to make sure that each community mental health center has at least one full-time psychiatrist and inpatient contracts with local hosptials or private psychiatric facilities sufficient to treat over 95% of the acutely mentally ill patients in the community."

"Poor planning has created a time bomb for the Department of Mental Health," he said. "Special interest groups have hidden behind the court order and used it as an opportunity to build an empire for state institutions rather than push for community resources that could keep patients in the community, prevent future hospitalization and result in a savings to the taxpayer."

Brookwood offers reward for old drugs

Between March 19 and 23 Brookwood Medical Center will donate a dollar to a favorite charity for everyone bringing in old medications.

"March 18 through March 24 is National Poison Prevention Week, and we want to do our part by giving people an incentive to clean out their medicine chests," explained Brookwood Pharmacist George Gammill. "The fewer old medicines there are lying around, the less chance there is a child will swallow something he shouldn't."

The money is for medicines that haven't been used up, but that the person is no longer taking. A barrel will be set up in the main Brookwood lobby for receiving medicine bottles. Hospital volunteers will note where each person's charity dollar is to go.

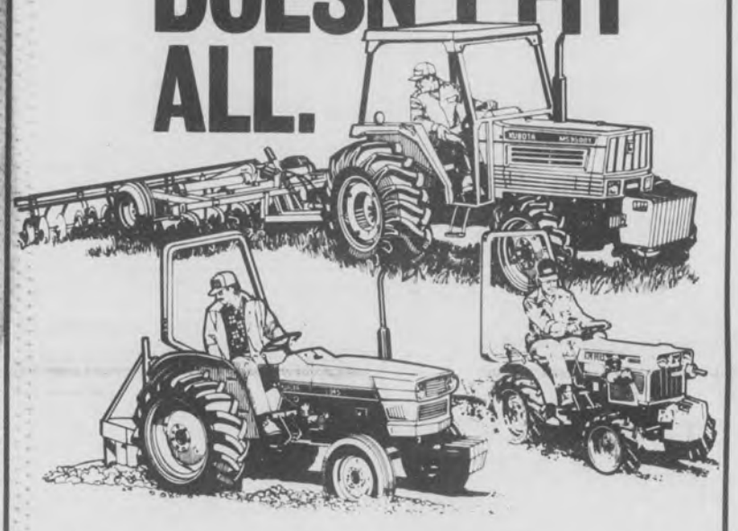
ONE SIZE DOESN'T FIT ALL.



Kubota has the field covered with dozens of diesel tractors, from 10 to 76 PTO horsepower.

And while they may vary in size, some things are the same on every model. The Kubota diesel engine, for example.

It's sturdy and dependable, one of the most fuel-efficient diesel engines anywhere. And not only does it use little fuel, it requires little maintenance. There's less noise and vibration too.

So take a look. There's a diesel-powered Kubota in your size.

Cub Scout Pack 549 has awards banquet

Cub Scout Pack 549 held a Blue-Gold banquet Thursday night at Mt. Tabor United Methodist Church in Westover.

Badge presentations were made as follows:

Bobcat -- Richard Cadell, Jason Watson, Ashley Thomas, Rodney Peterson.

Wolf -- Chris Wilder, Ashley Thomas, Rodney Peterson, Jason Watson.

Bear -- Sam Arnold, David Hayes, Heath Fant, Jason Eckes, Bryan Prince. Richard Cadell, Chris Wilder, Tommy Phillips, Rod Wallace.

Special awards were given to: Chris Wilder, for earning all three badges in one year; Bryan Prince, for service to the Forestry Commission; Jason Eckes, services and achievements; Rev. Mac Larkin, a member of the executive committee; Robert Phillips, former cubmaster.

Sam Arnold, Sr. is Cubmaster of Pack 549; Jo Arnold is leader of Den 1; Phyllis Peterson is leader of Den 2.

Jungle tales

Foster tackles obesity

tant for persons trying to lose weight, she said. If necessary, they should request help from their families. She credits much of her success to family and friends who supported her. Her faith in God also helped, she said.

It took around 16 months to lose the 120 pounds. She has kept it off for over two years.

Now, as a lecturer for Weight Watchers, Foster stresses to other overweight people not only the importance of patience, but a positive mental attitude.

"If you believe you can, you can," she says.

Hello, spring...

...goodbye, winter

A venerable oak tree in Westover is still without a coat of leaves, but springtime has come to Shelby County. Colorful flowers are blooming in neighborhoods as chilly cold gives way to a windy warmth. (See related story on Inverness photo contest, Page 5.) (photos by John Hood, top, and Fred Guarino).

Helena rezones for new bank; approves leash law for parks

by Fred Guarino

Helena may have a new bank branch in four months. The council approved a rezoning request Monday which would allow the bank project to proceed.

The First National Bank of Columbiana was granted a request to rezone a lot for a branch office at the intersection of county highways 52, 17 and 91. The bank also was granted rezoning from residential to business for 10 acres just north of its lot.

In a telephone interview with the Reporter, bank president Karl Harrison said, "Helena, in my opinion, has a future." He added that he hoped to open the new branch in four months.

"We're ready to go just as soon as we can grind it (the lot) off," he told the Reporter "The architect has the plans and we're about ready to let bids."

The bank bought the 10 acres now zoned for business from Bill Strickland and Ruby Nell Lambert. Harrison said the purchase was speculative and that the bank was working with the previous owners to attract commercial firms to the area.

The branch will be the bank's fifth office, and will be located across from the Shelby Bank branch.

The council also approved a leash law for city parks which becomes effective immediately.

Councilman Bill Harris moved to approve the ordinance for city parks, provided that a citywide leash law be considered at a later date.

Voting in favor of the action along with Harris were council members Ron Erwin and C.W. Fulgham. Absent council member James Kwater was represented by a written objection, which was included in the official minutes of the meeting.

The leash law makes it a misdemeanor for anyone to allow a dog, not on a leash, to run in the city's parks.

It provides for the impoundment of dogs caught off leashes in the park, fines, and/or the imprisonment of violating dog owners in the city jail, and fees for the redeeming of dogs captured and taken to a pound.

Dogs not claimed from the dog pound can be humanely destroyed.

Fines for violation of the leash law cannot exceed $200 and jail sentences cannot exceed six months.

Harris asked how law enforcement personnel would know if a dog was allowed to run in the park in defiance of the new law, or if it only wandered into a city park from a nearby home. He pointed out that Helena has no leash law for areas away from parks.

Mayor Charles Penhale responded that the matter would have to be left up to police officials to determine.

Pelhale pointed out that dogs not wearing tags can legally be picked up anywhere in Helena now, and that only six dog tags have been bought in the city this year.

"If there are only six dogs in Helena, I'm the Lone Ranger," Erwin said after the meeting.

Phil Richey of the Shelby County YMCA failed to receive approval for use of Helena tennis courts for lessons in afternoon hours.

However, Helena Dixie Youth president Mike Brady was granted the authority to schedule use of ballfields in Penhale Park with priority going to local teams. On a motion by Harris, the city approved the scheduling authorization and agreed to continue its service of picking up garbage and cleaning the restrooms at the ballfield.

On another motion by Harris, Martin Lawley was granted permission to allow truck sales of prouduce on his property.

The Shelby County DAY program received a donation of $600 from the council after a motion by Erwin was approved.

Calera revives zoning board

by Bert Seaman

One family has been waiting two months to take their case to the zoning appeals board in Calera. An individual who appeared at Monday's council meeting also needs a decision from the board.

The problem has been that two members of the three-man board have resigned -- one for business reasons, the other because of an attorney general's opinion.

But the board is now ready for action again following the council's confirmation Monday of three appointments.

The men who have agreed to serve on the board are James Miles and Dan Loftin. Horace Bright was reappointed to another term.

One new case the board will be asked to hear was brought up at the meeting by Sid Bird, who wants to put up an office and car lot between Brakeshoe Road and Warehouse Foods.

The catch is that the office met the specifications of a trailer, which is not allowed in that location.

Although there has been a period of calm on the issue of the city park, there was a flare up Monday when Mayor Carl Prichard charged the park board with neglecting its duty.

He said that the work on the two ballfields that have been approved was long overdue, noting that revenue sharing funds have been available for two years.

Refuting the mayor's charges, councilman and park board chairman Mark Jones said planning is underway for the fields. He

Bill would shuffle planning commission

by John Hood

A bill is being prepared modifying the way members are appointed to the Shelby County Planning Commission.

Blast from shotgun kills Alabaster man

by Bert Seaman

An Alabaster mother called police Wednesday evening to report that two of her boys had been arguing and that one of them was shot.

When police arrived at the Shields residence near the Waffle House on 11th Ave SE, they found 23-year-old Ronnie Shields dead from a gunshot wound to the chest.

Alabaster investigator Sgt. Larry Rollan said that the victim's brother Alonzo, 26, was taken into custody following the shooting which occurred at 7:02 p.m.

No charge was made against him, however, and he was released Thursday morning on a $1,000 material witness bond.

Deputy District Attorney Bob Williams said that Shields will testify as a material witness before the May session of the Shelby County grand jury to determine whether the shooting was justifiable homicide.

According to authorities, the way events leading up to the shooting were alleged to have occurred -- Ronnie went to his brother Alonzo's trailer after arguing with his mother and got a butcher knife.

When Alonzo tried to stop his brother from returning to their mother's house, Ronnie attacked him twice with the knife.

A young relative who witnessed the shooting told the police that Alonzo fended off the first attack with the metal grill from a barbecue. When Ronnie came at him again, Alonzo allegedly discharged one shot from the 12-gauge single shot shotgun he was carrying.

The victim lived with his mother, Cecilia Shields, and his ailing father. Their house is only a short distance from the trailer where their son Alonzo lives.

Does not affect 280 project

Feds tie up interstate funds

by John Hood

A holdup in the release of federal highway funds to Alabama will not affect work underway on US 280 near Harpersville.

The remaining two-lane portion of 280 is being widened to four lanes, and workers are now in the process of moving gas lines. When finished in 1985, the project will complete the four-laning of US 280 through Shelby County.

The delay in receiving $112 million in federal money won't hold up the 280 project because it is being financed by state windfall taxes, according to Bernie Finneran, assistant division engineer with the state highway department.

Revenue from state taxes on oil wells has financed the widening of the highway, he explained.

Completion of the $4.2 million project in Shelby County is still on schedule for April of 1985, according to division engineer Jesse McGill.

Dunn Construction Company is working on the highway north of Harpersville, and McGill said that the work could be done even earlier if there is a lot of good weather.

Top priority now is to complete the bridge approaches to the new Coosa River bridge so that traffic can begin using it before 1985.

The stretch of roadwork from Harpersville to Childersburg has been delayed about six months because the contractor, Harrington Construction defaulted, or filed for bankruptcy, said McGill. The highway department is now in the process of letting out another contract for the work.

McGill admitted there had been complaints from contractors about slow payments from the state, but he said it was just a slow process. He said the holdup on federal funds had nothing to do with it.

Alabama has been granted federal money from the Advanced Construction Interstate (ACI) Program, but the money is being withheld until Congress approves a completed cost estimate.

Finneran said that other projects, such as the completion of I-20 near Leeds, could be affected if the delay lasted a long time.

"We have been able to get some discretionary funds to carry on with our programs," he said. Discretionary funds are unused funds originally designated for other states.

In a letter to Alabama Senators Howell Heflin and Jeremiah Denton, Gov. George Wallace urged Congressional action on approval of the estimate.

The letter stated that the highway department must cover all costs of the projects until they become regularly financed.

"We (the highway department) now have a terrific cash flow problem which exceeds $12 million and is increasing by $2 million per month," the letter said.

Democrats go for John Glenn

by David F. Moore

'Super Tuesday' turned out to be something less than 'super' for much of Shelby County.

Unofficially, 6,323 voters -- 19.27% of the county's 32,799 registered voters -- went to the polls to pull levers for Democratic nominees and delegates to Democratic and Republican conventions.

The turnout was considered small by both parties, and the county voted " wrong" to boot.

County Democrats voted for Sen. John Glenn over Gary Hart, Jesse Jackson, and Walter Mondale, but their voting pattern followed neither that of the state -- which went for Mondale -- nor that of the 7th Congressional District from which the delegates were chosen.

In the district, Jackson won three delegates and Mondale won two, according to a spokesperson from the State Democratic Headquarters.

Jackson delegates are Lenora Alexander (Tuscaloosa), Marie Foster (Selma), William Branch (Eutaw), and alternate Carrie Johnson (Lisman).

Mondale's delegates are Sallie Cook (Holt), C.A. Fredd (Greensboro) and alternate Martha Ellen Johnson (Northport).

L. Holt Cloud, who lives off Cahaba Valley Road, pulled the most district votes for a Republican in Shelby County, but fell short when tallies from all 14 counties were counted. District Republican delegates elected were Karl Elebash, Gordon Lawless and Pete Cavert.

Two Shelby County Republicans running in the state at large category, drew only moderate support locally.

Probate Judge Tommy Snowden called the vote turnout light, and agreed that 'Super Tuesday' didn't live up to its hype, at least in Shelby County.

"Everybody's disappointed in the turnout," agreed county Republican chairman David Bradley. "Even some of the hard core Reaganites didn't vote because they didn't personally know the delegates."

Of those that voted in Shelby County, 5,751 pulled levers for the Democrats, and 572 apparently went Republican. The official number of Republicans was not available from either the probate office or party officials. The number 572 was derived by dividing the total votes cast for district delegates, by three, which was the number to be selected.

Results listed for Democratic voting

Columbiana puts off library

by Bert Seaman

First come first served was the way the Columbiana Council handled two requests that have been presented lately.

At last Thursday's meeting, the council admitted the carpet looks bad. It was noted however, that the Columbiana Dixie Youth League was first in line, having asked for practice fields several weeks earlier.

The council admitted the carpet looks bad, but noted that the Columbiana Dixie Youth League was first in line, having asked for practice fields several weeks earlier.

Councilman Frank Owen expressed his desire to help the library, but Councilwoman Jessie Jones said she felt the council had already "given an honorable nod to the ballfield."

Acknowledging that it's the city's responsibility to keep up the library, Councilman Bill Seale nevertheless moved that the matter be tabled for the present and the council went along with the motion.

The council agreed to take bids in order to get an idea of what it would cost to put up two backstops and partially fence the practice fields at the middle school.

The bids will be opened at city hall March 23 at 8 a.m., but it was stipulated that any or all can be rejected.

Ronald Conn, the newly elected president of the Columbiana Girl's Softball League was at the meeting to ask about practice fields, and said that the amount of fencing mentioned wasn't necessary.

But Jones explained that since the fields are on school property, they must meet the needs of the school as well as the community.

In other matters, the council:

- Agreed to accept the low bid of $4,466.75 for a lawn mower from Alabama Air Cooled Motors
- Set a hearing on revenue sharing money for April 2, 10 a.m. at city hall
- Were told by Mayor Buck Falkner that complications prevented a street light being placed in the parking lot of the Nazarene Church on State 25.

The site of the light would be on the state right of way.

House district lines may be redrawn to do away with county 'voter islands'

by David F. Moore

A bill expected to pass the legislature this week would eliminate 'voter islands' in Brantleyville and North Shelby.

The bill, introduced two weeks ago by Rep. John Tanner, does away with two isolated groups or islands of voters which are situated inside House District 40. Voters in those areas are presently required to vote for candidates in House District 41.

The voter island located near County 17 in Brantleyville affects 169 people. A similar situation exists in North Shelby, where 149 residents live near the intersection of State 119 (Cahaba Valley Road) and County 29 (Caldwell Mill Road).

The islands were created by the Justice Department during the court ordered redistricting of the state's legislative districts. However, the situation with the islands was not generally known until residents there tried to vote for candidates in House District 40, but were told they actually lived in District 41.

"The bill is designed to get rid of the errors in the redistricting," Tanner said. "They (the islands) resulted in a lot of people not being able to vote for whom they wanted, and caused a lot of general confusion."

Tanner is the representative for House District 40, and Sonny Moore, co-sponsor of the bill, is representative for district 41.

The general bill has already been reported out of the House Judiciary Committee, and is expected to come up for a vote this week, Tanner said.

He expects the bill to pass both the House and Senate, and go on to the Justice Department for federal approval.

If enacted, the bill would actually improve the population ratios for the two districts, Tanner said.

Coincidentally, the court ordered redistricting lines which created the problem islands were drawn up by a former Birmingham man also named John Tanner, who now works in Washington DC for the Justice Department, Rep. Tanner said.

Health center opens on 280 in Inverness

In recent years a number of Alabama hospitals have competed to build medical facilities along the US 280 corridor. In Inverness, the race was won by a new company called Family Medical Centers, Inc.

The firm opened its fourth EMS (Emergency Medicines South) center this month -- located across from Inverness on 280 -- and it wasn't long before business came in.

During grand opening on March 11, the day before EMS's official opening, a seven-year-old Inverness girl came in with a minor cut. According to marketing director Chip Hollingsworth, the four doctors attending the ceremonies gave her ample attention.

The minor emergency and family health center is open year round from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., and is served by a staff of 12. Hollingsworth said that at least one fully accredited doctor, an RN and certified lab and x-ray technicians are always on duty when the center is open.

"We don't have cheap health care, we have reasonable health care," Hollingsworth said.

Glasscox defends SCHS principal; cites experience, 'leadership abilities'

by Bert Seaman

Evan Major was named interim principal of Shelby County High School following the death of Don Bulger.

But at least one individual has questioned Superintendent of Education Ellie Glasscox's decision to appoint him, because of Major's duties in the central education office.

In a letter to the editor published in last week's Reporter, a Calera woman questioned how one person could effectively fill two full-time positions.

Although Glasscox said he didn't feel he needed to defend his action in the press, he told the Reporter that he had tried to put the most qualified person in the principal's position.

Because Major was principal at Chelsea prior to joining the central office staff, Glasscox said he had the experience, as well the respect of faculty and students and other leadership abilities.

"I felt that he could pull the strings of the community together," the superintendent said.

Admitting it will be difficult for Major to perform the duties of both positions, Glasscox said his first responsibility will be to Shelby County High School.

Denying the insinuation there may not have been enough work to fill Major's time at the central office, the superintendent stressed that "there is plenty for him to do here." He noted, however, that staff members who work with Major "will have to become more deeply involved."

Major and his central office staff are responsible for coordinating the instruction for elementary and secondary levels of education. Major is also involved with planning staff utilization for the upcoming school year.

The reason Juanita Lightsey was not asked to be interim principal, the superintendent explained, was because she did not have the experience.

Although Lightsey was the assistant principal under Bulger, she was not paid to perform those duties since the position was only 'designated.'

In regard to Major's $38,000 salary the letter writer mentioned, the superintendent said he wasn't sure just how much Major made, but the maximum salary for his position would be $35,000.

Commission changes

Reporter beginning next week, he said.

The commission's members have been appointed by a variety of organizations since it was created in 1969, according to Paul Owens, planning director for the commission. The body oversees zoning and development regulations for the county.

"For years there has been a lot of talk on the way members were chosen," Owens said. Members of the commission had a meeting about three weeks ago to discuss the proposed changes, according to Owens.

Ellis said the bill would put all appointments under control of elected officials. Presently, two of the commission's seven members are chosen by the county bar association.

"We've now got a non-elected agency appointing members," Ellis said. "The bill will allow the electorate to be (more) in control."

Ellis said plans were not firmed up on how future appointments would be made. Having either the county commission or the legislative delegation handle some appointments, is being discussed.

Presently, the county commission and the board of education can each appoint two members, and circuit judges can choose one.

Calera Council

stressed that this is not the proper time to begin the actual development, however.

The town has five practice fields. Jones said that building the two fields would eliminate three of them because they are located where the new fields will be built.

Jones reported that he is studying the new cycle of grants to see if there are any available the city could apply for.

In other business, the council approved the appointment of four new volunteer firemen: Donald Avery, Dennis Alexander, Bobby Loftin, Greg Killingsworth.

Pelham solves radio ripoff

An investigation of the break-in and burglary of Pelham's radio transmitter station has turned up three juvenile suspects.

Sgt. Don Guyer of the Pelham Police Department said he talked to two of the suspects and they admitted taking about $5,000 worth of electronic parts from the transmitter on January 7 of this year.

The transmitter, which sits on top of a ridge behind city hall, was temporarily disabled when the parts were taken. The city uses the facility for all of its radio communications, such as fire and police calls.

Youth Day

Jeff Trammell (left) and Kirk Creel, fifth grade students at Valley Elementary School look over some city business with Pelham Fire Chief Bill Bryars and Mayor Burk Dunaway. Monday was proclaimed Pelham Youth Government Day. Valley's fifth grade class spent the day touring city hall and the police and fire departments to learn how government operates. In an election at the school, Trammell was chosen as fire chief, and Creel was elected city engineer. Other students were elected to council seats and held a mock meeting Monday night, where they elected a librarian.

New car, new firemen on hold for Alabaster

by John Hood

The Alabaster City Council spent most of its short Tuesday night meeting discussing the city's fire department.

The council decided to hold off on accepting bids for a new station wagon for the fire chief until more revenue-sharing funds are received. Mayor H.A. 'Doc' Rubin said the federal money would be in sometime in April.

Approval of hiring two new firemen was also tabled for the same reason as the station wagon bids.

Fire Chief John Cochran asked the council to consider enacting an ordinance regulating automatic fire alarms.

"We are having an awful lot of problems with false alarms," he said, telling the council that his department had responded to five calls within 24 hours to one business.

Cochran said the majority of alarm systems work fine, but a few installations are constantly going off and costing the department money by going on unnecessary runs.

He proposed an ordinance that would make businesses pay for false alarms if more than three occurred in one year.

"Businesses would put pressure on the alarm companies to maintain the systems if they knew it was going to cost them money," said Cochran.

Although council members agreed the false alarms were a problem, they were not sure an ordinance would be the right approach.

Different ways of dealing with the problem were tossed around. Councilman Jack Reagin asked if issuing citations might be better. He also said he would like to see some figures on just how many false calls there were.

Cochran said that his men had gone on false calls to one place more than 15 times this year. Since many of the alarms occur at night, he said that some volunteers are taking the chance that a call is a false alarm and not coming in.

Councilman Calvin McCune said he thought of the owners of the buildings had to come out to the site at every false alarm, more attention would be paid to keeping the systems operating properly.

Rubin appointed a committee to study the problem and asked them to report at the next council meeting.

In other business:

•Terry Johnson of CableVision Company, the cable company that serves the city, asked the council to approve a name-change for the company. Johnson owns several cable companies throughout the country, and he said he wanted to consolidate them under one name. He said the new name will be Masada Communications.

•Street Commissioner Willie Arrington read a letter from T.L. Hammons, Jr. praising the workers in his department. Hammons is the pastor of First United Methodist Church in Alabaster. Arrington couldn't help beaming after reading the letter, saying it was rare for people to acknowledge what his department did.

Pelham gets double dose of council action

by Fred Guarino

Monday, for the first time ever, two completely separate Pelham City Councils sat in session at the same time.

Students of Valley Elementary School's fifth grade class waited for the right moment and then replaced the current city government with one of their own.

The Valley youngsters let their adult counterparts schedule public hearings for April 16 on the rezoning of certain Valleydale Road property from B-2 to B-3, and for an amendment to the city's sign ordinance.

The property, already zoned for light business, is located across the street from Dr. Michael Meon's office. The B-3 business zoning is needed for a warehouse which a developer wants to build there.

The new sign ordinance will allow the erection of larger signs with 150 feet of the interstate highway.

Before being tossed out of control, the adult city government was also allowed to approve Mayor Dunaway's signing of an agreement with the State of Alabama to improve the intersection of county 52 and US 31.

In return for an agreement to pay the light bill, the state will install better traffic lights at the intersection as well as new street lights.

The adults were also allowed to hire attorney Brad Bishop as the city's new municipal court judge for a period of two years.

Dunaway ask Bishop to identify himself and then said, "Hopefully, none of those here will ever see you again."

THE TAKE OVER

No sooner had councilman K.O. Maynard asked the public to attend an April 12 meeting concerning the improvement of Pelham's appearance than he, Mayor Dunaway and fellow council members Willard Payne, Bob Cleveland, Beverly Hall, and R.E. "Ray" Hamilton found themselves suddenly replaced.

Taking charge of the city were fifth grade Mayor Mark Bridges and council members Colin McKelrn, Mike Dunaway, Laura Vanderwall, Lisa Toncale, and Slade Holladay.

Even Pelham police chief D.O. Watson, fire chief Bill Bryars and city clerk Willie Mae Dennis were not spared in the insurrection.

Replacing them were Chris Joiner, Jeff Trammell and Tawana Anderson.

The younger version of the Pelham City Council wasted little time before making some big changes. They hired a new librarian, passed a motion that Pelham Youth Day be held annually, and then approved a motion to build a swimming pool in the city's park as soon as possible.

The swimming pool motion was made by Mayor Dunaway's son Mike. Although no means of funding the project were provided, the youngster council enthusiastically voted in favor of the pool.

None of the actions passed by the youth carried any legal weight, but the session apparently served at least one purpose. Prior to the 'takeover' Mayor Dunaway told his fellow council members they would now see "how it's supposed to be done."

After the youth finished their mock meeting, Dunaway said "Y'all did good. I don't think I've had a council meeting where I got every motion passed."

"We are lucky to have a school in Pelham," concluded Valley School Principal Norma Rogers. "We never had a request to which the city did not respond and go beyond what we asked."

Power company wants to spray along utility rights-of-way

by John Hood

Alabama Power Company wants to go to the air.

The utility is seeking approval from the state legislature to spray herbicides along powerline rights of way.

John Hawkins, assistant to the director of government affairs, said the utility company needs to be able to keep right of ways clear, and the best way to do it is by the spraying of herbicides.

The amendment the company is now advertising in the legal section of the Reporter would change an existing bill banning all spraying not agricultural in nature, according to Hawkins.

Hawkins said that the utility has sent copies of the amendment to Senator Frank "Butch" Ellis and Rep. Sonny Moore of Pell City.

"We want to try to draft something suitable," Hawkins said. "We propose to take the amendment to hunting clubs, and show we are interested in the environment."

Ellis said he had not yet had a chance to examine the amendment, but he saw nothing wrong with spraying approved chemicals as long as there was a "buffer zone" to protect private property.

Presently, spraying chemicals from the air is allowed only for agricultural purposes. The bill was passed after a number of lawsuits were filed stemming from spraying programs by paper companies that damaged private property.

JOBS forms to help firms

Business issues will be the theme of a new organization in Shelby County.

Joint Operation for Business Survival (JOBS) is the name of the group.

The concept is to have business people who will be willing to contact legislators to express a business point of view.

JOBS network is sponsoring a reception honoring the legislators in Senate District 4 and House Dictricts 40, 41 and 42. It will be held in the Montevallo room on the University of Montevallo campus from 6-8 p.m. on Thursday, March 22.

All persons interested in attending are invited. Additional information: Seaman Timber Company, 665-2536.

Another school plan

A Plan for Excellence. From the AEA convention in Huntsville, to local PTO meetings, state school superintendent Wayne Teague's involved agenda for improving the quality of education has received a lot of attention lately.

That's good, but it's certainly nothing new. Neither are some of the problems he's trying to correct. Take for instance this front page piece written by county superintendent J.W. Letson in the January 19, 1928 edition of the Shelby County Reporter:

With an earnest desire to encourage every teacher to do efficient work, I shall restate a number of details that are essential to the highest success in every school or class room.

1st A daily schedule. Your schedule should not be a matter of memory, but should be written out in full either on the board or on paper where it is always at hand for ready reference. It should not only show the exact time to be given to each recitation but exactly the subject or other work to be engaged in every period of the day for those not reciting. When such a schedule is made it must be followed faithfully or it is without value in improving the efficiency of your work.

2nd Lesson plans and daily preparation. I am afraid some of our teachers do not feel the necessity of preparing daily for their class room work. I am afraid that some of us own text-books that we attempt to teach and that we do no outside work of any kind that will increase our ability or improve our teaching. Not much promotion is in store for the teacher who does not improve and there is no improvement for those who will not study.

3rd I believe most heartily in School Athletics, but some of our teachers seem to be giving entirely too much time to this activity. Complaints from patrons indicate that practically every Friday afternoon is wasted in some of our schools. Unless principals and teachers will plan to save time and to make athletic contest a motive for better work and a means of developing character it is only a short time until such contests will die of their own weight.

4th Transportation. Nothing is more important to the enlarged Educational Program in Shelby County than principals and teachers... organize their program so that transported children are not on the school ground at any time during the day without the teacher's supervision.

5th Permit me again to call attention to the importance of mailing weekly reports at the close of every week. A report that comes to this office one or more weeks late is without value.

6th Library books... Several hundred dollars worth of new books have been purchased and ought to reach the librarian at Montevallo within the next few days... Here's hoping that the demands made up on this library will be more than we are at present prepared to meet.

Class scheduling, lesson plans, promotions for meritorious teachers, too much time for sports -- the issues facing educators over a half-century ago don't sound much different from issues today. It brings to mind the old saying: There's nothing new under the sun.

What would be new is if the latest 'plan for excellence' generates true improvements, not just more political rhetoric and higher taxes.

Letters to the editor

Schools need funds, not critics

Letter to the Editor:

We, who are interested in education, must act now. We cannot wait for other people to do their part. As was demonstrated in the (school tax) election, approximately 80% of us decided to do nothing, approximately 10% of us decided to hold back for various reasons, and approximately 10% of us decided to try to move forward.

We cannot allow ourselves to continually complain about the actions of our leaders and then because of their actions ignore the children of Shelby County. Our children and their welfare must be the paramount issue - not the actions or inactions of others.

What we can do for now is "give". The amount you give is not nearly as important as is the fact that you cared enough to give.

At Montevallo Elementary School recently one child was so inappropriately dressed that one or more of the MES teachers actually bought clothes for the child. While this is certainly not a teacher's responsibility, it is an example of the kind of sacrifice that most teachers are willing to make for their students - our children! Just as these teachers were able to give directly to a need, you may also give directly to a need - just ask your child's principal where the money is needed most before you give.

I would also like to make a few comments about recent letters in your paper. One letter said that schools should learn to operate within their budgets. It is difficult to argue with such a statement when the budget is adequate. But when the budget is totally inadequate, this simply means that cuts have to be made in much needed programs.

Another letter complained that one individual now holds two full-time positions. Instead of criticism, maybe a letter of thanks would be more in order. How many of us would be willing to give up our job for some 'interim period' knowing that when we return to it we would have a desk full of work that all had to be done right away.

In this case there was a vacancy that needed to be filled right away. It was in fact such an important position that filling it created a temporary vacancy elsewhere. Allowing a person "to continue in his old position" is just insurance to him or her that once the interim period is over, he or she will still have a job.

It seems to always be the case that if a decision is delayed, some will say "a stitch in time saves nine" or if a decision is prompt, someone will say "haste makes waste". I contend in either case that such a complaint can only inhibit or possibly even prevent any progress from being made.

Our own inaction is far more destructive than a mistake made by one of our leaders or a malformed criticism.

Sincerely,
Gene G. Garza

Limiting sports helps all students excel

Letter to the Editor:

In recent months we have all heard much about the need for excellence in our school program. Educators and parents are very concerned and are searching for ways to improve our children's education.

Educators are striving to make the best use possible of the school day. As you know, there is also much talk from the state level of extending the number of hours in school.

However, this must be a community effort. We are asking for your help. Last year during the months of March, April, and May significant numbers of elementary-aged students were involved in baseball or softball activities four or five nights every week. They were either practicing, participating in a game, or attending a brother's or sister's game. Students were unable to complete homework assignments or study for tests and were even sleeping through class.

This has already begun again with baseball tryouts on school nights rather than on Saturdays. We request that, for the benefit of the children, practice and game times be limited to a minimum on school nights with students of any age finished by 7 p.m.

If high school sports and other extracurricular events are to be limited during the week, surely we can do no less for our elementary-aged students. Please keep in mind the best interests of our children as you plan the spring baseball and softball schedules.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member FDIC.

They came by the hundreds to share in the fellowship. From places far and near they kept coming in, filling the little church to overflowing.

Bill Shaw saved us a parking place and a seat but we had to get there early to claim them, remembering, as we did, the last time when we got no closer than ten blocks.

If you haven't been to Union United Methodist Church up Westover way you've missed a delight. The singing is almost unbelievable, the fellowship is everywhere, and the love, all over the place, almost takes your breath.

Lynn Terry is still the Reverend and his wife is still pretty and the way the people love 'em is something to behold. They're sure to lose them eventually, and they realize it, but it doesn't take anything away from the way they love their Reverend and his wife and their church.

Today they had the Peacemakers Quartet; Bill Shaw, high tenor, and Elvis Walton, bass, and Ray Click, lead, and Joe Kirkpatrick, baritone and Leo Hyche, piano. They don't sing regularly, as they once did. Maybe because time, following in their footsteps, overtook them. Maybe there's another reason, or another, But the talent is there, God given, and one wonders if age makes any difference to Him. But if they only sing once a year, or every two years maybe, I just hope they do it at some place close enough for us to be there.

They sang 'I've got that old time religion in my heart' and 'It's a great morning'. And for some who had gone on, Lane Shaw and Bobby Strickland and I.W. Blackwood, they sang 'He did it all for me'.

There was a group singing too, directed by Wendel Shaw. They sang 'Amazing Grace' and 'Victory in Jesus' and 'It's great to be in the house of the Lord.'

Then there was a serious moment. One by one they told how thankful they were, of their church, of their families, of their friends, of the fellowship and love that had come their way.

And then it was time to go. And there's one other thing. They plan to make some improvements on their church. If they do, and I am sure they will, this will be one beautiful place to spend a day or an evening.

Scrambled eggs

by Bert Seaman

When I heard a tale of woe the other day about trying to keep up with a car key, it struck a responsive chord.

Many's the time I've stood by my car in fear and trembling, afraid the key I wasn't able to find in pocket or purse might be locked somewhere inside the car.

The individual that told me about the episodes she has been experiencing recently is a young mother.

I guess someone in that stage of life has something in common with a gal my age -- that something being lapses of memory. (You notice I'm not going so far as to say loss of memory.)

The first occasion that caused her to panic took place at a big shopping mall, far, far from her home.

She groped casually through her purse for the car key as she pushed the baby through the parking lot in the stroller. No key. She tried to remain calm as she rummaged through every pocket, and then once more through the whole purse.

Just when she thought all was lost, the distraught girl caught a glimpse of something on the pavement.

Looking closer, she discovered it was the key -- right where she had dropped it after locking the door.

It wasn't long afterward that a similar experience occurred.

Another shopping excursion at another mall -- with baby along again -- and she got back to the car without being able to find the key.

After peering inside and looking carefully on the pavement, she'd just about decided she'd have to call her husband and suffer the consequences when she happened to walk around the car.

Guess what she found sticking out of the trunk?

Sure enough -- the key -- right where she'd left it after removing baby's stroller.

Occasion number three happened at a friend's house.

This time she didn't have to search alone -- the entire family of the home where she was visiting got into the act -- the grandmother included. And grandmother, who suffered from the memory malady herself, didn't help matters.

According to my friend, grandmother kept asking her daughter if she had taken the key.

After searching the house and grounds, and having pulled almost everything out of her purse, my friend decided to get rid of some of the contents she no longer needed.

It was then she discovered a small compartment in her purse she'd never noticed before. And lurking in the depths of that compartment -- you know what!

Oh my -- the vicissitudes of young motherhood and age. In this case, you'd almost think the poor girl was related to me, wouldn't you?

But I'm not telling.

Alabama Scene

by Bob Ingram

Super Tuesday is now but a memory, but hard feelings remain within the ranks of Alabama's black political leaders. There is no doubt from detailed studies of the vote that the Rev. Jesse Jackson would almost certainly have carried Alabama had not almost half of the black voters been persuaded by the Alabama Democratic Conference (ADC) to support Walter Mondale.

The most accurate estimate is that Mondale polled more than 40 percent of the black vote. Without these votes he could have been well down in the field, and in reverse, had these votes gone to Jackson he certainly would have led the pack.

One black leader who feels the ADC rejection of Jackson was disgraceful was State Sen. Hank Sanders of Selma. He has been sharply critical of the ADC and its top man, Joe Reed.

Reed has not backed off an inch in his contention that the ADC was right in supporting Mondale. His argument was and remains that there is no way Jackson can win the nomination, hence a vote for him would have been a wasted vote. He also chided Sanders for suggesting that all blacks should have voted for Jackson because he was black. "We condemn whites who vote for a candidate simply because he is white," Reed said, "but now we are told we should do the very same thing."

What happened to John Glenn in Alabama? Those who were inclined to vote for him didn't vote. Exit polls showed that Glenn ran powerfully among voters who identified themselves as "conservatives" and "independents", he also ran well with high-income professional people, but very few of them went to the polls.

In one all-white high income precinct in Montgomery, Glenn polled 48 percent of the vote, but the voter turnout at that box was less than 10 percent.

* * * *

Odds and Ends -- The overwhelming approval of the voters of the budget isolation constitutional amendment has some members of the legislature in an uproar. The Legislature had sought unsuccessfully to get the amendment off the March 13th ballot. Now that it is a part of the Constitution you can look for the lawmakers to make some attempt, probably in the courts, to have it stricken.

The State Ethics Commission has not given up in its effort to force Dr. Evelyn Pratt of Huntsville to give up one of her two state jobs. Dr. Pratt is a school principal who also serves on the State Board of Education. The Ethics Commission says she can't hold both offices, but Dr. Pratt has ignored this order.

Look for former Gov. Fob James to move back into the political spotlight in the coming weeks. He has pretty much kept quiet since leaving office 14 months ago, but word is that he's getting a little fidgety at some of the things going on in Montgomery, particularly the huge tax increases which have been proposed and the threat to ignore the budget isolation amendment. He may also involve himself in the fall presidential campaign, and not as a Democrat.

Thanks for opposing gambling

Letter to the Editor:

Please allow me to take this means to thank James E. 'Jake' Morris on the stand he has taken against pari-mutuel betting and dog racing.

I am very grateful that some still have the courage to speak out against the evils of our society. Although some of us will not have a vote on this matter, we here at Calvary shall be praying for the bill's defeat. Praise God for men like Jake Morris.

Thank you.

Inverness holds photo contest

Dogwoods, azaleas and wisteria. They're already blooming in Inverness, providing seasonal subject matter for a photo contest to celebrate spring.

Taylor and Mathis, the company that manages the development, is sponsoring the Inverness Spring Flower Celebration photo contest.

The event is open to all amateur photographers, and will take place at Inverness, south of US 280. The competition will take place from 1 to 5 p.m. on March 24 and 25.

While the photo contest is underway, refreshments and maps of gardens and flowerbeds will be available at various Inverness developments.

Free prizes furnished by area nurseries and landscapers will be given away. During the celebration, gardening and landscaping experts will be on hand to answer questions about planting and maintaining flowers and trees.

The photo contest will be judged by Mike Royer of WBRC-TV, Everett Holle of WVTM and Van Chaplin of 'Southern Living.'

There will be first, second and third place prizes given to the winning photos. Prizes are photo store gift certificates. The top prize is a $100 certificate, and all the winners will have their prints shown at the Inverness information center and at the Inverness Country Club.

Photographs must be in color, and entries must be received by Inverness by April 16. The winners will be announced on April 30.

For entry forms and more information: 967-6189.

Border collies show this week in Vincent

The Border Collie has been in the business of sheep herding for more than 400 years.

While most people have not had the opportunity to see the breed in action, residents of Shelby County are the exception.

For the past six years stock dog trials have been held in the Vincent and Vandiver areas.

This year's event will take place Saturday and Sunday at the Jimmie Rowe farm just north of Vincent on County 60.

The man judging the event has been working with the breed himself since the age of 14 when he started his career as a shepherd in Scotland. He is Allan Gordon, owner of a 1,000 acre sheep farm in Elgin, Scotland, and one of that country's finest judges.

Dogs from several states -- including some local and some local entries -- will be competing in the weekend event.

With 67 entries, last year's trials brought in $5,000 for Coosa Valley Academy, which now sponsors the annual event.

The dogs take their turn on the course testing them on almost every phase of working sheep. Signals from the handler are given either with a whistle or orally.

The trials will begin at 7 a.m. both days and continue until the events are concluded.

An arts and crafts show will be an added attraction at this years trials.

DID YOU KNOW?

Working close to power lines is too close for comfort.

Before putting up a CB or TV antenna, remember to check for power lines, both overhead and coming into your home. Make sure they are at least twice as far away as the height of your antenna. Wait for a calm, dry day and get several people to help. When climbing a ladder for any reason, stay clear of all wires. Also, don't handle aluminum siding close to wires. And never touch a fallen electric line. Report it immediately to Alabama Power.

Cherokees celebrate spring

If a picture is worth a thousand words, a living display is even better. And that's what the Echota tribe of Cherokee Indians is offering the public this weekend.

The event is the tribe's annual spring festival, observed by the Cherokees after the first full moon in March for the blessing of the seeds used in spring planting.

A number of Echotas from Shelby County will be participating in the event being held at Cook's Springs just east of Birmingham this Saturday and Sunday.

The ceremonial blessing of the seeds will be done at noon both days. At 4 p.m. Saturday a ritual Indian wedding will be performed.

Echota Chief Joe Stewart from Alabaster is scheduled to conduct the ceremony which the public may witness.

Indian dancers will perform at intervals both days and there will also be exhibitions of archery and blow gun shooting.

"This is actually the first time the public has been invited to come and see the spring festival," Charlotte Stewart, the chief's wife, told the Reporter.

"What we're trying to do," she said, "is to take a step back in time so everyone can see how the Cherokee lived."

Tours will be given through a 'living' teepee village with guides explaining about village life.

Visitors will see the daily chores that took place, such as corn being ground, basket weaving, pottery making, beadwork, the making of arrowheads and other stone tools.

Craft booths will be displaying and selling Indian-made items and various types of Indian breads.

Stewart said that there is a tremendous interest in the public schools for a first hand account of Indian life.

"We have teams," she related, "which go to the schools during the year and talk on the subject."

According to Stewart, there are 5,700 members of the Echota tribe in Alabama.

The festival is being held at Cook's Springs Baptist camp off I-20 East between the hours of 9-5 each day.

Another school plan

A Plan for Excellence. From the AEA convention in Huntsville, to local PTO meetings, state school superintendent Wayne Teague's involved agenda for improving the quality of education has received a lot of attention lately.

That's good, but it's certainly nothing new. Neither are some of the problems he's trying to correct. Take for instance this front page piece written by county superintendent J.W. Letson in the January 19, 1928 edition of the Shelby County Reporter:

With an earnest desire to encourage every teacher to do efficient work, I shall restate a number of details that are essential to the highest success in every school or class room.

1st A daily schedule. Your schedule should not be a matter of memory, but should be written out in full either on the board or on paper where it is always at hand for ready reference. It should not only show the exact time to be given to each recitation but exactly the subject or other work to be engaged in every period of the day for those not reciting. When such a schedule is made it must be followed faithfully or it is without value in improving the efficiency of your work.

2nd Lesson plans and daily preparation. I am afraid some of our teachers do not feel the necessity of preparing daily for their class room work. I am afraid that some of us own text-books that we attempt to teach and that we do no outside work of any kind that will increase our ability or improve our teaching. Not much promotion is in store for the teacher who does not improve and there is no improvement for those who will not study.

3rd I believe most heartily in School Athletics, but some of our teachers seem to be giving entirely too much time to this activity. Complaints from patrons indicate that practically every Friday afternoon is wasted in some of our schools. Unless principals and teachers will plan to save time and to make athletic contest a motive for better work and a means of developing character it is only a short time until such contests will die of their own weight.

4th Transportation. Nothing is more important to the enlarged Educational Program in Shelby County than principals and teachers... organize their program so that transported children are not on the school ground at any time during the day without the teacher's supervision.

5th Permit me again to call attention to the importance of mailing weekly reports at the close of every week. A report that comes to this office one or more weeks late is without value.

6th Library books... Several hundred dollars worth of new books have been purchased and ought to reach the librarian at Montevallo within the next few days... Here's hoping that the demands made up on this library will be more than we are at present prepared to meet.

Class scheduling, lesson plans, promotions for meritorious teachers, too much time for sports -- the issues facing educators over a half-century ago don't sound much different from issues today. It brings to mind the old saying: There's nothing new under the sun.

What would be new is if the latest 'plan for excellence' generates true improvements, not just more political rhetoric and higher taxes.

Letters to the editor

Schools need funds, not critics

Letter to the Editor:

We, who are interested in education, must act now. We cannot wait for other people to do their part. As was demonstrated in the (school tax) election, approximately 80% of us decided to do nothing, approximately 10% of us decided to hold back for various reasons, and approximately 10% of us decided to try to move forward.

We cannot allow ourselves to continually complain about the actions of our leaders and then because of their actions ignore the children of Shelby County. Our children and their welfare must be the paramount issue - not the actions or inactions of others.

What we can do for now is "give". The amount you give is not nearly as important as is the fact that you cared enough to give.

At Montevallo Elementary School recently one child was so inappropriately dressed that one or more of the MES teachers actually bought clothes for the child. While this is certainly not a teacher's responsibility, it is an example of the kind of sacrifice that most teachers are willing to make for their students - our children! Just as these teachers were able to give directly to a need, you may also give directly to a need - just ask your child's principal where the money is needed most before you give.

I would also like to make a few comments about recent letters in your paper. One letter said that schools should learn to operate within their budgets. It is difficult to argue with such a statement when the budget is adequate. But when the budget is totally inadequate, this simply means that cuts have to be made in much needed programs.

Another letter complained that one individual now holds two full-time positions. Instead of criticism, maybe a letter of thanks would be more in order. How many of us would be willing to give up our job for some 'interim period' knowing that when we return to it we would have a desk full of work that all had to be done right away.

In this case there was a vacancy that needed to be filled right away. It was in fact such an important position that filling it created a temporary vacancy elsewhere. Allowing a person "to continue in his old position" is just insurance to him or her that once the interim period is over, he or she will still have a job.

It seems to always be the case that if a decision is delayed, some will say "a stitch in time saves nine" or if a decision is prompt, someone will say "haste makes waste". I contend in either case that such a complaint can only inhibit or possibly even prevent any progress from being made.

Our own inaction is far more destructive than a mistake made by one of our leaders or a malformed criticism.

Sincerely,
Gene G. Garza

Limiting sports helps all students excel

Letter to the Editor:

In recent months we have all heard much about the need for excellence in our school program. Educators and parents are very concerned and are searching for ways to improve our children's education.

Educators are striving to make the best use possible of the school day. As you know, there is also much talk from the state level of extending the number of hours in school.

However, this must be a community effort. We are asking for your help. Last year during the months of March, April, and May significant numbers of elementary-aged students were involved in baseball or softball activities four or five nights every week. They were either practicing, participating in a game, or attending a brother's or sister's game. Students were unable to complete homework assignments or study for tests and were even sleeping through class.

This has already begun again with baseball tryouts on school nights rather than on Saturdays. We request that, for the benefit of the children, practice and game times be limited to a minimum on school nights with students of any age finished by 7 p.m.

If high school sports and other extracurricular events are to be limited during the week, surely we can do no less for our elementary-aged students. Please keep in mind the best interests of our children as you plan the spring baseball and softball schedules.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member FDIC.

They came by the hundreds to share in the fellowship. From places far and near they kept coming in, filling the little church to overflowing.

Bill Shaw saved us a parking place and a seat but we had to get there early to claim them, remembering, as we did, the last time when we got no closer than ten blocks.

If you haven't been to Union United Methodist Church up Westover way you've missed a delight. The singing is almost unbelievable, the fellowship is everywhere, and the love, all over the place, almost takes your breath.

Lynn Terry is still the Reverend and his wife is still pretty and the way the people love 'em is something to behold. They're sure to lose them eventually, and they realize it, but it doesn't take anything away from the way they love their Reverend and his wife and their church.

Today they had the Peacemakers Quartet; Bill Shaw, high tenor, and Elvis Walton, bass, and Ray Click, lead, and Joe Kirkpatrick, baritone and Leo Hyche, piano. They don't sing regularly, as they once did. Maybe because time, following in their footsteps, overtook them. Maybe there's another reason, or another, But the talent is there, God given, and one wonders if age makes any difference to Him. But if they only sing once a year, or every two years maybe, I just hope they do it at some place close enough for us to be there.

They sang 'I've got that old time religion in my heart' and 'It's a great morning'. And for some who had gone on, Lane Shaw and Bobby Strickland and I.W. Blackwood, they sang 'He did it all for me'.

There was a group singing too, directed by Wendel Shaw. They sang 'Amazing Grace' and 'Victory in Jesus' and 'It's great to be in the house of the Lord.'

Then there was a serious moment. One by one they told how thankful they were, of their church, of their families, of their friends, of the fellowship and love that had come their way.

And then it was time to go. And there's one other thing. They plan to make some improvements on their church. If they do, and I am sure they will, this will be one beautiful place to spend a day or an evening.

Scrambled eggs

by Bert Seaman

When I heard a tale of woe the other day about trying to keep up with a car key, it struck a responsive chord.

Many's the time I've stood by my car in fear and trembling, afraid the key I wasn't able to find in pocket or purse might be locked somewhere inside the car.

The individual that told me about the episodes she has been experiencing recently is a young mother.

I guess someone in that stage of life has something in common with a gal my age -- that something being lapses of memory. (You notice I'm not going so far as to say loss of memory.)

The first occasion that caused her to panic took place at a big shopping mall, far, far from her home.

She groped casually through her purse for the car key as she pushed the baby through the parking lot in the stroller. No key. She tried to remain calm as she rummaged through every pocket, and then once more through the whole purse.

Just when she thought all was lost, the distraught girl caught a glimpse of something on the pavement.

Looking closer, she discovered it was the key -- right where she had dropped it after locking the door.

It wasn't long afterward that a similar experience occurred.

Another shopping excursion at another mall -- with baby along again -- and she got back to the car without being able to find the key.

After peering inside and looking carefully on the pavement, she'd just about decided she'd have to call her husband and suffer the consequences when she happened to walk around the car.

Guess what she found sticking out of the trunk?

Sure enough -- the key -- right where she'd left it after removing baby's stroller.

Occasion number three happened at a friend's house.

This time she didn't have to search alone -- the entire family of the home where she was visiting got into the act -- the grandmother included. And grandmother, who suffered from the memory malady herself, didn't help matters.

According to my friend, grandmother kept asking her daughter if she had taken the key.

After searching the house and grounds, and having pulled almost everything out of her purse, my friend decided to get rid of some of the contents she no longer needed.

It was then she discovered a small compartment in her purse she'd never noticed before. And lurking in the depths of that compartment -- you know what!

Oh my -- the vicissitudes of young motherhood and age. In this case, you'd almost think the poor girl was related to me, wouldn't you?

But I'm not telling.

Alabama Scene

by Bob Ingram

Super Tuesday is now but a memory, but hard feelings remain within the ranks of Alabama's black political leaders. There is no doubt from detailed studies of the vote that the Rev. Jesse Jackson would almost certainly have carried Alabama had not almost half of the black voters been persuaded by the Alabama Democratic Conference (ADC) to support Walter Mondale.

The most accurate estimate is that Mondale polled more than 40 percent of the black vote. Without these votes he could have been well down in the field, and in reverse, had these votes gone to Jackson he certainly would have led the pack.

One black leader who feels the ADC rejection of Jackson was disgraceful was State Sen. Hank Sanders of Selma. He has been sharply critical of the ADC and its top man, Joe Reed.

Reed has not backed off an inch in his contention that the ADC was right in supporting Mondale. His argument was and remains that there is no way Jackson can win the nomination, hence a vote for him would have been a wasted vote. He also chided Sanders for suggesting that all blacks should have voted for Jackson because he was black. "We condemn whites who vote for a candidate simply because he is white," Reed said, "but now we are told we should do the very same thing."

What happened to John Glenn in Alabama? Those who were inclined to vote for him didn't vote. Exit polls showed that Glenn ran powerfully among voters who identified themselves as "conservatives" and "independents", he also ran well with high-income professional people, but very few of them went to the polls.

In one all-white high income precinct in Montgomery, Glenn polled 48 percent of the vote, but the voter turnout at that box was less than 10 percent.

* * * *

Odds and Ends -- The overwhelming approval of the voters of the budget isolation constitutional amendment has some members of the legislature in an uproar. The Legislature had sought unsuccessfully to get the amendment off the March 13th ballot. Now that it is a part of the Constitution you can look for the lawmakers to make some attempt, probably in the courts, to have it stricken.

The State Ethics Commission has not given up in its effort to force Dr. Evelyn Pratt of Huntsville to give up one of her two state jobs. Dr. Pratt is a school principal who also serves on the State Board of Education. The Ethics Commission says she can't hold both offices, but Dr. Pratt has ignored this order.

Look for former Gov. Fob James to move back into the political spotlight in the coming weeks. He has pretty much kept quiet since leaving office 14 months ago, but word is that he's getting a little fidgety at some of the things going on in Montgomery, particularly the huge tax increases which have been proposed and the threat to ignore the budget isolation amendment. He may also involve himself in the fall presidential campaign, and not as a Democrat.

Thanks for opposing gambling

Letter to the Editor:

Please allow me to take this means to thank James E. 'Jake' Morris on the stand he has taken against pari-mutuel betting and dog racing.

I am very grateful that some still have the courage to speak out against the evils of our society. Although some of us will not have a vote on this matter, we here at Calvary shall be praying for the bill's defeat. Praise God for men like Jake Morris.

Thank you.

Yours in Christ,

Inverness holds photo contest

Dogwoods, azaleas and wisteria. They're already blooming in Inverness, providing seasonal subject matter for a photo contest to celebrate spring.

Taylor and Mathis, the company that manages the development, is sponsoring the Inverness Spring Flower Celebration photo contest.

The event is open to all amateur photographers, and will take place at Inverness, south of US 280. The competition will take place from 1 to 5 p.m. on March 24 and 25.

While the photo contest is underway, refreshments and maps of gardens and flowerbeds will be available at various Inverness developments.

Free prizes furnished by area nurseries and landscapers will be given away. During the celebration, gardening and landscaping experts will be on hand to answer questions about planting and maintaining flowers and trees.

The photo contest will be judged by Mike Royer of WBRC-TV, Everett Holle of WVTM and Van Chaplin of 'Southern Living.'

There will be first, second and third place prizes given to the winning photos. Prizes are photo store gift certificates. The top prize is a $100 certificate, and all the winners will have their prints shown at the Inverness information center and at the Inverness Country Club.

Photographs must be in color, and entries must be received by Inverness by April 16. The winners will be announced on April 30.

For entry forms and more information: 967-6189.

Border collies show this week in Vincent

The Border Collie has been in the business of sheep herding for more than 400 years.

While most people have not had the opportunity to see the breed in action, residents of Shelby County are the exception.

For the past six years stock dog trials have been held in the Vincent and Vandiver areas.

This year's event will take place Saturday and Sunday at the Jimmie Rowe farm just north of Vincent on County 60.

The man judging the event has been working with the breed himself since the age of 14 when he started his career as a shepherd in Scotland. He is Allan Gordon, owner of a 1,000 acre sheep farm in Elgin, Scotland, and one of that country's finest judges.

Dogs from several states -- including some local and some local entries -- will be competing in the weekend event.

With 67 entries, last year's trials brought in $5,000 for Coosa Valley Academy, which now sponsors the annual event.

The dogs take their turn on the course testing them on almost every phase of working sheep. Signals from the handler are given either with a whistle or orally.

The trials will begin at 7 a.m. both days and continue until the events are concluded.

An arts and crafts show will be an added attraction at this years trials.

Cherokees celebrate spring

If a picture is worth a thousand words, a living display is even better. And that's what the Echota tribe of Cherokee Indians is offering the public this weekend.

The event is the tribe's annual spring festival, observed by the Cherokees after the first full moon in March for the blessing of the seeds used in spring planting.

A number of Echotas from Shelby County will be participating in the event being held at Cook's Springs just east of Birmingham this Saturday and Sunday.

The ceremonial blessing of the seeds will be done at noon both days. At 4 p.m. Saturday a ritual Indian wedding will be performed.

Echota Chief Joe Stewart from Alabaster is scheduled to conduct the ceremony which the public may witness.

Indian dancers will perform at intervals both days and there will also be exhibitions of archery and blow gun shooting.

"This is actually the first time the public has been invited to come and see the spring festival," Charlotte Stewart, the chief's wife, told the Reporter.

"What we're trying to do," she said, "is to take a step back in time so everyone can see how the Cherokee lived."

Tours will be given through a 'living' teepee village with guides explaining about village life.

Visitors will see the daily chores that took place, such as corn being ground, basket weaving, pottery making, beadwork, the making of arrowheads and other stone tools.

Craft booths will be displaying and selling Indian-made items and various types of Indian breads.

Stewart said that there is a tremendous interest in the public schools for a first hand account of Indian life.

"We have teams," she related, "which go to the schools during the year and talk on the subject."

According to Stewart, there are 5,700 members of the Echota tribe in Alabama.

The festival is being held at Cook's Springs Baptist camp off I-20 East between the hours of 9-5 each day.

DID YOU KNOW?

Working close to power lines is too close for comfort.

Before putting up a CB or TV antenna, remember to check for power lines, both overhead and coming into your home. Make sure they are at least twice as far away as the height of your antenna. Wait for a calm, dry day and get several people to help. When climbing a ladder for any reason, stay clear of all wires. Also, don't handle aluminum siding close to wires. And never touch a fallen electric line. Report it immediately to Alabama Power.

Westover club hooked on crappie

If you can trust a fellow with the name T.V. Mann, Westover Crappie Club member Harold Rich can, "catch a fish out of a mud hole."

And, if you can trust anybody with a reputation like that, March and April are the best months of the year for crappie fishing.

Seriously, Rich should know about such things... because when it comes to crappie, members of his club are about as serious as you can get.

The 30-member and still growing group meets the second Tuesday of each month at Mt. Tabor Church. Since it organized last June, the club has held seven fishing tournaments and has caught over 279 pounds of crappie.

As of last week -- when the group met at Union United Methodist Church -- 675 fish had been caught in tournaments. That's an average of 25 crappie per member.

Adding to his reputation, counting both tournament action and private trips, Rich has caught over 1,250 fish alone.

A Shelby County brick mason, Rich caught 65 crappie on a recent March afternoon. The following day he and fellow club member Lamar Sherrell caught 73 more.

All of this led club member Wendell Shaw to say that asking Rich anything about fishing was a mistake. "You're asking the wrong man! Fishing's good for him all the time," he said.

J.C. Burgess added that Rich always takes first place in tournaments and, "Whoever is fishing with him always comes in second."

One would think that club members would get wise and follow Rich wherever he goes.

"They do," said Burgess. "But if he throws his line and doesn't catch a fish on his first or second throw, he moves on. He's all over the lake."

Rich has won won five of the club's seven tournaments. The two he didn't win, he didn't enter...

With serious sportsmen like Rich in the club, tournament director Gary Walton has had to learn the hard way about how dedicated members are to the sport of fishing.

Snow forced Walton to cancel a tournament at Logan Martin's Coosa Island Marina, Saturday, March 10. Snow or no snow, club members said Walton was about the only one of their number who didn't go fishing anyway.

Walton also learned another lesson about how competitive the club members are.

"What would y'all think if the first or second place winners in one tournament could not participate in the next?" Walton asked at the meeting, trying to give someone other than Rich a shot at winning.

"Nooooo, noooo, noooo," responded club members in unison. The said competing against Rich gives them something to shoot at, and they want the satisfaction of beating him fair and square -- if that's possible.

"If I didn't ever win anything, I'd be just as happy," said Mann.

"If I win today and can't compete next week, I wouldn't go fishing," added Bill Walton.

Still, Gary Walton's question might have been justified. In the last fishing tournament held at Lay Lake, 19 people in ten boats only caught 46 pounds of fish...

Harold Rich caught 19 pounds of those fish and his partner, none other than Gary Walton, caught nine pounds of crappie. That meant Rich's boat accounted for half the fish caught in the event.

While the Westover Crappie Club continues to grow -- Terry Smith, Wade Elliott, Jr., J.D. and Eric Biggers all joined last Tuesday -- there is another side to this group.

Dues are $15 per year and tournament registrations are $5 per person. Yet with dues collected from 26 paid members as of this month, and registration fees being collected on a total of eight tournaments scheduled this year, no prizes are awarded except for trophies and small gift certificates.

What happens to the money?

According to Mann, the club is dedicated to helping the needy at Christmas. He said last year's efforts were turned toward a Columbiana family.

Mann said the club not only provided toys and all the fixings for Chrsitmas dinner, but it also gave the family two electric heaters, had their electrical power hooked up, and gave them a full tank of butane gas.

With crappie season now in full swing, Westover fishermen can be found Saturday, March 24, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. at Logan Martin Lake's Coosa Island Marina.

Saturday, April 14, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m., the group will hold a tournament at Weiss Lake. Future trips are planned through the summer for Lake Mitchell, Logan Martin, and Lay Lake.

According to Rich he will be found using jigs to bring in the big crappie. "Most everybody here uses jigs," he said.

He called Columbiana fishermen "minnow drowners."

Gary Walton added that "Crappie should now be picking up, if not knocking into the boats," and Burgess said to look in the stick-ups.

Perry Miller is president of the Westover Crappie Club. Last week's meeting was attended by:

T.V. Mann, Harold Rich, Lamar Sherrell, Waylon Cooper, J.D. and Eric Biggers, Wade Elliott, Jr.;

Terry Smith, Gary Walton, Perry Miller, Elvin Walton, J.C. Burgess, Ronnie Walton;

Bill Walton, Dennis Walton, Windell Shaw, Dave Lawley, Larry McCullers, Williard and Darrell Ray.

The club next meets Tuesday, April 10 at Mt. Tabor Chruch.

Baseball season begins; Vincent, Moody first

Baseball is a newborn sport for 1984.

Most Shelby County teams are just gearing up for action with first games getting underway Thursday or Friday.

Others have already begun and still others will not get underway until April.

The Briarwood Lions open their season Friday at 4 p.m. against Marion while Calera will open its season Monday, April 2 against Indian Springs.

Vincent is expected to start the season Thursday gainst Moody and Shelby Academy will begin its season in good form with a 19-4 win over Phillips and a 12-1 win over Banks. They will be looking for more wins this weekend in a tournament to be hosted by Thompson High School.

Shelby County High School's beginning of baseball is questionable for this weekend. The Wildcats are scheduled to play in the Thompson tournament but injuries have kept that an uncertainty.

The Reporter was unable to contact Thompson baseball coach Bobby Woodham for his team's current status.

But that school will host Pelham, Vincent, SCHS and Bibb County in a horsehide hurling, tobacco chewing baseball tournament this weekend.

Action is slated to begin at 5 p.m. Friday and final games will be played from 9 a.m until a champion is decided Saturday afternoon.

Montevallo will not see baseball action until after the 30th of this month and football jamborees are out of the way. (See related story.)

Pelham's Panthers have already begun the 1984 season Tuesday, April 3 in a double-header against Berney Points.

Chelsea will open against Indian Springs, Wednesday Arpil 4 and Coosa Valley Academy will open against Atauga Thursday, March 29.

Sports briefs

Football always dies hard in the South and Shelby County is no exception.

Breathing the first of three last gasps before coming back full strength in the fall, football will be on tap this Friday night at 7 when the Calera Eagles play their annual Blue-White game.

The second gasp will come on Tuesday, March 27 at 7 p.m. when Calera sponsors a junior high football jamboree featuring Calera, Chelsea, Jemison and Maplesville.

The third and final gasp for spring football will come on Friday, March 30 at 7 p.m. when the Calera Eagles sponsor a high school jamboree featuring Montevallo, Calera and Chelsea.

That will do it for pigskin sports until late August, unless you're into the Birmingham Stallions...

The First Annual Shelby County Invitational Softball Tournament for Class C and D men's and women's teams only is set for April 7.

All proceeds from the event to be held at the SCHS baseball field will go to that school's athletic department.

Interested teams should contact Alvin Brasher at 669-6856 or James Howell at 669-6224 for further information.

The Montevallo Park and Recreation Department is gearing up for its 1984 men's open league softball season.

An organizational meeting is planned for this Friday night, March 23, at 7 p.m. in the Montevallo park and recreation building.

Rux Carter's wild bunch has won the Summer Hill Invitation Softball Tournament played at Columbiana's Graham Field.

Followed by FAMSCO, which took second place honors, the Carter sponsored team defeated the likes of Valley Mills, Shelby Springs and the Barons last Saturday afternoon.

That tournament was played in the rain off Egg and Butter Road, and, according to winning coach Johnny Queen, "There was some slippin' and slidin' going on."

For those itching to knock off this wild bunch, another tournament for Class B and C teams will be held this Saturday from 8 a.m. until...

For more info. call Queen at 669-9816.

Soccer bumped back into Pelham lineup

Although not sanctioned by the Alabama High School Athletic Association, soccer is returning to Pelham High School this year.

According to Jimmy Samudio -- who coached the team to an outstanding 11-1-1 record last year -- Pelham will be coached by Glenn Lee this year and will play an 18 game season.

Competition got underway this Wednesday night against Woodlawn in the first of 12 home games. Friday night Pelham takes on Vestavia at home at 7:30 p.m.

All home games will be played at the Pelham High School football field on Wednesday and Friday nights.

Samudio, who is serving in a public relations capacity this season, added that home game season tickets are on sale now for $22.50.

Individual game tickets will be three dollars for adults and two dollars for students.

Samudio indicated that the upcoming Vestavia game will be a real test for the young Panther squad. He pointed out that the team has a super goalie in Scott Hooker and some very good strikers in David Clove and Toby Martin.

The Vestavia squad features a couple of outstanding Iranian players.

Samudio said that Pelham will "have to pull together as a team" to do anything against Vestavia. He pointed out that the squad will go into action with three freshmen players.

Still, the former coach pointed out, almost all of Pelham's players are close to starting status and he said the squad was "deep in talent."

Team members for the 1984 season include:

Seniors: Shawn Casey, Frank Cicio and Sammy Lorino;

Juniors: Steve Hansen, Keith Smith, Hal Youngblood, Vick Vetrano, Mitch Mace, David Fetteroff, Randy King and Paul Sumners;

Sophomores: Tom Robinson, Garrick Stone, Doug Petty, Bruce Wing, Steve Deerwent, Jeff Smith, David Wynne, Sterling Samudio and Tom Wolsoncroft;

Freshmen: Mark Hoffman, Rob Chevalier and Joel Grizzle.

Fishing tourneys on tap

Bass fishermen, if you are looking for a chance to have fun and to help a worthy cause, get ready for action.

The eighth annual A.T. Holt/Memorial Leukemia Bass Tournament is on tap for Saturday, April 21 at Higgins Ferry State Launch on Mitchell Lake.

The pre-registration deadline is April 17. Call David McCarty at 631-8533 for additional information.

As everyone knows by now, tis the season to be fishing.

To help bring in spring fishing feaver, J.J's Country Store in Westover is sponsoring a crappie, bass and bream rodeo from March 31-April 28.

What you do is catch a fish and take it to the store for weighing, pay an entry fee and hope your fish is the largest caught during the month.

After April 28 first and second cash prizes will be given to the first and second largest fish in each category.

With additional entry fees, fishermen will be allowed to put as many of their catches as they want in the running.

Balloon blowing exercises and trips to the police station for persons who drink and drive may soon be applied to boat operators as well.

Legislative action is being sought to provide for the blood alcohol testing of persons alleged to be operating boats under the influence.

Marine Police Director William B. Garner recently made the appeal for support of House Bill 238 now in the hands of the Judiciary Committee.

The Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources reports national statistics which show alcohol abuse to be a contributing factor in as many as 60 percent of the total boating accidents.

Chelsea girl vies for beauty title

While her friends at Chelsea High School are getting back to their studies after the AEA holidays, Teresa Chappell is preparing for a television appearance.

A senior at Chelsea, 18-year-old Teresa is representing Alabama in the Miss Teen USA pageant in Memphis. The pageant will be televised locally on April 3.

TERESA CHAPPELL
...Miss Teen USA competitor

She will be competing against contestants from 49 states for the national title.

Although Teresa has musical talent, judges in this competition will only be considering poise, personality and appearance.

Prior to her departure for Memphis and after her arrival, the Chelsea student was given several hundred dollars toward the purchase of clothing, a course in charm and poise, dance lessons, travel expenses and spending money.

Beauty contests she has won include Miss CHS '82-'83, Miss Shelby County Agriculture '82-'83, and a top 10 contestant in this year's Shelby County Junior Miss pageant.

At Chelsea, Teresa has been junior class president, president of the Junior Beta Club, annual staff member, student council representative, an FHA officer for two years, listed in Senior Who's Who and winner of a choral music award.

She is an active member of Mt. Signal Baptist Church in Sterrett and her hobbies are piano, singing and creative cooking.

Teresa's parents are Frank and Edwina Chappell of Westover.

Teacher, students support ballet

Do football, ballet and fashion go together?

If you're talking about a special fashion show scheduled for Friday, March 23 in Birmingham, they do.

Football players from the University of Alabama, Auburn and the Birmingham Stallions will join with models from the Birmingham area and Shelby County to help support the State of Alabama Ballet.

The show, which can be attended only with advance purchased tickets or by advance reservations, will be sponsored by Dance Partners, a ballet support group.

In addition to football players, Paul and Emily Hartle of Alabaster and Joe Ann Skoog of Riverchase will help show off a full spectrum of clothing.

For ticket information or reservations call the State of Alabama Ballet office at 252-2475 or Jeanette Roach at 592-8057.

Emily Hartle is a student of the Birmingham School of fine arts and along with her brother Paul, she peformed in that school's Nutcracker presentation.

Skoog is a teacher at the school.

Chelsea girl vies for beauty title

While her friends at Chelsea High School are getting back to their studies after the AEA holidays, Teresa Chappell is preparing for a television appearance.

A senior at Chelsea, 18-year-old Teresa is representing Alabama in the Miss Teen USA pageant in Memphis. The pageant will be televised locally on April 3.

TERESA CHAPPELL
...Miss Teen USA competitor

She will be competing against contestants from 49 states for the national title.

Although Teresa has musical talent, judges in this competition will only be considering poise, personality and appearance.

Prior to her departure for Memphis and after her arrival, the Chelsea student was given several hundred dollars toward the purchase of clothing, a course in charm and poise, dance lessons, travel expenses and spending money.

Beauty contests she has won include Miss CHS '82-'83, Miss Shelby County Agriculture '82-'83, and a top 10 contestant in this year's Shelby County Junior Miss pageant.

At Chelsea, Teresa has been junior class president, president of the Junior Beta Club, annual staff member, student council representative, an FHA officer for two years, listed in Senior Who's Who and winner of a choral music award.

She is an active member of Mt. Signal Baptist Church in Sterrett and her hobbies are piano, singing and creative cooking.

Teresa's parents are Frank and Edwina Chappell of Westover.

Teacher, students support ballet

Do football, ballet and fashion go together?

If you're talking about a special fashion show scheduled for Friday, March 23 in Birmingham, they do.

Football players from the University of Alabama, Auburn and the Birmingham Stallions will join with models from the Birmingham area and Shelby County to help support the State of Alabama Ballet.

The show, which can be attended only with advance purchased tickets or by advance reservations, will be sponsored by Dance Partners, a ballet support group.

In addition to football players, Paul and Emily Hartle of Alabaster and Joe Ann Skoog of Riverchase will help show off a full spectrum of clothing.

For ticket information or reservations call the State of Alabama Ballet office at 252-2475 or Jeanette Roach at 592-8057.

Emily Hartle is a student of the Birmingham School of fine arts and along with her brother Paul, she peformed in that school's Nutcracker presentation.

Skoog is a teacher at the school.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given of intention to apply to the Legislature of Alabama, for introduction and passage of a Bill the substance of which, as distinguished from details, is and will be the substance as distinguished from details of the following:

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT

An Act, to alter, re-arrange and extend the boundaries and corporate limits of th eCity of Pelham, Alabama, so as to incorporate certain territory as described herein

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. To alter, re-arrange and extend the boundaries and corporate limits of the City of Pelham, Alabama, so as to incorporate certain territory as described herein, to wit:

All of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of Section 17, Township 20 South, Range 2 West not now in the City Limits and all of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of Section 17, Township 20 South, Range 2 West not now in the City limits. All in Shelby County, Alabama.

Section 2. The substantive provisions of this Act shall become operative only if the Act is approved by the qualified electors who reside within that part of the territory herein above described which is not presently included within the corporate limits of the City of Pelham, voting in a referendum election to be held on a day designated by the Probate Judge of Shelby County, not less than twenty or more than forty days from the date of this enactment. The notice of the election shall be given by the Probate Judge of Shelby County, and the election shall be held, conducted and the results thereof canvassed in the manner prescribed by Title 11, Chapter 42, Article 3, Code of Alabama, 1975, for giving notice of and conducting elections on the question of annexing territory to cities of twenty-five thousand or more inhabitants insofar as such provisions of said article may be appropriate; provided, however, no municipal resolution of the municipal governing body need be made or filed with the Probate Judge, nor need a plat or map of the territory to be annexed be filed with the Probate Judge. The question shall be on the adoption of Act No.——— of the 1984 Regular Session of the Legislature or any subsequent session of the Legislature which alters rearranges and extends the corporate limits of the City of Pelham, in Shelby County, Alabama. Each voter may furnish his own ballot, and if he desires to vote for the adoption of said Act there shall be written or printed on such ballot the word "Yes".

If he desires to vote against the adoption of such Act the word "No" shall be written or printed on his ballot. The City of Pelham shall pay all costs and expenses incident to the election.

If a majority of the votes cast in the election are "Yes" the provisions of this Act shall become operative immediately. If the Majority are "No", this Act shall have no further effect.

Notice is hereby given that a bill substantially as follows will be introduced in the Legislature of Alabama and application for its passage and enactment will be made, to-wit:

SYNOPSIS: This bill amends Act No. 39, Second Special Session 1971 to provide further exceptions to the prohibition against the spraying of chemical substances by aircraft in Shelby County

A BILL
TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT

To amend Act No. 39, H. 67, Second Special Session, 1971 (Acts 1971, p. 4173) to permit the application of chemical substances by aircraft in Shelby County under certain conditions.

Be it Enacted by the Legislature of Alabama:

Section 1. Section 2 of Act No. 39, H. 67, Second Special Session, 1971, (Acts, 1971, p. 4173) which prohibits the spraying of chemicals by use of aircraft in Shelby County is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 2. Provided, however, the provisions of this Act shall not apply to any application of any material whether from the air or ground, the primary purpose of which is to control mosquitos, eradicate fire ants or other insects considered to be harmful by the State Department of Agriculture.

"Provided further that the provisions of this Act shall not apply to any spraying or dusting application of any material, whether from air or ground, to cropland or pasture land, which primary purpose was to improve or enhance the production of food, cotton or like crops.

"Provided further that the provisions of this Act shall not apply to the application, whether from the air or ground, by a utility regulated by the Alabama Public Service Commission, or its agents, of any chemical substance registered with the United States Environmental Protection Agency, to any river, lake, or to any cleared or cut-over utility easement or right-of-way, not exceeding 325 feet in width, the primary purpose of which is to control brush or other vegetation and further provided, that any such chemicals registered with such Agency shall be applied under the direction of a certified applicator under the laws of this state and that the application of such chemicals shall be in accordance with the label directions to insure safety to humans, livestock and wildlife; and provided, further, that such utility or its agents when applying such chemical substances from the air shall provide suitable buffer for any house, orchard, crop lands or church."

Section 2. This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor, or upon its otherwise becoming a law.

LEGAL NOTICE

State of Alabama
County of Shelby

Notice is hereby given that a bill substantially as follows will be introduced in the Legislature of Alabama and applcation for its passage and enactment will be made, to-wit:

A Bill to be Entitled
AN ACT

To authorize the Shelby County Commission to adopt, amend and provide for the enforcement of certain building codes which shall apply in certain areas in said county; to prescribe the manner of adopting such codes; to authorize the prescription and collection of certain fees necessary to effect the enforcement of such codes and to prescribe penalties for violation of such codes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. This act shall apply only in Shelby County, Alabama.

Section 2. When used in this act the word "code," unless the context clearly indicates a different meaning, shall mean: not less restrictive than the Southern Building Code, as of the date of this act, (and its companion codes on plumbing and gas, all as produced by the Southern Building Code Congress, and the National Electrical Code of the National Fire Protection Association).

Section 3. The Shelby County Commission may by reference, adopt, amend, and provide for the enforcement of the code. Such code, when adopted as herein authorized, shall apply to and govern in all unincorporated areas of the county and also in those parts of the county lying within the corporate limits of municipalities which have not adopted and are not enforcing municipal building codes. Such commission may also repeal any such code after having adopted it.

The code shall not be adopted by such commission except after a public hearing on due notice thereof by publication in a newspaper published and of general circulation in such county. Such notice shall be published at least ten days before the hearing. The text of the code which it is proposed to adopt by reference shall be made available for inspection at the county courthouse. Nothing herein shall be construed to require the setting out in full of the text of the proposed code in the notice of the hearing nor in the resolution or ordinance; but such code or amendments thereof shall be properly identified as to date and source in the notice and in the ordinance or resolution adopting it and a copy thereof shall be attached to such ordinance or resolution.

A copy thereof shall also be filed in the office of the clerk of the county commission and in at least one other county office where such copies will be available for public use, inspection and examination.

When Shelby County has adopted the code by reference pursuant hereto, the officer administering such code may adopt administrative regulations which incorporate by reference such subsequent changes and amendments of the code, properly identified as to date and source, as may be adopted by the agency or association which promulgated the code, if such officer finds that the changes and amendments conform to nationally recognized standards or accepted engineering practices.

Any administratice regulations which incorporate building code amendments by reference shall become effective upon the expiration of sixty calendar days following the promulgation of the regulations, unless within that period of time the county commission adopts a resolution or ordinance disapproving of such administrative regulations.

Section 4. The county commission shall have the authority for and the responsibility of enforcing the provisions of this act. The county commission having established an enforcement program for such code, is hereby further authorized and empowered to prescribe and exact fees and charges based on a percent of the total value or cost of the project, to be paid for inspections and other administrative services. Such fees and charges collected pursuant to this act shall be paid into the county treasury.

Section 5. Any person violating any of the provisions of this act or failing to comply with any of the provisions of this act after ten days written notice of an enforcement agency shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars of thirty days in jail, or both, and a penalty of one hundred dollars per day during continuance of the violation.

Section 6. This act shall not be construed to impair or limit in any way the power of the county commission to enjoin or abate public nuisances within its jurisdiction.

Section 7. Nothing in this act shall be construed as abrogating or otherwise affecting the power of any state department or agency to promulgate regulations, make inspections, or approve plans in accordance with any other applicable provisions of law not in conflict with the provisions herein.

Section 8. This act shall be liberally construed as being additional authority for the Shelby County Commission to adopt ordinances relating to the establishment and enforcement of minimum standards for buildings, dwellings, and the structures of all types and descriptions used for human habitation and occupancy. The authority conferred by this act is cumulative to and in addition to other existing legal authority.

Section 9. Mobile Homes, as defined in Section 24-5-2 of the Code of Alabama 1975, are specifically excluded from the provisions of this act.

Section 10. The following exceptions shall be excluded by the county commission from the provisions of these minimum codes:

1. One and two family dwellings and out buildings in connection therewith.

2. Farm buildings or farm structures.

Nothing in these minimum codes shall apply to any building or project authorized or licensed by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, or the Federal Power Commission. The county commision may modify these minimum codes for application within its area of jurisdiction by adopting provisions more stringent than the codes set forth above, and also may amend and revise these codes by adopting more recent amendments or additions of the named codes.

Section 11. The provisions of this act are severable. If any part of this act is declared invalid or unconstitutional, such declaration shall not affect the part which remains.

Section 12. This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor, or upon its otherwise becoming a law.

Louise Kidd,
Plaintiff,
vs.
Juanita K. Hall, et al,
Defendants.

In the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama
Case No. CV-83-088(E)

TO: Vernon Kidd, Percy Robinson, Melinda Robinson Goodman and Wesley J. Robinson

Whereas, Louise Kidd has filed a petition for an order to sell certain lands belonging to Louise Kidd, Juanita K. Hall, Walter Kidd, Charlie Kidd, Mattie Kidd Hamilton, Persia E. Kidd, Jr., Vernon Kidd, Jr., Clifford Kidd, Percy Robinson, Melinda Robinson Goodman, Wesley J. Robinson, Leola M. Kidd, Frederick E. Kidd, Walter E. Kidd and David Earl Kidd, which said land is described in said application as follows:

NE¼ of SW¼ of Section 18; 25 acres on East side of SE¼ of SW¼ of Section 18, bounded on the West by hedge row; N½ of SW¼ of SE¼ of Section 18; 10 acres on East side of NE¼ of NW¼ of Section 19, Except South 509.7 feet of said tract; Except SE¼ of SE¼ of SW¼ of Section 18; Except one acre as described in Deed Book 150, Page 473 in the Probate Office of Shelby County, Alabama.

All of the above described property is located in Township 19 South, Range 3 East, Shelby County, Alabama.

Whereas, Plaintiff has alleged that she and the Defendants named therein are the joint owners in common of the above described land.

Whereas, Plaintiff has also alleged that said land cannot be equitably divided or partitioned among said joint owners without a sale thereof and said sale is being made for the purpose of distribution among the joint owners.

Whereas, Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Vernon Kidd, Jr. by certified mail at his last known address, 50 Peterboro Street, Apt. 316, Detroit, Michigan 48201, on two occasions, and both notices were returned, marked "unclaimed", one on April 15, 1983 and the other on October 12, 1983.

Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Percy Robinson by certified mail at his last known address, Ferry Court, Childersburg, Alabama 35044 and said summons and complaint was returned to the Circuit Clerk's Office of Shelby County, Alabama, marked "insufficient address". Plaintiff's attorney then tried to serve Defendant, Percy Robinson by certified mail c/o Judy Goldman, 316 West Grand, Highland Park, Michigan 48031, and said summons and complaint was returned marked "unclaimed" on October 23, 1983.

Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Melinda Robinson Goodman, at her last known address, 1689 Lee Place, Detroit, Michigan 48206, and said summons and complaint was returned to the Circuit Clerk's Office of Shelby County, Alabama, marked "moved, not forwardable" on March 31, 1983. Plaintiff's attorney then tried to serve Defendant, Melinda Robinson Goodman by certified mail c/o Judy Goldman, 316 West Grand, Highland Park, Michigan 48031, and said summons and complaint was returned marked "unclaimed" on October 23, 1983.

Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Wesley J. Robinson by certified mail at his last known address, 18226 Patton, Detroit, Michigan 48227 and said summons and complaint was returned to the Circuit Clerk's Office of Shelby County, Alabama, marked "moved, left no address" on April 4, 1983.

After making diligent search and inquiry, Plaintiff has been unable to ascertain the addresses of said persons. Notice is therefore given to said defendants by this publication notice.

Whereupon, it is ordered that the 14th day of May, 1984 at 1:00, be appointed a day on which to hear such application at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said application if they think proper.

Witness this the 5 day of March, 1984.

LEGAL NOTICE

State of Alabama
County of Shelby

Notice is hereby given that a bill substantially as follows will be introduced in the Legislature of Alabama and application for its passage and enactment will be made, to-wit:

A Bill
to be Entitled
an Act

Relating to Shelby County: to prohibit any utility company, board, corporation or commission (exclusive of communications) which provides service in Shelby County from providing such services to any dwelling or structure until a certificate of approved sanitation has been issued by the Shelby County Health Officer or his authorized representative.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of Alabama:

Section 1. Following the effective date of this act it shall be unlawful for any utility company, board, commission, corporation, or individual, whether publicly or privately owned, regulated by the Public Service Commission (exclusive of utilities in communications) to provide such utilities or services to any dwelling or any commercial structure intended for food service or exceeding 1,000 square feet in size unless or until an approved sanitation certificate has been issued by the Shelby County Health Officer of his duty authorized representative However, this does not prohibit the provision of temporary service for the purpose of construction of a dwelling nor shall it include outbuildings such as barns, farm buildings, boathouses, workshops, storage buildings, shed, etc., where persons do not reside.

Section 2. It is intended that the provision of this act be supplemental to existing laws to prevent the depositing, discharge or draining of human or industrial waste onto the surface of the ground, into well or into streams and rivers.

Section 3. The approved sanitation certificate shall be a form provided by the Shelby County Health Department identifying the structure served, location of said structure, method of sewage desposal, name of the occupant (s) and signed by the Health Officer or his duly authorized representative. Such certificates shall be evidence that a means of sewage disposal in compliance with applicable laws, rules and regulations has been provided for the structure or dwelling so identified.

Section 4. The Shelby County Health Department may, at its discretion, waive any requirements for perculation and other tests when it deems that other pertinent information is available which indicates the suitability of a site for sewage disposal by use of septic tank system. This provision does not apply to instances of sites found to be in a subdivision, commerical sites or disposal systems other than septic tank systems.

Section 5. The provisions of this act do not apply where utility services are presently offered, but will apply to such existing dwellings, buildings or other like structures upon the sale, lease or grant of any property interest therein whereby the existing utility service (s) furnished is interrupted.

Section 6. Any person, board, commission, corporation or utility company who is found guilty of violating any provisions of this act shall be fined not less than $50.00 nor more than $500.00 for each day said violation occurs.

Section 7. The provisions of this act are severable. If any part of this act is declared invalid or unconstitutional, such declaration shall not affect the part which remains.

Section 8. This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor, or upon its otherwise becoming a law.

Loose truck rams North Shelby homes

by John Hood

It wasn't a case of wreckless driving as much it was a case of no one driving.

A driverless moving van rolled backwards down a street in a North Shelby neighborhood last Thursday, tearing a wall off one house and knocking another house off its foundation.

Ann Branch said she was sitting on her front porch last Tuesday morning when a moving van pulled up the steep hill on Indian Valley Rd. She said she saw two men get out of the truck and one of them went in the house next door to talk to the people who were moving in.

Suddenly, the parking brake apparently failed on the truck, and it began rolling backwards.

"It sounded like a freight train," Branch said. "It tore down my mailbox and kept going."

The truck was airborne when it crunched into the side of the house owned by Melissa McCall, of 4917 Indian Valley Rd. She was moving back to the house after staying in Daytona Beach for a while.

McCall said she and some friends were sitting in her living room talking to one of the drivers when the other ran in and yelled, "It's rolling."

Witnesses said the truck was traveling fast enough to become airborne as it bounced over some railroad ties by McCall's driveway and crashed in to the side of her garage.

As the wreckers pulled the van out of the house below hers, McCall looked dazed as she stared at

Welcome back, McCall

Melissa McCall was in the process of moving back into her Indian Valley home in north Shelby County when the moving van rolled down a hill, clipped off part of the house's wall, and left a gapping hole in the bathroom. (photo by John Hood)

The Regressive Farmer

by David F. Moore

If you ever wanted to grow your own vegetable garden but shied away because of the green thumb jitters, take heart. This is your big chance.

A wise person learns from his or her mistakes. But if you're really sharp, you learn from the mistakes of others. With that in mind, consider my blunders at your service.

I've taken the plunge and started preparations to plant a vegetable garden this spring. Between now and harvest, I'll write a series of columns explaining how we can both grow -- or die trying to grow -- gardens of our own.

Right off the bat -- or hoe, as the case may be -- I confess that I don't know beans about gardening. (The first thing I did was a big mistake, but more on that next week...) However, I do know where to go for expert advice -- the county extension office -- and I'll be passing the secrets along to you so that we can all dig into this thing together.

Furthermore, I encourage knowledgable readers across Shelby County to mail in their tips on growing five-pound 'maters and twenty-foot corn. I'll be using some of these tips myself, and passing them on so we can all have gardens that would make the cover of 'Progressive Farmer' blush.

I know, I know. You don't have time to mess with a garden. You don't have 1,000 acres in your backyard. You don't have an International Harvester the size of an M-1 tank. Furthermore, you're a city-slicker with a capital 'C'.

Excuses, excuses!

Listen. A year ago I lived in downtown Birmingham. If I can plant a garden, you can too. Who knows, we might all be blessed with the Cornucopia Blues (my freezer runneth over) before this is over.

The worst that can happen is that we'll have to invent wild stories for nosey neighbors as to why we have that ugly barren spot in our yard. (Sample: "Yep. That's where the flying saucer landed. Dang spot hasn't grown the first weed ever since...")

As for needing a tractor, forget it. 'Ever see a picture of a Pilgrim on tractor? You don't need 1,000 acres, either. A patch of ground the size of an office desktop can keep your family in fresh tomatoes all summer.

As for having time, it could be you don't have time not to garden. This project will not only give you a little needed sweating, but 20 or 30 minutes in the morning or afternoon with your hands in the ground, should be good therapy for the pressure that comes with your job. Besides, it's a good excuse for not jogging.

We can do it.

Brush fire threatens homes

by John Hood

A fast moving brush fire off US 280 threatened several homes Thursday afternoon before firefighters contained it.

Members of the Cahaba Valley Volunteer Fire Department and rangers from the forestry commission cleared fire lanes around about four acres of burning woods, according to Cahaba Valley firefighter Ron Fincher.

Helen Lann, of 5331 Meadow Lark Lane, was called from work by neighbors at noon, saying her home was in danger. Meadow Lark Lane is off US 280, by Lloyd's Restaurant.

She and her neighbors frantically worked to keep the ground soaked around their homes as the fire moved within 30 yards of the structures.

"I know this is going to fall over and spread the fire if it doesn't stop burning," Lann said as she poured water at the smoking base of a tall oak tree.

At one point the fire managed to jump a creek and threatened an old barn surrounded by sedge, before a truck with a fresh supply of water doused the blaze.

Forestry ranger Barbara Carden said she thinks the fire started by someone burning trash.

"People don't realize how quickly this can get out of hand," she said. Carden said the factors of dry brush and wind made the fire particularly dangerous.

Maylene painter's art shown at St Vincent's

Maylene painter Bill Cleere will display his work during April at the St. Vincent's Art Gallery in Birmingham.

Cleere's works in watercolors and acrylics, featuring rural landscapes, wildlife and seascapes. His style ranges from soft expressionism to highly detailed paintings in earthtones.

According to Cleere, many of his paintings are attempts to preserve things that may not be here for future generations.

He studied art at Birmingham-Southern and graduated from the University of Alabama, but did not pursue art until later when his wife enrolled him in a class with Milton Lenior as a birthday present.

Most recently, Cleere studied with North Shelby artist Donnie Finley, subject of a recent feature in this newspaper.

Cleere is a member of the Vestavia Hills Art Association, and has shown at galleries in Birmingham, Huntsville and Chattanooga. Shows he has participated in include the Alabama Zoological Society and the Kentucky Art Festival.

Horizon 280 group forms committees

At its meeting last week, the Horizon 280 Association breathed a collective sigh of relief over the lifting of a water moratorium. Following that, it laid the ground work for the committees which will carry out the group's stated purpose of securing orderly development along the US 280 corridor.

Members are still deciding what committee to serve on in the two-year-old group.

The committees being formed are membership, sign ordinances, landscape, highway department liason, zoning legislation, public relations and long-range planning.

President Leo Karpeles said at the meeting that the long-range planning committee will consist of the association's board of directors.

Today's Woman Fashion Shop

MONTEVALLO

IMPORTANT NEWS LETTER FROM
TODAY'S WOMAN FASHION SHOP
NOW OPEN IN MONTEVALLO

DEAR FRIEND:

WE WOULD LIKE TO INTRODUCE YOU TO A STORE NEW TO THE MONTEVALLO AREA. IT WILL BE FOR THE WOMEN WHO FACE THE INCREASINGLY DIFFICULT JOB OF HOLDING THE FAMILY BUDGET TOGETHER.

"TODAY'S WOMAN" WILL OFFER YOU QUALITY LADIES CLOTHING AT OR IN MOST CASES BELOW THE MANUFACTURERS WHOLESALE PRICE!

HOW DO WE DO IT? JUST AS STORES OVER-BUY MERCHANDISE & ARE FORCED TO REDUCE THE PRICE TO SELL IT, MANUFACTURERS OVER PRODUCE MERCHANDISE AND ARE FORCED TO DO THE SAME. WE STAY IN CONSTANT CONTACT WITH THESE MANUFACTURERS AND PARTICIPATE IN CO-OPERATIVE BUYING. THIS IS NAME BRAND CLOTHING AND WILL ONLY TAKE MINUTES OF YOUR TIME TO LOOK THROUGH FAMILIAR CATALOGS TO REALIZE YOUR SAVINGS. THE ONLY DIFFERENCE IS THAT IN SOME CASES BECAUSE OF PRIVATELY OWNED TRADEMARKS THE LABEL HAS BEEN REMOVED. THIS DOES NOT DETRACT FROM THE GARMENT AND ASSURES YOU OF FANTASTIC SAVINGS.

WE SINCERELY WANT YOUR BUSINESS AND ASK THAT YOU SHOP OUR STORE FREQUENTLY FOR OUR MERCHANDISE IS CONSTANTLY CHANGING. TODAY'S WOMAN CAN OFFER YOU A PLEASANT COMPROMISE BETWEEN YOUR WARDROBE AND YOUR FAMILY BUDGET.

HOPE TO SEE YOU SOON AND PLEASE BRING A FRIEND.

Calera school offers cure for doldrums

A cure for the winter doldrums might be to develop a new interest or brush up on a skill that has been neglected. Calera's Community School could very well have just what the doctor ordered.

Classes offered this spring have wide ranging appeal, from jazzaerobics and basic sewing, to CPR.

In cooperation with Shelby Medical Center, the community school will also sponsor a Health Fair in the high school auditorium April 5.

Special registration hours at the community education office at Calera High School will be: March 19, 5-8 p.m., and March 26, 3-8 p.m.

The following classes are planned for this spring:

•Speedreading -- a chance to learn how to read faster, retain more: Monday and Wednesday nights, taught by Charlie Douglas, a teacher with 15 years experience.

•Dulcimer building -- the how to's of building and playing this Appalachian string instrument: Monday, Thursday, 6-8 p.m., taught by Earl Templin.

•Slimnastics -- warm up exercises and dance routines aimed at strengthening specific muscle groups: Monday, Thursday, 6-7 p.m., taught by Connie Ray.

•Microwave cooking -- numerous recipes will be demonstrated for quick and easy cooking: Mar. 20, 27, 6-8 p.m., taught by Gail Reagan.

•Karate -- teaches body control, discipline, confidence and patience, male and female students accepted: Tuesday, 5:30 p.m. ages 5-12, 6:30 p.m. ages 13 and up, taught by Karen Mitchell.

•CPR -- teaches how to treat victims of heart attack, drowning or choking: Tuesday, Thursday, 6-10 p.m., taught by Bill Collum.

•Chair Caning -- bring a frame, or let instructor know if you need one, and learn the seven step method of caning: Monday, 7-9 p.m., taught by Ken White.

•Basic Sewing -- learn how to stay in style without spending a fortune by making a fashionable garment of basic design: Monday, taught by Ann McGaughy.

•Net Darning -- An elegant form of needlecraft which can be used on belts, pillows, placemat, taught by Kenya Walker.

•Fitness for Men and Boys -- Calera coach Danny Alverson will start participants at their own points of conditioning and help them progress at a steady rate: call for time.

•Stress Management -- A one session workshop where you learn how to recognize stress signals and how to deal with it: Monday, 6 p.m., taught by Ron Kendall.

•Adult Basic Education-GED Preparation -- Individualized instruction in all basic subject areas: Monday, Thursday, 6-8 p.m., taught by Essie Leach.

Classes may be cancelled if they do not have the minimum number of students required.

Anyone who would like to register for a class is advised to call before coming to the CE office because it is not staffed at all hours. The number is 668-0129.

Alabaster girl sews up prize

by John Hood

La Donna Minter of Alabaster still has the first dress she ever made. It is one of the few pieces of clothing she has made that she hasn't worn or sold to someone.

"I got the hem all crooked -- it's longer in the front than in the back," laughs the 15-year-old sophomore at Thompson High School. Minter kept trying, though, and now she sews clothes for her family and friends.

Minter shyly twists her shoulder- length red hair around her fingers as she talks about her desire to become a fashion designer. She has already started working on her dream by winning awards and making extra money designing and sewing clothes for people who have heard of her.

"I started sewing in the sixth grade," recalls Minter. "My grandmother taught me how to sew in a straight line." She mastered that easily enough, and took sewing classes in junior high.

Minter said she didn't learn too much about making clothes in the 7th and 8th grades.

"All they showed us how to do was elastic," she says. "They just figured that's all we could do."

Then Minter, whose family had just moved from Oregon, enrolled in Joyce Lucas' sewing class at Thompson High. Minter lets go of her hair and becomes animated as she talks about the last two years.

"Mrs. Lucas taught me how to do buttons, waistbands, zippers and all kinds of things," she says. As Minter's abilities grew, so did her confidence.

This year, Minter was the only person to represent Shelby County at the Governor's Career Conference on Career Education in Montgomery. She placed fourth overall for her exhibit on fashion design.

Minter wrote a paper explaining what fashion design was, designed a pair of pants, and made sketches and patterns of them.

Fashion design is Minter's first choice for a career, with fashion merchandising for a store coming a close second. She would have to travel to New York and California to see styles and "buy for the stores what customers want."

Minter is already looking around for the right college to go to. She wants to find one that offers a good fashion design program and the possibility of scholarships. Winning an award from the United States Achievement Academy this year for scholarship and character will help a lot, she says.

Minter likes math the best among her other subjects -- she is already a year ahead of her class -- and for hobbies, she likes "craft type of things," like macrame and counter cross-stitch. She is also in a drama group at her church, the Alabaster First Assembly of God.

Talking about her sewing, Minter takes the attitude of a musician or painter. Practice makes perfect, she says. Although she is required to make only six articles of clothing for her class all year, she has already turned out 36.

"I make a lot of my mom's clothes and mine," she says. About the only thing she doesn't make a lot of is jeans, because the thickness of denim breaks needles easily on her new sewing machine at home.

Minter likes clothes that don't go out of style quickly. She visited California and she didn't care for the styles out there.

"Everybody dresses real wierd, real punk out there," she says. "I think it is a fad and all of a sudden it will be gone."

Minter's next big project is a contest she is entering given by '17' magazine. She is going to make an outfit made of a specified material and compete with other entries nation-wide. If she wins the competition this summer, her design will be turned into a pattern and sold.

She is not too sure about the travel aspect of merchandising, though. Minter says she would like to stay in one place for awhile, because her family has already moved around a good bit. She says she has learned to make friends easily enough, but she doesn't like changing schools so often.

"I went to three different schools when I was in the seventh grade." Now, she says, her family will probably stay here until she graduates. Her stepfather, Robert Minter, works at Brown Molding Company in Montevallo, and Marsha, her mother, is a teacher at Kingsley Christian School.

Gospel singers tune up for convention

Donna, Debbie, Jimmy and Charles Coleman were brought up on gospel singing. Not only that, but they have continued the shaped note tradition into adulthood.

On Sunday, the Calera family will join others at the state 4-H Center where the annual Shelby County Gospel Singing Convention is being held.

Donna Coleman, now Donna Brantley, is co-chairing the event with her husband, Buddy.

At 10 a.m. the singers will start on the first song and continue singing until 3 p.m. with time out for a lunch that the host group will provide.

Although the conventions have been held in Shelby County since the 1930's, Brantley says that gospel singing seems to be on the wane in this area.

Donna, her sister and brothers, learned shaped note singing from their father, J.A. Coleman, who has taught gospel singing schools in the county over the years.

Following in her father's footsteps, Brantley has also taught the traditional method of gospel singing at a school in Mississippi that trains young singers.

Trying to revive the interest in shaped note singing, the Shelby County singing group decided to inititate a scholarship fund.

Money that is collected will be used to send young people to a four week school in Pass Christian, Miss.

A special offering will be taken up at Sunday's singing convention. Each scholarship costs $350.

The convention has been held in different locations in the county over the years. Brantley said that she remembers the singers meeting at Camp Branch Civic Center, Calera High School, the Columbiana Recreation Center and Rolling Hills Campgrounds.

The past two singings have been held at the 4-H Center.

Song books used at the singings, which are held spring and fall, come out twice a year, Brantley reported.

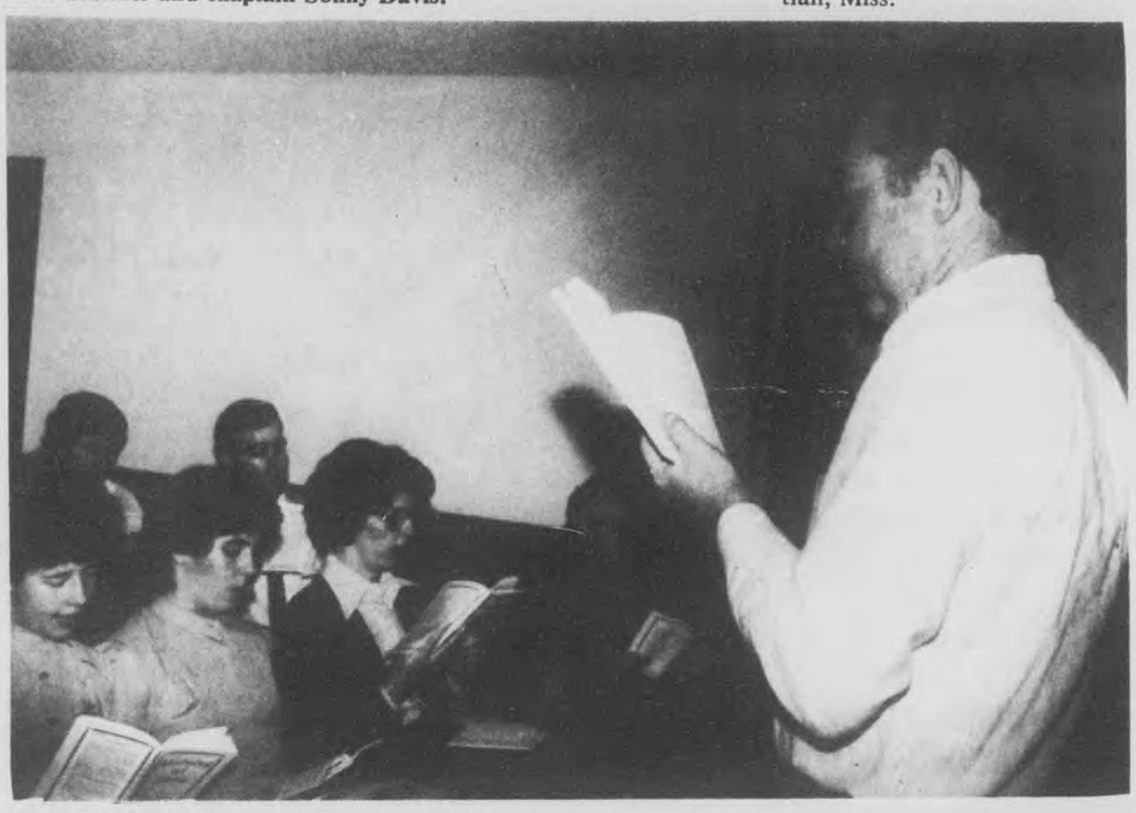
Although gospel groups sometimes perform at the events, participants usually just take turns leading the songs.

Brantley said that the singing attracts people from Shelby and surrounding counties. On Sunday, she said there would also be some out-of-state guests.

"We expect between 150-200 people," she told the Reporter.

Planning spring sing

Buddy and Donna Brantley and Bill Dunn make plans for the spring session of the Shelby County Gospel Singing Convention. The three are officers of the gospel singers group along with Bill Billingsley, Annette Skinner and chaplain Sonny Davis.



Watching the notes

Charles Coleman takes a turn leading a song for the gospel singers who gathered at the Church of God of Prophecy in Calera last week to prepare for the annual Gospel Singing Convention which will be held Sunday at the state 4-H Center. (photos by Bert Seaman)

Fire district mails about 300 notices to North Shelby homes

by John Hood

The North Shelby County Fire District has mailed some 300 foreclosure notices to households which have not paid fire dues.

Foreclosing property is not a pleasant task, but one that is required by the law, according to Rod Huntress, president of the board governing the fire district.

This year, around 300 homeowners are receiving the notices because they did not pay last year's annual $110 fire fee. Huntress said the fees are due on October 1st, but people are not charged a late fee until after the last business day of the year.

District fire chief Winston Boutwell said that in most cases, delinquent fee payers usually settle up when the notice of foreclosure reaches them. But the fire district has sold property before, although Boutwell said that no one has ever been evicted from their homes.

Some people do not like paying the fees and foreclosure becomes an emotional issue, according to Huntress.

"It's an inflammatory subject, because you are talking about people's homes," he said. But when the district was set up in 1978, the law required the payment of the fee.

Because the fire district serves an area that is unincorporated, a direct fee is the only way a public service like fighting fires can be funded. In cities and towns, tax revenue generates the money for fire stations and other public services.

Huntress noted that part of Riverchase used to be in the district, but now is annexed to Hoover. Therefore, homeowners no longer pay a fee, but pay for fire protection through city taxes.

Last year, the district received an improved fire protection rating from the ISO, an organization that evaluates fire protection. North Shelby's fire rating improved from a Class 7 to Class 6, said Huntress, and the fire dues were raised by $10.

While the improved rating raised the fee, Huntress said it also decreased the cost of fire insurance. He said that in most cases, homeowners would save money instead of paying more out.

The district is beginning construction on a second fire station on Hwy 119. Boutwell said he expects the district's rating will again be upgraded, but another rise in the fee would not come immediately after the completion of the station.

Calera banker heads drive for leukemia

David P. Downs, vice president of Central State Bank in Calera, is the 1984 Shelby County chairman for the Leukemia Society of America.

Downs will be working the rest of the month to collect tax deductible contributions in the corporate and special gifts categories. The funds go towards the state chapter's programs in research, patient aid and education.

"More than 750 Alabama residents will receive financial assistance from the Alabama Chapter this year," Downs said. "Each patient is eligible for up to $750 per year for lab charges, radiation therapy, drugs and transportation."

He explained that the group's financial aid is vital because such critical medical treatment is often too costly to afford alone.

Downs, a UM graduate, has been at the bank seven years, and is a member of the Calera Civitans, Calera Quarterback Club and works with Central Shelby Dixie Youth Baseball.

Bring the camera

When sheriff's deputy Louie Cosby called over the police scanner for a wrecker last Tuesday to pull a runaway moving van out of a house, he added that someone needed to bring a camera. This situation, he said, is one that looks like it will require some pictures.

Truck rams houses

the scene through a gaping hole in what used to be the upstairs bathroom.

No one was injured in the accident, but for Jenny Hall, the decision to go to work that day probably saved her life.

"I didn't feel that good this morning. I almost stayed home," she said, surveying the wreckage of the house with her husband Patrick.

Hall's entire home was shifted about three feet on its brick foundation when the truck hit it directly on a side wall. Hall said she would have been laying on a couch against that wall if she had stayed home.

Both homes were insured, but damages were extensive, especially to the Hall home. One insurance adjustor at the scene said the house was totally destroyed.

McCall said she didn't know if her furniture was all right, since the van was towed away. The trailer part of the truck was bent slightly in the back.

Society honors Williams

A student at Columbiana Middle School has been honored by the United States Achievement Academy for his involvement in student council.

David Williams won the national award after being nominated by his Civics teacher, Charles Smith.

Williams is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Tim Williams of Dothan.

FAMILY MEDICAL CENTERS

A NEW CONCEPT IN FAMILY HEALTH CARE COMES TO INVERNESS

QUALITY TRAINED PERSONNEL
Our staff of trained physicians, nurses, technicians and medical assistants are experienced in medical emergencies, as well as routine office procedures. Seriously ill patients should be sent directly to a local hospital emergency department. There are no "in-patient" beds at this facility. Major surgery, obstetrics, and general anesthesia will not be performed.
The hospital emergency department is still the place to go for major emergencies.

MODERN FACILITIES
The EMS Family Medical Centers have comfortable waiting areas, private examination rooms and a trauma room with the latest in medical equipment. We also have laboratory and X-ray facilities available to handle general medical problems and minor injuries.

CONVENIENT PAYMENT POLICY
All patients will be offered an itemized copy of their charges, with diagnosis to forward to their insurance companies for reimbursement. Verifiable insurance will be accepted when appropriate. The patient is, however, ultimately responsible for payment of services provided. Payment at time of service will be appreciated. (Master Card, VISA, and American Express cards are welcome.)

NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY
Our purpose is to make family and emergency care more available by not requiring appointments. When the specialized service of a hospital emergency department is not needed, or the patient's personal physician is not available, EMS is available to provide the medical attention needed.

PERSONAL ATTENTION
We will be happy to serve you as your family physician and welcome patients of all ages. Patients with an established relationship with another physician will be treated and referred back to their physician if desired. If hospitalization is required, arrangements will be made for transfer to the hospital the patient prefers after consultation with their physician or an appropriate specialist.

FAMILY MEDICAL CARE
We offer medical care to all ages and are equipped to handle all care except major trauma. We can take care of cuts, routine check ups, lacerations, bruises, sprains, joint dislocations, fractures, colds, sore throats, earaches, flu, bronchitis, stomach aches, childhood diseases, immunizations, pneumonia, coughs, moles, warts, burns, etc.

SAVINGS OF 40% to 60%
The cost of care will depend on the nature of the illness. It will be comparable to costs associated with private physician's offices, even though care is readily available. Costs will generally be lower than emergency room costs.

EXTENDED HOURS
EMS Family Medical Centers are open from 8:00 a.m. until 10:00 p.m., 7 days per week, 365 days per year including all holidays and weekends.

DISPENSING PHARMACY
An additional stop to obtain medicine can be a trying experience during periods of illness. As a convenience to our patients, most prescriptions written by EMS physicians can be filled at the Family Medical Centers at additional savings to our patients.

Gardener plans eating high off stalk

Bar a nasty drought, plague, herds of insects, stampede of elephants or other pets, laziness, nuclear war or some other pestiness, we'll all be eating high off the corn stalk this summer. All we have to do is work our buns off and follow instructions step by step. Ready?

•Step one -- Repeat after me: "I will grow a garden this year, and enjoy myself and the earth while doing it." Now you've committed yourself (sucker).

•Step two -- Step out the back (or front) door of your house, and find a plot of ground that gets plenty of sun, preferably all day long.

Expert hint: "The biggest mistake most people make is planting too much and losing interest," says county extension agent John Jones. "Keep your garden small enough so that you can work it in 30 minutes or so a day."

Take heed. Remember, you aren't trying to feed China. And you can forget about the lower 40 if you plan to garden with a shovel and hoe. Jones says 50x100 feet is average for garden, but if you don't have a tiller, you may want to go smaller. No point in biting off more than you can hoe.

Expert hint: "The shorter the distance between garden and kitchen, the better the vegetables will taste," Jones says. Also, be sure your garden is close to water. In case you've never noticed, it gets hot in summer.

•Step three -- You need a soil sample from your garden site to send off immediately to Auburn (no comment) for analysis. For $3 plus $1.55 in postage, the experts will tell you what kind of fertilizer and other things your dirt needs for optimum fertility.

The extension office at the courthouse in Columbiana has soil kits, as well as a variety of pamplets all about gardening. If you have any gardening questions, any of the folks there will be glad to answer them. (669-6763)

If you have any gardening tips you want to share, or questions that need addressing in future columns, jot them down and mail them to:

The Regressive Farmer
c/o Shelby County Reporter
PO Box 947
Columbiana, AL 35051

Forget about the green thumb jitters and pick up a soil sample kit today so you can get started on your garden. Spring won't wait all summer for you, and I won't either.

Besides the extension office in Columbiana, free, pre-addressed soil sample boxes are also available at the following places:

Wayside Nursery, Pelham; First National Bank of Columbiana, Inverness; Mitchell's Feed & Supply, Alabaster; Agri-Business Dept., Montevallo High School; Central State Bank, Calera; Coosa Valley Milling Co., Wilsonville; Clyde Wyatt, Harpersville; Coosa Valley Gin, Vincent; Westover Food & Service.

Next week: How to take your very own soil sample, how to pick which vegetables to grow, and how not to plow up strawberry plants that don't even belong to you.

Hotline takes aim at minors who drink

If you suspect minors are buying alcoholic beverages, there's something you can do about it.

A 24-hour, toll-free hotline for reporting minor sales has been established at 1-800-329-8011.

The hotline is joint project of the ABC Board, the Alabama Elks Association, and the State Department of Education.

According to ABC Board administrator Henry Gray, callers will remain anonymous and all complaints will be investigated.

In an undercover survey conducted by and published by the Reporter in January, two minors were able to purchase alcohol at five out of seven stores checked in Shelby County, including two ABC stores.

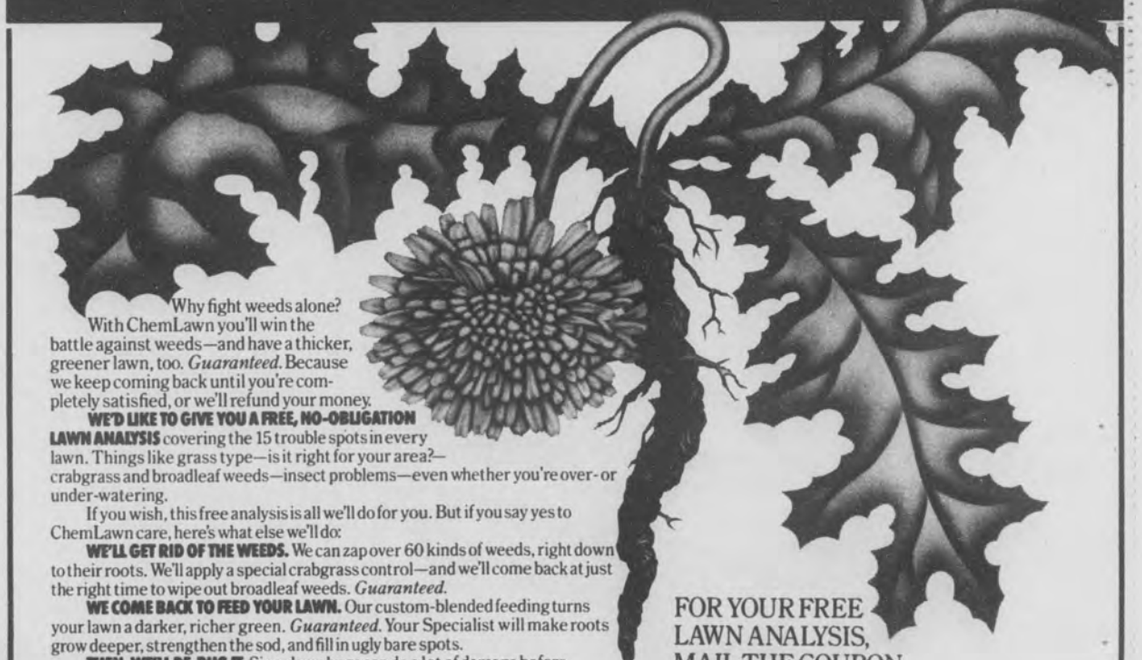
YOUR WEEDS WILL CURL UP, SHRIVEL, AND DISAPPEAR. CHEMLAWN GUARANTEES IT.



Why fight weeds alone? With ChemLawn you'll win the battle against weeds—and have a thicker, greener lawn, too. Guaranteed. Because we keep coming back until you're completely satisfied, or we'll refund your money.

WE'D LIKE TO GIVE YOU A FREE, NO-OBLIGATION LAWN ANALYSIS covering the 15 trouble spots in every lawn. Things like grass type—is it right for your area?—crabgrass and broadleaf weeds—insect problems—even whether you're over- or under-watering.

If you wish, this free analysis is all we'll do for you. But if you say yes to ChemLawn care, here's what else we'll do:

WE'LL GET RID OF THE WEEDS. We can zap over 60 kinds of weeds, right down to their roots. We'll apply a special crabgrass control—and we'll come back at just the right time to wipe out broadleaf weeds. Guaranteed.

WE COME BACK TO FEED YOUR LAWN. Our custom-blended feeding turns your lawn a darker, richer green. Guaranteed. Your Specialist will make roots grow deeper, strengthen the sod, and fill in ugly bare spots.

THEN, WE'LL DE-BUG IT. Since lawn bugs can do a lot of damage before they're even noticed, your Specialist will get them before they can seriously harm your lawn. Guaranteed.

And your ChemLawn Specialist will keep coming back—with free service calls within 48 hours—and free consultations on the best ways to mow, water, dethatch, and overseed.

WHY DO IT YOURSELF? When ChemLawn's year-round lawn care program costs about the same as if you did the same things yourself. And we guarantee you a more weed-free lawn—without the back-breaking work.

Health dept adds clinics at new office

The Shelby County Health Department has officially opened its new office in the North Shelby Health Building. The building is located next to Pelham City Hall.

Along with previous environmental services offered by the satellite office, new clinics have been added.

•Immunizations services are being held on Fridays from 8:30 - 11:30 a.m., and from 1 - 4 p.m. On the first Friday of the month, however, nurses will be in Pelham only during the morning hours, but will be at Montevallo City Hall during the afternoon.

•Family planning services for the new offices will follow the Friday immunizations schedule, and will also be offered on Tuesdays by appointment only.

•WIC vouchers can be obtained in Pelham on Thursdays from 8:30 - 11:30 and 1 - 4.

Phone number for the Shelby County Health Department in Pelahm is 663-7670. Phone for the main office in Columbiana is 669-3117.

Dousing the embers

Chelsea volunteer firefighters Eric Bailey and Stanley Chesser (left background) battle a house fire Wednesday that was fanned by 20 mph winds and gusts that blew even faster. The fire destroyed the home of the Howard Goodwin family. "I'm just thankful those people are all right," said neighbor Francis Thurman. (photo by David F. Moore)

Chelsea home burns

by David F. Moore

Fanned by criss-crossing winds, a raging fire totally destroyed a Chelsea house last Wednesday.

Initially, firefighters and sheriff's deputies feared that one or more members of the family might have perished in the blaze. However, Howard Goodwin, his wife Sherry, and their two children arrived home safely -- though emotionally shocked -- about an hour later.

The fire was discovered shortly before 3 p.m. by Frances Thurman who lives across the road from the Goodwins on County 335 near the entrance to Sentinel Lumber Company.

"When I opened my front door I felt the heat and saw the smoke," Thurman said. "I thought it was my house."

Volunteer fire fighter Stanley Chesser said he saw smoke from the fire from the west side of Oak Mountain as he drove home from work in Birmingham.

Willis Moore, who lives nearby, said he heard an explosion which was probably the gas tank on Goodwin's pickup truck which was parked close to the house.

"That thing burned so fast it could have trapped anyone in there," Moore said as he watched Chelsea volunteer firefighters fight to keep the blaze from spreading with the wind to nearby houses and mobile homes.

The Goodwins arrived home at 4 p.m., shocked to see nothing more left of their home other than a chimney and a few charred wall studs.

"We were visiting with relatives," Goodwin said. "We were going over there to go to church tonight. Someone came in saying something happened to the truck and house. They were scared someone was in there."

No one was injured in blaze, but Goodwin was unable to locate a black puppy which he said had been left on the porch.

"The fellow (Goodwin) said they left a fire burning in the fire place," said Chelsea fire chief Vern Craig. "So the fire may have been caused by sparks from the fire place."

"I think the fire had started some period of time before anyone saw it," Craig said. "The wind didn't help."

Property tax errors raise revenue questions

by Fred Guarino

There is a big difference of opinion on how much ad valorem tax revenue Shelby County will gain or lose this year.

A 'pink slip' report -- 'letters of correction' which lists errors in tax assessments -- shows the county, schools and the hospital will lose a total of $104,278.73. The report, written by Tax Collector Annette D. Skinner and read at Monday's commission meeting, draws from 502 pink slips which have been issued.

Skinner said that Tax Assessor Bobbie Reynolds told commissioners there would not be over a dozen. Reynolds denied she said that, but commissioners had earlier this year voiced surprise at the number of errors in tax assessments.

After learning of Skinner's report to the commission, Reynolds gave the Reporter a completely different story.

She said that the letters of correction amount to a gain for the county, schools and the hospital of $42,593.91 over the amount of revenue anticipated.

But Skinner said that losses from pink slips alone break down as follows: county $33,264.65; schools, $53,272.40; and the hospital, $17,741.68.

"Really this shouldn't happen," Skinner told the Reporter. "All of these (pink slips) are admitted mistakes."

"When she (Reynolds) tells the commissioners how much money they can expect, they set the budget on that figure," Skinner said. "But when these pink slips come in, it means the county will not get as much money as anticipated."

Skinner indicated that the Tax Assessor's office has had six years to correct the need for pink slips, which go back to the reappraisal of state property.

"It makes the work here double," Skinner said. "We have to handle these by hand, type up a new bill, remail it, and hand figure it on a calculator. Then there's another report required on each to settle with the state."

She said all the manual work is necessary because the information placed by the tax assessor in the county computer is wrong.

Skinner said some errors were made when property was incorrectly listed as being in a municipality or was double assessed. Others occurred when homestead exemptions were not applied or property was classed improperly.

Some errors simply resulted from miscalculations, she said.

Reynolds said that she never told county commissioners that there would not be many pink slips this year.

She produced a letter dated February 1983 which explained in detail to County Commissioner John Ames why changes are made after a tax abstract is submitted.

Reynolds insisted that she told the county that as long as property laws are written as they are, there will be pink slips.

She referred to the 'Lid Bill' which put Alabama property into certain classifications, some taxed at 10 percent and some at 20 percent.

"When someone buys a piece of property they are supposed to assess that property with the use the property is put to," Reynolds said. "If they don't tell us, we put it in at 20 percent. If we put it at ten percent instead of 20, they wouldn't tell."

Reynolds said the county commission was given the negative report on tax revenues as a "political gimmick because this is my election year and they want to make me look bad. Besides, it must have taken a long time to type up that report; it was so nice and neat. Whoever made that report must have more people than they need... and they need to get rid of some of them."

"I just finished up my 1982 audit and came out perfect," Reynolds said. "They didn't charge me a penny."

She also stressed that she only has to answer to the people of Shelby County and the state.

"When you buy a house, we don't know if you are going to live in it or rent it, and that makes a difference," she said.

"Some errors result from a current use tax status that has to be applied for, and a lot of times I will disallow that unless they can come in and bring me evidence. Then I have to reverse my decision."

Reynolds stated firmly, "Most changes are from class to class. They are not errors but adjustments. The auditor clarified that with me and the collector."

Reynolds said that she did not submit her own pink slip report to county commissioners last Monday because she didn't know anyone else was going to make one.

The tax assessor said the county could eliminate some budget woes in the future by making allowances for unavoidable tax errors.

Pelham waste plant on hold

Rainy weather and a hole in a tank has delayed installation of a sewage treatment plant at Fire Station #2 in Pelham.

The installation of the miniature sewerage plant, designed to treat waste at the fire station, was originally scheduled for installment last week.

Trimm Construction Company is putting in the plant for the city, and owner Herschel Trimm said that if good weather holds up, the work will be done this week.

"We can't run backhoes in mud," Trimm said, referring to the ground outside the firehouse. Also, repairs had to be made to a tank that will be used in the system. Trimm said a backhoe knocked a hole in it.

The city is putting the plant in after it was discovered that raw waste from the station was being discharged directly into Bishop Creek.

Trimm said that once work was underway, the plant would be in operation in two days, "Three at the outside."

Airport lease goes up for sale

by David F. Moore

The lease to the Shelby County Airport is for sale.

Larry Chapman, who bought the lease to the airport about six years ago, said Monday that it's now for sale. The sale would include the fuel facility at the airport, equipment and the shop, and half interest in the main hangar, he said.

The other half of the hangar is owned by the county, as is the land and the rest of the facilities.

Chapman said that any potential buyer would have to meet both certain financial qualifications, and be approved by the recently formed Shelby County Airport Commission.

"If we don't find a qualified buyer, we won't sell," he said.

Chapman, who owns 40% of the stock in the airport lease, made the decision to sell two weeks ago in Tampa while visiting a friend who wanted him to join his light construction equipment rental business there.

"I guess I got sun stroke," he said. "It was nice. I came back up here and it was snowing..."

Chapman, who is president of Lane Aero, noted that the company is solvent and not bankrupt, despite the economy in the last three years.

He noted that facilities such as hangar space and fuel storage capacity had "doubled in size" since he took over. Also, "we got the authority set up and that's going to work out real well."

He said the decision to sell was approved by the other stockholders: Holt Kerns (who moved to Montgomery), James P. Morrow of Mountain Brook, Ed Burquez of Columbiana, Jay Seavy of Alabaster, and Randal Watson of Indian Valley.

Price may be SMC head man

Shelby Medical Center's board of directors was expected to name an administrator for the hospital at Tuesday night's meeting.

A board committee seeking an administrator has reportedly interviewed a large number of qualified persons.

Norman Price, who has been acting administrator since the resignation of Roland Bradford, is considered the most likely choice for the position.

North Shelby suit continues

by Bert Seaman

The 15-20 Meadowbrook residents who sat in Shelby County Circuit court last week and Monday, heard about cul-de-sac's from A-Z.

The case being tried before Judge Robert Armstrong involves the cul-de-sac -- or turnaround -- on Colonial Park Drive where Jim and Nancy McClendon live.

They do not want the street extended to connect their subdivision with Broken Bow subdivision. To try and keep that from happening, they filed a civil suit against the Shelby County Planning Commission which approved the extension.

Meadowbrook, developed by Daniel International in 1976, is located in North Shelby County off Valleydale Road. Scotch Development opened Broken Bow, the adjoining subdivision off Cahaba Valley Road two years later.

When the case opened Thursday, it was anticipated that it would last no longer than two days. However, following testimony on Monday, the case was scheduled to resume Wednesday.

As the case unfolded, attorneys asked for definitions of cul-de-sacs and dead end streets and how they are indicated on platt maps.

Trying to prove the McClendons were misled when they bought their property, attorney Douglas Corretti said the cul-de-sac shown on the record map does not indicate an extension. That would be done with a broken line, he insisted.

Another point Corretti tried to make, was the amending of the record map after it was filed in the probate office. He said it would take the consent of all property and mortgage holders to enact the change.

But planning commission director Paul Owens stressed that the final map had not been amended.

Corretti also attempted to cast a shadow on planning commissions transactions in regard to a conflict of interests of member Roy Martin.

Although the planning commission approved the future extension of Colonial Park Road four years ago, the McClendons said they thought they would be living on a cul-de-sac when they bought the property in 1982.

The record map was misleading, Corretti said, because the way the cul-de-sac was drawn indicated it was permanent.

Owens explained that the open ended circle is the way future extension is indicated, and former planning commission director Paul Yeager, Jr., testified engineers used different methods of indicating future street extensions.

It was brought out in the proceedings that Owens had informed Mrs. McClendon of the commission's plans to extend the road before she built her home.

Although the couple petitioned the commission in February 1983 to keep the street from being extended, their request was denied.

When they subsequently appealed the decision, Martin, who was acting chairman at the time, said no vote was taken since the commission's decision to extend the street had already been made.

Corretti brought out the fact that Martin, a builder, owns lots in Broken Bow subdivision. Because of that, the builder had a vested interest in the connecting street being opened, Corretti indicated.

Martin said he did not vote on any matter concerning Broken Bow after he purchased the lots in the summer of 1983.

County schools hurt by lack of funds

by Bert Seaman

Local support is an important element in improving the quality of education in Shelby County and in Alabama.

Speaking Friday to a group of Columbiana Middle School parents who meet monthly, Superintendent of Education Ellie Glasscox noted that the state is the lowest in pupil-teacher expenditures.

He also expressed concern about the failure of the schools in Shelby County to keep up with the rapidly increasing student population.

Glasscox referred to the area along US 280 as the 'hot spot' in the county. The problem will be compounded, he said, with all the building now in progress and the other construction that is planned.

However, Shelby County taxpayers recently turned down the proposal of an additional three mill property tax which was aimed at helping the school system pay for capital improvements, such as additional schools and classrooms.

Mentioning the Homewood and Mt. Brook school systems, Glasscox reported they get the same allocation from the state as Shelby County.

He pointed out, however, that those two systems have an advantage in the amount of local support they receive from taxes. That allows them to expand their curriculum to include several foreign languages and advanced math courses.

Even with the increase in population, Glasscox said that the taxes from new homes will not adequately fund the educational system.

In Homewood, he said, business foots the tax bill which benefits education.

Another factor the superintendent mentioned that sometimes hampers educational improvement, is the tenure law for teachers.

"It can be a burden in having competent teachers," he said.

Touching on the scores made by students on ACT and SAT tests, the superintendent said they have come down some in recent years.

He explained that even students who do not plan on entering college have been encouraged to take the tests in recent years. So, he said, the broad spectrum of students represented in the testing have brought down the scores.

In the CAT exams however, the superintendent reported 'tremendous gains.' He said county students scored at or above national averages last year in every area except 10th grade spelling.

Referring to the plan of excellence proposed by state school superintendent Wayne Teague, Glasscox said the push in the state is being centered around the basics in education.

Although he admitted it will create some problems with school bus schedules, the superintendent said the plan calls for 360 minutes of instruction each school day.

Some schools now have to dismiss early because buses pick up students from elementary, middle and high school.

Another change in the school program will be in the area of athletics. Granting that athletics and the band program serve a useful purpose, he stressed they are secondary to academics.

He said that athletic events will be limited to one night a week and he asked for the cooperation of those involved with Little League activities to limit night games.

In order to make the new plans work, Glasscox said there needs to be cooperation between the home and school.

Majority of county voters want state budget passed

Shelby County voters approved, overwhelmingly, the so-called 'budget isolation' amendment. By a vote of 3,323 to 990, they said they want the legislature to approve the state budget before voting on any other bills.

Probate Judge Tommy Snowden sent the results of the amendment vote to the state capitol at the same time as other results of the March 13 election. Some probate judges in the state withheld the results of that contest at the request of Governor George Wallace's legal advisor, Ken Wallis.

But those who did so were ordered by a federal judge in Montgomery on Monday to get their returns to the state capitol by midnight.

The amendment was proposed by former governor Fob James in an effort to force the legislature to deal with budget matters first, and not use the budget as a weapon to influence votes on other matters.

The other amendment on the ballot dealt with Randolph County. It was approved in Shelby County by a vote of 2,267 to 973.

Minors seen buying beer in Pelham store

Agents from the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board observed minors buying beer at a Pelham convenience store last week.

Pelham police reports say that on two separate occasions, ABC agents watched minors purchase beer at Tobacco World on US 31.

The 17-year-old juveniles were working with the agents when they bought the beer. ABC District Supervisor Dan Hill said that the technique is used when there have been numerous complaints against a store.

Hill said Tobacco World has been in violation of selling beer to minors before.

"They have been warned, cited and fined," Hill said. He said that as far as he knew, the store has not had its license to sell alcoholic beverages revoked.

Warrants will be issued against the owner of the store, according to Pelham Police Sgt. Don Guyer.

Selling alcoholic beverages to minors is a misdemeanor. It is up to the ABC Board to decide whether the store's license to sell beer will be revoked.

Hill said the control board meets in Montgomery once a month, and hears cases on violations.

Parnell library to be dedicated

Work on the Parnell Memorial Library in Montevallo is complete except for one thing -- a public dedication.

The dedication will be at 3 p.m., Sunday, April 8 in the newly renovated library building at 160 Valley Street.

The community is invited to attend the ceremonies, which will include recognition to major donors Dr. and Mrs. L.C. Parnell, and Miss Josephine Eddy.

Renovations to the building housing the library include a skylighted porch, ramp access for handicapped persons, an energy-efficient entrance and landscaping.

Montevallo library board chairman Elizabeth Rodgers noted the dedication ceremony coincides with the beginning of the National Library Week.

North Shelby friends meet

People interested in seeing a library built in North Shelby County are urged to attend a meeting on the topic this Thursday.

Friends of the North Shelby Library will meet at 7:30 at the Christ Church United Methodist on Caldwell Mill Road.

Correction

A story in last week's edition of the paper incorrectly stated that First National Bank of Columbiana owns 10 acres of land which was rezoned in Helena.

The 10 acres are owned by Bill Strickland and his sister, Ruby Nell Lambert. They sold the bank less than one acre of land adjoining the 10 acres.

The Reporter is glad to correct the record.

County musician, 24 Karat may strike gold

by David F. Moore

They're not John, Paul, George, and Ringo, and they may never get as far as the Beatles. But a newly won national recording contract has at least flung open the door to rock and roll success for the five members of the band 24 Karat.

While the accomplishment has stirred considerable attention from Birmingham to Los Angeles, keyboardist Yance Hall -- a former Shelby County High School student who grew up in the Kingdom Community -- said the work is just now beginning for 24 Karat.

"The work's just begun," Hall said Monday, during a Reporter interview. His shagged hair flopped about as he talked. He was obviously still keyed up over last week's success in LA where the group won the WAPI (95 Rock) / Miller High Life Rock to Riches band competition.

Along with the contract, they also won $25,000 in Rickenbacker sound equipment.

The contract -- which is still being finalized in LA -- guarantees 24 Karat the production of a 45 rpm record, and gives it a chance at an album. A top 40 album would open a lot of doors.

"It's exciting, but it's really nothing. There's no hit album, no records on the wall..."

Not yet. But then again, two years ago the band didn't even exist. Hall, who at 20 is the band's youngest member, recounted how the group came together in the spring of 1982:

Lead singer Mark Barnette and drummer Barry Dobbins had been playing area clubs with the group Bittersweet. Eventually they hooked up with guitarist and leader Jessie Lewis, who had toured with the Temptations and others. Buddy Stewart came along on bass and the foursome spent time working up original material in Birmingham.

"I was playing down the street from where they practiced and I started coming down to watch them write songs. They were going to do some studio work in Homewood and needed a keyboard player..."

The studio session included cutting a rough demonstration tape of 'Stay With Me' which, now refined, is receiving local airplay.

Lewis came up with the group's name because "that's the purest form of gold you can get. We base the band around that and try to be a class act," Hall said.

"We have very little sex and drugs in our music -- but a lot of rock and roll. It's fun to listen to. The 10 to 18 year olds love it."

"We were trying to be a cut above the other bands," he continued. "We didn't want the club burnout where you get sick of playing and don't want to see your instrument."

All the members took daytime jobs (Hall works at a Brookwood record store) to pay the rent so they could stay off the club circuit. This gave them time to write and develop their own material.

Atlanta producer Ed Seay heard some of their tapes and "was real hot on the band. So last June we recut 'Stay' and competed to get on 95 Rock's Homegrown Album (a record with cuts by local musicians)."

A ballot was taken of the 10 groups on the album and in January 24 Karat learned that it had won a trip to regional competition in Atlanta. After that, in mid-February, Lewis called Hall at work.

"He said he hoped I didn't have anything to do March 21 because we were headed for the national finals."

Hall said everyone was 'edgy' as the date neared. But in LA, the night before the finals, "we booked a gig at the Central Club and it went over so good that we went into Wednesday's finals the most relaxed we've ever been."

The finals were held in the Palace Club, on stage before 2,000 concert goers and record executives.

After two of five finalists played, enter 24 Karat and its "controlled insanity" on stage.

24 Karat

"As soon as we were in the middle of the first song, I knew it was okay," Hall grinned. "It was like they'd heard our music before and they were singing the chorus by the time we got to the end of the fourth song."

'Miller Time' -- the group's rendition of a popular commercial -- brought the house down. The crowd was singing along, in love with a band, and the band was responding with a hot show.

"No matter how far it goes from here," Hall said, "it can't get any better. It was a sincere emotion. They liked the band."

So did the judges.

News of the group's win traveled fast. Hall called his mother, Christine Chambliss, to tell her the news at 3 a.m.

His father, Dr. Harold Hall, was one step ahead. He woke up at 3 a.m. and heard the outcome on the radio. Hall said he also called Brian Isbell, a Columbiana friend who had played with him in his first band. "My dad had already told him."

"They're both behind me immensely," Hall said of his parents. "They've been pushing me and giving me advice and helping out when I needed it."

Hall was also appreciative of his former Columbiana piano teacher, Katie Parrish. "For six years I played my lessons, then I pulled out what I wanted to play. She was patient enough to go through it with me, and I guess that's what opened me up. I like classical music, but I love rock and roll."

"When I was 17 I decided that if I wanted to do anything with my life and my music, I had to at least get to Birmingham. There's not that many rock and roll musicians in Shelby County."

They may not be John, Paul, George, and Ringo, but in Birmingham Hall found the musicians he needed to be with. Just how far the group goes now depends pretty much on how the records stack up.

Inspection bill could up county revenue

by John Hood

A bill allowing Shelby County to set up a building inspection department may be a good idea, according to the chief building inspector for the city of Hoover.

Building inspector Gerald Smith said that because much of the county is unincorporated, county inspectors would be able to enforce codes in areas not inside city limits.

Smith, who is president of the North Central Alabama Southern Building Code Congress, said the best way to handle the department in Shelby County -- if the law ever passed -- would be to have a number of inspectors scattered around the county.

"I think it would be more efficient to have a number of small one-man offices than for the entire department to be in one central location," he said.

He said that two or three inspectors could handle the fast-growing north Shelby area, and two more for the rest of the county.

The county commission has been advertising a building inspector bill in the Reporter for the last month in preparation for its introduction to the state legislature.

Critics of the proposal say a new county department would cost too much. But according to Smith, a building inspection department can easily pay for itself.

Building inspections are not considered revenue generators, but building permits are big money makers for the city of Hoover, said Smith.

Last year, all permits issued for residential and commercial construction brought in a whopping $29,000,000 (this includes the massive Galleria being built in Riverchase near the Shelby County line).

The permits cost $3.50 per $1,000 on residential construction and $5 per $1,000 at commercial sites. Smith said the revenue dwarfs that of many other city departments, especially since his has very few workers in it.

The Hoover building inspection department is budgeted less than $100,000 a year, he said.

County schools hurt by lack of funds

Local support is an important element in improving the quality of education in Shelby County and in Alabama.

Speaking Friday to a group of Columbiana Middle School parents who meet monthly, Superintendent of Education Ellie Glasscox noted that the state is the lowest in pupil-teacher expenditures.

"It can be a burden in having competent teachers," he said.

Touching on the scores made by students on ACT and SAT tests, the superintendent said they have come down some in recent years.

He explained that even students who do not plan on entering college have been encouraged to take the tests in recent years. So, he said, the broad spectrum of students represented in the testing have brought down the scores.

In the CAT exams however, the superintendent reported 'tremendous gains.' He said county students scored at or above national averages last year in every area except 10th grade spelling.

Referring to the plan of excellence proposed by state school superintendent Wayne Teague, Glasscox said the push in the state is being centered around the basics in education.

Although he admitted it will create some problems with school bus schedules, the superintendent said the plan calls for 360 minutes of instruction each school day.

Some schools now have to dismiss early because buses pick up students from elementary, middle and high school.

Another change in the school program will be in the area of athletics. Granting that athletics and the band program serve a useful purpose, he stressed they are secondary to academics.

He said that athletic events will be limited to one night a week and he asked for the cooperation of those involved with Little League activities to limit night games.

In order to make the new plans work, Glasscox said there needs to be cooperation between the home and school.

Majority of county voters want state budget passed

Shelby County voters approved, overwhelmingly, the so-called 'budget isolation' amendment. By a vote of 3,323 to 990, they said they want the legislature to approve the state budget before voting on any other bills.

Probate Judge Tommy Snowden sent the results of the amendment vote to the state capitol at the same time as other results of the March 13 election. Some probate judges in the state withheld the results of that contest at the request of Governor George Wallace's legal advisor, Ken Wallis.

But those who did so were ordered by a federal judge in Montgomery on Monday to get their returns to the state capitol by midnight.

The amendment was proposed by former governor Fob James in an effort to force the legislature to deal with budget matters first, and not use the budget as a weapon to influence votes on other matters.

The other amendment on the ballot dealt with Randolph County. It was approved in Shelby County by a vote of 2,267 to 973.

Minors seen buying beer in Pelham store

Agents from the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board observed minors buying beer at a Pelham convenience store last week.

Pelham police reports say that on two separate occasions, ABC agents watched minors purchase beer at Tobacco World on US 31.

The 17-year-old juveniles were working with the agents when they bought the beer. ABC District Supervisor Dan Hill said that the technique is used when there have been numerous complaints against a store.

Hill said Tobacco World has been in violation of selling beer to minors before.

"They have been warned, cited and fined," Hill said. He said that as far as he knew, the store has not had its license to sell alcoholic beverages revoked.

Warrants will be issued against the owner of the store, according to Pelham Police Sgt. Don Guyer.

Selling alcoholic beverages to minors is a misdemeanor. It is up to the ABC Board to decide whether the store's license to sell beer will be revoked.

Hill said the control board meets in Montgomery once a month, and hears cases on violations.

Parnell library to be dedicated

Work on the Parnell Memorial Library in Montevallo is complete except for one thing -- a public dedication.

The dedication will be at 3 p.m., Sunday, April 8 in the newly renovated library building at 160 Valley Street.

The community is invited to attend the ceremonies, which will include recognition to major donors Dr. and Mrs. L.C. Parnell, and Miss Josephine Eddy.

Renovations to the building housing the library include a skylighted porch, ramp access for handicapped persons, an energy-efficient entrance and landscaping.

Montevallo library board chairman Elizabeth Rodgers noted the dedication ceremony coincides with the beginning of the National Library Week.

North Shelby friends meet

People interested in seeing a library built in North Shelby County are urged to attend a meeting on the topic this Thursday.

Friends of the North Shelby Library will meet at 7:30 at the Christ Church United Methodist on Caldwell Mill Road.

Correction

A story in last week's edition of the paper incorrectly stated that First National Bank of Columbiana owns 10 acres of land which was rezoned in Helena.

The 10 acres are owned by Bill Strickland and his sister, Ruby Nell Lambert. They sold the bank less than one acre of land adjoining the 10 acres.

The Reporter is glad to correct the record.

County musician, 24 Karat may strike gold

by David F. Moore

They're not John, Paul, George, and Ringo, and they may never get as far as the Beatles. But a newly won national recording contract has at least flung open the door to rock and roll success for the five members of the band 24 Karat.

While the accomplishment has stirred considerable attention from Birmingham to Los Angeles, keyboardist Yance Hall -- a former Shelby County High School student who grew up in the Kingdom Community -- said the work is just now beginning for 24 Karat.

"The work's just begun," Hall said Monday, during a Reporter interview. His shagged hair flopped about as he talked. He was obviously still keyed up over last week's success in LA where the group won the WAPI (95 Rock) / Miller High Life Rock to Riches band competition.

Along with the contract, they also won $25,000 in Rickenbacker sound equipment.

The contract -- which is still being finalized in LA -- guarantees 24 Karat the production of a 45 rpm record, and gives it a chance at an album. A top 40 album would open a lot of doors.

"It's exciting, but it's really nothing. There's no hit album, no records on the wall..."

Not yet. But then again, two years ago the band didn't even exist. Hall, who at 20 is the band's youngest member, recounted how the group came together in the spring of 1982:

Lead singer Mark Barnette and drummer Barry Dobbins had been playing area clubs with the group Bittersweet. Eventually they hooked up with guitarist and leader Jessie Lewis, who had toured with the Temptations and others. Buddy Stewart came along on bass and the foursome spent time working up original material in Birmingham.

"I was playing down the street from where they practiced and I started coming down to watch them write songs. They were going to do some studio work in Homewood and needed a keyboard player..."

The studio session included cutting a rough demonstration tape of 'Stay With Me' which, now refined, is receiving local airplay.

Lewis came up with the group's name because "that's the purest form of gold you can get. We base the band around that and try to be a class act," Hall said.

"We have very little sex and drugs in our music -- but a lot of rock and roll. It's fun to listen to. The 10 to 18 year olds love it."

"We were trying to be a cut above the other bands," he continued. "We didn't want the club burnout where you get sick of playing and don't want to see your instrument."

All the members took daytime jobs (Hall works at a Brookwood record store) to pay the rent so they could stay off the club circuit. This gave them time to write and develop their own material.

Atlanta producer Ed Seay heard some of their tapes and "was real hot on the band. So last June we recut 'Stay' and competed to get on 95 Rock's Homegrown Album (a record with cuts by local musicians)."

A ballot was taken of the 10 groups on the album and in January 24 Karat learned that it had won a trip to regional competition in Atlanta. After that, in mid-February, Lewis called Hall at work.

"He said he hoped I didn't have anything to do March 21 because we were headed for the national finals."

Hall said everyone was 'edgy' as the date neared. But in LA, the night before the finals, "we booked a gig at the Central Club and it went over so good that we went into Wednesday's finals the most relaxed we've ever been."

The finals were held in the Palace Club, on stage before 2,000 concert goers and record executives.

After two of five finalists played, enter 24 Karat and its "controlled insanity" on stage.

"As soon as we were in the middle of the first song, I knew it was okay," Hall grinned. "It was like they'd heard our music before and they were singing the chorus by the time we got to the end of the fourth song."

'Miller Time' -- the group's rendition of a popular commercial -- brought the house down. The crowd was singing along, in love with a band, and the band was responding with a hot show.

"No matter how far it goes from here," Hall said, "it can't get any better. It was a sincere emotion. They liked the band."

So did the judges.

News of the group's win traveled fast. Hall called his mother, Christine Chambliss, to tell her the news at 3 a.m.

His father, Dr. Harold Hall, was one step ahead. He woke up at 3 a.m. and heard the outcome on the radio. Hall said he also called Brian Isbell, a Columbiana friend who had played with him in his first band. "My dad had already told him."

"They're both behind me immensely," Hall said of his parents. "They've been pushing me and giving me advice and helping out when I needed it."

Hall was also appreciative of his former Columbiana piano teacher, Katie Parrish. "For six years I played my lessons, then I pulled out what I wanted to play. She was patient enough to go through it with me, and I guess that's what opened me up. I like classical music, but I love rock and roll."

"When I was 17 I decided that if I wanted to do anything with my life and my music, I had to at least get to Birmingham. There's not that many rock and roll musicians in Shelby County."

They may not be John, Paul, George, and Ringo, but in Birmingham Hall found the musicians he needed to be with. Just how far the group goes now depends pretty much on how the records stack up.

Inspection bill could up county revenue

by John Hood

A bill allowing Shelby County to set up a building inspection department may be a good idea, according to the chief building inspector for the city of Hoover.

Building inspector Gerald Smith said that because much of the county is unincorporated, county inspectors would be able to enforce codes in areas not inside city limits.

Smith, who is president of the North Central Alabama Southern Building Code Congress, said the best way to handle the department in Shelby County -- if the law ever passed -- would be to have a number of inspectors scattered around the county.

"I think it would be more efficient to have a number of small one-man offices than for the entire department to be in one central location," he said.

He said that two or three inspectors could handle the fast-growing north Shelby area, and two more for the rest of the county.

The county commission has been advertising a building inspector bill in the Reporter for the last month in preparation for its introduction to the state legislature.

Critics of the proposal say a new county department would cost too much. But according to Smith, a building inspection department can easily pay for itself.

Building inspections are not considered revenue generators, but building permits are big money makers for the city of Hoover, said Smith.

Last year, all permits issued for residential and commercial construction brought in a whopping $29,000,000 (this includes the massive Galleria being built in Riverchase near the Shelby County line).

The permits cost $3.50 per $1,000 on residential construction and $5 per $1,000 at commercial sites. Smith said the revenue dwarfs that of many other city departments, especially since his has very few workers in it.

The Hoover building inspection department is budgeted less than $100,000 a year, he said.

Tax errors trigger new hassle

A long-simmering kettle in the courthouse threatened to boil over Monday with new revelations about the tax situation.

The County Commission had asked for, and received, a summary from Tax Collector Annette Skinner, showing how much money the county will not collect from the tax revenue it expected from the 1983 tax year.

Mrs. Skinner added up the 502 'letters of correction' turned in to her office by Tax Assessor Bobbie Reynolds, and reported the county's general fund would be short by $33,265. The schools would be short by $53,272, and the hospital by $17,742, for a total of $104,278.

In addition, the municipalities of the county will be short by $25,619, and the state by $28,829, for a grand total of $158,728.05.

But in a letter to County Commissioner John Ames, Mrs. Reynolds said the corrections have netted the county an additional $42,593 this year.

Mrs. Skinner pointed out on the other hand, that the corrections Mrs. Reynolds refers to in the letter are in a different category. They are corrections on 'supplements and escapes' or back taxes that were not assessed correctly over the past five year period.

There are about 100 of them, and Mrs. Skinner has no abstract on them and will not have one until her office settles with the state in June. They are not part of Mrs. Skinner's report on the 502 correction slips that add up to the loss.

The 502 slips mean that almost 1.5 percent of the 35,591 parcels of property in Shelby County had some change made in their assessment after the closing date. A spokesman in the State Department of Revenue in Montgomery told the Reporter, "That seems like a pretty large number of errors."

However, the conflicting reports are symptoms of the larger problem.

The commission needs an estimate of tax income every year in order to figure the county's budget by October 1. Estimates given by Mrs. Reynolds have often turned out to be wrong -- by a wide margin -- on the optimistic side. This has forced the commission to re-work the budget and delay decisions on salaries and other expenses until far into the fiscal year.

In her defense, since Mrs. Reynolds came into office she has had to contend with county-wide reappraisals of property, followed by the lid bill, and other legislation that kept property taxes in a state of change. The commission realized her task was difficult.

But the county hired a team of appraisers -- trained at county expense -- to keep up with changing property values, and installed a computer system to make it more efficient.

So, now, after several years, the commission believes Mrs. Reynolds should be able to give them more accurate figures than in the past.

She, however, claims she is answerable only to the state auditors and the people of the county, and is moved to point out the only authority the commission has in connection with her office is to properly fund it.

Power company shouldn't spray

Letter to the Editor:

Every citizen of Shelby County, and especially every landowner, large or small, should urge our representatives in Montgomery to reject the proposal by Alabama Power Company to permit the aerial spraying of herbicides. The company says the spraying will not harm people or wildlife, but Agent Orange was also supposed to be a harmless herbicide. The toxicity of dioxin was not recognized until it had made an entire town in Missouri totally uninhabitable. Who believes anything the Environmental Protection Agency says these days? I would as soon believe the Kremlin. And has the power company already forgotten the lawsuit that gave them national attention?

The proposal would allow the company to spray a path 325 feet wide; that is wider than the length of a football field. Why does the company need such an enormous highway through our dwindling timberlands to string a couple of wires?

The proposal would allow the company to spray over streams and lakes. It should be unnecessary to point out the harm this would do to all life in these bodies of water.

The proposal is supposed to protect persons, animals, and orchards by allowing a "suitable" buffer. Who decides what a "suitable" buffer is? The pilot whizzing over the hills? Can he be expected to see the isolated peach tree, or cow, or boy walking through the woods?

The legislature in 1971 forbade such spraying for excellent reasons. This proposal by the power company is an attempt to sneak in the back door what the people pressured the legislature to keep off our land.

Patients live with abortion guilt

Letter to the Editor:

I was reading the Shelby County Reporter last week. I noticed up in the corner of Page X-11 an advertisement captioned 'Worried about being pregnant? We care.' What a nice thought. Then I saw the word 'abortion.'

'We care.' Who are they caring for? Not the baby, you don't kill something you care for, not the mother -- she's adding to her guilt for the rest of her life. Could it be theirselves they care for? Or money?

It's confidential alright. They don't let the patient know what really happens to them, nor the baby.

My heart started beating faster when I realized how many girls will call the horror house number.

How can we ask God to bless America, when millions of babies die in this silent holocaust.

Thanks given to firefighters

Letter to the Editor:

On March 10 our house would have burned completely down if it hadn't been for the dedication and hard work of the Chelsea Fire Department.

We think our area is very fortunate to have such a fine fire department, and we would like to thank them for being there when we needed them.

We are also thankful to our neighbors and relatives for being there to help, and to the wonderful people of Liberty Baptist Church for their prayers and help.

Two track bills are bad news

Letter to the Editor:

The real facts concerning the negative aspects of legalized gambling are simply not generally known by the public. The news media is not informed or has accepted, without question, the whitewash by pro-gambling forces and has not made the true facts known.

Perhaps your readers have been getting only one side of the story as well.

If our state legislators are men of their word and truly concerned, they will not just passively remain silent, thereby showing approval, but will actively oppose both the proposed Pelham dog track and the Birmingham horse track.

Only a hermit would contend that what happens in Jefferson County does not affect most Shelby Countians. Therefore, the Birmingham horsetrack does not qualify as a local issue.

We have here a real opportunity to find out if our politicians mean what they say and are not afraid to act on their convictions, or if they just say what they think the majority want to hear.

Sincerely
Jim Entrekin

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member FDIC.

Just one more time, Mister -- just one more time! Let 'em come from everywhere, Bear Creek, Calcis, Vandiver, Dunnavant, Sterrett, all of 'em, boys and girls and men and women. Let 'em sit on the hill under the big trees, rows and rows of 'em, while Sterrett and Columbiana play baseball on a Saturday afternoon. Let 'em yell, louder and louder if they're ahead and lower and lower if we're ahead. But let 'em come and let 'em yell and let 'em have a whale of a time together. No matter if steak has gone to thirty cents a pound or if golden grain tobacco is up to six cents or there ain't a job between Montgomery and Birmingham. There'll be happiness there and contentment and an easy way of living. So if you don't mind, Mister, just one more time!

They said buzzards were detouring around the road from Columbiana to Shelby and, further on, it got worse and worse. But who cared. The crappie were tearing it up under the sunken cedar trees across Waxie from Joe White's camp. You could catch a hundred without moving your boat over five times. If you gave out of bait you only had to cut up a small crappie and put little pieces on your hook. There wasn't a motorboat on the Coosa and Joe's boats were close to a hundred years old, but if you didn't like to paddle you ought to be home anyhow playing hop-scotch with Mary Belle and Melissa.

Yep, if you don't mind, Mister, just one more time!

The music could have come from Roebuck with a chance on a piano if Roebuck peddled music. But they didn't. So we got it out of jukeboxes at Narrow's Inn and Lloyd's Place and Alabama-Florida Tavern and Mac's Place across the river. There was Marie and Josephine and Star Dust and Whispering. And a dozen more a guy could get if his money didn't run out. The girls were always pretty and the music was always pretty and I don't remember a night, at any place on highway 280, that wasn't pretty enough for a fellow to remember even after fifty years. Maybe we danced a thousand miles, or a million maybe, because it was the best way we knew to spend an evening during the great depression. Yep, if you don't mind, Mister, just one more time!

Scrambled Eggs

I feel as though I've been on the animal-go-round lately. Here's why:

The first critter that grabbed my attention last week was a small but tenacious four-footed animal. My eyes were hardly open that morning when photographs of these adoptable burros flashed on my TV screen.

Cute, I thought, but I wasn't in a burro frame of mind right then. Later that day, I had to get interested when the lady from the television screen materialized in my vicinity. Off I went to write about the forlorn animals needing a home.

I wish them well -- everbody needs a home.

My second animal encounter concerned some creatures from the wild that found a home with some kind folks in a neighboring community.

A friend told me about some squirrels that were so tame they would run and sit on the shoulder of a certain couple every time they went outside.

The couple had raised the little creatures from babies and when the squirrels were released they made their home in a nearby tree.

Great story, I thought, as I took notebook, pen and camera and headed to their house.

But alas and alack -- the day was one of the windiest we've had in a long time, and the squirrels were apparently holed up.

We called and called and promised they'd get all the peanuts they could eat if they'd just put in a brief appearance. But no dice -- we couldn't find hide nor hair of them.

When it came to the feathered ceatures the family owns, it was a different story, though. The geese, the ducks, the rooster and the guinea hens all made their presence known as they flapped and waddled about, looking for all the world like they wanted their picture taken.

So I obliged them.

My encounter with animals continued with a horse and two canines that could be easily be mistaken for horses.

When I arrived at the home where I was going to photograph a jumper in action, I was greeted by two of the greatest Great Danes I have ever seen.

I was about to do some jumping myself, but I decided to remain calm and let these monsters think I was used to seeing pups their size every day in the week.

The truth is, I do see a dog nearly as big at my daughter's house. But somehow, the big, black Newfoundland with the floppy ears and droopy eyes doesn't seem half as threatening as these sleek, fanged beasts.

However, I passed myself off as their friend, and they never questioned the fact that I might be trespassing in their domain.

As you may deduce from this account, I managed to leave the premises alive, and hopefully I even got some good pictures for next week.

Since I've lived to write another day, maybe I'll stumble on some more good animal stories before the week is out.

Anyone got a good one?

Alabama Scene

Not that the current legislative session needs any more controversies, but a measure has been introduced and already sailed out of committee which could create a tempest. It's called the Motor Fuel Marketing Act, which sounds harmless enough, but it would have a painful impact on the price of gasoline in Alabama.

Independent wholesale and retail gasoline dealers are pushing the measure, claiming they are the victims of unfair competition from gasoline stations owned by the major oil companies. The bill would prohibit the oil companies from operating service stations in Alabama. There are some 200 such outlets in the state that would be closed if the measure becomes law.

The measure also would require a minimum mark-up of nine cents a gallon on gasoline. It would end forever the marketing practices of some stations of using gasoline as a 'loss leader' to attract customers. It would for all practical purposes put out of business the high volume, low profit, self-service gasoline stations.

The measure has drawn fierce opposition from the Alabama Petroleum Council, the Alabama Retail Association, the Alabama Motorists Association and others. All of them voice the same warning -- that passage of the measure will lead to higher gasoline prices, and the loss of a substantial number of jobs if the company-owned stations are closed.

Johnny Johnson, head of the Alabama Petroleum Council, called the measure a "selfish and devious attempt" by wholesale retail dealers to guarantee themselves a profit by legislative act.

Odds and Ends -- The Alabama Senate remains at a standstill because of a sharp disagreement between Sens. Earl Hilliard of Birmingham and Chip Bailey of Dothan. Sen. Bailey is a strong advocate of a measure that would raise the legal drinking age back to 21. Sen. Hilliard opposes it, and as chairman of the committee where the bill pends, he has refused to let it be reported back to the Senate.

Sen. Bailey has counter-attacked by using his prerogative to keep the Senate from considering any local bills, which includes a horse track measure for Birmingham which Hilliard very much wants passed. Lt. Gov. Bill Baxley may soon have to use whatever power is necessary to resolve the differences between the two solons...

Apparently sensitive about the criticism he has received about his tax proposals, Gov. Wallace now is insisting that none of his revenue measures are 'consumer taxes.' He is asking for increases in the property tax, income tax, gasoline tax and also a hike in the cost of auto and truck tags. But he says these aren't consumer taxes because everybody doesn't pay them. It's an interesting definition...

Tax errors trigger new hassle

A long-simmering kettle in the courthouse threatened to boil over Monday with new revelations about the tax situation.

The County Commission had asked for, and received, a summary from Tax Collector Annette Skinner, showing how much money the county will not collect from the tax revenue it expected from the 1983 tax year.

Mrs. Skinner added up the 502 'letters of correction' turned in to her office by Tax Assessor Bobbie Reynolds, and reported the county's general fund would be short by $33,265. The schools would be short by $53,272, and the hospital by $17,742, for a total of $104,278.

In addition, the municipalities of the county will be short by $25,619, and the state by $28,829, for a grand total of $158,728.05.

But in a letter to County Commissioner John Ames, Mrs. Reynolds said the corrections have netted the county an additional $42,593 this year.

Mrs. Skinner pointed out on the other hand, that the corrections Mrs. Reynolds refers to in the letter are in a different category. They are corrections on 'supplements and escapes' or back taxes that were not assessed correctly over the past five year period.

There are about 100 of them, and Mrs. Skinner has no abstract on them and will not have one until her office settles with the state in June. They are not part of Mrs. Skinner's report on the 502 correction slips that add up to the loss.

The 502 slips mean that almost 1.5 percent of the 35,591 parcels of property in Shelby County had some change made in their assessment after the closing date. A spokesman in the State Department of Revenue in Montgomery told the Reporter, "That seems like a pretty large number of errors."

However, the conflicting reports are symptoms of the larger problem.

The commission needs an estimate of tax income every year in order to figure the county's budget by October 1. Estimates given by Mrs. Reynolds have often turned out to be wrong -- by a wide margin -- on the optimistic side. This has forced the commission to re-work the budget and delay decisions on salaries and other expenses until far into the fiscal year.

In her defense, since Mrs. Reynolds came into office she has had to contend with county-wide reappraisals of property, followed by the lid bill, and other legislation that kept property taxes in a state of change. The commission realized her task was difficult.

But the county hired a team of appraisers -- trained at county expense -- to keep up with changing property values, and installed a computer system to make it more efficient.

So, now, after several years, the commission believes Mrs. Reynolds should be able to give them more accurate figures than in the past.

She, however, claims she is answerable only to the state auditors and the people of the county, and is moved to point out the only authority the commission has in connection with her office is to properly fund it.

Power company shouldn't spray

Letter to the Editor:

Every citizen of Shelby County, and especially every landowner, large or small, should urge our representatives in Montgomery to reject the proposal by Alabama Power Company to permit the aerial spraying of herbicides. The company says the spraying will not harm people or wildlife, but Agent Orange was also supposed to be a harmless herbicide. The toxicity of dioxin was not recognized until it had made an entire town in Missouri totally uninhabitable. Who believes anything the Environmental Protection Agency says these days? I would as soon believe the Kremlin. And has the power company already forgotten the lawsuit that gave them national attention?

The proposal would allow the company to spray a path 325 feet wide; that is wider than the length of a football field. Why does the company need such an enormous highway through our dwindling timberlands to string a couple of wires?

The proposal would allow the company to spray over streams and lakes. It should be unnecessary to point out the harm this would do to all life in these bodies of water.

The proposal is supposed to protect persons, animals, and orchards by allowing a "suitable" buffer. Who decides what a "suitable" buffer is? The pilot whizzing over the hills? Can he be expected to see the isolated peach tree, or cow, or boy walking through the woods?

The legislature in 1971 forbade such spraying for excellent reasons. This proposal by the power company is an attempt to sneak in the back door what the people pressured the legislature to keep off our land.

Patients live with abortion guilt

Letter to the Editor:

I was reading the Shelby County Reporter last week. I noticed up in the corner of Page X-11 an advertisement captioned 'Worried about being pregnant? We care.' What a nice thought. Then I saw the word 'abortion.'

'We care.' Who are they caring for? Not the baby, you don't kill something you care for, not the mother -- she's adding to her guilt for the rest of her life. Could it be theirselves they care for? Or money?

It's confidential alright. They don't let the patient know what really happens to them, nor the baby.

My heart started beating faster when I realized how many girls will call the horror house number.

How can we ask God to bless America, when millions of babies die in this silent holocaust.

Thanks given to firefighters

Letter to the Editor:

On March 10 our house would have burned completely down if it hadn't been for the dedication and hard work of the Chelsea Fire Department.

We think our area is very fortunate to have such a fine fire department, and we would like to thank them for being there when we needed them.

We are also thankful to our neighbors and relatives for being there to help, and to the wonderful people of Liberty Baptist Church for their prayers and help.

Thank you,

Two track bills are bad news

Letter to the Editor:

The real facts concerning the negative aspects of legalized gambling are simply not generally known by the public. The news media is not informed or has accepted, without question, the whitewash by pro-gambling forces and has not made the true facts known.

Perhaps your readers have been getting only one side of the story as well.

If our state legislators are men of their word and truly concerned, they will not just passively remain silent, thereby showing approval, but will actively oppose both the proposed Pelham dog track and the Birmingham horse track.

Only a hermit would contend that what happens in Jefferson County does not affect most Shelby Countians. Therefore, the Birmingham horsetrack does not qualify as a local issue.

We have here a real opportunity to find out if our politicians mean what they say and are not afraid to act on their convictions, or if they just say what they think the majority want to hear.

Sincerely
Jim Entrekin

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member FDIC.

Just one more time, Mister -- just one more time! Let 'em come from everywhere, Bear Creek, Calcis, Vandiver, Dunnavant, Sterrett, all of 'em, boys and girls and men and women. Let 'em sit on the hill under the big trees, rows and rows of 'em, while Sterrett and Columbiana play baseball on a Saturday afternoon. Let 'em yell, louder and louder if they're ahead and lower and lower if we're ahead. But let 'em come and let 'em yell and let 'em have a whale of a time together. No matter if steak has gone to thirty cents a pound or if golden grain tobacco is up to six cents or there ain't a job between Montgomery and Birmingham. There'll be happiness there and contentment and an easy way of living. So if you don't mind, Mister, just one more time!

They said buzzards were detouring around the road from Columbiana to Shelby and, further on, it got worse and worse. But who cared. The crappie were tearing it up under the sunken cedar trees across Waxie from Joe White's camp. You could catch a hundred without moving your boat over five times. If you gave out of bait you only had to cut up a small crappie and put little pieces on your hook. There wasn't a motorboat on the Coosa and Joe's boats were close to a hundred years old, but if you didn't like to paddle you ought to be home anyhow playing hop-scotch with Mary Belle and Melissa.

Yep, if you don't mind, Mister, just one more time!

The music could have come from Roebuck with a chance on a piano if Roebuck peddled music. But they didn't. So we got it out of jukeboxes at Narrow's Inn and Lloyd's Place and Alabama-Florida Tavern and Mac's Place across the river. There was Marie and Josephine and Star Dust and Whispering. And a dozen more a guy could get if his money didn't run out. The girls were always pretty and the music was always pretty and I don't remember a night, at any place on highway 280, that wasn't pretty enough for a fellow to remember even after fifty years. Maybe we danced a thousand miles, or a million maybe, because it was the best way we knew to spend an evening during the great depression. Yep, if you don't mind, Mister, just one more time!

I feel as though I've been on the animal-go-round lately. Here's why:

The first critter that grabbed my attention last week was a small but tenacious four-footed animal. My eyes were hardly open that morning when photographs of these adoptable burros flashed on my TV screen.

Cute, I thought, but I wasn't in a burro frame of mind right then. Later that day, I had to get interested when the lady from the television screen materialized in my vicinity. Off I went to write about the forlorn animals needing a home.

I wish them well -- everbody needs a home.

My second animal encounter concerned some creatures from the wild that found a home with some kind folks in a neighboring community.

A friend told me about some squirrels that were so tame they would run and sit on the shoulder of a certain couple every time they went outside.

The couple had raised the little creatures from babies and when the squirrels were released they made their home in a nearby tree.

Great story, I thought, as I took notebook, pen and camera and headed to their house.

But alas and alack -- the day was one of the windiest we've had in a long time, and the squirrels were apparently holed up.

We called and called and promised they'd get all the peanuts they could eat if they'd just put in a brief appearance. But no dice -- we couldn't find hide nor hair of them.

When it came to the feathered ceatures the family owns, it was a different story, though. The geese, the ducks, the rooster and the guinea hens all made their presence known as they flapped and waddled about, looking for all the world like they wanted their picture taken.

So I obliged them.

My encounter with animals continued with a horse and two canines that could be easily be mistaken for horses.

When I arrived at the home where I was going to photograph a jumper in action, I was greeted by two of the greatest Great Danes I have ever seen.

I was about to do some jumping myself, but I decided to remain calm and let these monsters think I was used to seeing pups their size every day in the week.

The truth is, I do see a dog nearly as big at my daughter's house. But somehow, the big, black Newfoundland with the floppy ears and droopy eyes doesn't seem half as threatening as these sleek, fanged beasts.

However, I passed myself off as their friend, and they never questioned the fact that I might be trespassing in their domain.

As you may deduce from this account, I managed to leave the premises alive, and hopefully I even got some good pictures for next week.

Since I've lived to write another day, maybe I'll stumble on some more good animal stories before the week is out.

Anyone got a good one?

Alabama Scene

Not that the current legislative session needs any more controversies, but a measure has been introduced and already sailed out of committee which could create a tempest. It's called the Motor Fuel Marketing Act, which sounds harmless enough, but it would have a painful impact on the price of gasoline in Alabama.

Independent wholesale and retail gasoline dealers are pushing the measure, claiming they are the victims of unfair competition from gasoline stations owned by the major oil companies. The bill would prohibit the oil companies from operating service stations in Alabama. There are some 200 such outlets in the state that would be closed if the measure becomes law.

The measure also would require a minimum mark-up of nine cents a gallon on gasoline. It would end forever the marketing practices of some stations of using gasoline as a 'loss leader' to attract customers. It would for all practical purposes put out of business the high volume, low profit, self-service gasoline stations.

The measure has drawn fierce opposition from the Alabama Petroleum Council, the Alabama Retail Association, the Alabama Motorists Association and others. All of them voice the same warning -- that passage of the measure will lead to higher gasoline prices, and the loss of a substantial number of jobs if the company-owned stations are closed.

Johnny Johnson, head of the Alabama Petroleum Council, called the measure a "selfish and devious attempt" by wholesale retail dealers to guarantee themselves a profit by legislative act.

Blue whips Orange 36-8 in intra-squad clash

Montevallo High's Orange and Blue squads went after each other for a 'friendly' game of intra-squad football last Thursday afternoon. It was no place for the weak.

Along with all the emotion of an arch-rivalry, and the hard hitting of a do-or-die championship contest, 436 yards of total offense were generated, and 44 total points were scored.

But as evenly as the teams appeared to be matched -- coach Richard Gilliam called plays for both sides -- the day belonged to the Blue.

After fumbling 12 times and losing nine of those, a mistake plagued Orange squad lost nine of a dozen fumbles as it fell prey to a 36-8 beating.

Blue quarterback Ricky Gaddis summed things up this way, "We did it with passing mostly and Anthony Prentice's running. We played together."

Gaddis was not being boastful. Just talking facts. While his squad suffered three interceptions, he threw for three touchdowns and hit nine of 19 passes for 126 yards.

The Orange side went 0-7-2 in passing for no yardage.

Orange defender Lonnie Layton saw the shellacking suffered by his squad this way, "There was just not enough experience on the Orange side and a great Blue backfield."

Layton led the Orange defense with eight assisted tackles, four individual tackles and two fumble recoveries. He is picked to be a Bulldog standout for next season's football action.

"I just hope I can play defense as well as everyone expects of me," he said after the game.

The defensive standout for the Blue squad was John Holsombeck who had nine asisted tackles, six individual tackles, two fumble recoveries and three quarterback sacks.

The Blue squad outrushed the Orange 167 yards to 146. Carrying for the Blue were rushing leaders Clint King with 59 yards on nine trips and Prentice with 45 yards on eight runs.

Toting the ball for the Orange were Tommy Morris who got 37 yards on ten carries, and Jimmy Sailes with 31 yards on five carries.

When all was done coach Gilliam said, "I really think I am going to have a quality 11, 13 or 14 players who can do the job. But right now we don't have depth. We've got from August 6 to August 30 to develop."

The Blue squad wasted little time in proving itself on the gridiron. The Blue Bulldogs scored 16 points in the first quarter alone.

Gaddis hit Freeman Rutledge for the first TD of the day and then hit Andy Chism for the second. Two-point conversions were scored by Gaddis and Antonio Devould.

In the second quarter, after a fumble recovery put the Blue in business at the Orange 14 yard line, Clint King ended a short march by scoring from the five. The conversion failed, making it 22-0.

Another Orange fumble gave the Blue a scoring opportunity from 25 yards out. This time Gaddis hit Chism through for a TD, but again the two-point conversion failed.

The Orange got its only touchdown when Tommy Morris made a beautiful interception coupled with a spectacular 82 yard TD return. Sean Roberts added the two-point conversion to make it 28-8.

But the Blue side wasn't satisfied and Devould scored another TD in the third period. A two-point conversion failure left the score at 34-8.

The final blow to the Orange squad came when the Blue scored two extra points on a safety to wrap things up at 36-8.

Tough crowd

Montevallo's Slade Blackwell (10) finds the going tough in an Orange-Blue game last Thursday afternoon. Other players in on the action are Jackie Pickett (65), John Turner (66), and George Jackson (9). Orange and Blue both look the same in black and white, just as they will be one solid unit this fall. Warriors win classic

It might not have counted on anyone's official record, but Thompson High won't let that spoil its victory in the annual Buck Creek Classic baseball tournament.

Thompson took first place in the event played in Alabaster last Friday and Saturday by defeating Vincent 10-5, and by knocking off Bibb County 9-5.

Pelham High School on the other hand lost to Bibb County 5-0 and defeated Vincent 12-3.

"We hit the ball at times real well," said Warrior coach Billy Woodham of the contest. "In two ballgames we had seven homeruns and one grand slam by Richard Kidd."

The tourney serves players and coaches in preparing for the 1984 season.

"It gives you an opportunity to play some kids who might not get to play in area competition," he said. "You also have a chance to look at kids in different positions."

Pelham coach Jim Vakakes was a little more laid back in his opinion of the tournament.

"We played everybody we had, all the old ones, the young ones and the medium ones. We were just out to have a good time."

Vincent coach Kenny Wright didn't worry about his team's losses in the tournament either.

"We are 1-0, I'm not counting that tournament. We are a real young team and we have not had a lot of time to practice. But we've got potential and we'll be right up there with the other teams."

For the record, Thompson and Pelham entered the Buck Creek Classic with identical records of 3-1 on the young season.

Eagles fight in Calera

Head coach Danny Alverson and assistant coach Gary Griffith are both on the Calera High School football staff. But last Friday night they looked at each other with fierce expressions from opposite sides of Ricky Cairns Memorial Stadium.

Thirty-six Calera football players also normally pull together as a team. Yet last Friday that force was split as 18 of them stood waiting on one side of the field to do battle with the rest.

Players who normally block for their teammate Mike West, could even be heard to say, "I stuck him in the ribs that time."

The reason for all this madness? Friday night marked the annual Blue-White Calera intra-squad football war.

Blue quarterback Mark Jones noted the team's split personality when he commented, "We've been going at this hard all week."

When the dust settled, it should have come as no surprise to anyone that Alverson's squad had won, 24-8. After all, Alverson's job is producing winning football teams -- one thing he is consistently good at.

For the players, the game meant more than finding out which half of their team was best. Their individual performances count a lot towards who'll play what position this fall.

For that reason, Alverson wasted little time in removing smiles of intra-squad victory from his face.

He told the Reporter slowly and soberly, "We have got a long way to go. The backs (on both sides) did well but we have got to have a little more blocking up front. We'll have to improve on technique and hope things fall in place."

The Blue squad jumped out to an early 8-0 lead when Kenny Marsh scored on a nine yard run and West added a two-point conversion.

Blue scored again in the first half when QB Jones put the ball in the air from his own 19, and hit West for an 81-yard TD strike.

Reversing scoring roles, it was Marsh who added the two-point conversion this time and the Blue led the White 16-0 at the half.

For the White's, Darryl Griffith converted a first down and ten to go situation into a 49-yard TD run early in the third quarter. Edward Blair added a two-point conversion to the tally when he took a pass from White quarterback Dereck Herndon.

A comeback by the White squad was something coach Alverson would not tolerate and he called touchdown scoring plays to put the game on ice.

With first down and ten to go at the White 26 in the fourth and final period, Alverson called Marsh's number and the Blue streak scored. Shane Schroeder added two more points to wrap things up at 24-8 on a pass from Jones.

For their efforts on the night, Marsh (for the Blue), Derick Herndon and Chris Smith (both for the White) got pats on the back from Alverson.

On the run

Showing a little of the style he hopes to have this Friday in a jamboree with Chelsea and Montevallo, Calera's Darryl Griffith goes on the run in a Blue-White intra-squad contest played last week. (photo by Fred Guarino)

Dual scholarships

Falcon assistant coach Terry Sellers and Pelham coach Tony Taylor make sure everything is in order as Panther basketball stars Eddie Reeves and Kyle Hutchison sign their names to athletic scholarships from the University of Montevallo. They join Jeff Adams, also of Pelham, as the only three Shelby County players on the Falcon team. (photo by Fred Guarino)

Pelham lands two on UM squad

At first there were none... now there are three.

With the signing of two Pelham High School basketball stars last Thursday, the University of Montevallo's male basketball program may finally boast some Shelby Countians on the team.

Three years ago, the Falcons added the first Shelby Countian to their squad -- in recent memory -- by signing Pelham standout Jeff Adams.

Last Thursday morning, UM coach Bill Elder broke the dry spell by awarding basketball scholarships to two more Pelham Panthers.

Kyle Hutchison, a 6'7", 190-pound center, and Eddie Reeves, a 6'11", 160-pound point guard, will join Adams for the Falcons' next season of play.

Hutchison averaged 14 points per game last season while teammate Reeves averaged 12 points. Together, they led the Panthers to a 22-7 season record and the Shelby County basketball championship.

"We are very pleased," UM assistant coach Terry Sellers said of signing Hutchison and Reeves. "We are very high on both of them."

"We feel Kyle (Hutchison) has the tools to be an outstanding college basketball player," Sellers said. "He runs well, is 6'7", passes well, is a good rebounder and we feel he will fit into our system real well as an outstanding player."

Of Reeves, Sellers had even more praise.

"Eddie has outstanding point guard temperament. He plays under control, is a good passer, is intelligent and is a good ball handler. His position in our system is very important."

Pelham coach Tony Taylor also had good words for his basketball stars.

"I think they are true position players. Eddie is going in at guard and we've run some of that man offense that UM uses," Taylor pointed out.

"Kyle is just a solid inside player and when he gets to play against people his size, he should get better," Taylor said.

Hutchison told the Reporter that he is looking forward to playing for the Falcons because they have a good basketball program and because UM is a good school.

The son of Jerry and Lois Hutchison, Kyle said he had been getting letters from junior colleges but did not know where he was going until UM gave him a scholarship. He plans to major in business.

Reeves said he was looking forward to playing for UM because, "It's real close to home and I can come back to visit my parents."

The son of Bert and Nancy Reeves, Eddie plans to major in physical education.

Other Pelham Panthers now playing college ball besides Adams, include David Toner at Jeff State and Devin Tubert at Vol State in Tennessee.

Yellow Jacket enters college ranks

He's 6'5" and weighs 200 pounds. He played the forward position in basketball where he averages 14 points and nine rebounds per game.

He led the Vincent Yellow Jackets to a 23-8 record last season, helping them to championships in the area and region, as well as a trip to the 1984 state semi-finals.

Who is this outstanding basketball player? None other than Vincent High School's Bennie Joe Keller -- known to friends as 'B.J.' and to some misguided sports writers as 'J.B.'

To round out a high school career of 75 wins in four years and two trips to state basketball tournaments -- he led Vincent to a runner-up state title in 1981 -- Keller signed a basketball scholarship Thursday with Southern Union Junior College in Wadley.

A modest, quiet fellow who bears an uncanny physical resemblance to Mohammed Ali, Keller is a straight A student.

He told the Reporter that he was glad to get a scholarship, because, "It could be a help to me education-wise, a big help to me in life, and a chance to carry on my career in basketball."

A young man who seems as honest to himself as to others, Keller takes full blame for his school's loss to R.C. Hatch in the state basketball tournament this year.

"That was my worst game", he said.

Yet Keller shouldn't be so tough on himself, according to Vincent coach Richard Crumpton. "He's been an asset for four years. He was signed as a small forward and his chances are going to be real good to be successful in college ball.

'He had several offers from four-year schools but he wanted to go to a junior college so he could play right off the bat."

In addition to all his other accomplishments, the grandson of James and Clara Keller is the only Yellow Jacket ever to have participated in two state tournaments.

Keller will join the ranks of two other Yellow Jackets already playing college ball.

Elton Datcher plays for Southern Union Junior College and his brother Vernon now plays for Southern Junior College of Business in Birmingham.

Keller signs

Vincent's B.J. Keller remembers past victories with his former coaches Howard Ross (left) and Richard Crumpton (right). Keller has signed to play ball for Southern Union Junior College next season.

Alumnus honored

Montevallo Elementary PE specialist Linda P. Cicero is the University of Montevallo's Department of Health 'Alumnus of the Year.'

Cicero's 19-year career in health, physical education and recreation has included work at Warrior High and with the state department of education in Montgomery.

She came to Montevallo Elementary in 1978 and has conducted numerous seminars, workshops and clinics on the state, regional and national levels.

Alabaster youths kick off season

A parade and a ball field dedication will kick off the Alabaster Dixie Youth Little League's season Saturday morning.

The parade will start at Thompson High School at 8:00 a.m. and will make its way to the city ball parks. Firetrucks from the Alabaster Fire Department, school bands and the 27 teams that make up the league will be in the parade.

Ceremonies at the park will include music by students from Thompson High and Middle Schools, the release of balloons and a dedication of a ball field.

The ball field will be dedicated to Dixie Youth District President Buford Lee.

After the ceremonies, the teams of the league will begin playing baseball.

Border collies herd in Vincent

Border collies and handlers in the from all across the country gathered in Vincent last weekend for the Heart of Dixie Dog Show.

The medium-sized black and white dogs are used to herd sheep. About 69 of the best dogs in the country competed in herding three sheep around a rolling meadow on Jimmy Rowe's farm near Vincent.

Despite rain Saturday, an estimated 600 spectators watched over the weekend as handlers whistled and occasionally yelled across the field as the collies cajoled the sheep into a pen. The event was judged on a point system on the dogs' technique of leading the sheep around a course and then penning them before eight minutes were up.

Richard Karrasch of Vandiver announced the show and helped organize it. He breeds registered border collies at his farm.

This is the sixth year the trials have been held to raise money for various groups, and Karrasch called it the best year yet. This year the proceeds -- estimated at $5,000 -- will go to Coosa Valley Academy.

"The thing I like, is that we do this for a cause," Karrasch said, noting that the show drew many more dog handlers than the California State Fair, where $5,000 in prizes were given away over the same weekend.

"It proves that money doesn't mean everything," he said.

Karrasch noted that it is also the sixth year that it has rained at least once during the two-day show.

'Glen' and trainer-owner Hubert Bailey of Dawsonville, GA won first place in the open division. Bill Berhow and 'Jaff' of Tallahassee won first in open ranch competition. 'Gyp' and Clay Dunn of Knoxville finished first in the ranch class competition.

Pelham High School's 'Tower of Power' plays

The concert and jazz bands of Pelham High School will perform in concert this Friday in the high school gym.

The concert band, known as the 'Tower of Power,' will perform first, followed by the jazz band. The show will feature classical and popular pieces.

The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. and admission is $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for students. There will be intermissions and refreshments will be available.

The Pelham City Council of the City of Pelham will hold a public hearing on April 16, 1984, at 6:30 p.m. at the City Hall to consider an amendment to the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Pelham. the amendment would change Article XVI, Section 2, Paragraph 2.B to read as follows:

B. In the B-2 and B-3 General Business Districts and the M-1 and M-2 Industrial Districts signs shall not exceed two square feet of surface area for each lineal foot of lot adjoining a public street or roadway or 120 square feet of surface area, whichever is less. On lots zoned Business or Industrial and abutting an Interstate Highway the following rules shall apply:

a) One identification sign and one price or product sign are permitted for any business located at the intersection of an Interstate Highway with a State, County Road or City Street.

b) The Minimum height of the identification and/or price or product sign shall be fifty (50) feet from the ground level to the base of sign and shall not exceed one hundred (100) feet from the ground level to the base of said sign.

The maximum size of the identification sign shall be two hundred and thirty (230) square feet of the copy area. The maximum size of the price or product sign shall be six hundred (600) square feet.

c) No identification of price sign shall be permitted further than one hundred fifty (150) feet from the right-of-way of any Interstate Highway or more than five hundred fifty (550) feet from the right-of-way line of the secondary State or County Road or City Street. Any such signs shall be constructed on the premises of an individual business. No off-premise sign shall be permitted pursuant to the provisions of this code.

d) The aforesaid identification and price or product signs shall be constructed in strict accordance with the minimum specification as follows:

PSF design windload: 39# PSF and certified by a licensed engineer, furnishing calculations on how the windload was determined.

e) In addition, one identification sign will be permitted on the premises for any business, that is totally occupied by one business not to exceed one hundred twenty (120) square feet and is to be mounted perpendicular with the secondary street.

Said sign shall not exceed a height of twenty (20) feet from ground level to base of sign, nor less than fifteen (15) feet from ground level to base of sign. Such sign shall not be constructed less than ten (10) feet from the right-of-way line of an Interstate Highway right-of-way line and ten (10) feet from the right-of-way line of the secondary street.

Notice is hereby given that a bill substantially as follows will be introduced in the Legislature of Alabama and application for its passage and enactment will be made, to-wit:

SYNOPSIS: This bill amends Act No. 39, Second Special Session 1971 to provide further exceptions to the prohibition against the spraying of chemical substances by aircraft in Shelby County.

A BILL
TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT

To amend Act No. 39, H. 67, Second Special Session, 1971 (Acts 1971, p. 4173) to permit the application of chemical substances by aircraft in Shelby County under certain conditions.

Be it Enacted by the Legislature of Alabama:

Section 1. Section 2 of Act No. 39, H. 67, Second Special Session, 1971, (Acts, 1971, p. 4173) which prohibits the spraying of chemicals by use of aircraft in Shelby County is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 2. Provided, however, the provisions of this Act shall not apply to any application of any material whether from the air or ground, the primary purpose of which is to control mosquitos, eradicate fire ants or other insects considered to be harmful by the State Department of Agriculture.

"Provided further that the provisions of this Act shall not apply to any spraying or dusting application of any material, whether from air or ground, to cropland or pasture land, which primary purpose was to improve or enhance the production of food, cotton or like crops.

"Provided further that the provisions of this Act shall not apply to the application, whether from the air or ground, by a utility regulated by the Alabama Public Service Commission, or its agents, of any chemical substance registered with the United States Environmental Protection Agency, to any river, lake, or to any cleared or cut-over utility easement or right-of-way, not exceeding 325 feet in width, the primary purpose of which is to control brush or other vegetation and further provided, that any such chemicals registered with such Agency shall be applied under the direction of a certified applicator under the laws of this state and that the application of such chemicals shall be in accordance with the label directions to insure safety to humans, livestock and wildlife;

, and provided, further, that such utility or its agents when applying such chemical substances from the air shall provide suitable buffer for any house, orchard, crop lands or church."

Section 2. This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor, or upon its otherwise becoming a law.

Notice is hereby given that a bill substantially as follows will be introduced in the Legislature of Alabama and application for its passage and enactment will be made, to-wit:

A BILL
TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT

To amend the title and sections 1, 2, 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 15 of Act. No. 82-693, H. 57 of the Second Special Session of 1982 (Acts 1982, p. 144) which created and established the Shelby County Planning Commission, so as to provide further for the membership, organization, authority and function of the commission and to specifically repeal section 16 of said act which provided for ratification, validation and approval of Act No. 816 approved September 2, 1965 and actions taken by the Shelby County Planning Commission, officials and electors of the county as of the date they were taken.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. The title and sections 1, 2, 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 15 of Act No. 82-693, H. 57 of the Second Special Session of 1982 (Acts 1982, p. 144) are hereby amended to read as follows:

"An act to create the Shelby County Planning Commission to provide for the organization membership, powers, personnel, jurisdiction, and financial and legal status of such commission; to authorize the commission to make subdivision regulations, a master plan, and to adopt zoning regulations for the development of Shelby County; to provide for an election in each beat prior to the application of such zoning authority of the commission in each beat; to grant the commission power to zone certain areas within the county and provide a procedure for the amendment of zoning regulations; to prohibit zoning regulations from being retroactive; to provide remedies for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act; to provide exceptions to such zoning regulations and for appeals from the decisions of the commission.

"Section 1. There is hereby created a Planning Commission for Shelby County, Alabama which commission shall be appointed as hereinafter provided and shall have responsibilities and duties as are stated herein. The term "commission" as used herein shall mean the Shelby County Planning Commission and the term "county commission" as used herein shall mean the Shelby County Commission or its successors.

"Section 2. Personnel of the Shelby County Planning Commission. The commission shall be composed of seven members, all of whom shall be over of the age of 25 years and each of whom shall be a qualified elector in and an actual resident of and a free-holder in Shelby County who resides outside the corporate limits of any municipality therein. All members shall be appointed by the Shelby County Commission, and shall serve at the pleasure of Shelby County Commission. Not over two members of the commission shall come from any one beat of the County. Each member shall serve a term of six years and until his successor is duly appointed and qualified. Prior to taking office each member shall subscribe to an oath as provided by law for public officials and the same shall be recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Shelby County. The original members of this commission shall draw lots to determine the period of time each is to serve and the terms of two shall expire two years from the date of the organization of the commission; the terms of two others shall expire four years from the date of the organization of the commission; and the terms of three others shall expire six years from the date of the organization of the commission. In the event of a vacancy on the commission the same shall be filled as in the case of the original appointment. All members shall reimbursed reasonable and necessary expenses incurred and shall be paid not less than fifty dollars per month as set by the county commission. Members shall hold no other county office and members shall be paid from the General Fund of Shelby County.

"Section 5. Staff and Finances. The county commission may appoint, promote, demote, and remove employees of the commission as it deems necessary. The county commission may also contract with county or city planners, engineers, architects, and other consultants and with any local, state, or federal agency for such services as the commission may require. The county commission may cooperate with and accept funds from Federal, state and local public or semi-public agencies, private individuals or corporations, and may expend such funds and carry out such cooperative undertakings and contracts for necessary planning studies. The expenditures of the commission, exclusive of gifts, grants, or contract receipts, shall be within the amounts appropriated for the purpose by the county commission.

"Section 6. General Power and Duties of the Commission. It shall be the function and duty of the commission to make and maintain in an up-to-date manner a master plan of various areas of the county as and when deemed necessary by the commission and to adopt with the approval of the county commission appropriate zoning regulations as provided by Section 10 of this act for the physical development of Shelby County; provided, however, that the adoption of a master plan shall not be deemed a prerequisite to the administration and enforcement of the zoning regulations. Such plan and regulations with the accompanying maps, plats, charts, and descriptive material shall show the commission's recommendations for the use and development of the territory of the county. The zoning regulations shall also include a zoning plan for selected areas for the control of the height, area, bulk, location, and use of buildings and land. As the work of making the whole master plan and preparation of zoning regulations progresses, the commission may from time to time adopt and publish a part or parts thereof, any such part to cover one or more major sections or divisions of the county. The commission may from time to time amend, extend, or add to the plan or regulations as hereinafter provided. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to impair the right of eminent domain conferred on railroads and utilities, both public and private, or their right to construct, use and maintain structures reasonably required in the public service or their right to exercise authority conferred by statutes, franchises, certificates of convenience and necessity, licenses, easements or conveyances.

"Section 8. Election to Determine if Beat is to be Covered by The Master Plan and Zoning Regulations. The master plan and zoning regulations provided by the commission shall not be applicable in any beat of Shelby County until the majority of the qualified electors of the beat voting in a special election shall have signified by their vote that they desire the authority of the commission, its master plan and the zoning regulations to apply to their beat. Such an election must be held not less than 30 nor more than 45 days after a petition is filed in the office of the judge of probate seeking such an election and signed by no less than 25 electors who vote in said beat and who also own an interest in real estate that is located in such beat. Notice of such election shall be given by three weeks publication and posting notice in two public places within the beat. The cost of conducting said election shall be paid from the general fund of Shelby County. The ballot shall be so worded as to give the voter the opportunity to vote either "Yes" or "No" as to whether he wishes the authority of the commission, its master plan and the zoning regulations to apply to such beat. Only those qualified electors outside of the boundaries of municipal corporations, or where a municipality now or in the future is authorized to exercise, and does, in fact, exercise planning and zoning powers in any area outside its municipal boundaries, or such areas excluded from the jurisdiction of the commission as set out in Section 3, shall be permitted to vote or sign a petition calling for election in the beat concerned and a statement to this fact shall be carried on the ballot and the petition or said ballot and petition shall not be valid. Boundaries of the established area approved for zoning by the qualified electors shall not be changed. Elections for the same beat shall be held not more than once every 365 days.

"Section 9. Subdivision Regulations. The commission with the approval of the county commission shall adopt a code of regulations applicable to the subdivision of land and plats of subdivisions shall not, after the adoption of such code of regulations, be accepted for filing and recording in the office of the judge of probate until they have been approved in a manner to be designated by the commission. The provisions of this section shall apply within the jurisdiction of the commission as specified in Section 3 of this act.

"Section 10. Zoning; Grant of Power. For the purpose of promoting the health, safety, morals, convenience, order, prosperity and general welfare of the county, the commission with the approval of the county commission is hereby empowered to divide the portion of the county within its zoning jurisdiction into districts of such number, shape and area as may be found best suited to carry out the purposes of this act, and to provide within such districts for standards relating to the use of the land and the types and kinds of structures that may be erected in such districts, and all home remodeling or modification in such districts. Such provision shall be made in accordance with a comprehensive plan for the area involved and shall be designed to lessen congestion in the streets and highways; to secure safety from fire, flood, panic and other dangers; to provide health and the general welfare; to provide adequate light and air; to prevent the overcrowding of land; to avoid undue mixed use of land; to facilitate the adequate provision of transportation, water supply, sewerage, schools, parks and other public requirements. Such provisions shall be made with reasonable consideration, among other things, of the character of the land and district and its peculiar suitability for particular uses and with a view of promoting desirable living conditions, sustaining the stability of neighborhoods, protecting property against blight and depreciation, securing economy in governmental expenditures, conserving the value of buildings; and encouraging the most appropriate use of land and of buildings and structures throughout the jurisdiction of the commission. For the purpose of providing for the division of the territory into districts, consonant with the conditions provided in this section, the commission may make a single zoning plan for all the territory of the area which lies within its jurisdiction or may make and certify separate and successive zoning plans for parts of such territory which it deems suitable for urban or suburban development or which for other reasons it deems to have appropriate territorial unity for a zoning plan; and correspondingly any zoning regulations enacted by the commission may cover and include the whole territory lying within its jurisdiction or such territory as the commission deems to be appropriate territorial unit for a zoning plan.

"Section 11. Publication of Notice of Proposed Change in Zoning Regulations. Once zoning regulations have become applicable to a beat as provided by Section 8 hereof, such regulations shall not be changed until the proposed change has been published for three weeks in a newspaper of general circulation within the county together with a notice stating the time and place that the change in regulations will be considered by the commission, and stating further at such time and place all persons who desire shall have an opportunity to be heard in favor of or in opposition to such change in such zoning regulations. The change must be approved by the commission and the county commission.

"Section 12. Zoning Regulations Shall not be Retroactive. No zoning regulation adopted by the commission and county commission shall change any use to which land is being made at the time such zoning regulations become applicable in any beat.

"Section 13. Remedies. In case any building or structure is erected, constructed, reconstructed, altered, repaired, converted or maintained, or any subdivision is established, or land used in violation of this enactment or of any regulation made under the authority conferred hereby, the county attorney shall initiate any apropriate action or proceeding to prevent such unlawful erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, repair, conversion maintenance, or subdivision of the land or use of the land to restrain, correct, or abate such violation, or to prevent the occupancy of any such building, structure, subdivision or land or to prevent any illegal Act, conduct, business, or misuse in or upon any premises regulated under the authority conferred by this article. If the county attorney is successful in such proceedings, then, all court costs and reasonable attorney fees for time spend by the county attorney shall be assessed against the losing violator.

"Section 15. Appeals. Any party aggrieved by any final judgment or decision of the commission may, within 15 days thereafter, appeal therefrom, which appeal shall specify the judgement or decision from which the appeal is taken and shall rest upon the contention that such zoning regulations or subdivision regulations in question are unreasonable, discriminatory, unconstitutional, or otherwise invalid, and such appeal shall be filed with and addressed to the circuit court or other court having like jurisdiction within the county where the affected property of the aggrieved party is located.

In case of such appeal the commission shall cause a transcript of the proceedings in the cause to be certified to the court to which the appeal is taken."

Section 2. Section 16 of Act 82-693, H. 57 of the Second Special Session of 1982 (Acts 1982, p. 144) is hereby specifically repealed in its entirety.

Section 3. This act shall become effective imediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor, or upon its otherwise becoming a law.

Louise Kidd,
Plaintiff,
vs.
Juanita K. Hall, et al,
Defendants.

In the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama
Case No. CV-83-088(E)

TO: Vernon Kidd, Percy Robinson, Melinda Robinson Goodman and Wesley J. Robinson

Whereas, Louise Kidd has filed a petition for an order to sell certain lands belonging to Louise Kidd, Juanita K. Hall, Walter Kidd, Charlie Kidd, Mattie Kidd Hamilton, Persia E. Kidd, Jr., Vernon Kidd, Jr., Clifford Kidd, Percy Robinson, Melinda Robinson Goodman, Wesley J. Robinson, Leola M. Kidd, Frederick E. Kidd, Walter E. Kidd and David Earl Kidd, which said land is described in said application as follows:

NE¼ of SW¼ of Section 18; 25 acres on East side of SE¼ of SW¼ of Section 18, bounded on the West by hedge row; N½ of SW¼ of SE¼ of Section 18; 10 acres on East side of NE¼ of NW¼ of Section 19, Except South 509.7 feet of said tract; Except SE¼ of SE¼ of SW¼ of Section 18; Except one acre as described in Deed Book 150, Page 473 in the Probate Office of Shelby County, Alabama.

All of the above described property is located in Township 19 South, Range 3 East, Shelby County, Alabama.

Whereas, Plaintiff has alleged that she and the Defendants named therein are the joint owners in common of the above described land.

Whereas, Plaintiff has also alleged that said land cannot be equitably divided or partitioned among said joint owners without a sale thereof and said sale is being made for the purpose of distribution among the joint owners.

Whereas, Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Vernon Kidd, Jr. by certified mail at his last known address, 50 Peterboro Street, Apt. 318, Detroit, Michigan 48201, on two occasions, and both notices were returned, marked "unclaimed", one on April 15, 1983 and the other on October 12, 1983.

Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Percy Robinson by certified mail at his last known address, Ferry Court, Childersburg, Alabama 35044 and said summons and complaint was returned to the Circuit Clerk's Office of Shelby County, Alabama, marked "insufficient address". Plaintiff's attorney then tried to serve Defendant, Percy Robinson by certified mail c/o Judy Goldman, 316 West Grand, Highland Park, Michigan 48031. and said summons and complaint was returned marked "unclaimed" on October 23, 1983.

Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Melinda Robinson Goodman, at her last known address, 1689 Lee Place, Detroit, Michigan 48206, and said summons and complaint was returned to the Circuit Clerk's Office of Shelby County, Alabama, marked "moved, not forwardable" on March 31, 1983. Plaintiff's attorney then tried to serve Defendant, Melinda Robinson Goodman by certified mail c/o Judy Goldman, 316 West Grand, Highland Park, Michigan 48031, and said summons and complaint was returned marked "unclaimed" on October 23, 1983.

Plaintiff's attorney tried to serve Defendant, Wesley J. Robinson by certified mail at his last known address, 18226 Patton, Detroit, Michigan 48227 and said summons and complaint was returned to the Circuit Clerk's Office of Shelby County, Alabama, marked "moved, left no address" on April 4, 1983.

After making diligent search and inquiry, Plaintiff has been unable to ascertain the addresses of said persons. Notice is therefore given to said defendants by this publication notice.

Whereupon, it is ordered that the 14th day of May, 1984 at 1:00, be appointed a day on which to hear such application at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said application if they think proper.

Witness this the 5 day of March, 1984.

LEGAL NOTICE

State of Alabama
County of Shelby

Notice is hereby given that a bill substantially as follows will be introduced in the Legislature of Alabama and application for its passage and enactment will be made, to-wit:

A Bill
to be Entitled
an Act

Relating to Shelby County: to prohibit any utility company, board, corporation or commission (exclusive of communications) which provides service in Shelby County from providing such services to any dwelling or structure until a certificate of approved sanitation has been issued by the Shelby County Health Officer or his authorized representative.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of Alabama:

Section 1. Following the effective date of this act it shall be unlawful for any utility company, board, commission, corporation, or individual, whether publicly or privately owned, regulated by the Public Service Commission (exclusive of utilities in communications) to provide such utilities or services to any dwelling or any commercial structure intended for food service or exceeding 1,000 square feet in size unless or until an approved sanitation certificate has been issued by the Shelby County Health Officer of his duty authorized representative However, this does not prohibit the provision of temporary service for the purpose of construction of a dwelling nor shall it include outbuildings such as barns, farm buildings, boathouses, workshops, storage buildings, shed, etc., where persons do not reside.

Section 2. It is intended that the provision of this act be supplemental to existing laws to prevent the depositing, discharge or draining of human or industrial waste onto the surface of the ground, into well or into streams and rivers.

Section 3. The approved sanitation certificate shall be a form provided by the Shelby County Health Department identifying the structure served, location of said structure, method of sewage desposal, name of the occupant (s) and signed by the Health Officer or his duly authorized representative. Such certificates shall be evidence that a means of sewage disposal in compliance with applicable laws, rules and regulations has been provided for the structure or dwelling so identified.

Section 4. The Shelby County Health Department may, at its discretion, waive any requirements for perculation and other tests when it deems that other pertinent information is available which indicates the suitability of a site for sewage disposal by use of septic tank system. This provision does not apply to instances of sites found to be in a subdivision, commerical sites or disposal systems other than septic tank systems.

Section 5. The provisions of this act do not apply where utility services are presently offered, but will apply to such existing dwellings, buildings or other like structures upon the sale, lease or grant of any property interest therein whereby the existing utility service (s) furnished is interrupted.

Section 6. Any person, board, commission, corporation or utility company who is found guilty of violating any provisions of this act shall be fined not less than $50.00 nor more than $500.00 for each day said violation occurs.

Section 7. The provisions of this act are severable. If any part of this act is declared invalid or unconstitutional, such declaration shall not affect the part which remains.

Section 8. This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor, or upon its otherwise becoming a law.

Blooming trees herald plans for Dogwood Festival

Beauty pageants, arts and crafts shows, poster contests, luncheons and ribbon cuttings.

All of these activities and more -- including, of course, the celebration of a certain flowering tree -- will take place during the 1984 Dogwood Festival in Shelby and Jefferson Counties.

The month long festival -- March 31-April 30 -- is being sponsored for the ninth year by the Birmingham Board of Realtors.

•In Hoover, events actually got underway last Saturday with the Miss Hoover Area Beauty Pageant. The pageant was held at Riverchase Middle School.

A dogwood poster contest will be held Thursday, March 29; the Spring Trash Bash (community clean-up) and the Hoover Belle Presentation Luncheon March 21.

The Spring Arts and Crafts Show will be held at Hoover Mall April 5, 6, 7; the Dogwood Luncheon and Fashion Show will be held at Riverchase Country Club at 11 a.m.

An annual Easter Egg hunt will be held April 14, 2 p.m. Sertoma Park; two open houses will take place April 15, 2-5 p.m., one at Harbert International on Riverchase Parkway South and the other at Hoover Fire Station on Old Montgomery Highway.

An Easter Egg coloring contest will be held April 21 in Loehman's Village.

•In Pelham, opening day festivities begin April 7 at Pelham City Park. The 1 p.m. event includes a ribbon cutting for the opening day of the park and remarks from Mayor Burk Dunaway and special guests.

•Alabaster will also begin its festival in the city park. This Saturday at 1 p.m., mayor Doc Rubin will preside at a ribbon cutting ceremony.

Realtors sponsor the annual Dogwood Festival to demonstrate that they care about the land and preserving its natural resources.

Madelyn Rowell is 1984 chairman of Make America Better Committee. She says, "by planting dogwood trees and promoting dogwood trails, we can help preserve the natural beauty of our homes and gardens, our parks and our businesses and shopping areas."

The emphasis this year has been placed on both 'green up' and 'clean up.' Each community has been encouraged to do all it can to plant new outdoor greenery -- including dogwoods.

The Make America Better Committee has also pursued neighborhood clean-up campaigns aimed at ridding the streets, parks and playgrounds of litter.

Denver Brasher: born to stay

by Bert Seaman

You might think a person with a name like Denver Virginia would be prone to wander. But Denver Virginia Brasher -- known as Den to family and friends -- has never felt that desire.

The 67-year-old Chelsea man still lives in the area where he was born and he plans to keep on living there. Why? Because it's home and that's where he likes to be.

"Yes, he's a real homebody," laughed his wife Jean.

Asked about his unusual name, Brasher said his mother came up with the 'Denver' part, but he doesn't know why or from where.

He thinks that his father was probably responsible for 'Virginia' since he worked in that state several years.

Brasher said he was born on Bear Creek Road (County 43), and he said his mother was born there too.

Although he retired from the construction business two years ago, he still works at it part time.

"He really enjoys what he does," his wife said, "but when he comes home, he wants to forget about it."

Brasher's father was a carpenter before him, and one of his prized possessions is the 12-point Henry Diston hand saw his father used.

"I think some day I'll get it gold plated and hang it on the wall," Brasher said.

One of the Brashers main interests around their home is a collection of animals. They have ducks, geese, guinea hens and a rooster.

Before he met an untimely death, one of the ducks considered himself a member of the family. Brasher told about raising the feathered creature under a wicker chair inside the home.

"When he finally ventured outside, he would scratch at the back door to be let in again," Brasher recalled.

Although he doesn't claim to be an animal lover, Brasher seems to have a way with animals -- even wild animals.

In the winter, the couple were given three baby squirrel which they kept in a cage in the kitchen. When the weather got warmer, the squirrels were released and the Brashers expected them to take off.

But the squirrels had other ideas -- like Brasher they're not prone to wander.

Now, whenever he or his wife are outside, one or more of the squirrels climb up on their shoulder and wait to be given a treat.

If Brasher isn't quick enough in handing over one of the peanuts he carries, the squirrels help themselves to a treat from his shirt pocket.

A man of few words, Brasher takes pleasure in reading what others have to say. For him, a great way to spend the evening, is to settle down with the newspaper until he's read and digested

Hardin makes Jr. Miss finals

Susan Hardin, Shelby County's Junior Miss, won $1,600 in cash tuition scholarships as a finalist in the 1984 Alabama's Junior Miss program.

Miss Hardin won $1,000 as a top 10 finalist and $300 as a preliminary winner in creative and performing arts and physical fitness categories.

She also received her choice of 10 college granted awards amounting to $13,288 from colleges including Troy State University, Huntingdon College, Judson College, Jacksonville State University and Livingston University.

She was one of 50 contestants who competed for the state title earlier this year in Montgomery.

A senior at Montevallo High School, Miss Hardin is active in National Honor Society, Student Council, school newspaper Spotlight staff, band, majorette, math team, Spanish Club, Drama Club and Scholars Bowl team. She was named to Who's Who Among American High School Students and Distinguished American High School Students. She is also a member of the Kathy Draper Dance Troups.

Hardin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan L. Hardin of Montevallo. She plans to study for a career in engineering at Auburn University.

YOUR WEEDS WILL CURL UP, SHRIVEL, AND DISAPPEAR. CHEMLAWN GUARANTEES IT.

Why fight weeds alone? With ChemLawn you'll win the battle against weeds—and have a thicker, greener lawn, too. Guaranteed. Because we keep coming back until you're completely satisfied, or we'll refund your money.

WE'D LIKE TO GIVE YOU A FREE, NO-OBLIGATION LAWN ANALYSIS covering the 15 trouble spots in every lawn. Things like grass type—is it right for your area?—crabgrass and broadleaf weeds—insect problems—even whether you're over- or under-watering.

If you wish, this free analysis is all we'll do for you. But if you say yes to ChemLawn care, here's what else we'll do:

WE'LL GET RID OF THE WEEDS. We can zap over 60 kinds of weeds, right down to their roots. We'll apply a special crabgrass control—and we'll come back at just the right time to wipe out broadleaf weeds. Guaranteed.

WE COME BACK TO FEED YOUR LAWN. Our custom-blended feeding turns your lawn a darker, richer green. Guaranteed. Your Specialist will make roots grow deeper, strengthen the sod, and fill in ugly bare spots.

THEN, WE'LL DE-BUG IT. Since lawn bugs can do a lot of damage before they're even noticed, your Specialist will get them before they can seriously harm your lawn. Guaranteed.

And your ChemLawn Specialist will keep coming back—with free service calls within 48 hours—and free consultations on the best ways to mow, water, dethatch, and overseed.

WHY DO IT YOURSELF? When ChemLawn's year-round lawn care program costs about the same as if you did the same things yourself. And we guarantee you a more weed-free lawn—without the back-breaking work.

The Regressive Farmer

by David F. Moore

INSTALLMENT #2

If you have cold feet over planting a garden this spring, you're not alone. Last week I was hit by a bumper crop of second thoughts.

"You sure you want to plant a garden?" I asked myself. "No," I answered, mulling over the six to seven month commitment to daily immitations of Santa Claus (ho, ho, ho, of course...).

Basically, the Regressive Farmer is a laid back type of fellow, given to spells of downright laziness. Plant a garden? Are you serious? They haven't even invented the ice cream sandwich plant yet.

The way I felt last week, I would have thrown in the trowell, except that I had already stuck my word processor in my big mouth and started this column. Dilemma.

What I needed -- you just might need it, too -- was m-o-t-i-V-A-t-i-o-n, and it came just in time. I sat down to eat one night last week, and there it was -- a plate full of mouth watering motivation.

Diane, my wife, cooked veggies that night, and staring back at me from my plate were squash, field peas, potatoes, greens, saying "Plant me! Plant me! Plant me!" (One of them also said "Eat me!")

"Just think how good this tastes coming fresh from the garden," Diane said, innocently, I believe.

The gastric wheels of motivation were churning. Vision of plump, ripe tomatoes, fresh corn and baby limas prompaded across my mind. Maybe planting a garden will be fun after all, I thought, heading to the stove for seconds.

Food has to be one of the top three motivators of all time...

Non-expert tip: Think food, not work!

With that in mind, I began pouring over the list of veggies the Alabama Cooperative Extension Service suggests for Alabama spring plantings. I call it my 'menu'. (See Page X-5)

Non-expert tip: If it tastes good, plant it!

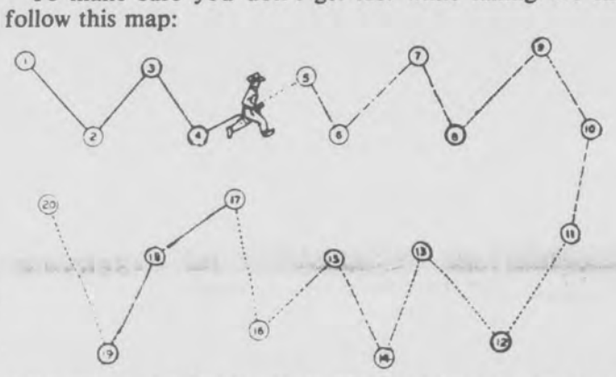
As noted last week in the 'Regressive Farmer,' the first thing you need to do before planting your garden is to sample the soil. (Caution to novice: this does not mean eating four or five spoonfuls of dirt!)

For details on obtaining free soil sample kits, see last week's 'Regressive Farmer' or call the extension office at 669-6763.

Taking a soil sample is easy.

Expert tip: County extension agent John Jones says to turn over a shovel of dirt and scrape the sample from the side of the hole with a tablespoon. Do this in about 20 places, mix it together and mail it off to Auburn -- without the spoon.

To make sure you don't get lost while taking the sample, follow this map:



Non-expert tip: Don't use your favorite spoon in sampling soil.

Since I had already broken up my dirt and it looked relatively soft, I figured it wouldn't matter that I took my sample with the sentimental camp-kit spoon that had fed me from Georgia to Maine while hiking the Appalachian Trail two years ago. I bent my spoon.

At any rate, I was fairly proud that I had gotten so far along with this my first garden. However, work that morning went into its weekly tailspin of deadlines, and the sample set for a day or two on my desk at the Reporter.

Expert tip: "That soil sample is going to do you a lot of good sitting on your desk," ribbed assistant county agent Anthony Jones as he gave me a ride to the post office the other week. "Yep, Dave, a lot of good..."

That made sense, so I mailed the sample. I expect to have it back in time to report on soil fertility (can you say soil fertility?) next week.

In the meantime, I suggest that all you would-be gardeners in Shelby County get off your duffers. This is your big chance. All you have to is follow the instructions in the 'Regressive Farmer' and we may all end up featured in 'Garden Beautiful' magazine. If you need any more motivation, think about pigging out fresh veggies -- or go talk to watermellon.

One more non-expert tip: Never try to make strawberry jam with a tractor and plow.

New to country living and newer still to gardening, the first thing I did this spring was plow up the spot Don and Rolinna Klasing had planted last spring before Diane and I moved into the house they own in the Kingdom Community. A few days later Don asked what happened to the special northern-style ever-bearing strawberry plants his wife had planted last year...

Ever-bearing? Well, not anymore...

How does your garden grow?

If you have any gardening tips you want to share, or questions that need addressing in future columns, jot them down and mail them to:

'Menu' inspires gardner

The Alabama Cooperative Extension Service in Auburn calls this a garden planting chart. The 'Regressive Farmer' calls it his 'menu'.

Call it what you like, but research has shown that these varieties grow best in Central Alabama when planted accrording to the suggested dates.

Expert tip: Extension agent John Jones notes that quality seeds cost too little to pinch pennies on them. Go for the gold.

The 'Regressive Farmer' says that if it taste good, plant it.

Next week: What you should know about fertilizers, what you should know about planning your crops, and what you shouldn't know about German shepherds and gardens...

Denver Brasher

every word.

Describing the man she married at the age of 15 as a 'curious old coot,' the tone of Mrs. Brasher's voice betrays her fondness for her husband.

Fishing has no great appeal to him -- he allows that "four or five hours a year are enough." But Brasher does like to go to trade days on the weekend.

Pointing to a table in the living room filled with brass objects, he said they were bought at one of the trading places where they have "everything you can think of for sale."

In his younger days Brasher spent a lot of time tinkering with cars, and family members depended on him to fix whatever was wrong with their ailing vehicles. But all that is ancient history. Now he'd rather walk around the back yard when he gets home -- taking up time with the animals, as his wife puts it.

"Even the rooster will come eat out of his hand," Jean Brasher said with a laugh.

The couple have five children -- their youngest son Shawn is now deceased -- and eight grandchildren.

The Brasher's sons are Wallace, Ryland, Robert and Philip. Their daughter is Reva Rice.

Group strives to provide 'wants' at Girls Ranch in Harpersville

by Bert Seaman

Having a dress to wear to a school dance or an instrument to play in the band are matters of importance to many young girls.

The financial setup for girls living at the Alabama Girls Ranch in Harpersville doesn't provide for such things.

However, there is a group of people which is trying to provide what one of its members calls their "wants."

Sam Reynolds, chairman of the board for the facility in Harperville, said the aim of the group is to get between 50-100 sponsors for each girl. Sponsors, he explains, are asked to contribute $25 to cover items not in the ranch budget.

Reynold's wife, Bobbie, who serves as secretary-treasurer for the group, said that money from that source has been used to buy two prom dresses, basic clothing for a new resident, furniture for one room at the ranch, and Christmas presents for the girls.

The board also wants to raise enough money to purchase a tractor-lawnmower and to construct an all purpose building for office space and a place for a walk-in freezer.

"It takes a lot of groceries to provide three meals a day for 13 people," said Elaine Nappier, who looks after the ranch family along with her husband Terry.

Although grocery stores give the Nappiers dry food items when boxes are damaged, and day old bread at no cost, it still takes $600 a month to feed the family.

In order to help with the food budget, the ranch also raises cows and pigs and plans to get some laying hens.

But with all the penny pinching, those responsible for the six Sheriff's ranches in the state report that it's necessary to raise $10,000 a day for their support.

Executive director Marvin Cash told a group meeting at the Harpersville facility last week, that this year's budget totaled $2.9 million.

In addition to the sponsorships, the local support group is also planning a golf tournament and an auction in upcoming months as money raising events.

The ranch program has been in operation for 18 years, and Cash reported that 650 young people had been cared for by one facility alone.

Mrs. Nappier explained that the ranch is considered a long-term care facility and youngsters who are placed there usually remain until they enter college or find employment.

Anyone interested in getting acquainted with the girls and learning more about the ranch is invited to the monthly suppers at 6 p.m. on the second Tuesday of the month.

Contributions may be mailed to: Alabama Sheriff's Girls Ranch, 100 Ranch Road, Harpersville, AL 35078.

Play offers insight into an asylum

University of Montevallo theatre major Kent Lipham will present an original, one-man play, 'Insight into an Insane Asylum,' March 29-30, 8 p.m., in the Chichester Studio Theatre in Reynolds Hall.

The original drama was adapted by Lipham from the journal of the Rev. Joseph Camp Jr., who was placed in an Alabama insane asylum in the 1850's by his family.

While at Montevallo, Lipham has appeared in numerous productions, including 'Hot L Baltimore,' 'The Strolling Players' and 'The Caucasian Chalk Circle.' He also is a member of Alpha Psi Omega theatre honorary.

You gotta have heart

Alabaster Rotary Club President Roy Thomas presented a $900 check to Helen Davenport of the American Heart Association at the club's recent meeting. In return, Davenport gave the club a plaque in appreciation of their help. The club raised the money during their annual roadblock in Alabaster. Davenport showed a short film on the Heart Association and said she became interested in it following her husband's recovery from a heart attack.

Rescue 88 washes cars

Got a dirty car? Dirty truck or van?

You can get it cleaned, help support Rescue 88, and get a tax deduction all the same time.

To earn money for the volunteer rescue squad, members will be washing cars from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. this Saturday at Sonny's Gulf in Columbiana.

Member Mike Atchison said the fees for the washings are tax deductable.

Adopt one of Al Capone's burro brothers

by Bert Seaman

Ever heard of Al Capone?

For most people, that name would bring to mind a notorious gangster.

However there is another Al Capone -- a four footed burro that lives in Brownsboro, Texas.

This Al is 32 years old and he's one of the animals that have been rescued by an organization called the Fund for Animals.

The Black Beauty Ranch, which the fund operates, now has 700 burros that can be adopted.

Jayne Ford, one of the staff members at the 580-acre Texas ranch, was in Birmingham and Shelby County last week to let the public know about the adoption program.

The only cost is a $50 adoption fee plus the signing of a contract promising proper and humane treatment.

A health certificate goes along with the adopted animal as well as a veterinary guideline for future reference.

Ford explained to the Reporter that the burros were airlifted out of the Grand Canyon.

The reason for their removal, she explained, was because they were eating rare vegetation and state authorities planned to kill them.

Admitting that the undertaking cost a lot of money, Ford said it was the group's feeling the burro deserved consideration and even respect. She pointed out that the small, sturdy animal had helped our ancestors in settling this country.

Burros in other places have faced the same fate as those in the Grand Canyon, Ford said. She reported Naval Reserve personnel shooting burros on government property at Lake, Calif. because they were in the way.

Although the burros are wild animals, Ford said their temperments are gentle -- with Al Capone the possible exception.

With handling, she said they can usually be tamed in a matter of weeks and trained for riding or pulling a cart.

Anyone wanting to adopt a burro should have at least an acre of land with water and salt blocks available and a daily ration of hay.

But the main requirement for adoption, Ford stressed, is giving the animal love and attention.

If an individual doesn't own other animals, it's recommended that two burros be adopted to keep each other company.

An adoption application form may be obtained from the Shelby County Humane Society, Box 110 McDow Drive, Columbiana, 35051, or call 669-4562.

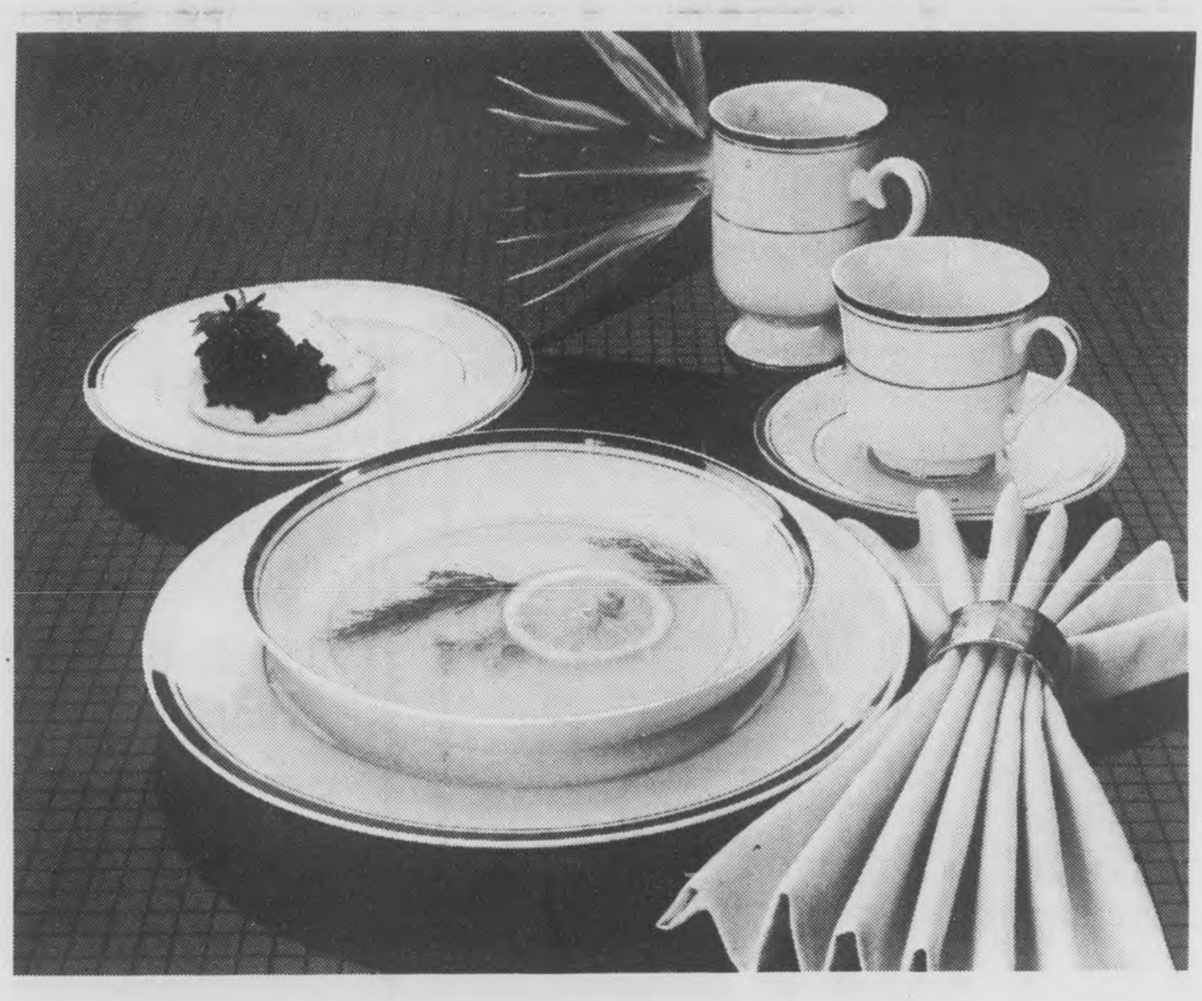
One family sets the most beautiful table in Alabama. Free.



The 1st Southern family. Because now you can get fine porcelain china free, or at a substantial discount, when you make a qualifying deposit to a new or existing 1st Southern account. You can take home a 53-piece place setting valued at over $150, or a 20-piece place setting, or any of three completer sets absolutely free. In fact, 1st Southern will pay you – because in addition to free china, we'll continue paying you yields on Certificates of Deposit that are higher than U.S. Treasury obligations of comparable term. For a look at the classic, gold-bordered Daphne collection and the sophisticated platinum-edged Newport collection – and for information about qualifying deposits – visit us and join our 1st Southern family. We may be Alabama's biggest savings and loan. But no matter how big we grow, we'll always treat you like family.

Healthy brains

The first place team in the HOSA (Health Occupation Students of America) Brain Bowl competition was from Shelby County. They are: Leslie Burrage, Annita Myers, JoAnn Nichols, Lorri Mitchell. Lisa Elliott placed third in the medical spelling bee.

Vocational group wins in 'Brain Bowl'

The 'Brain Bowl' team from the Shelby County Area Vocational Center outscored opponents in final competition to win a 14-4 victory.

Over 20 schools competed in the district event which tested students' knowledge in the field of Health Occupations Education. The competition was held March 3 at the Talladega Area Vocational School.

Having won the district competiton, the Shelby County students will next take part in the state event May 5 in Montgomery.

Team members are: Lorri Mitchell, JoAnn Nicholas, Thompson High School; Annita Myers, Vincent High School, Leslie Burrage, Montevallo High School.

Lisa Elliott will also take part in the state competition, after her third place finish in the district in the medical technology spelling bee.

Phyllis Armstong is the health occupations instructor at SCAVC.

Calvert shows at BMC

The Baptist Medical Center Princeton gallery will feature the works of artist James E. Calvert during the month of April. Calvert, who lives in Hoover, is known for working with the acrylic wash technique.

Most of his paintings concentrate on landscapes, seascapes, country scenes, wildlife and children's scenes.
